EDITORIAL.

A happy New Year to all.

THIS issue editorial comment must give way to space for local news.

THE opinion expressed by independent and disinterested parties is that Quay has a hard fight and big uncertainty before him. His defeat may be staring him in the face.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gov. Hasting's message to the Legislature is a vigorous instrument; full of wise recommendation.

He suggests that it would be better to keep the State money in the State Treasury, and pay it out promptly to those entitled to receive it, than to have it distributed, as it now is, to favored banks. He recommends the establishment of a longer minimum term for the public schools: the more adequate pay of teachers and a more equitable distribution of high schools; the modification of the Oleomargarine law in compliance with the ruling of the Courts; the adoption of more adequate laws for the prevention of the pollution of the streams of the State; the memoralization of Congress on the subject of the deepening of the channel of the Delaware River; the appointment of a Commission to revise the defective insurance laws, and the amendment of the scandalous imperfections of the Ballot law.

The Governor approves of the election of United State Senators by popular vote, makes brief reference to the Hazleton riots, and calls attention to the failure of past Legislatures to pass proper acts of apportionment as enjoined by the State

The Governor puts a waspish sting into the tail of his message in his recital of the methods by which the foundations for the outrageous State Capitol job have been laid in spite of his active opposition.

WORTH CONSIDERING.

Among the series of resolutions adopted at the last meeting of the Teachers County Institute, were two which deserve consideration. The first was :

"That we declare our intention to acquire by determined, energetic and continued effort an extended scholarship in general, professional and special subjects, knowing that on scholarship does invariably and primarily depend the success of teachers."

This is a royal declaration and, if carried out, ought to produce great results, in a very few years. The teachers can do much to help themselves in this line, if they will, at these local institutes.

The county has been divided into districts in order to make it as convenient as possible for the teachers to have local institutes. The districts of Bellefonte, Spring, Benner and Walker, with fiftyfour teachers, compose one of these districts. The meetings in the district ought to be specially instructive and should be held at least once a month from the time school opens in the fall until the close of the term. In the schools of Bellefonte four men are teaching who are college graduates; and in history, mathematics, and English, ought to be able to devise methods of instruction that would be of vast use and help to those who have not enjoyed the advantages of a college education. Then, beside these, there are the professors of the Bellefonte Academy who should always be ready to help along the teachers. Then we know they have at the Academy an instructor who can give pointers, and very good ones, to primary scholars. This force, properly utilized, ought to be of much help, and push all the teachers of this district far along in carrying out the purposes of the resolution.

The second of the resolutions which deserves notice is:

"That we reccommend the erection of Public School Libraries in every town-

The recommendation is all right, but what do the teachers propose to do, by way of baving the attention of the public drawn toward a subject of so much importance; the adoption of a resolution will be of little consequence unless it is followed by some solid work. An act of assembly, approved June 28, 1895, pro. vides how these libraries may be established. Their use, worth, and advantage will be conceded by any, right thinking person. But it will require a long and vigorous campaign to convince both di. rectors and the people that they should be established. No class of people in the county can do more to push on the establishment of libraries than the teachers. How? Begin at your local institutes.

Have, if possible, all the directors of the district meet with you at, at least, one session. Arrange to have at this same session as large an attendance on the part rived this morning. of the public as possible; then, before them, discuss the need of libraries. Engage the ministers and better educated men and women of the community to take part in the discussion and thus wage in the interest of libraries and the creation of public sentiment in their favor an earnest and increasing campaign. If you do, you will soon see results.

HARRISBURG LETTER.

The Contest For United States Senator Already Begun.

SENATOR QUAY ON THE SCENE.

In the Struggle For the Speakership John R. Farr of Scranton, Seems to Be in the Lead-The New Capitol Building So Far as Completed.

(Special Correspondence.) Harrisburg, Jan. 2 .- The general assembly will open its biennial session at 12 o'clock homorrow noon in the new capitol building. After the senate and house have organized Governor Hastings will send in his biennial message. A recess will probably be taken after the organization for several days to allow the president pro tem. and speaker to prepare the lists of standing committees. Neither of these lists will hardly be ready to announce before the inauguration of Governor-elect Stone, on Jan. 17, so that the legislature will not get down to work in earnest before February. There is a strong sentiment among the legislators in favor of a short session, and a resolution may be introduced tomorrow fixing the date of final adjournment. The last legislature closed July 1, and the incoming body will hardly complete its labors before middle of May, at the earliest. Both Democrats and Republicans will caucus this evening for the organization of the two houses. The Republicans have a majority of 74 on joint ballot, and naturally expect to control both bodies. There are 37 Republicans and 13 Democrats in the senate and 127 Republicans and 71 Democrats and six fusionists in the house

