A LARGE PORKER.

On Friday, February 25th, Mr. H. M. Confer, of Howard township, killed a porker that dressed 775 pounds—a full blooded Chester White brood sow 4 years old. When hanging from the scaffold measured 9½ feet. From this he secured four 50-pound cans filled with rendered lard. One fitch weighed 90 and the other 96 pounds. Mr. Confer, without a doubt, is entitled to the belt for killing the largest porker in Centre county this season. When it comes to feeding, Mr. Confer seems to understand the process thoroughly.

Joseph Reesman, of Sharon, Wisconsin, died February 24, 1898, in the 82nd year of his age. Mr. Reesman was born near Millheim, Centre county, and spent the early part of his life on a farm near Mackeyville. For five years during the civil war he was interested with his brother-in-law, Robert Mann, in the axe business at Mill Hall. His only child, a daughter, married Dr. C. R. Treat, of Sharon, Wis., and when they removed to that place Mr. Reesman and his wife, nee Miss Jane Porter, soon followed them, where Mr. Reesman has since lived in comparative retirement.

Death of Mrs. Emma C. Dale.

Mrs. Emma C. Dale, wife of Nathan C. Dale, of near Pleasant Gap, died of rheumatic fever, Monday at 1 o'clock. She was aged about 38 years. Mrs. Dale was a daughter of Amos Clemons, of Rock Springs. COMMENTS ON CUBA.

There is Entirely too Much Politics in the Affair

WHY MCKINLEY HESITATES

Mark Hanna and the Stock Gamblers seem to Have a Pull on the Administration—The Suffering and Starvation is Appalling—A Humiliating Spectacle.

Mr. Hanna says there will be no war with Spain. "All this talk of trouble" he says "is based on no information except a lot of sensational stories." He has forestalled the verdict of the Court of Inquiry, and discovered all by himself that the disaster to the Maine has all been due to an accident, and that there is "absolutely nothing in our relations with Spain regarding Cuba that will lead to war." It is a blessing to the American people that this Ohio briber and slave-driver has taken his mind from the stock ticker and reducing of wages long enough to discover that everybody except Mr. Hanna has been a senseless jingo, and imagine that the Spaniards have been committing unnameable outrages in Cuba when, in truth and in fact, they have been doing nothing but mildly punishing very disobedient subjects.

In this Mr. Hanna is supported by all patriotic (?) citizens who think more of the dollar than the nation's honor, and consider the starvation of thousands of innocent women and children, the murder of hundreds of brave Americans, and constant insults to the American flag of less importance than a fall of a few points in the price of stocks. All these "are mere incidents," and afford no reason for action on the part of the United States. So says Mark Hanna, and the administration stands idly by, and not only allows the poor Cuban men, women and children to be tortured and starved to death; but seems to wink at the destruction of the property of the United States and the treacherous murder of our citizens. Why not! since Hanna has discovered that these are all "a lot of sensational stories," and of no consequence!

Let us see, are these only a lot of "sensational stories." By order of the Captain General of Cuba all persons residing in the country districts are commanded to come into the towns, and such as refuse to obey, without regard to age or sex, are declared to be enemies or insurgents and punishable with death. These country people are all farmers or farm laborers, and when thus forced into the towns to escape being cruelly murdered by their Spanish masters, they are without employment, and without any means whatever of support, except what the government may choose to furnish them. These people who come into the towns in obedience to this order are the people who are being starved to death, and those who refuse to submit and remain in their homes are declared enemies of Spain, and plundered, outraged, and murdered by the Spanish soldiery. A few days ago the New York Evening Post, a paper friendly to Mr. Hanna and the administration, published an account of an inquiry recently made by United States officials into the condition of the people of the province of Mantanzas one of the smallest of the Cuban provinces. This report shows "that in the small city of Mantanzas alone there are 14,000 people absolutely without food or clothing." They are mostly women and children, and are "dying in the streets for want of food."

Official statistics show that in the province of Mantanzas 50,000 people have died from starvation, and 98,000 more are dying out of a total population of 250,000, "and the number of starving people is rapidly increasing." One-half of the inhabitants of this one province are dead and dying. This same condition exists in all of the remaining provinces, and in some the number of these poor unfortunates is even greater than in Mantanzas. In confirmation of these facts we quote from the last issue of the London Spectator:

"But though we wish to see Cuba separated from Spain for the sake of Spain, this is not our strongest reason for desiring American intervention to put an end to the insurrection and to give Cuba her freedom. The condition of the island is at this moment so terrible, and has been so appallingly miserable for the last three or four years, that as one reads even moderate and well balanced accounts such as in this month's Blackwood, one wonders whether even in the Thirty Year's War itself, the negation of God was ever more effectually carried out by human beings. The wretched island is tormented beyond belief."

