PENNSYLVANIA BRIBERY

Damaging Evidence Before the Investigators at Harrisburg.

ALLEGED WOULD-BE BRIBEES.

They Are Ex-Senator Coyle and Ex-Representative Moyles, and Witnesses Declare They Offered Cash to Representatives Engler and Criste.

Harrisburg, March S .- A meeting of the committee to inquire into the charge of bribery in connection with the passage of the McCarrell jury bill in the house was held last evening in the house ju diciary general committee room. The room was crowed with spectators, including senators and members, when the committee was called to order by Chair man William C. Kreps, of Franklin county.

The committee is composed of Repre sentatives W. H. Koontz of Somerset Frank B. McClain of Lancaster, Michae J. Tighe of Luzerne, Charles E. Voor hees of Philadelphia, George R. Dixon of Elk. John H. Fow of Phlladelphia. John B. Rendall of Chester and Robert K. Young of Tioga. McClain succeeds Captain Skinner, resigned.

Mr. Kreps stated that on the organization of the committee as it was originally constituted he way chosen chairman. He thought that each member of the committee ought to have a voice in the selection of the chairman, and that on account of his health he would decline to serve. A motion that the resignation be not accepted was unanimously adopted. Mr. Kreps thanked the committee, and said he had no desire to serve as chairman. Mr. Fow was then elected.

The first witness called was Colonel George Nox McCain, staff correspond ent at Harrisburg of the Philadelphia Press. Mr. McCain testified that the member who made the admissions that he was approached was Peter J. Criste, of Northumberland, who told the witness that he was approached by an individual and told that it would be worth $1,000 to him to vote for the reconsider-ation of the bill. Mr. Criste declined at the time to give the name of the individual, but subsequently he admitted to the witness that it was ex-Representative Thomas Moyles, of Wilkesbarre, who said he wanted the bill to become a law. as it would help him out in a case in Luzerne county in which he was a defendant. Mr. Criste asked Moyles to write what he wanted him to say when he made a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was postponed until March 21. Before Moyles could write the Bliss motion to adjourn to prevent a reconsideration of the bill was made and adopted, and nothing further occurred between Criste and Moyles.

John P. Dwyer testified that he was a staff correspondent of The Press and contributed that portion of the article alleging that Representative John Engler, of Lycoming, was corruptly ap proached to vote for the reconsideration of the McCarrell bill. Mr. Engler told the witness that he met Michael J. Costello, a former resident of Williamsport. and escorted him to the Bolton House. this city, where they met ex-Senator John J. Coyle, of Schuylkill county. Mr. Coyle told Engler that he understood he was a Roman Catholic, and asked hir to vote for the bill because Archbishop Ryan wanted it to become a law. Wit ness said Coyle told Engler he would pay him $500 to vote for the bill, and put his hand in his pocket and said he would give him $200 at once. Coyle said he used to do this when he was a member of the legislature, and that if Engler would go along on this bill he would "put him in" on several other bills, and that he could make more on the outside than his salary as a member of the house. Mr. Engler refused to ac cept the money and left Coyle. The fol lowing Sunday Costello went to Williamsport, hired a team and drove 13 miles out in the country to Engler's home and tried to induce him to vote for the bill. Mr. Engler told Costello that he would do nothing until he had talked with his colleague, Mr. Osler, Engler's purpose being to get rid of Costello, the witness explained. Mr. Dwyer declined to disclose the name of the party who told him of the alleged attempt to bribe Engler. Witness saw Costello after his visit to Engler's home, and was told by Costello that he knew the secrets of the Quay people, and that if he could see Senator Cochran, of Williamsport, he would tell him something he ought to know about the senatorial contest and a move the Quay people were about to make. The testimony of Messrs. Engler and Criste fully corroborated the evidence given by the newspaper men. Mr. Criste adding that ex-Senator Coyle told him the anti-Quay men "were being taken care of." After the taking of testimony was concluded Mr. Voorhees asked that the names of Messrs. Coyle, Costello and Moyles be called, that they be given a chance to testify in their behalf. Chairman Fow said these men could not testify before the committee, and that they would be given a chance if the matter was taken into the courts. Mr. Voorhees made an offer that these gentlemen be allowed to appear before the committee and testify, and that they be allowed counsel. Mr. Fow ruled the offer out of order on the ground that the committee is not a trial court. Mr. Kreps filed exceptions to the ruling, after which the committee adjourned until this evening.

