ORDERS ISSUED AT MALOLOS.

The Army of Occupation Was to Be First Wiped Out, and Then All Individuals Except Filipinos Were to Be Mercilessly Exterminated.

Washington, Feb. 22.-The following dispatch was received yesterday afternoon from General Otis at Manila:

The following was issued by an important officer of the insurgent government at Malolos, Feb. 15, 1899, for execution during that evening and night in this city:

You will so dispose that a 8 o'clock at night the individuals of the territorial militia at your order will be found united in all of the streets of San Pedro, armed with balos and revolvers, or guns and ammunition if convenient.

"Philippine families only will be respected. They should not be molested, but all other individuals of whatever race they may be will be exterminated without any compassion after the extermination of the army of occupation. "The defenders of the Philippines in your command will attack the guard at Bilibid and liberate the prisoners and 'presidiarios,' and having accomplished this, they will be armed, saying to them: 'Brothers, we must avenge ourselves on the Americans and exterminate them, that we may take our revenge for the infamy and treachery which they have committed upon us; have no compassion upon them; attack with vigor. All Filipinos en masse will second you.' Long live Filipinos independence.

"The order which will be followed in the attack will be as follows: The sharpshooters of Tondo and Santa Ana will begin the attack from without, and these shots will be the signal for the militia of Trozo, Biondo, Quiato and Sampaloc to go out into the street and do their duty; those of Pako, Ermita and Malate, Santa Cruz and San Miguel will not start out until 12 o'clock, unless they see that their companions need assistance.

"The militia of Tondo will start out at 3 o'clock in the morning; if all do their duty our revenge will be complete. Brothers, Europe contemplates us; we know how to die as men, shedding our blood in defense of the liberty of our country. Death to the tyrants.

"War without quarter to the false Americans who have deceived us. Either independence or death." Another dispatch from General Otis was as follows:

"General Miller reports on the 19th inst. the insurgent forces four miles from Iloilo were believed to be disintegrating. Can maintain his position with his present force. General Miller has sent to Manila four representative men, officials from the capital of the Island of Negros, where the American flag has been raised and American protection requested against a small insurgent force in the island. Shall endeavor to maintain and improve present promising conditions. Affairs here quiet. Small insurgent force east of this city driven away yesterday with considerable loss to the enemy."

Charges Against Our Officials. Hong Kong, Feb. 22.-The following statement has been issued by the Filipino junta here:

'Information which has leaked through the Pinkertons sent by President McKinley to investigate the shipment of arms to the Flipinos shows that the first shipments to Aguinaldo were made by order of the American government through Consul Wildman, hence the shipment per the Wing-Foo. The American government subsequently telegraphed to cease this, coincident with the change of policy to annexation. Mr. Wildman and Rear Admiral Dewey promised to pay, but have not yet paid for a subsequent expedition by the Abbey, authorized by Admiral Dewey, who afterward seized the steamer, and she is still held. Papers respecting this are now in the possession of the secretary of the navy. The protestations of Admiral Dewey and other Americans that they made no promises are ridiculous. In view of hese facts, let the American people judge how the nation's word of honor was pledged to the Filipinos and confided in by them, and violated by the recent treachery of General Otis,"

OUR SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

Minister Bunter Explains How Europeans Justrip Our Merchants. Washington, Feb. 22,-Hon, Godfrey Hunter, of Kentucky, minister of the United States to Guatemala and Honduras, arrived in Washington yesterday. Speaking of the general depression in Guatemala he says it is due to the low price the coffee crop has been bringing during the past two years. Dr. Hunter expresses the opinion that a matter which interferes with our trade with Guatemala and other South American countries is the disregard of our manufacturers for the wishes of the people.

DR. W. GODFREY HUNTER. The Germans secure the best of the trade, not because their manufacture are any better, but for the simple reason that they sell the people what they want, and put up for them as they wan it shipped. Most of the imported good has to be shipped into the interior or pack mule trains, and the European manufacturer, appreciating this, prepares his wares suitably for that method of transportation.

A Creditable War Showing. Washington, Feb. 22.-In reaching the decision to recommend a long term of imprisonment in the case of a private in an Alabama regiment who had killed a man in an affray, Judge Advocate General Lieber has completed a remark able record, disposing of the last of th capital eases that had come before his department for review, without in any single case imposing the death penalty Thus the war has passed without the execution of a single soldier on accoun of military crimes. This is believed to be without parallel in history. There were crimes committed, but they lacked malice or premeditation, and there were no desertions because of cowardice or

No Further Concessions to Canada. Washington, Feb. 22.-Without any purpose to start a flood of recrimination, the American members of the joint higa Canadian commission feel that they have not been to blame for the failure to reach an agreement, but that they are justified in the statement that they have made concession after concession. It is just possible that better results may attend a further conference of the joint body next summer, but while the officials here regret exceedingly the failure so far to reach an agreement, it is said positively that the American side has made its last concession.

THE RIVAL ADMIRALS.

The Naval Controversy Growing Out of the Spanish War.