Yet all these are "mere incidents, and nothing but sensational stories," according to Mark Hanna. Senator Hale, the senatorial mouth piece of the Hanna-McKinley administration, in a recent speech on the floor of the United States Senate, ridiculed in most vigorous language the assertion that one-third of the population of Cuba was starving to death.

McKinley himself in obedience to the mandate of his creator and his plutocratic money grabbing associates tells his hands and "calmly views the ruin wrought" by the cruel Spaniards. The money power is more sacred in the eyes of Hanna and his administration than the lives of these poor, miserable people who are being murdered and starved to death in Cuba, to say nothing of the outrages committed against our own people, and the insults constantly offered to our government.—(Contributed by C. M. Bower, Esq.)

THE AMERICAN HEN.

Her Right to Cackle Cannot Justly Be Challenged.

There are in this country to-day in round numbers, 375,000,000 chickens and 400,000,000 other fowls, such as ducks, geese, and turkeys. During 1897 the hens laid 14,000,000,000 eggs. The export price at New York city averaged 15 cents a dozen, which makes the value of the egg crop $165,000,000. Poultry sold as meat—as broilers, boilers, and bakers—bought $125,000,000 more, making the total hen crop at a conservative rate $290,000,000.

This great value of the hen crop is scattered broadcast. We deal with it chiefly from the individual side, and it is astonishing to realize how much it is in the aggregate. In order that these figures may be appreciated comparative figures are interesting:

Earnings of poultry	$200,000,000
Total of pensions	130,280,078
Total of school expenditures	178,215,556
Total of interest of mortgages	75,728,075
Value of swine	186,320,745
Value of potato crop	78,984,904
Value of tobacco crop	35,374,239
Value of cotton crop	163,655,098
Value of wheat crop	27,839,998
Salaries of all school teachers	130,280,078
Value of all church property	679,430,139
Total military expenses	52,947,975
Value of all minerals	218,108,784
Value of hogs	180,325,745
Value of gold	46,610,000
Value of silver	72,510,000
Value of wool	38,146,558
Value of sheep	68,167,725
Value of miltch cows	263,950,545

In one year the hens of the country will buy all the minerals produced in a single year, and will pay, in addition, every cent of the interest on farm mortgages. The American hired man taken as an individual, may be a person of small consequence; yet the 3,454,675 farm laborers in the country earned last year in cash, board not included, $362,740,664. The fact is that the hens and the hired men taken together, in two years earnings, would buy all the church property and have enough left to pay all pensions and all our public school teachers. The same sum would pay operating expenses for all American railroads for one year, and also pay the wages of all the clothing makers, all the iron workers, all the cotton mill hands, and all the carpenters in the land. One bushel of wheat, costing 90 cents, will feed a hen for 300 days. If she lays 100 eggs, worth two cents each, she will increase the value of the wheat to $2, which is enough to haul one ton of freight 250 miles or to haul one passenger 50 miles. After she has done all this she will return 25 cents worth of the fertilizing value of the wheat to the soil for another crop.

Now a word about the egg itself. It is the handiest form of food for working people. During the season of cheap eggs many workmen in the cities eat fried egg sandwiches for their dinner. In fact, Mrs. American Hen is doing her share to contribute the nerve force and strength that human hands employ in building great and magnificent cities. The hens of America last year packed inside the shells of their eggs, in round numbers, 650,000 tons of water. This is enough to fill a canal one mile long, 20 feet deep, and 300 feet wide. The shells required to hold this water contain 110,000 tons of lime.

Mrs. American Hen is, after all, no unimportant personage. When I was a boy I was told that if an elephant could only have muscles as hard as those of the flea he could easily move the world if a place could be found for securely fastening his tail. Our standard for the measurement of power is the work of the horse. That is wrong. Hen power is the true standard. Compare the work of production done by 1,000 pounds of horse, 1,000 pounds of cow, 1,000 pounds of average man, and 1,000 pounds of hen and you will be astonished to see what a loafer the horse is by comparison.

A Little Boys Death.