There are many Democrats anxious to fuse on the speakership with the independent Republicans, and this matter will be discussed at their caucus. Charles B. Spatz, of Berks, is the only avowed candidate on the ground for the Democratic nomination for speaker. General W. H. Koontz, of Somerset, an independent Republican, is the choice of the fusionists for speaker. To be elected on this issue he would have to poll the votes of 71 Democrats, six fusionists and 27 independent Republi-

Farr in the Lead For Speaker. John R. Farr, of Scranton, is the most formidable aspirant for the Republican nomination for speaker. He has been endorsed by the Philadelphia delegation, or a large part of it, and claims to have a large following in other localities. George M. Hosack, of Pittsburg, is the choice of a majority of the Allegheny members. Ward R. Bliss, of Delaware, is the most aggressive candidate, and claims to have the pledges of 50 members, nearly all of whom come from country districts.

William T. Marshall, of Allegheny, so far, has no opposition for chairman of the house Republican caucus. This is a most important position, as the chairman joins with the chairman of the senate Republican caucus in fixing the date for the caucus for the nomination of a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator M. S. Quay. The house chairman also appoints the slate committee which makes up the list of officers and employes of that body. Senator John C. Grady, of Philadelhia, will probably be chairman of the senate Republican caucus, by which a candidate for president pro tem. will be chosen. The officers and employes of the senate will be chosen by a slate committee appointed at the close of the '97 session. Senator William P. Snyder. of Chester, is the only Republican aspirant for president pro tem., and his nomination and election is assured. William T. Creasy, of Columbia, expects to be chairman of the house Democratic caucus, and Senator J. Henry Cochran, of Williamsport, will probable preside over the senate Democratic caucus. Senator Quay's friends have fixed tomorrow evening for the senatorial caucus, and the only question now is whether 128 Republicans will go into the meeting. If they do everybody admits that Quay will control a majority and that he will be nominated. His opponents are making an effort to keep enough members out of the conference to prevent a nomination. If they can do this they expect to defeat the senator's re-election. Congressman John Dalzell, of Pittsburg, and Charles C. Tubbs, of Tioga, are the other avowed aspirants for the senatorial nomination.

Daizell is considered weak in that he lacks home endorsement, and Tubbs any teacher in teaching language to went into the contest solely to prevent Quay's friends from instructing the two members from Tioga. Tubbs is here, but he is making no effort to secure votes. Quay's friends have established headquarters at the Lochiel hotel, in charge of Chairman Elkin, of the state Republican committee. They have appointed committees on reception to meet the legislators on their arrival. and this evening they will hold a street demonstration in the senator's honor.

Senator Quay on Hand. Senator Quay reached here at midnight from Washington to take personal direction of his campaign. He will be the guest of County Chairman Weiss during his visit. The senator will remain in Harrisburg until after the senatorial caucus.

The fight against Quay is being directed by E. A. Van Valkenberg, the leading spirit of the Business Men's League. His headquarters are at the Commonwealth, where Dalzell will also held forth. Ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, and other active anti-Quay leaders, arrived today to aid Mr. Van Valkenberg. Senator-elect David Martin, of Philadelphia, who will retire as secretary of the commonwealth with Governor Hastings, reached the city last evening. He was accompanied by Mrs. Martin and Receiver of Taxes and Mrs. William J. Roney, of Philadelphia. The party are the guests of Governor and Mrs. Hastings at the executive mansion. Senator Chris L. Magee, of Pittsburg, the leader in western Pennsylvania, ar-

Chairman John M. Garman, of the state Democratic committee, arrived yesterday to look after the party's interests. Colonel James M. Guffey, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania's representative on the national Democratic committee, is kept away by illness. Republican workers are being brought here from all over the state to take a hand in the fight for United States sen-

The hotels are crowded with legislabe filled to overflowing. The Quay managers are on the agressive, and are leaving nothing undone to make But He Fails to Secure the Full votes for their leader. The anti-Quayites are just as active, but there are not near so many of them. The New Capitol.

The new capitol, although unfinished, presents a very creditable appearance inside, and the legislators will be comfortably housed. The senate and house chambers are large and well ventilated and appointed for the use of the legislators. The floors are covered with new carpets of modest designs and the furniture has been 'utilized that was used at Grace church by the last legislature. Thirty large committee rooms have been furnished for the use of the assembly, and there are rooms for newspaper correspondents, telegraph and telephone offices, postoffices and lava-

There is an abundance of room for the legislature in the completed part of the building. The structure does not present a very fine appearance on the outside, but it is substantial and well built. The exterior walls are of ordinary red brick and are so constructed that they may be faced at any time with marble or granite. A temporary stairway has been built leading to the senate and house chambers and the spectators' galleries. The stairways and rotunda will eventually be covered with marble.

