Some of our farmers had to thrash some of their grain in the field, not having barn room enough for it. Grain does not yield as good as was expected.

Mrs. Cora Gramley and daughter, of Spangler, who had been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos McClain, for the last few weeks returned home on Tuesday.

We are glad to note that Wm. Whitman, who had been lying sick with typhoid fever, at Coburn, has recovered sufficiently to be brought home. Hope he will soon regain his former robust health.

Dreadfully Nervous.

GENTLE—I was dreadfully nervous, and for relief took your Kerr's Clover Root Tea. It quieted my nerves and strengthened my whole Nervous system. I was troubled with Constipation, Kidney and Bowel trouble. Your Tea soon cleansed my system so thoroughly that I rapidly regained health and strength. Mrs. S. A. Sweet, Hartford, Conn. Sold by Krumrine Bros., Bellefonte. 2

Big Logs.

Five big walnut logs carefully trimmed and painted red at the ends are being shipped east over the Pennsylvania railroad from some point in Missouri or Arkansas. The logs are on a long journey, being consigned to a celebrated gun manufacturing firm in England. They will be cut up into suitable pieces, seasoned for a number of years and will then be made into beautiful stocks for high priced sporting guns and called Italian or Circassian walnut. An agent of this company went to Missouri several months ago and bought up all the fine walnut timber he could get his hands on.

Have Ordered Large Sized Cars.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has ordered the construction of 1,500 box cars of 80,000 pounds carrying capacity each. Of this number 500 will be built at the company's shops at Altoona, 500 by Murray, Dugal & Co., of Milton, and 400 by the Jackson & Woodin Manufacturing company, of Berwick, Pa. These cars will be the largest box cars built for the company. The maximum capacity of such cars has heretofore been 60,000 pounds.

AT WOUNDED KNEE.

STORY OF THE BATTLE TOLD BY A HALF-BREED SCOUT.

The Trouble Caused by a Crazy Indian Who Shot a United States Army Officer—A Complete Surprise to All the Participants—Walf of the Battlefield.

P. H. Starr, the half-breed Sioux Indian scout of Pine Ridge agency, was in the Wounded Knee fight, which occurred about seven years ago. Mr. Starr is in Washington, pressing a claim against the government. He has been connected with the government service for many years. In speaking to a reporter he said:

"I was in the thick of the Wounded Knee fight all unconsciously. I was never more astonished in all my life than when the shooting began. I was not looking for anything of the kind at all."

Starr had two bullet holes through his clothes, and it seems a miracle to him now, he declares, that he was not killed. He is a most intelligent man, and speaks clearly and forcibly.

"I was engaged in the capacity of scout," he added. "It was about 6 o'clock in the morning, or a little after, when the fight began. I was engaged in dealing out rations to the women and children. Some of the men of the 7th Cavalry were about me. Suddenly I heard a gun fired, and instantly the place seemed to be a mass of smoke and flame, and the bullets rattled around like hail, while the shots sounded like stones in a kettle being rattled up together."

"The thing occurred in a little ravine. I had my gun close to me when the shooting began, but was so excited, astonished and scared that I ran and forgot altogether about it. The Indians who were around, including men, women and children scattered like chickens when a hawk is after them. To add to the awfulness of the affair, the smoke was blinding and choking."

"The soldiers who were doing the shooting were up on a little hill overlooking the place where the rations were being dealt out to the Indians. I was so badly frightened I started to run away from them, but found that I was running directly to them. Bullets were flying all around me, and I could see both the Indians and soldiers who had been close to me falling to one side and then to the other. It was as if I had been in a terrible dream. When I found I was running toward the soldiers who were doing the shooting, instead of away from them, I had presence of mind to know that it would not do to turn back, so I ran right in among them. The Gatling gun was cracking like a pack of firecrackers all the time. I turned and looked down into the ravine, and through the clouds of smoke I could see people mixed up in all sorts of shapes, with wagons and horses, and I could hear the groans of the wounded."

"When I had passed the line of soldiers shooting I ran into a log cabin and rolled over and over. I was almost choked from the gun smoke. Finally I came to myself, and found that one bullet had gone through my coat at the shoulder and another through the collar. I had my coat up around my neck when the shooting commenced. While the shooting began at sunrise, it was all over in that particular vicinity in a half hour or so, though parties of Indians were chased until sunset. Some of them had gotten six miles away from the place where they were overtaken by the soldiers. All through the day firing could be heard among the hills."

There were many women and children I saw. I picked up a little Indian girl, lying where she had been thrown or fallen, and the child is now living on the Pine Ridge agency. She was about seven months old at that time. Another child was picked up, and is now living with her adopted mother in Baltimore.

"The whole thing was started by a crazy Indian named Sleekeer. He brought his gun up to be disarmed like the rest of the Indians, when, instead of giving it up, he stuck it from under his blanket and shot the officer in charge."

"Do you want me to give up my gun?" he asked the officer through the interpreter.

"Yes, and hand it up quick, too," was the response.

"With that Sleekeer pointed the muzzle at the officer, fired and killed him. The soldiers overlooking the place where this happened began firing. The ground was frozen, and the bullets glanced, and many were killed in this way. The Indians, with the exception of this man Sleekeer, had all given up their guns, and I know the shooting was not done by them. Some of the soldiers were so badly frightened while the thing was going on they did not realize what they were doing. I saw a number of them pulling down the levers of their rifles and firing in the air."

Bell of the Blue and the Gray. Chaplain Tuttle's historic bell hangs in St. Mark's Church, Chicago, and is one of the seven wonders of the city. Tuttle was chaplain at Camp Douglas, and through his efforts a chapel was built seating 600 people. The bell for the chapel was cast from the copper and silver coins contributed by the garrison and prisoners of war at the camp in 1864. After the war Chaplain Tuttle founded St. Mark's Church, and the government allowed him to hang the bell of the blue and gray in the steeple.—New York Mail and Express.

In Dickens's Land. There are 1,425 characters in the 24 books Dickens wrote.

The hair is like a plant. What makes the plant fade and wither? Usually lack of necessary nourishment. The reason why Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor restores gray or faded hair to its normal color, stops hair from falling, and makes it grow, is because it supplies the nourishment the hair needs. "When a girl at school, in Reading, Ohio, I had a severe attack of brain fever. On my recovery, I found myself perfectly bald and, for a long time, I feared I should be permanently so. Friends urged me to use Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, on doing so, my hair immediately began to grow, and I now have as heavy and fine a head of hair as one could wish for, being changed, however, from blonde to dark brown."—Mrs. J. H. HONEYDEWER, 152 Pacific Ave., Santa Cruz, Cal. Ayer's Hair Vigor.

THE INFLUENCE of the Mother shapes the course of unborn generations—goes sounding through all the ages and enters the confines of Eternity. With what care, therefore, should the Expectant Mother be guarded, and how great the effort be to ward off danger and make her life joyous and happy. MOTHER'S FRIEND allays all Nervousness, relieves the Headache, Cramps, and Nausea, and so fully prepares the system that Childbirth is made easy and the time of recovery shortened—many say "stronger after than before confinement." It insures safety to life of both mother and child. All who have used "Mother's Friend" say they will never be without it again. No other remedy robs confinement of its pain. "A customer whose wife used 'Mother's Friend,' says that if she had to go through the ordeal again, and there were but four bottles to be obtained, and the cost was $100.00 per bottle, he would have them them." G. B. LAYTON, Dayton, Ohio. Sent by express, on receipt of price, $1.00 PER BOTTLE. Book to "EXPECTANT MOTHERS" mailed free upon application, containing valuable information and voluntary testimonials. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