ECHLEY'S REPLY TO CRITICISMS.

He Cannot Understand How His Conduct, on Which He Was Congratulated, Could Have Grown Into "Reprehensible Conduct" Six Weeks Later

Washington, Feb. 21.-Rear Admiral W. S. Schley having been granted permission to answer the charges recently made against him in the communication recently sent to the senate, yesterday handed to the committee on naval affairs his statement, in which he disclaims any purpose of controversy with the navy department.

The admiral says his orders from Admiral Sampson May 19 were to blockade Cienfuegos, which he proceeded to do. He had no knowledge that there were any insurgents about Cienfuegos who were friendly until the Marblehead arrived on the 24th. Even had he had this knowledge on the 23d of May, the surf would have prevented communicaion. On his arrival he sent Commodore McCalla, of the Marblehead, ashore to establish relations with the insurgents, the result of which was made known to him at 3:40 on May 24. Then, for the first time, he learned definitely that the Spanish fleet was not at Cientuegos. Within two hours he started for San-"What possible ground of criticism," he says, "adverse to me, there can be in all this, I do not see. I was on the spot, acting under orders which gave me entire discretion, and yet clothed me with the responsibility of going to Santiago only after I was satisfied the fleet was not at Cienfuegos."

He quotes from the dispatch of Sampson of May 20, in which the latter says Schley should "hold his fleet off Cienfuegos. If the Spanish ships have put into Santiago they must come either to Havana or cienfuegos to deliver the munitions of war which they are said to bring for use in Cuba. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the best chance to capture these ships will be to hold the two points, Cienfuegos and Havana, with all the force we can muster. As to the slow progress toward Santiago on account of the Eagle, he states that she was a part of the force which Admiral Sampson had seen fit to send him, and he had no right to abandon her. The weather was rough, and not much better speed could have been kept up. He had been ordered to proceed "cautiously." If, however, he had known that the Spanish fleet was in Santiago no consideration for the Eagle or anything else would have prevented him from getting there at the earnest possible moment.

Speaking of "the retrograde move ments," which the secretary, adopting the language of Admiral Sampson, characterizes as "reprehensible conduct," Admiral Schley says that in 42 years' service "never was such language used to characterize conduct of mine, and I see no reason for it now.'

As to the battle of Santiago, Admiral Schley says the facts of that contest speak for themselves. Quoting from his official report to Sampson, in which he congratulated the commander of the squadron and said the "victory seems big enough for us all," he asks the committee to contrast his reports and those on containing references to him self. He continues:

"As to all this criticism of my course prior to the discovery by me on May 29 of Cervera's fleet, whether from Admiral Sampson or the department, none of it has ever been made by either to me, and I never heard a word of it from any one until after the battle with that fleet.

Admiral Schley quotes the department's dispatch of May 29 in these words: "The department looks to you to ascertain the fact of the presence of the enemy, and that the enemy, if in the harbor of Santiago, does not leave with-out decisive action." Commenting upon this the admiral says: "In obedience to the above order I did ascertain the fact that the enemy was at Santingo, and the enemy did not leave without a decisivconflict "

Detailing events connected with the battle of July 3 he says at 8:45 of that day Admiral Sampson made signal from his flagship, "Disregard movements of commander-in-chief," and steamed eastward to Siboney. "This," says Admiral Schley, "left me the senior officer present and necessarily clothed me with the responsibility of the command." tinuing he declares that when enemy's vessels came out of the harbor a signal was made from the Brooklyn (his flagship) to the fleet to "clear ship for action." Then followed the signal close action," and this by the signal 'the enemy is escaping westward.'

He says the Spanish fleet was coming westward under high speed, and "changing course more to westward brought the Brooklyn heading eastward to meet it. into a position where she would have blanketed the fire of the eastern vessels of our force, now changing their courses to the westward, and between them and the Spanish vessels. Instant decision was necessary to avoid interfering in any way or cutting off any of the fire of our vessels, as would have occurred if she had turned towards the Spanish fleet, now approaching the Brooklyn. Turning outward left the enemy's ships unmasked by the Brooklyn and exposed them to the concentrated fire of our squadron.

At the final capture of the Colon at 1:15 p. m. the Brooklyn was nearest, the Oregon next and then the Texas and Vixen. The New York arrived at 2:25 p. m., and the commander-in-chief assumed command of the squadron. Signals were made from the Brooklyn to the squadron until all signal halyards were sot away, and then by army code. In conclusion Admiral Schley contends that the turn of the Brooklyn in the battle was "the crucial and deciding feature of the combat, and of decided advantage. He says he made no report of his maneuver in his report of the battle, as its effect upon the battle was never a question with him. His last paragraph reads: "On May 31 I received a telegram from the commander-in-chief congratulating me upon my success in locating and blockading the enemy's fleet at San- | 34634%c. Cleveland, Feb. 22.-After an exciting | tlago. If it was worthy of commendation at that time I am at a loss to understand how it could have grown into reprehensible conduct, as suggested by Admiral Sampson in his letter of July 10, 1898, some six weeks later."