THE SENATORIAL DEADLOCK, Still No Sign of a Settlement of the

Prolonged Contest. Harrisburg, March 8 .- The ballot for United States senator yesterday resulted in no election. Ex-Senator Quay gained two votes, however, by the absence of four members without a pair. The ballot was devoid of interest, except the vote of Senator Brown, of Westmoreland, for "the candidate who has never been defeated nor has never surrendered. Matthew Stanley Quay." The result of the joint ballots for senator, from the thirty-seventh to the forty-second, was as follows:

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 6 .- The Susquehanna river rose rapidly yesterday Rowad its the afte banks between Port Bowkley and Plymouth. The lowlands between Wilkesbarre and Plymouth on the west side of the river are entirely submerged, and the street cars are unable to run. At South Wilkesbarre the people living on the lowlands were compelled to vacate their homes. Some who remained in their houses until the last moment had to be taken away in boats. Pittsburg, March 7 .- The coal miners and operators' committees of the Pittsburg district met in joint convention yesterday with the expectation of settling the wage scale for the coming year, but after a session lasting until nearly midnight nothing was accomplished, and adjournment was had until Friday next. The two sides disagreed on every question brought up. The operators' executive committee left for Harrisburg last night to enter protest against the employes' liability bill now before the legislature. Wilkesbarre, Pa., March S .- Four masked men broke into the general storof C. E. Kern, in Hanover township, at 1 o'clock in the morning and blew the safe open with dynamite. They secured about $100 in cash and two silver watches. While the robbers were drilling a hole in the safe a miner named Emory Hitchcock passed the store. Fearing he would give an alarm the burglars seized him, pointed revolvers at his head and dragged him into the store. They gagged and bound him. He was not released until the arrival of the clerks at 7 o'clock. Allentown, Pa., March 4 .- In a fit of jealousy last night Frank Kramer, hostler at the Cedarville hotel, three miles west of Allentown, shot and instantly killed Maggie Good, a 20-yearold servant at the hotel. He also shot Owen Kern, the proprietor, in the head and abdomen, and Kern may die. Krause also shot Mrs. Owen Kern, wife of the hotel keeper, the bullet piercing her left arm. Krause then fled to his brother's house, a mile away, where he was arrested two hours later. He made no resistance, but asked to be hanged at once. He was almost helplessly drunk when arrested, having drank nearly a quart of whisky. He is 24 years old, and single. Harrisburg, March 4 .- The first material change in the senatorial contest occurred on yesterday's joint ballot, when three members who have been voting for Scaator Quay shifted to the anti-Quay column. Colonel Guffey Defeats Sibley, Who at Last Comes Out Squarely For Quay. Quay Calls on Sibley-Colonel Guffey's Great Generalship-The Democratic Party's Future in the Light of Present Troubles.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, March 6 .- No week like that which has just been closed has ever been witnessed in the Pennsylvania legislature. There was a threatened riot and an indignation meeting and a general turmoil participated in by the house. and all because Speaker Farr's commit tee charged to investigate the attempts at bribery all but refused to investigate.

When the charges were published that members of the house had been offered ney for their votes on the McCarrell bill the Quay faction poohpoohed the suggestion. When the Philadelphia Press gave instances then the house took up the charge. The speaker appointed a committee to investigate. It consisted of Representatives Kreps (Quayite) of Franklin, Voorhees (Quayite) of Phila delphia, secretary: Tighe (Quay Demo crat) of Luzerne, Skinner (Quay Demoerat) of Fulton and Koontz (anti-Quay Republican) of Somerset. The day following the appointment of the committee a number of newspapers, including sev eral Democratic journals, made an at tack on Mr. Skinner, of Fulton, on his record, with the result that he declined to serve upon the committee. Speaker ion named Reynolds was playing with Farr refused to accept the resignation. On Tuesday the committee met and organized, with Kreps as chairman and Voorhees as secretary, and adjourned Nolan, 18 years old, son of a well known until Thursday night to hear witnesses In the meantime five persons had been probably fatally wounded while trying to summoned, viz.: G. That night the Quay ring mapped out a scheme to keep Koontz from making his speech to the house the next morn ing. Koontz also intended to ask for the appointment of four new members on by which the Democracy cannot but help the senatorial situation themselves. They are familiar with both Republican fac tions, their strong and weak points, and as for themselves their course was distinctly outlined in the Altoona platform, on which the campaign was fought. That platform made it possible to elect the 87 members of the legislature who now play such a prominent part in the senatorial struggle, and who will continue to do so, and that, too, strictly within the lines and in full accord with the Democratic platform and the campaign. "The Democratic party of Pennsylvania, through its representatives in the legislature, and as now organized and conducted, is an honest body and will be responsible to the people for their ac tion and the outcome of the senatorial contest.