The walls of the assembly chambers are covered with red and white burlap, decorated in gilt, and the ceilings are festooned with shields and small flags, making a very pretty effect. The capitol building commission estimates that it will require an appropriation of $5,-000,000 to complete the building and erect departmental wings according to the original plans of the architect. The question of an additional appropriation s one of the most important that will come before the next legislature.

A low dome in rough finish, is 82 feet 6 inches in diameter, and 160 feet lower than the ultimate altitude of 250 feet intended. It is now 90 feet above the foot of the main stairway, which, though with wooden steps and railing at present, is imposing, and at the top winds gracefully on each side to the chambers. Great possibilities of impressive finish suggest themselves in the magnitude of the already symmetrical rotunda, with its circle of 16 great iron columns surrounding, on the first floor, a corridor 20 feet wide, and on the second, the main lobby, of grand proportions.

Spacious Corridors.

The extreme length of the present building is 315 feet, to which the prospective north and south wings will add an aggregate of about 150 feet, each projecting 60 feet from the main front. From front to rear of the existing structure the distance is 260 feet. Spaclous corridors branch north, south and east from the rotunda. The rear wing is 90 feet wide. The front cornice is 80 feet above the ground. The work already done on the building cost about $500,000, the remaining $50,000 of the last legislature's appropriation having gone for the famous litigation, architect expenses, etc.

It is claimed that over 90 per cent of the visitors here, and other people who have expressed themselves on the subject, while anxious to guard against waste or corruption in the proposed building, declare in favor of having a capitol of which the co will be proud, and against limiting the cost to the views of the last legislature. The entire floors in the east wing are not yet partitioned. The floor on a level with the senate and house is ready on one side with rooms for the officers of the former, and on the other for the house officials. Postoffice, telegraph and telephone facilities are on a scale not formerly approached, and for the first time each legislator and officer will have his own locker for clothing, etc. A restaurant is still in prospective. For the toilet rooms, though but of temporary finish, are claimed the best sanitary provisions. The plumbing, conduits, wiring, steam pipes, ventilating system, etc., are pronounced in for all time.

The Lighting Facilities. The night lighting in the halls of both houses is entirely from above the ceilings, through ground glass diffusers in form of skylights, there being 72 "incandescent arc" lights above the house and 48 over the senate, shedding a meilow glow without glare. The heating is by both direct and indirect radiation. there being steam radiators under all the windows and in the corridors, while for both houses a blower system in the cellar supplies fresh air through tempering coils. This air is drawn down and out of the chambers, so that it is said to be completely changed every ten minutes. Eventually under every chair will be an air "exhaust." direct heat is kept at a uniform degree as wanted, by thermostats. Two of the proposed four electric elevators are ready for use.

Rough brick walls like those of a great factory present an uninviting aspect to the state legislators. The best is not on the outside, however, for, even in the unfinished state of things, the members, when in their respective chambers, will be thoroughly comfortable and enjoy more pleasing surroundings than the men longest in the state's service as lawmakers ever had in the old capitol or Grace church. Even what is already erected is much larger every way than the old capitol. Their difference is best illustrated by the fact that the hall of each house is 20 feet longer and wider than the former, while the ceiling is 43 feet high. and the back building of six stories runs 40 feet further eastward, toward Fourth street, than the old two-story rear structure. Bigness is the first suggestion to newcomers, and the critics find no fault with material or workmanship. Acoustic tests by visitors in both halls indicated that speakers would be satisfied. Nearly a year's delay was caused by the litigation which Attorney General McCormick started to confine the cost of a complete building to the original appropriation. The commission, which will shortly include William A. Stone in addition to Auditor General McCauley, State Treasurer Beacom and the two permanent members, Henry K. Boyer and S. J. M. McCarrell, claim, a majority of them at least, that the present preparation for the legislature is in accordance with the supreme court's interpretation adverse to Mr. McCor-

tors, politicians and office seekers in the assembly, and by tonight they will QUAY GETS NOMINATION

Republican Vote.

NEEDS NINETEEN MORE VOTES.

Senator Martin Remained Away From the Caucus, and Senator Magee, Who Voted Against Quay, Moved to Make the Nomination Unanimous.

