

THE FUTURITY WINNER.

A Surprise to the Talent at the Great Race of the Year.

THE PRIZE WON BY L'ALOUETTE.

The Race Run on a Muddy Track, and the $45,000 Stake Was Won in 1.11. A Well Contested Race Under Unfavorable Conditions.

New York, Aug. 25.—The unexpected happened at Sheepshead Bay yesterday, and the filly L'Alouette, of the Thompson string, won the Futurity with something to spare. Her backers were happy, for although her victory was a surprise, she was coupled in the betting with her stable mates, Gibraltar and The Huguenot, and as the stable was the favorite for the race the ring suffered. The other unexpected thing was the running of Lydian, who got the place. The track was in anything but satisfactory condition, the heavy rains having turned it into soft mud, which had dried out sufficiently to make the going heavy and sticky.

When the first race was called the gathering was small, and not more than 12,000 were present 4.45, when the bugle called the 18 starters for the richest stake of the year to the post. There was a fine start for all but Previous, who was left standing still in the first break, to the great surprise of his owner and most of the older race goers. Nearly every one of the youngsters was in his stride, and there was little shifting of positions as the lot swept down the chute toward the main track. So close together were they at the first furlong that a dozen were not more than heads apart. At the quarter pole the line of the advancing racers was almost like that of a cavalry charge. They rushed past the post with Cock Robin, L'Alouette, Gibraltar, Gala Day, Howland, Urial, Plaudit and Lydian heads apart, and short ones at that, in the front rank, while the others were almost lapped upon them in the second column. It was anybody's race then, with the exception of the well backed Previous, who was still at the post, with Simms looking alternately at the starter and then at the flying field in front of him in blank dismay.

Now they were at the three furlong pole, and were beginning to make for the best place for the slight turn into the stretch. Cock Robin was then a neck in front of L'Alouette, she a length in front of Gibraltar, a half length in front of Gala Day, with the Willy Miraflynt on his back. Urial was next, and then came Lydian, Plaudit and the others. Around the turn they rushed, and were but a quarter from home, and still Cock Robin led the van, but "Skeets" Martin was urging him, and he was beginning to falter. Right at his throat was L'Alouette, hanging on much better than her owner had any idea she could, and right at her tail was Gibraltar.

But the Gibbets were driving the colts, while Clawson was sitting still waiting for the final rush, which was bound to come. Sloane dug his heels into Urial's side and he went past the others like a flash and poked his nose into first place, while his stable companion, Cock Robin, fell back rapidly to the rear. Clawson looked in surprise at the change in horses, and got to work at once to ride a finish with Sloane. Urial's effort was his last, for a furlong from home Clawson had got him and was drawing away when a new competitor loomed up in the despatch outsider, Lydian, who had come from the rear under the vigorous urging of Thorpe, and with Sloane on Urial, a head behind, was making a bold bid for the $45,000 stake. The distance was a little too short, however, and as L'Alouette passed the wire Lydian was at her tail, a head in front of Urial, who was a head in front of Plaudit, while the others were strung out through a sixteenth of a mile. Winner's time, 1.11.

THE DROP IN WHEAT.

Eight Cents a Bushel Lower Than the Year's Top Notch.

New York, Aug. 25.—The disastrous result of operations by eleventh hour bulls was demonstrated in the actions of the wheat market yesterday. Falling to secure the necessary assortment of bull news, these belated holders punctured the bull bubble, and prices fell with a crash to a point over eight cents a bushel below the top notch for the year. At the outset, although signs of collapse were manifest in the uncertain wavering of prices and freedom of offerings, the bull leaders endeavored to arrest the threatened deluge by pointing out the comparative steadiness of Liverpool quotations and the frosty weather in the northwest.

For a time these influences had some effect, but the market was unresistably top heavy, and soon broke through all restraints, reaching the lowest figure in the early afternoon, when December, after having opened at $1.00 1/2, sold at 95 1/2. Foreign houses operated on both sides, but were chiefly conspicuous as sellers, led by the continent. A feature of the trading was the comparative heaviness of December, which widened out to 2 1/2 c. discount under September at one time during the day.

The break shook out a great many of the weaker holders without disturbing the big lines, many of which still remain for higher prices. The market closed unsettled at 94 1/2 c. net decline. Sales for the day reached nearly 17,000 bushels, giving some idea of the enormous dumping of long wheat.