QUAY VISITS SIBLEY.

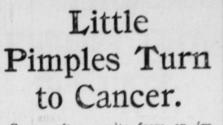

The next morning Sibley practically declared himself out of the fight. He found that he could not break the Democratic lines for Quay, and besides he was taken sick at the hotel. He told some of his friends that he would no longer continue the fight against Guffey, and as soon as he recovered he would return

That day the Democrats of the state would have been treated to a rare show had they been in Harrisburg. Governor Stone's carriage, with "Boss" Quay inside with the governor, drove to the Bolton House, where both of these Re publican machine workers stepped out and went up to bibley's room, where they remained for half an hour or more. They tried to explain their visit by saying that they had called simply because Mr. Sibley was sick, but this did not "go down" with the Democratic legislators.

The result of Sibley's attempt and the splendid control maintained by Colone Guffey was that today the Democratic lines are more solid against the old Quay machine and its corruptionists than ever before. The Quayites have been trying to disrupt the Democratic ranks by telling all sorts of stories about coalition with the anti-Quay Republicans, No Democrat has united with the anti-Quay Republicans. No Democrat has thought of it. On the other hand they are stand ing for purity in politics and for the Al toona platform behind that splendid old man Hon. George A. Jenks. Nobody thought of pulling down Mr. Jenks to put up some one else until Sibley came into the field and then proposed it that he (Sibley) might better serve Quev.

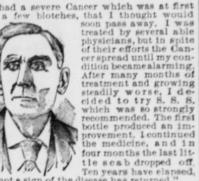

It becomes more evident daily that the Quay leaders are getting desperate, as shown by their tactics of last week. Quay lost three Republican votes, viz. those of Representatives Hersh and Yates, of Philadelphia, and Mackey, of Lackawanna, and it is said that there will be four or five more desertions in a week or ten days. As it stands now the "old man" is 18 votes short of a majority. From this it looks as if the senatorial issue would have to go to the people. There is little chance of a choice being made. The Democrats will not go for a Republican

GOOD THING FOR DEMOCRACY. Nothing better perhaps could happen to the party than to have the issue go before the people. The S7 Democrats in the legislature have demonstrated to the people that they are for better governmentand against corruption. They have refused bribes and threats, and as the state is about due for another Democratic administration the party leaders are alive to the situation. There is every prospect of a bitter Republican factional fight in the state for the next two years the committee, and the names given for | to be benefited. The heat of the strife is would rather vote for a clean Democrat in close counties than give their support for a moment to a Ouay Republican Thus the situation stands, and it is all to the benefit of the Democratic party, the party of the people and of pure principles.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

All others contain potash and mercury, the most dangerous of minerals.

The Gould Blackmalling Case.

Albany, March S .- Mrs. Margaret E. Cody, on trial charged with attempting to blackmail the heirs of Jay Gould, was on the witness stand all day yesterday. A number of letters written to her were introduced to show that she had not instigated the suit against the Gould estate, but that she took charge of the prosecution of the claim of Mrs. Angell In good faith, believeing in its justice. Mrs. Angell, the alleged wife of Jay Gould, audibly expressed disapproval of certain statements of Mrs. Cody.

is were those of Representatives (Democrat) of Philadelphia, Dixon (Dem ocrat) of Elk. Young (Republican) of Tioga and Moore (Republican) of Butler, the latter being of the anti-Quav faction. The Quavites filibustered unti 11 o'clock, when Speaker Farr, under new rule, declared the house adjourned In an instant an appeal was taken by large number of Democrats and Repub licans from his decision, but he refused to listen to the appeal and ran away from the chair.

