Miss Glenn was well and favorably known in Bellefonte, being a frequent visitor here.

It seems as if the hard times are past here as everybody is busy in and around this place.

Kessinger and Son are erecting one of the largest hay store rooms in the valley, also a new cider factory 24 by 70 and two stories high, they now have a saw-mill and they are adding to it a planing mill, chop mill, lath factory and they will make pailings, this will be an immense building and will give employment to a large number of men. It will be ready for operation as soon as it can be completed.—Howard Hustler.

Mountain Game Preserve.

Altoona sportsmen have decided to purchase about 5,000 acres of woodland in the hunting territory known as the Beaver dams in Blair and Huntingdon counties. They will fence it in, build cabins, stock the woods with small and large game and the streams with trout. A professional gamekeeper is being secured in Germany. He will have two assistants. New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburg sportsmen are identified with the project.

Evolution of a Name.

The "evolution of a name" is what the Pittsburg News calls it. A Tennessee paper tells of a girl, named plain "Mary" at birth, who dropped the "r" when she grew up and became Miss May. As she began to shine in a social way, she changed the "y" to "e" and signed her letters Mae. About a year ago she was married, and now she has dropped the "e" and it's just plain "Ma." That's evolution.

POTTER COUNTY SNAKE STORY.

The Potter Democrat is responsible for the following snake story: While blasting rock in a quarry over in Bradford county, recently one of the quarrymen came upon a large black snake. The reptile was sluggish, and evidently had just feasted, but when the quarryman got a club it coiled itself and showed fight. After some manoeuvring he got near enough to deal the reptile a fierce blow on the head. There was a terrific report, and the quarryman was hurled violently to the ground. The shock stunned him for several moments. When he got up he found that the snake had been blown to bits, all that was left being a piece of its tail. For a time it seemed incomprehensible. Then he saw that some of the dynamite used in blasting the rock was missing, and it is supposed that the snake gobbled the explosive along with some particles of flint, and that the blow on the snake's body had been the cause of the explosion.

Big Fish Stories.

The Centre Hall Reporter is authority for the following: The trout season closed Saturday. Anglers had better luck than in three previous seasons, and if all the catches were reported, the number of speckled beauties caught in the streams of this county would run high in the thousands. So far as reported to the Reporter office, the catches were as follows: Walter Garrity, 1,500; Rev. Rhodes, 750; Editor Harter, 700; Rev. Christine, 500; F. Kurtz, 700. GOLDEN EAGLES PICNIC.

An attractive program of events is being arranged and Master of Records, J. D. Barnes, will be present to make an address. Several other prominent Sir Knights will honor the occasion by their presence.

The proposed contest of bands of Clinton and Centre counties is attracting a good deal of attention, owing to the liberal prizes and fair conditions, and nearly every band of note in the two counties has signified its intention of entering the contest. Other interesting events, together with a determination on the part of those in charge, to make this a banner day for all Knights of the Golden Eagle, their families and friends in this region, indicate that this picnic will surpass anything of the kind yet undertaken at Hecla Park. Thus They Were Married.

An exchange prints the following marriage ceremony, which was said by a Tennessee Squire a short time ago: Wilt thou take her for thy pard; for better or for worse; to have, to hold, to fondly guard till hauled off in a hearse? Wilt thou let her have her way, consult her many wishes, make the fire every day and help her wash the dishes? Wilt thou comfort and support her father and her mother, Aunt Jemima and Uncle John, three sisters and a brother? And his face grew pale and blank; it was too late to jilt; as through the floor he sank he said: "I-wilt."

For The Cabbage Worm.

To keep the cabbage worm off the late cabbage, soak dry corn cobs in kerosene for a few days, then place an old pan in the patch on a box or other support two or three feet high. Two or more of these would be better than one if the patch is large. Just at dusk drop two or three of the soaked cobs into the pan and apply the match; throw on fresh cobs as needed to keep a bright blaze going for an hour or more, and a large number of moths, which lay the eggs which hatch the worms which destroy our crops will be destroyed.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W.M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by F. Potts Green, druggist, Bellefonte, Pa.