For Mayor of Greater New York. New York, Aug. 25.—The Citizens' union and the leaders of the independent movement in Brooklyn have determined to nominate President Seth Low, of Columbia college, for mayor of greater New York, and arrangements are being made for an early consummation of that purpose. An important conference was held yesterday at the office of Lawyer Joseph Laroque, on Wall street, between representatives of the Citizens' union and a committee appointed by the fifty of Brooklyn. Through harmony prevailed at this meeting, and it was the unanimous sentiment that all the forces desiring the election of President Low should proceed at once to make his nomination independent of any party.

STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

A Lively Reawakening of Outside Interest in Stock Dealings.

New York, Aug. 24.—The opening of the stock market this morning showed a lively awakening of outside interest, as indicated by a large volume of commission house orders which had come into the brokers' offices over night, and which kept up an animated tone in the dealings during most of the morning. There was also heavy buying for large individual interests, and prices of some stocks tapped the year's record. Closing bids: Balto. & Ohio... 15 Lehigh Valley... 3 3/4 Ches. & Ohio... 2 3/4 N. J. HEBE'S GRATITUDE.

HOW SHE REMEMBERED THE MAN WHO CURED HER FOOT.

The Story Told by a Veterinary Surgeon Who Early in His Career Had One of Barnum's Elephants For a Patient—A Trying Ordeal.

I was a full fledged M. D. once and never should have thought of adopting my present profession if it hadn't been for a queer accident which occurred when I first hung out my shingle.

I had a rich neighbor, a man I was bound to propitiate, and the very first call I had, after days of waiting for patients who didn't come, was to his barn to see what was the matter with his sick mare. I cured the mare and took in my shingle, for from that day to this I've never prescribed for a human being. I had won a reputation as a veterinary surgeon and had to stick to it. But that's neither here nor there, only if you think animals can't show gratitude and affection perhaps you'll change your mind.

When I had been in practice a year or two, I sent for my brother Dick. He was a wonderful chap with all kinds of animals, and I thought perhaps I could work out of my part of it and leave that for him. I never did, for Dick's a cotton broker in New York now, and I should have to begin all over again to make a first rate physician. But that's what I meant to be then.

The next day after Dick came I got a telegram from P. T. Barnum. I'd been down there once or twice to his own stable, and he had a good deal of faith in me. The dispatch was: "Hebe has hurt her foot. Come at once."

Hebe was a favorite elephant—a splendid creature, and worth a small fortune.

Well, I confess I hesitated. I distrusted my own ability and dreaded the result. But Dick was determined to go, and so we did. When we got out of the cars, Barnum himself was there with a splendid pair of matched grays. He eyed me very dubiously.

"I'd forgotten you were such a little fellow," he said in a discouraged tone. "I'm afraid you can't help her."

His distrust put me on my mettle. "Mr. Barnum," said I, getting into the carriage, "if it comes to a hand to hand fight between Hebe and I don't believe an extra foot or two of height would help me any."

He laughed outright, and began telling how the elephant was hurt. She had stepped on a small bit of iron and it had penetrated the tender part of the foot. She was in intense agony and almost wild with pain.

Long before we reached the inclosure in which she was we could hear her piteous trumpeting, and when we entered we found her on three legs, swinging the hurt foot slowly backward and forward and uttering long cries of anguish. Such dumb misery in her looks—poor thing!

Even Dick quailed now. "You can never get near her," he whispered. "She'll kill you, sure." Her keeper divined what he said. "Don't you be afraid, sir," he called out to me. "Hebe's got sense."

I took my instruments from Mr. Barnum. "I like your pluck, my boy," he said heartily, but I own that I felt rather queer and shaky as I went up to the huge beast.

The men employed about the show came around us curiously, but at a respectful and eminently safe distance, as I bent down to examine the foot. While I was doing so as gently as I could I felt, to my horror, a light touch on my hair. It was as light as a woman's, but as I turned and saw the great trunk behind me it had an awful suggestiveness.

"She's only curling your hair," sang out the keeper. "Don't mind her." "I shall have to cut, and cut deep," said I by way of reply.

He said a few words in some lingo, which were evidently intended for the elephant's understanding only. Then he shouted with the utmost coolness: "Cut away!"

The man's faith inspired me. There he stood, quite unprotected, directly in front of the great creature, and quietly jabbered away to her as if this were an everyday occurrence.

Well, I made one gash with the knife. I felt the grasp on my hair tighten perceptibly, yet not ungenially. Cold drops of perspiration came out all over me. "Shall I cut again?" I managed to call out.

