THE LABOR CONFERENCE

It Is Aroused by a Speech From Eugene V. Debs.

ANOTHER MEETING THIS MONTH.

To Assemble in Chicago and Take Further Action "In the Interest of the Tollers"—Meantime the Strike May Be Settled by Arbitration.

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—The conference of labor leaders of the country which has been in session here two days finished its work last evening. The meeting was productive of several sensational speeches and many resolutions...

"Certain it is there are thousands of our fellow citizens suffering, and certain it is this cannot last. The time will come to incite the populace. When this time comes you can depend on me. I will not stand in the rear and ask you to go ahead. I will be in front and say to you, 'Come on.' I shrink from bloodshed, but if this is necessary to preserve liberty and our rights in that event I will shed the last drop of blood that courses through my veins."

Notwithstanding the convention early in the morning had declined to act on President Hatchford's resolution requesting President McKinley to convene congress for the purpose of defining the authority of judges in the matter of injunctions...

Both men were so badly injured that they died yesterday. The horse was instantly killed.

Seranton, Pa., Sept. 1.—Judge E. N. Willard, of this city, has resigned from the superior court. His resignation is now before Governor Hastings, and takes effect today. Judge Willard is himself the final authority that his resignation has been sent to Harrisburg. He says he retires from the bench because his judicial duties took him too often from home, and interfered with his business interests.

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 1.—Timothy Hartnett, aged 36 years, married, and the father of six children, surrendered himself to the police here last night, and confessed that he shot Samuel Sornburger early in the morning. He was on his way home at the time, and got into an altercation with his victim, who drew a revolver. Hartnett pulled his pistol and fired, killing Sornburger. He claims self defense.

Norristown, Aug. 29.—Thousands of persons yesterday and today visited the ruins of the Centennial Presbyterian church at Jeffersonville, which at an early hour yesterday morning was destroyed by fire of unknown origin, the circumstances, however, pointing to incendiaryism. Today's services, attended by unusually large numbers, were held on the lawn in front of the parsonage, adjoining the church site.

Ashland, Pa., Aug. 28.—William Long, a wealthy farmer of Numedia, near here, was shot Thursday night by a man whom he had detected trying to break into his barn. The man made his escape. Long is seriously ill, but will recover.

Reading, Aug. 29.—A. N. Kissinger, flour and feed dealer, was sitting in his office last night posting his books when he was confronted by a young man who asked him for money for a night's lodging. Mr. Kissinger told him he ought to work, and looking up found a pistol thrust into his face. Quick as thought he attacked the stranger and after a hard struggle disarmed him. Mr. Kissinger had his hand sprained. The man was joined by a pal outside and both escaped. Mr. Kissinger retains possession of the pistol.

Harrisburg, Aug. 27.—The Republican state convention, comprising 363 delegates, met in this city yesterday and nominated James S. Beacom, of Westmoreland, for state treasurer and Major Levi G. McCauley, of Chester, for auditor general. The latter had no opposition, but the Allegheny county delegates, under the leadership of State Senator C. L. Magee, placed the name of State Senator John W. Crawford, of that county, before the convention in opposition to Mr. Beacom. No active canvass was made in Crawford's behalf, however, and he received but nine votes, besides the 31 cast for him by his home delegates.

Tamaqua, Aug. 29.—The little village of Georgetown, on the outskirts of this city, was the scene during the night of an atrocious murder. John Kloeskill being the victim. Seeing that Kloeskill was getting the better of the fracas, Schopstiel rushed out on the street and securing a large stone hurled it with stunning force at his opponent. Swallow, the prohibition candidate for state treasurer, yesterday called at the state treasury and requested State Treasurer Haywood to permit him to see the alleged indemnity bond which it is said was given Mr. Haywood to indemnify him for any money paid out to alleged legislative employees who were carried on the rolls without being elected or appointed. Mr. Haywood said that he would not say whether or not such a bond was in existence, and that when he retired from office there would be no bonds, notes or bills left behind him, and his balance sheet would be clean. He intimated that the request came from political factions.

