The number will be increased shortly to upwards of 600 cars, and when it is considered that there are about five million tons of coal on each train some idea of the immensity of the traffic can be formed.

—William T. Royer, who the past two and a half years has served as assistant under county treasurer Harrison Kline, has resigned that position to accept a job as fireman on the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, making his first trip with engineer Lonsberry on Tuesday. Harper, William Harper, Misses Minnie Brouse, of this place were among the guests.

—THE FOURTH IN BELLEFONTE.
The Fourth of July in Bellefonte was one of the quietest days experienced here in a year, not even excepting Sundays. About ninety per cent. of the adults went out of town and nine per cent. of those remaining slept the entire day. The small boy got in his work spasmodically with the firecracker while the sparrows and martins chirruped gleefully along the deserted streets. Twice during the afternoon the Undine bell rang an alarm of fire but the blaze was easily extinguished with a few pailfuls of water. In the evening there were a number of pyrotechnic exhibitions throughout the town while Al. Roberts and Joshua Folk played their drums in the court house yard. The reason for all this quietude here was because of the Undine picnic at Hecla Park and the absence of the Logans to participate in the celebration at Lock Haven.

—The Undine picnic was one of the most successful, financially, they ever held, considering that the crowd did not exceed three thousand. The day was excellent, so far as weather was concerned. The amusements were base ball, racing, other sports and dancing until midnight.

—Two races were run under the direction of Will Runkle. They were a one mile race and a two-third mile race. Both were won by John Teats, of Bellefonte. The second prize in the one mile race was won by Frank Woomer, while in the two-third mile race Charles Larimer took second prize. In the ball game between Bellefonte and Mackeyville the latter won by the score of 7 to 6. At night there was a magnificent display of fireworks. The company cleared about $250.

—No, Maude dear, because a young owl is called an owl that's no reason why a young bull should be called a bullet.

—In polite circles "peninsula" is used as a substitute for "rubber," because it likewise means a neck stretching to sea.

—HOOD'S PILLS cure Liver Ills, Biliousness, Indigestion, Headache, Easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

HUGHES—GREEN.

Two Prominent Bellefonte Young People Happily Wedded.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Presbyterian church at 11:30 o'clock yesterday, when Prof. James R. Hughes, of the Bellefonte Academy, and Miss Mary Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Potts Green, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The church was tastefully decorated with plants and flowers and was crowded with friends of the bride and groom anxious to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the pastor, Dr. William Laurie, D.D., assisted by Rev. James P. Hughes, father of the groom. Miss L. Neubaker played the wedding march on the entrance of the bridal party. The bride looked unusually charming in a traveling dress of brown and carrying a large bouquet of white roses. She was given away by her father. The maid of honor was Miss Emma Green, the bride's sister, and the best man G. Tarleton Goldthwaite, Esq., of New York, a Harvard '91 graduate. The ushers were J. Harris Green, brother of the bride; Charles S. Hughes, of Baltimore, brother of the groom; J. Malcolm Laurie, Hardman P. Harris, Harris B. Heylmon and J. R. Woodcock, all of Bellefonte. Immediately following the ceremony at the church a delicious wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which a reception was held for near relatives of both families. Owing to recent bereavements in the bride's family no outside invitations were issued. The happy couple departed on the 2:35 train over the Central railroad for the east.
Prof. James R. Hughes graduated from Princeton College with honors in the class of '85, and has since been associated with his father as assistant principal and teacher in the Bellefonte Academy. Miss Green is a highly accomplished young lady and a social favorite among a large circle of friends. After spending the summer at Cape May Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will make their permanent home in Bellefonte.

HUNGARIANS IN TROUBLE.

June 30th the constable of Snow Shoe township brought to this place and had committed to jail Sophia Kowas, Rosa Nagg, Alik Dadees and Charles Pintick, four Hungarians. The women were committed on the charge of adultery and the men for jumping a board bill, but the real gist of the case is as follows: The women are both married, though but 19 years of age. About a year ago they were employed as domestics in New York and in answer to an advertisement in a matrimonial paper came to Clarence and married two of their countrymen. The marriage turned out a failure for domestic felicity and the women ran away from their husbands of but a few months, finally securing employment as waitresses in a hotel at Bethlehem. There they made the acquaintance of Pintick and Dadees, with whom they became quite friendly. The forsaken husbands, hearing of the new-made friendships, and desiring to be revenged on the women for running away from them, got up an intended elopement story, it is alleged, swore out warrants for the four of them sent officers to Bethlehem and had the quartet arrested. They were given a hearing before Squire Brown, of Snow Shoe, who committed them to jail for trial at the August term of court.

IS THERE A "KISSING BUG"?

Entomologists now declare that the "Kissing Bug" is a fake of the rankest kind sprung on an unsuspecting public by the papers in lieu of something more sensational. Fake or not, the bug provoked a four days' wonder—as well as scare—in the big cities, and was even heard of in interior towns. Two specimens were located in Bellefonte.
One of these was captured alive Thursday by John Morgan, of East Logan street, who has it on exhibition at Krumrine's drug store on South Allegheny street. The bug answers the description in all respects, in color, size, wings, legs, and in the feature that distinguishes it from other insects, that of the sharp pointed, curved proboscis. It is not known whether the bug had any victims around here or not. It is safe to say that Mr. Morgan did not give it much chance to get in its work once he got his eyes on it.
The other was captured by A. Baum, liverman, on Monday morning, who brought it to Garman's hotel on a stick. Whether Mr. Baum desired to show the bug hospitality or wanted to preserve it in alcohol, deponent saith not, but the last the writer saw of the insect it was straddling around on the flagstone in front of the hotel.