On Tuesday evening Benjamin, oldest son of Mr. John Reed, of Coleville, died. He was ten years of age. His mother preceded her little boy to the grave just eleven months ago, on Tuesday evening. The cause of his death was due to paralysis of the heart. The father and five sisters survive. The funeral Thursday afternoon.

Tobacco and Whiskey.

In Schuylkill county the sum of $268 was expended last year for tobacco for prisoners and only $277 for potatoes.

A HIGHWAYMAN ARRESTED

Charged With Brutally Assaulting A Peddler

CAPTURED IN UNION COUNTY

At His Home, Near Laurelton, on Monday—The Deed Committed Last November, in the Narrows East of Woodward—Sent to the Reformatory.

Constables Geo. P. Shell and James Miller, of Millfinburg, brought George Hasseplung to the county jail indicted as follows: 1st—attempt to assault, 2nd—attempt to rob, and 3rd—attempt to kill.

About the 15th of November, '97, Harry Gensberger, of Millfinburg, was on his way home from a trip through eastern Pennsylvania selling novelties and dry goods and it was supposed, carried considerable money as the result of his sales. Instead, he deposited his cash before starting home. While passing through the Narrows, east of Woodward three armed men suddenly stopped him in the road and beat him terribly, in the hope of securing his money, when Mr. James Runkle, of Middleburg, came driving along and they hastily retreated. Gensberger was severely injured. He also recognized some of the gang. Since then several attempts were made to capture Hasseplung and on Monday he was secured at his home near Laurelton, Union county. His brother Elmer Hasseplung, charged with being one of the highwaymen, is now in the Union county jail charged with stealing a shirt. The assault on Gensberger took place in Centre county and that is why they will be tried in our courts.

Sent to the Reformatory.

On Wednesday afternoon Sheriff Cronister escorted David Campbell to the Huntingdon reformatory where he will remain until the authorities think he has fully repented and will prove a better citizen. Young Campbell was arrested some time ago on the charge of assisting in stealing and selling cattle belonging to Mr. Woodring, of Port Matilda. Two others were sent to the penitentiary for being implicated in the affair. Young Campbell waived the finding of the grand jury, plead guilty to the charge and asked to have the court dispose of the same, at once.

Military Strength of the Country.

The New York Sun prints a table showing the aggregate organized military strength of the several states to be 114,362 officers and men. An additional table shows the aggregate available number of men in the country fit for military service to be 10,415,701.

In this connection it will be interesting to know, in view of the talk about war these days, who will be subject to military duty. In Pennsylvania the law provides that all able-bodied male citizens between the ages of 21 and 45 are liable to military duty, with the following exceptions: Idiots, lunatics, common drunkards, paupers, and persons convicted of any infamous crime. Also members of the legislature and the officers thereof; the secretary of the commonwealth, attorney general, state treasurer, surveyor general, auditor general, state librarian, superintendents of common schools, judges of the courts, sheriff, recorder of deeds, register of wills, probatory, district attorney and clerk of the courts.

Married at Potter's Mills.

On Wednesday noon Dr. John F. Alexander and Miss Lillian E. Allison, were married at the home of the bride's mother at Potter's Mills, by Dr. Wm. Laurie, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte. The ceremony was attended by immediate relatives and a few invited guests.

Dr. Alexander is a successful physician, of Centre Hall. The bride is a daughter of Wm. Allison, dec'd, and a sister of Mr. Archie Allison and Mrs. Frank McCoy, of this place.

The following from Bellefonte attended the wedding:—Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allison, Mrs. Catherine Hames, Dr. Laurie and wife, J. D. Shugret, Miss Jean Shugret, Miss Lillie Barrett and Mrs. Moyer.

Fire at Coleville.

About four o'clock, Wednesday morning, fire broke out at Coleville in the home of Abram Switzer. The house was totally destroyed, the furniture on the first floor was removed to a place of safety but all in the second story was destroyed. The origin is not known definitely, but it is believed to have come from a defective flue. Mrs. Switzer had just gotten up and had built a fire preparatory to getting breakfast when she discovered the fire. The loss is placed at $700, fully covered by insurance.

An Aged Citizen.

Michael M. Fishburn, of Benner township, died on Sunday evening, February 27th, after an illness of a few days duration. He was in his usual health and looking after his farm work until last Tuesday evening, when he came into the house a little earlier than usual, complaining that he was not feeling well. Next morning he felt a little better, and saw after the work at the barn in the forenoon. During the afternoon he continued to grow worse, until Sunday evening when he died. He was 90 years, a month and 14 days old.
