AFTER FRAUDS.

In New York City they are reaching out for the Christian Scientists or faith healers by prosecuting them under indictments for practicing medicine without having been registered, as required by law, as practicing physicians. One case just decided was of a very flagrant character. A faith doctress set out to treat a little girl twelve years old by incantations, prayers and lotions of one kind and another for gangrene. As a result she lost her leg. The faith doctress was found guilty, sentenced to five months' imprisonment and to pay a fine That Renovo will have a silk mill is of $200. The judge declared hers was Science, but was a deliberate swindle. She charged $5 a visit, and her principal should be strictly enforced, as it is the poor and ignorant who suffer. It is claimed some of the faith curers are intelligent and honest. That may be.

Lutheran League Convention.

300 looms.

The District Lutheran League held its annual convention at Centre Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows : President, Clement Dale, Bellefonte ; vice presidents, Rev. Chas. T. Aikens, Pine Grove Mills, and B. F. Homan, Oak Hall ; recording secretary, W. M. Kerlin, Centre Hall ; corresponding secretary, Rev. W. M. Spangler, Salona ; treasurer, Miss Sara E. Klose, Mifflinburg ; delegates to the State convention, Rev. L. M. C. Weicksel, Renovo; Miss Annie Musser, Pine Grove Mills ; Miss Winifred Wolf, Rebersburg ; Thos. J. Fox, Lock Haven; and Rev. J. M. Rearick, Centre Hall.

No Sunday Train.

After considerable agitation among our people relative to the question of a Sunday train, the matter has been settled by a letter from Supt. Wallis, at Altoona, stating that they had never considered the advisability of running a Sunday train on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad. That means that the petition sent in by the business people from Bellefonte, for such a train, met with little favor. Therefore the Sunday train question is settled and the ministers of the town will breathe easier.

Killed by a Falling Rock.

J. A. Thomas, aged 53 years, employed in the quarry of the Pittsburg limestone company, at Tyrone, was instantly killed Friday by the fall of a huge rock weighing nearly half a ton. He, with other workmen, were shoveling dirt, when, without warning, the rock gave way and fell about thirty feet, striking its victim in the side and crushing him, causing instant death.