HARRITY'S DOWNFALL RATIFIED

The State Convention Sustains the Selection of Guffey by a Vote of 290 to 134—A Row in the Convention Stopped by the Police.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Democratic state convention to nominate candidates for auditor general and state treasurer met in the Academy of Music yesterday. A conspicuous feature of the decorations was a handsome banner adorned with a portrait of William J. Bryan and bearing the inscription, "Liberty, Justice, Humanity, Equal Rights to All, Special Privileges to None." A brass band played "Stars and Stripes Forever" and other popular tunes while the delegates, of whom there were 435, located themselves in the seats set apart for them.

State Chairman Garman called the convention to order at 12:30 p. m., and introduced Congressman Ermentrout as temporary chairman. His speech was liberally applauded, especially his reference to William J. Bryan.

After the calling of the roll John T. Lenahan, of Wilkesbarre, claimed several of the delegates from Luzerne were not regularly elected, and were not entitled to seats. Chairman Ermentrout refused to recognize Lenahan, and declared the convention adjourned for an hour. John T. Murphy, of Philadelphia, a secretary, grabbed the gavel from Ermentrout and attempted to preside. Ermentrout tried to recover the gavel, and a free fight ensued on the stage. The police were called in to quell the riot. Murphy was finally ejected from the stage and the belligerents ordered to take their seats. Nobody was injured in the scrimmage, but much hot blood was engendered. The convention then took a recess.

When the convention reassembled, at 3:25 o'clock, the force of policemen in the hall had been reinforced, and there were other evidences of preparations to prevent a repetition of the disgraceful scene that brought the early session to a close.

Chairman Ermentrout announced that the offending secretary, John T. Murphy, of Philadelphia, would be excluded from the stage. John T. Lenahan, of Luzerne, apologized to the convention for his share of the disturbance and retired from the hall.

The committee on permanent organization reported the name of R. W. Irwin, of Washington, for permanent chairman, and recommended the continuation of the other temporary officers, with the exception that C. W. Zulick, of Northampton, replaced John T. Murphy as one of the secretaries.

Mr. Irwin, in his speech, referred eloquently to "our matchless leader, William J. Bryan," and again the convention went wild with enthusiasm.

James Kerr, of Clearfield, chairman of the resolutions committee, read the platform, which may be epitomized as follows: Reaffirms the Chicago free silver platform of 1896; denounces Dingley tariff law; declares in favor of Cuba's struggle for liberty; denounces alleged loaning of state funds to private individuals; sympathizes with the coal miners; declares for trial by jury; supports the selection of James N. Guffey for the national chairman, in place of William F. Harrity; compliments State Chairman Garman.

Charles P. Donnelly, of Philadelphia, presented a minority report, striking out the plank of the platform commending the recommendation of James N. Guffey as national chairman in place of William F. Harrity.

There was a heated discussion on this motion, its supporters claiming that the convention had no authority in the matter. The result of the vote sustained the majority report by 290 to 134. Absent or not voting, 11. The Philadelphia delegation stood 41 to 23 in favor of Mr. Harrity.

Nomination of candidates was the next order of business. Charles B. McConkey of Harrisburg named ex-Mayor William K. Verbeke of Dauphin county for auditor general; W. H. Holoway of Williamsport named ex-Assemblyman Walker E. Ritter of Lycoming. The vote resulted: Ritter, 284; Verbeke, 43.

For the office of state treasurer James P. Light, of Lebanon, named Mayor Jacob Weidel, of Reading, and C. F. Murray, of Indiana, named M. E. Brown, of Blairsville, Indiana county. Mr. Brown was the fortunate candidate by a vote of 228 to 127.

HARRITY WILL FIGHT.

Declares That Only the National Committee Can Oust Him. Atlantic City, Sept. 1.—William F. Harrity is here with his family, and expects to spend a couple of weeks at the seashore. In speaking of the action of the Reading convention Mr. Harrity said: "The action of the committee and of the convention is to be regarded as a disapproval of my refusal to believe in the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. But it will not change my opinion in that respect. In my judgment the time is not far distant when the Democracy of Pennsylvania will recede from its present position. It must do so if it desires to win victories in Pennsylvania."

"What of your position in the Democratic national committee? What is the effect upon it of the action taken at the Reading convention?" "That will be a matter for the Democratic national committee itself, which is the only body authorized to act in the premises. I will dispute the right of any claimant to membership in it from Pennsylvania until the committee itself has passed upon the subject."
