Some few days ago as O. E. Fetzer was making his usual weekly trip to Peale, with his wagon loaded with what a huckster's wagon generally contains, he stopped at the watering trough, familiarly known as "Old Ben's" on the mountain between the Valley and Snow Shoe, to cool off a pig he had in a box.

Typhoid Fever at Millburg.

Millburg has an epidemic of typhoid fever. There are from twelve to fifteen cases and one death has occurred, a young woman named Young. There are also a great many cases of the same disease in the country around the town. The epidemic is a mystery. The water supply of the town is one of the best in the country, and the sanitary condition of the town is said to be good. The fact that the epidemic is not confined to the town dispels the idea that it is due to the water or to the unsanitary conditions.

How it Worked in Bloomsburg.

It is said that when the Bloomsburg assessors were at work enumerating the school children, the parents of many of them made false returns as to their age, etc., to keep their children at work in the factories. The return made was 200 short of the actual number. Now the school board discovers that the state appropriation which is apportioned upon the number of children of school age, has been cut $500. An extra half mill has been added to the levy in order to keep the school open.

EXPECT TO GO TO PORTO RICO

The Second, and Company E is now the color company, whenever the three battalions parade, but when only two battalions are out the colors come back to Company B.

The recruits who came here a few weeks ago, are getting along nicely, and have been a very apt class of men. Some of them will soon make some of the older ones look for their laurels. We had a very refreshing rain here this afternoon (Sunday). The only thing done on Sunday usually is inspection in the morning and parade in the evening, and if we had a chaplain there would be church at 10:30 in the morning.

Respectfully Yours, S. D. GETTIG.

May Not Marry.

The courtship of Andrew Gardner, an opulent widower, and Sarah Ellen Grafus, a divorcee, was cut short by the Blair county courts Monday, when a preliminary injunction was awarded at the instance of the lover's son, J. W. Gardner, forbidding any minister, priest or magistrate from performing the ceremony. The couple had already procured a marriage license.

The complainant alleges that his father is of unsound mind; is wasting a large estate and that the woman of his choice is not suited to his condition in life. H. B. Calderwood was appointed guardian of the person and estate of Mr. Gardner. The case will be heard by the court next Saturday.

Early Hours of Morning.

The early morning riser who takes a ride or a stroll through the city and suburbs is sure to enjoy the same and be well repaid for the effort. At daybreak the air is cool and invigorating, the shrubbery fresh and sparkling with the dew, which, a little later, the sun will dissipate; the birds are in their best voice, each seemingly bent on outstripping his fellow; the stillness of night yet envelops the suburbs, and the wish comes involuntarily that this delightful period which precedes the rising of the sun might be prolonged forever.

Grant Hoover loans money.

If any of our readers can spare the time for a trip to the sea shore this season, they will have the opportunity to go on Pennsylvania Railroad Excursion Thursday, August 4th.

Sea Shore Excursion.

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Has Given Her Permanent Health. "I was a pale, puny, stinky woman, weighing less than 90 pounds. I was never well. I had female troubles and a bad throat trouble. I came across an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla and had faith in the medicine at once. I began taking it and soon felt better. I kept on until I was cured. I now weigh 103 pounds, and never have any sickness Hood's Sarsaparilla will not cure. My blood is pure, complexion good and face free from eruptions." We're All in It.

An exchange put it in this way: We live in a land of high mountains and high taxes, low valleys and low wages, big crooked rivers and big crooked statesmen, big lakes, big pumpkins, big men with pumpkin heads, silver streams that gambol in the mountains, and pious politicians that gamble in the night, roaring catarracts and roaring orators, fast trains, fast horses, fast young men, sharp toothed shoes, noisy children, fertile plains that lie like a sheet of water, and a thousand newspapers that lie like a sheet of water.

Sold 1,200 Quarts of Berries.

J. P. Gephart, a farmer of Zion, raised 1,200 quarts of red raspberries on a half acre of ground this season and sold them all for eight cents a quart. Berry cultivation at these figures is profitable.
