Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

The Royal is made from the most highly refined and wholesome ingredients, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is cheaper at its price than any similar article.

> Samples of mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently dis-tributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food, and in many cities their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a corrosive poison, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

-J. K. Johnston, Esq., after a prolonged siege of illness, is able to be about and is attending to his office duties again. He was on the sick list for about three months.

-Wm. T. Hunt has resigned his position as a machinist at Jenkins & Lingle's and with his wife has moved to Burlingame, Lycoming county, where he has accepted a similar position.

-John Stephens, of Julian, paid us a call on Saturday. He is a sawyer and had a narrow escape last week by nearly having his hand cut off, but fortunately he only cut the one finger.

Merty Cunningham, Jr., is very ill at his home in New York City. His two brothers George and Edward and his brother-in-law, R. B. Taylor, left for New York Saturday to see him.

-John Huss, of Johnstown, Pa., paid us a short call Monday. He was called here to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. W. R. Noll, of near Linden Hall. Mr. Huss is engaged in shoemaking at string was tied around the horse's tongue, Johnstown, Pa.

-William P. Rothrock, wife and child, arrived in Bellefonte Monday from Minneapolis, Minn., on a visit to his father, David Rothrock, of near Belle fonte. He has resigned his position in Minneapolis and will make headquarters in Pittsburg.

-Clarence Baley, who has been living of the company, and to this end employin town the past year and employed at the Crider planing mill, expects to move back to Curtin township and will occupy a farm, which he thinks will pay better.

-Joe Cussion, the engineer who was hurt on the C. R. R. of Penna. some time ago by the engine jumping the track and had his leg broken in several places, is able to be about again, but must use the crutches for awhile. His leg was badly injured, but the indications are that it will heal up as well as ever.

-Rev. Dr. W. A. Stephens delivered his farewell sermon in the Methodist church Sunday evening. Dr. Stephens has been appointed a secretary of the 20th Century thank offering representing the Central Pennsylvania Conference and will make his future home at Carlisle where he has a son residing who is a professor in the Dickinson College.

-Farmers who come to our office from various sections of the county tell us that the wheat fields do not look any too promising this coming season. It appears that the cold weather and frequent thaws had the effect of killing the plant in many places. Much of the time there was no snow on the ground, and that is the reason that the damage was done in this way.
