

USEFUL SOFA PILLOWS.

Christmas Presents That Will Please All Women.

TWO VERY ATTRACTIVE DESIGNS.

Burnt Leather Gifts That Are as Suitable For Men as For Women.

There was once an old woman who lived in a shoe and had so many children she didn't know what to do...

Sofa pillows are presents that never come amiss, and they may be made

A PRETTY ACORN DESIGN.

In a variety that is endless. Besides, they can be furnished in every material and also decorated in any number of ways to suit all places.

Pillows differ in treatment each season. New ones are made and sold, but those of home manufacture are often the best.

A charming affair which is singularly appropriate for men is made of undressed calf, with an etched or burnt decoration.

Another stylish affair and of very inexpensive make is the scroll pillow, which is made of gray chamamois.

Another pretty ornamentation is a monogram in raised work. Instead of four edges and then laced with a thick gold cord. These holes can be made by an ordinary shoemaker's punch.

The long, narrow pincushions called yard cushions are most in favor at the present time.

The Fashionable Pincushion. The long, narrow pincushions called yard cushions are most in favor at the present time.

For the edge make a frill, very full and finished with several rows of baby ribbon of the same shade as the lining.

At each corner put a rosette made of many loops of the baby ribbon.

The effect which the announcement produced may be imagined, and the party broke up amid much embarrassment.

He had had his revenge.

Furnishings. As gifts they are unrivaled.

For the useful and everyday pillow what a wealth of cotton materials is found in the market!

The pillow indicated is of agra linen or denim. The model shown in acorns and green leaves is of denim in a rich shade of tan.

MRS. OLIVER BELL BUNCE.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Dainty Dollies For the Breakfast Table as Christmas Gifts.

In all homes where dainty accessories are one of the table's features there are many pretty yet serviceable objects which make up an everyday decoration.

The hot bread dolly is most attractive presents. They are a delight to look upon and are easily made. Cut a piece of fine linen 15 inches square. This may be doubled and seamed on the edges, or the linen may be of a heavier sort, such as that known as butcher's, and left single and scalloped or fringed as a finish.

In schemes shown the one in a design of wheat is embroidered in a fine floss of pale straw color, while the corn shows the kernels in an even decoration of cream white.

Another pretty ornamentation is a monogram in raised work. Instead of the old fashioned setting a well formed combination in letters may be purchased as an ornamentation for one of these unadorned triangles.

These dollies are used for vegetables, such as baked sweet potatoes, and to keep hot corn warm.

An Effective Scarf. A bureau scarf which is extremely effective and yet involves but little work may be made in the following manner.

For the edge make a frill, very full and finished with several rows of baby ribbon of the same shade as the lining.

At each corner put a rosette made of many loops of the baby ribbon.

The effect which the announcement produced may be imagined, and the party broke up amid much embarrassment.

SUFFRAGE A FAILURE.

That is What the Men Out in Colorado Think About the Woman's Rights Question.

"Colorado politicians will, almost to a man, in private conversation declare that woman suffrage is a failure and a farce in our state, but one of them has the nerve to say so over his own signature in the newspapers," said Mr. F. R. Graham, a leading business man of Durango, Col., to a Washington Post reporter.

"As I do not aspire to office, there is no reason for timidity on my part, and I unhesitatingly declare that the experiment of giving the ballot to women in Colorado has been as rank a piece of foolishness as any people ever inflicted upon themselves; it has done a very little good, perhaps, and a great deal more of harm, and, though it may never be repealed, there is no possibility of good coming out of it. The women claim that their presence has made the elections cleaner, but I contend that they appropriate credit that does not belong to them, for, while the elections are better conducted than formerly, the improvement is due to the Australian system and not to the women.

"The presence of women in conventions and political meetings is to my mind degrading to them. Surrounded by a lot of coarse men whom they would not elevate or refine in a lifetime, they are entirely out of their element. Their vote in no way conduces to better government than if they were without the franchise, for they vote on sentiment, or follow the lead of their husbands, and so the only result is to increase the number of voters. There are thousands of good women in the state who are tired of the business and very much regret that the ballot was ever conferred on their sex.

THE PALMIST'S REVENGE.

How Laska Turned the Tables on an Irascible Scoffer Who Annoyed Him.

The latest adept in palmistry to excite attention in New York is a young man named Laska, who is said to have created a furor in certain cultured circles. Laska is an interesting character, and by no means unknown in New Orleans, says the Times-Democrat. He stayed several weeks in this city a few years ago, and gave numerous private exhibitions of his skill, at one of which a little incident occurred which is recalled with much amusement by everybody who witnessed it. Among those present on the occasion referred to was a gentleman who regarded palmistry as an out-and-out humbug and took no pains to conceal his opinion. His comments as the hand reading proceeded were uncomfortably candid, and it was easy to see that Laska was having difficulty in holding his temper in leash. His black eyes blazed, but he made no retort, and finally toward the close of the evening somebody proposed that he try his powers on the skeptic.

The gentleman was rather reluctant, but he finally allowed himself to be persuaded and stepped forward with outstretched hand. Laska glanced at the open palm, and an expression of mingled horror and pity overspread his mable face. For the first time he seemed to lose his self-control, and in apparently deep agitation he stammered out: "I would rather read this hand in private."

The effect which the announcement produced may be imagined, and the party broke up amid much embarrassment.

HOME CURE FOR BLOOD POISON.

Beware of the Doctors' Patchwork; You Can Cure Yourself at Home.

There is not the slightest doubt that the doctors do more harm than good in treating Contagious Blood Poison; many victims of this loathsome disease would be much better off to-day if they had never allowed themselves to be dosed on mercury and potash, the only remedies which the doctors ever give for blood poison.

The doctors are wholly unable to get rid of this vile poison, and only attempt to heal up the outward appearance of the disease—the sores and eruptions. This they do by driving the poison into the system, and endeavor to keep it shut in with their constant doses of potash and mercury. The mouth and throat and other delicate parts then break out into sores, and the fight is continued indefinitely, the drugs doing the system more damage than the disease itself.

Mr. H. L. Myers, 100 Mulberry St., Newark, N. J., says: "I had spent a hundred dollars with the doctors, when I realized that they could do me no good. I had large spots all over my body, and these soon broke out into running sores, and I endured all the suffering which this vile disease produces. I decided to try S. S. S. as a last resort, and was soon greatly improved. I followed closely your 'Directions for Self-Treatment,' and the large patches on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I was soon cured perfectly and my skin has been as clear as glass ever since. I cured myself at home, after the doctors had failed completely."

It is valuable time thrown away to expect the doctors to cure Contagious Blood Poison, for the disease is beyond their skill. Swifts Specific—S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD—acts in an entirely different way from potash and mercury—it forces the poison out of the system and gets rid of it entirely. Hence it cures the disease, while other remedies only shut the poison in where it lurks forever, constantly undermining the constitution. Our system of private home treatment places a cure within the reach of all. We give all necessary medical advice, free of charge, and save the patient the embarrassment of publicity.