SCENES OF EXCITEMENT.

A scene of the greatest excitement foi owed. Democrats and anti-Quay Republicans clamored vigorously for Farr o return, but he would not return, and so Hon. Ward R. Bliss, anti-Quay Republican, was named as temporary speaker and Representative Fow, Democrat. of Philadelphia, made reading clerk. The roll was called and 103 Democrats and anti-Quay Republicans answered to their names. A committee was appointed to investigate Speaker Farr's outrageous and arbitrary action consisting of Representatives Clarency (Republican) of Philadelphia, Dixon (Democrat) of Elk. Palm (Democrat) of Crawford, Young (Republican) of Tioga and Koontz (Republican) of Somerset. This committee will report to a meeting of the majority on Tuesday night next. It is believed that Farr will be severely censured. It is the consensus of conservative anti-Quay Republicans and Democrats that it is not well to do any revolutionary act, and Mr. Farr will in all probability be given another chance Another break on his part will undoubt edly result in the election of some leading Democrat, like Dixon of Elk, as the speaker of the house.

The most conspicuous, feature of the week from a Democratic standpoint. however, was the utter rout of Congress man Joseph C. Sibley by National Committeeman James M. Guffey, of Pitts burg. It will be remembered that these letters have stated that Sibley was working for Quay, while ostensibly scheming for Democratic unity. On Monday night last he threw off all disguise when h came up from Washington with a lot of letters printed in book form from Na tional Committeeman Jones and several other Democratic senators, announcing that if it was not possible to elect a Dem ocrat they would prefer that Quay might be returned to the senate. The letters, as might be supposed, created quite a sen sation, but not a single Democrat broke out of line. The fact that Sibley had thrown off disguise and was working openly for Quay caused them to pause As soon as Colonel Guffey saw these letters he prepared a statement for the pub Representatives Nathan C. Mackey of lie, which is at once convincing and dig

Colonel Guffey said:

"The distinguished Democratic United States senators and representatives, whare foreign to Pennsylvania and not in touch with her political conditions, mean well, and no doubt are honest in their expressions, but have heard only onside of the question about which the write,

THREE-YEAR-OLD ELOPERS.

The Bables Quite Indignant at Having Their Plans Frustrated.

The youngest eloping couple on record spent several hours at the Allegheny, (Pa.), Police Station a few days ago, and were returned to their parents. The would-be groom was Charles M. Douglas, aged 3 years, and his prospective bride was Margaret Carpenter, aged 3 years and 6 months.

Both are blue-eyed, flaxen-haired tots, and appeared very much in love with each other. They were indignant when prevented from going to a minister's to have the knot tied. Miss Carpenter had her arm linked in that of her lover, and they were walking hurriedly along North avenue, Allegheny, heading for a minister's house, when a lady met them and asked them where they were going.

"Marderet and me doin' to det married," spoke up Charles, while Margaret hung her head and blushed and said it was true.

The lady gave the youthful elopers in charge of an officer, who learned their names, but they did not know on what street they lived. At the Police Station they were handed over to the matron.

Charles also told the matron he intended to marry Margaret. He was a most affectionate lover, placing his arm about the little lady's waist, and was not a bit pleased when she made him remove the arm. Charles admitted he was rather young to wed. When asked what he wanted for a wedding outfit he said:

"A wagon with fifteen wheels to haui Mardaret and her doll in!"

Margaret said she preferred a laughing and crying doll and a parasol for a trousseau.

Charles was asked by Matron Kellog if he really and truly loved Margaret. He promptly said "Yes." In answer to a like question Margaret said "No." "Say yes," Charles put in coaxingly, and she did. "Do you ever kiss Margaret?" Mrs.

Kellog asked. "No, he don't," Margaret put in. "1

don't let him.' "I do when it gets dark," Charles said. "Will you kiss her now if I give you a cent?" was asked. Charles said he would, and gave the lassie a hearty smack as if he was used to it. After some coaxing Margaret kissed Charles, and then both wanted to go and spend their penny for candy.

The arrival of the parents interrupted the course of true love. As Charles was trotted off by his mamma he declared he would yet wed Margaret.
