FROM WISCONSIN.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:—You good old Centre Democrat comes regularly to our table, as daylight breaks over the eastern horizon. We are always pleased to see it and peruse its newsy pages with far more than ordinary interest, finding few familiar names among the marriage licenses, but occasionally in the death column we see the name of one we well knew, friends of half a century ago; remember I took up the line of march towards the setting sun from Philipsburg, Pa., in the spring time of 1856 and after graduating at Rush Medical College, Chicago, Ill., I hung out "my shingle" in this village, then a little hamlet in the Wild West where Indians were as numerous almost as white men. Now the "Noble red man," in these surroundings is a slender scab, lazy, filthy and worthless, experts only in playing cards and drinking poor whiskey. The details of "Poor Lo," at this time, would be tedious and perhaps disinteresting to many of your subscribers, hence I will cut short an article that I had intended to air to some extent, and may, at some future time, refer to it again, if you think such notes would be appreciated, as giving some of the peculiar traits of these worthless creatures, as they really are to be seen here by the naked eye.

I am pleased with the good old Democrat, nearly a year ago I subscribed for it, and with its editorials and news columns I am pleased, and more than interested with sketches from the many little towns that have sprung up in the county since I turned my face towards the setting sun.

The enclosed P. O. order will renew my subscription, and pay a year's subscription to a friend whose address accompanies mine.

Yours respectfully,
F. ANTES CANFIELD.

A new automatic weighing machine was placed in the Beech Creek weigh scale last week, displacing the one that had been in use for several years. A train of forty-five cars is weighed at this scale in twenty-five minutes on the average. The Clinton county commissioners met the voters of Centre county on Monday morning at the bridge across the Beech Creek three miles above here, near Hubbards, to inspect the old wood-structure and see if the petition for a new bridge should be granted. The commissioners of Centre county are very favorable towards erecting a new iron bridge of one span and will relieve Liberty township of all expenses. The creek is the dividing line between Centre and Clinton counties and the expense will be equally divided between these counties. The Clinton county end of the bridge is in Beech Creek township.
