The Coal Strike in the Pittsburg District Will Continue.

Say the Operators, but the Strikers Declare That the Men to Work Them Cannot Be Secured-Operators Hold the Labor Leaders Responsible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 25 .- The final effort coal strike has proved a failure, and the strike goes on. The conference between a committee of coal operators and miners' national and district officials closed yesterday, and the confereence adjourned without date. The miners' representatives did not recede from their original proposition to settle the strike by arbitration and start the mines at the 69 cent rate.

The operators offered to divide the difference between 54 and 69 cent rates, making the price at which the mines should start 61% cents per ton, but this was rejected. Then additional propositions were made. One was to start the mines without fixing any price for 30 days, and then to pay the rate agreed upon by the board of arbitration. This was also refused by the miners, and they said they had been fooled too often to trust the operators again. They declined to work for a month, giving the operators the output that length of time without knowing what wages would be paid.

A proposition was then made operate the mines for ten days, without fixing the price, and allow a board of arbitration to fix the price for that time. President Ratchford insisted that place. nothing but the 69 cent rate could possibly be accepted. The operators were firm, but the miners were equally determined, and every argument of the mine owners was met by the miners' leaders. Neither side would concede another point, and it was decided to end the conference.

The outlook after the adjournment of the conference seemed to be encouraging for the miners. There is no question of the anxiety of the operators to start their mines. Nearly every coal company in the Pittsburg district was represented at the Monongahela House during the conference.

The operators' conference was in secret session for several hours after the joint conference, and when the doors were opened their press agent announced that the mines certainly would be started, with the old diggers if possible and with imported men if the old men refuse to work. A committee was appointed, composed of representatives of every firm in the district, to map out the mode of proceedure for the resumption.

In an address to the public given out last night the operators say in part: "Amicable and conciliatory methods having failed to convince or to move the leaders, the responsibility for whatever privation follows to the miners and their families must rest upon the miners' officials. The operators feel that they have exhausted all honorable miners and those dependent upon them. and which they in common with the public deplore, and would gladly change on a basis that would not be disastrous to themselves. 'Mr. Ratchford, president of the United Mine Workers, did not treat with the operators on terms that indicate any desire to protect the interests and welfare of the miners of the Pittsburg district. He openly claimed that the operators had more than their share of the trade; that some of it was being taken from them, and that more would be. He claimed the operators had a larger share of the lake tonnage than they are entitled to, and that they would not be permitted to retain It.

The campers at Turtle Creek were very much elated yesterday over a rumor afloat among the strikers that T. B. DeArmitt, superintendent of the Oak Hill mines, went to some of the Italian strikers and offered to pay them half of the money they forfeited and 61 cents a ton for digging coal if they would return to work this morning. This, the strikers, say is an evidence of weakness on the part of the officials of the company, who, they claim, are apparently anxious to have the strike settled now at any price, so that they can get their mines working. Superintendent DeArmitt could not be found to affirm or deny the report.

Operator's Fatal Error.

Millville, N. J., Aug. 25 .- The late train on the West Jersey railroad collided with a wrecker last night, and piled the cars on top of each other. It is said that the operator at Vineland gave the wrong signal. One man, who has not been identified, was killed outright. Two others, Samuel Wilson and the foreman of the wrecker, are believed to be fatally injured, and a number of others, including Port Braudriff, of Millville, and Rev. J. F. Shaw, of Trenton, less seriously.

Twenty-one boys and girls, aged 8 to 13, were crossing a deep channel on a raft, when it was capsized. Many boats went to the rescue, and 16 were saved.

When Mr. Jewett had finished his address President McKinley was introduced, and for fully five minutes it seemed as though the roof would have to fall or the side walls bulge with the roars of applause and greeting. Then the president said, very slowly and distinctly:

"I wish I might frame fitting words to make suitable response to the more than gracious welcome which you have accorded me. I come with no studied phrases to present to you, but I come in the spirit of comradeship, to talk with you as we have often talked in the past, around the campfires in war as well as at campfires in peace. To me, I see by the program, has been assigned the toast, 'The Country and Its Defenders.' My fellow citizens, blessed is that country whose defenders are patriots. Blessed is that country whose soldiers fight for it and are willing to give the best they have, the best that any man has-their own lives --- to preserve it because they love it. Romance of an Asylum.

Chicago, Aug. 25 .- The death of two patients at the Dunning Insane hospital has brought to light a grim romance. One of the deaths was that of Lena Olsen, who had been an inmate of the asylum for many years, having become insane through inability to find her old country lover, who had preceded her to America. The other death was that of Christopher J. Bergstrom, who had also been an inmate of the institution for years. "Old Christy." as he was called, was said to have frequently mentioned the name of "Lena" in his ravings, and the authorities be lieve the old man was Lena Olsen's 4.
