BOALSBURG.

Wm. Fisher was with his mother, Tuesday night.

J Meyer spent several days at Buffalo Run, hunting-a girl.

John Williams and family spent Saturday at Henry Fredrick's B. F. Nafflen, of Aaronsburg, was noticed on our street on Sunday.

Rev. Gearheart, of Bellefonte, filled the pulpit of Rev. Black, on Sunday. J. M. Wieland shipped a fine two-horse wagon to Mr .Rutherford, at Laurelton, this week. Mrs. Dr. Jacobs, of Centre Hall, visited Mrs. Amanda Fisher, Wednesday, of

Some of our boys talk of going to New Castle for work. Why don't you go, we can do without you.

Mr. Harter, of Chicago, was in town last Saturday evening, in company with Unie Trestler, of Oak Hall.

James Poorman, of Oak Hall, and J. H. Meyer of this place, were to Sunbury Tuesday and Wednesday, on business There are about a dozen in the field for supervisor, with half as many more to anhounce, of which two will be chosen. The Y .M. C. A., of Bellefonte, held a very interesting men's meeting in the Lutheran church, last Sunday evening.

The house was almost filled. George Fisher was convicted by Boalsburg court, of taking Joseph's girl home from church. Judge From sentenced him to take her home again.

Mrs. Coxey will leave some time in April for the west, to visit her sons, in Michigan, and other western states. She will be gone the greater part of a year.

Edward Rupp and John Meyer were to Huntingdon Tuesday and Wednesday, looking for work, of their respective Both being capable millers, we trust they had success, in that direction.

We also have a limited number of marriagable ladies who feel rather slighted since the scribe did not advertise them. We will withhold their names, but invite all young men to call round and see us.

We have not heard of anyone from Boalsburg who intends to go to Klondike. Times are good here, by the number of idle men and boys around. We all live, so there is not much use of complaining. Our republican friends claim the victor, of electing McKinley and Hanna. Well they did, and as for me, I dont see anything to be very proud of, but who the "Divil" elected us fellows that have no work. And can't find any. If some good Gold Democrat or Republican puts us on track we will follow it, as some did last fall.

On Wednesday evening Elias Korman, and his son Hersh, drove to W. H. Adams to spend a few hours. Mrs. Adams, Wm's. daughter, heard a noise and said, some one is coming or else your horse and phaeton is going down the lane. At this point the three men started, without their coats and hats, down the lane full speed to catch the horse. The horse came to town. The men went to John Gleen's watering trough on this side of Mt. Eagle. Then they retraced their footsteps to Roland, crossed the creek for Korman's to see if the horse reached home. In the mean-time Wm. Shope caught the horse. Juo. Swarm jumped in the phaeton and started for Adams, known as the Kitchen farm. Mrs. Adams gave him the coats and hats and started again for Kormans, known as the Woodcock farm. It is said the parties met just before they reached the house, everything was in good trim, excepting a piece of the line was broken. After putting the horse away, Mrs. Korman set a lunch and cider up to the

When young ladies are talking over the telephone they should be very careful what they say, especially when they are speaking of their superiors, as ears not intended may sometimes hear what is going on.

Wm. Cochran and Mack Curtin, students of the electrical department at State College, were down here on Saturday getting the velocity of the water power at the saw mill, preparatory to setting up a dynamo for the purpose of furnishing our village with electric light.

While Mrs. J. C. Barnhart was pushing the large hanging lamp up after lighting it, in her sitting room, the screw in the ceiling to which it was fastened, pulled out, causing it to fall to the floor with a crash, smashing it to pieces and throwing oil all over her. But fortunately there was a rug lying near, by which she used to smother out the fire in the lamp before the oil became ignited, saving what might have caused a serious fire.

Everybody is lamenting about the snow which is gone and has taken with it the sledding, and this has stopped the merry sleigh bells.

The workmen have finished putting in the glass, in the new church at this place, and it is a magnificent temple, in the lonely hills of Penn's valley.

If you remember some time ago, an article appeared in these columns about a man cutting six cords of wood out of one tree. I would not like to say it was a lie, but I don't believe it. It would take a piece of timber 2 feet by 2 feet and 192 feet long. There never grew such a tree in Centre county. A thief helped himself pretty freely to