"Cut away," came again the encouraging response. This stroke did the work. The abscess was lanced. We sprayed out the foot, packed it with oakum and bound it up. The relief must have been immediate, for the grasp on my hair relaxed, the elephant drew a long, almost human, sigh, and—well, I don't know what happened next, for I fainted dead away. Dick must have finished the business and picked up me and my tools. I was as limp as a rag.

It must have been a year and a half after this happened that I was called to western Massachusetts to see some fancy horses. Barnum's circus happened to be there. You may be sure that I called to inquire for my distinguished patient.

"Hebe's well and hearty, sir," the keeper answered me. "Come in and see her. She'll be glad to see you."

"Nonsense," said I, though I confess I had a keen curiosity to see if she would know me as I stepped into the tent.

There she stood, the beauty, as well as ever. For a moment she looked at me indifferently, then steadily and with interest. She next reached out her trunk and laid it curiously first on my shoulder and then on my hair—how vividly her touch brought back to my mind the cold shivers I endured at my introduction to her!—and then she slowly lifted up her foot, now whole and healthy, and showed it to me. That's the sober truth.—Chicago News.

Accidents in Nittany Valley.

A six-year-old son of George Berry, of near Clintondale, had his leg broken, and was bruised about the head by a farm gate falling upon him Saturday morning.

Mrs. Luther Strunk and several children were thrown out of a wagon Saturday forenoon near their home in Nittany valley, and all were more or less injured. Mrs. Strunk had an arm broken at the wrist and one child was injured very badly. The horses they were driving frightened at the rattling of milk cans in the wagon.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmner's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty-cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention The Centre Democrat and send your address to Dr. Kilmner & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. SAVE YOUR CHILD.

Mark How Thin, Pale, Nervous and Puffy the Little One Is.

How You Can Make It Well and Vigorous. Words of Wisdom by a Well-Known Physician.

A well-known physician writes a very interesting article in regard to what to give children, especially weak, nervous and run-down children, in order to make them strong, vigorous and well. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hallows, says this writer, of Peckham St., Globe Village, Fall River, Mass., thank Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy for restoring the health and prob-

EVERETT HALLOWS.

My preserving the life of their little son, who, almost from infancy, was troubled with indigestion and nervous troubles. An attending physician, who was called, advised the parents to give the child such medicine as seemed best fitted to such a condition. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy was recommended.

The taking of a few bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura effected a cure, and the little one is healthy to-day, enjoying the play with the other children. Mr. and Mrs. Hallows say they must give the credit of the cure to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

What a change! The sickly child transformed into a happy, hearty, robust little one; and by the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great nerve and blood remedy. This medicine has proved a blessing to thousands of boys and girls throughout the world by giving them sound health and vigorous strength. Children who use it have less sickness, better health, better growth, and longer and more vigorous lives. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and parents should give it to every child who is not in perfect health.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the prescription and discovery of the well-known Dr. Greene, of 32 West 14th st., New York City, who is the most successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic complaints, and he can be consulted in any case, free of charge, personally or by letter.

TERROR OF CHILDREN.

The One Disease Which Every Intelligent Mother Dreads.

My Child Is Not Well, You Should Cure It Before the Dread Disease Sets In. Do Not Ignore First Symptoms.

There are no more dreaded diseases by parents than fits, epilepsy and St. Vitus' dance.

Cure the child when the first symptoms appear. Watch the infant or child and see if it manifests any nervous symptoms, if it is nervous, restless, wakeful, cries out, grits its teeth or tosses about in sleep, has twitching of muscles, limbs or eyelids, if its tongue is coated, breath bad, with irregular appetite and bowels. See if it is pale, puny and does not grow and develop well, if it tires easily and does not play with usual energy. If so, you must look out for your child, or these most dreaded complaints will follow.

Give it at once Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which, from its perfectly wonderful record in curing children, is the household remedy in nearly every home in the land. This greatest of children's remedies is perfectly harmless, being made of pure vegetable medicines, and may be given to infants or children of any age. It will always bring health and strength to the little ones.

Charles L. McEay, a highly esteemed police officer, who resides at 14 Myrtle St., New Bedford, Mass., says: "About two years ago my little daughter became run down in health and suffered from St. Vitus' dance. Soon after she was prostrated by rheumatism, which severely affected her lower limbs."

"After trying various remedies without obtaining relief, she began taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and experienced immediate benefit. She continued its use, and after taking five bottles her rheumatism was practically cured. Her appetite returned, her pains disappeared, she was again able to walk without lameness, her general health was restored, and she was able to attend school and to play like other children."