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.- Despite the efforts of the opponents of Senator Quay to secure a postponement of the senatorial caucus until a later date, the adherents of the senior senator carried their point last night and secured the indorsement of their favorite by 109 of the 164 Republican members of the Pennsylvania legislature. This is 19 less than the number necessary to elect a United States senator on joint ballot, the total membership being 254, of which 126 is a majority. The anti-Quay leaders are jubilant over the result of the caucus, and claim that the man they are fighting can never succeed himself in the senate. On the other hand, the Quay people and the senator himself express confidence in ultimate victory. They say that of the absentees two members of the house, Snyder of Luzerne and Clark of Washington, are kept away by sickness and will vote for Senator Quay. This would leave him 17 votes short of the number necessary

Senator Grady, of Philadelphia, presided over the caucus, and made a serious speech, reminding the party representatives present that the duty of selecting a man to represent the great state of Pennsylvania and the party in the United States senate for the next six years was a grave responsibility, and counseling the legislators to exercise the utmost caution in discharging the important duty before them.

The roll call showed 27 of the 37 Republican members of the senate present, and 81 of the 127 members of the house. A total of 108. Later Representative Hardol, or Senator Quay's county of Beaver, came in, increasing the total to 109. He voted for Quay.

Senator Merrick, of Tioga, one of the best speakers in the legislature, who had been selected to place Mr. Quay in nomination, did his work well. When he had finished with the mention of the name of Quay the vast crowd present was brought into prolonged applause and cheering.

Speaker Farr made a brief speech explaining why he would vote for Mr. Quay, as did also Senator McCarrell, of Dauphin, and Representatives Adams of Philadelphia, Kreps of Franklin and Harris of Clearfield.

Then Senator Magee, of Allegheny, the man who is looked upon by many as being a possible successor to Senator Quay, took the floor. He got almost as much applause as Senator Quay. He made a modest and brief speech nominating Benjamin F. Jones, of Pittsburg, once chairman of the Republican national committee and a great iron

Isaiah Bierly, Clintondale. The ballot was then taken, the announced result being: Quay, 98; Jones, 9; Magee, 2. As soon as the vote was announced Mr. Magee said: "I now move that the nomination be made unanimous."

The outburst of applause which followed this motion was by far the greatest demonstration of the night. Cheer followed cheer, and the Allegheny man who has so long fought Mr. Quay was assuredly the lion of the hour. The motion was carried and adjournment was had immediately after.

Senator Quay made this statement at midnight: "I am entirely satisfied with the result of tonight's caucus. A number of members of the legislature who did not enter the caucus have assured me of their cordial support when the assembly meets in joint convention. These votes will be more than sufficient to elect me. I am absolutely onfident of my success."

Hon. John Wanamaker also gave out a statement at midnight, in which he says in part: "The vote of tonight says plainly that this legislature will not blindly follow a discredited leader. The old members are not to be menaced. and the new members are not willing to marry into the Quay political family at the present time.

The Quay leaders during the past few days have been claiming anywhere from 118 to 135 votes in the caucus. The fact that the actual figure was away below their lowest claim is regarded by many here as a source of great disappointment to them. This class of prophets are strong in their belief that Senator Quay is beaten. Unboubtedly the decision of Senator David Martin at an early hour yesterday morning to remain out of the caucus had much to do with the success of the efforts of the anti-Quay people.

Volunteers to Be Mustered Out. Washington, Jan. 4.-Secretary Alger yesterday made public a partial list of the regiments and other organizations which, as a result of the finding of the Paris peace treaty, it has been decided to muster out of the service. The list includes the Sixty-ninth New York, Third Florida, Third Tennessee, Companies A and B, Indiana colored infantry, Third North Carolina, Sixth Virginia, Third New Jersey, Fifteenth Pennsylvania, South Carolina heavy battery, Fourth Missouri, Second Tennessee, Ninth Ohio, Third Texas, Eighth California, heavy batteries D and C, California artillery.

The Coming Miners' Convention. Pittsburg, Jan. 4.-The coming national convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which will be held in the city next week, is exciting great interest, the election of a successor to President Ratchford being the principal question at issue. Mr. Ratchford, it is said, favors John Mitchell or his successor, and the miners of the Pittsburg district want their favorite Patrick Dolan, to occupy the position of national president.

Eleven Sallors Drowned. London, Jan. 4.-The Italian steamer Voorwaarts, which left Amsterdam on Dec. 15 and touched at Cardiff on Dec. 20, has been abandoned near Trevose Head, on the West Cornwall coast. She went ashore in the gale that has been raging in the Irish channel. Eleven members of the crew, who put off in boats, were drowned. Nine who clung to the rigging were rescued by the blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh, Send for testimonials, free.
