George has yet to pass the examination before the Penna. State Board for a license to practice in some town in the state.

—Wallace Brumgart, who has been acting as turn-key for his uncle, Sheriff Cyrus Brumgart, at the jail since the 1st of January, resigned his position last week and left for his home at Rebersburg. He will go to Williamsport where he will follow his profession that of painter and sketcher. His place will be filled by George Nearhood, of Rebersburg.

—Wm. H. Baird, of Milesburg, has secured a position in the post office at Winbur, Somerset county, Pa., and left for that place this week to accept the same. There are a great many Centre county mechanics and others located at that point where there is plenty of all kinds of employment. Winbur is one of the most thriving coal centres in the state, and has a wonderful output at present.

—The clothing men are all smiles during the past week as the mercury has jumped several notches and was even up to the hot mark, where it made one sweeter to be out in the sun. Some afternoons this week we had it as warm as 90 in the shade. That makes a fellow think of straw hats, seersuckers, linens, cool beer, ice cream and the like. One touch of summer makes all of us more or less lazy.

—George T. Bush, chairman of the Transportation committee of the Centennial commission, secured a one fare round trip rate over all railroads for the Centre County Centennial to be held July 25 and 26. This rate holds good from 24th to the 27th inclusive. It means that at a single fare there will be many thousand people visit Bellefonte on that occasion and the railroads will have all the traffic possible.

—During the past week there have been a number of articles going the rounds to the effect that a party is considering the feasibility of erecting an electrical plant at Milesburg for the purpose of furnishing power for a trolley line from that place to Bellefonte. No doubt there are persons considering the project and it might be a good one, but thus far no work has been done on the lines or the power house. Memorial Day.

Don't call it Decoration day. This request comes from the veterans themselves and they are right. This word decoration by no means expresses the solemn character of the day. Memorial is the term that expresses its true significance. Therefore, say Memorial day.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

The first Farmers' Institutes held in Centre county by state authority and at state cost were at State College and Howard, in the winter of 1889-90 and were organized by Dr. H. P. Armsby and John A. Woodward, at the request of Dr. E. W. Hale, who was at that time our representative on the State Board of Agriculture, but confined to his house by what proved to be his last illness.

Including those and up to this time, twenty-six of these most excellent meetings have been held and our whole farming interests have felt their beneficial influences.

Fourteen of our small, live towns, forming the business centres of some of the best farming communities in the county, have had these meetings as follows: State College, Port Matilda, Stormstown, Milesburg, Spring Mills, Hubersburg and Madisonburg, each one; Pine Grove, Millheim, Boalsburg and Centre Hall, each two; Rebersburg and Unionville, each three; Howard, five.

Four days of state aid and state speakers, equal to two institutes of two days each, will be allotted to this county for the coming winter. The county committee, which selects the places for holding the institutes, will meet at the Commissioners' office in the Court House, on Monday, June 11th, at 1 o'clock, when committees representing localities which desire the institute will be heard. Applications by letter may be sent in advance to John A. Woodward, chairman of the county committee, at Howard, and will be as carefully considered as personal applications. Localities desiring the institutes are expected to furnish a suitable hall, lighted and warmed, without cost to the state representatives, and if distant from a railway, convey the state speakers to and from the nearest station, free of cost.

CORBETT DEFEATED.

On Friday evening of last week an important fistic encounter took place at Cooney Island between James Jeffries, the World's Champion, and the famous James J. Corbett. The men were to fight twenty-five rounds. The fight failed to attract the attention that it deserved, and the attendance was smaller than usual for the reason that most people thought that Corbett had wasted his strength by years of dissipation and that he would be easily put out. Others thought that the fight would be a bluff to beat someone out of money. The fight came off according to schedule and was a great surprise to all the sports. Although that Corbett is ten years older and weighed thirty pounds less than his stalwart opponent, he made a wonderful fight. It was one of the finest fistic encounters seen for many years. Corbett was in splendid shape and several times he had his big opponent almost dazed and put out. Corbett was swift and active and his sparring was wonderful, while his feet work and dodging more than puzzled the big fellow. Corbett rained blow after blow on the big fellow's face until he had him badly disfigured. In the 23rd round Jeffries got in a sweeping jab on Corbett's jaw that put him out of the fight. Corbett, although defeated, was the hero of the battle and since then he has won the applause of the sporting fraternity and regained in a large measure his former prestige.

Did Not Get the Increase.

The strikers at Mann's axe factory have gone back to work, but they received no increase.

RECENT DEATHS.

DR. R. G. FURST:—After submitting to two operations—one for appendicitis and the other for obstruction of the bowels—Dr. Robert Gardner Furst, expired at his residence, in Lock Haven, Friday evening. Dr. Furst was the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Furst and was born at Cedar Springs twenty-eight years ago last November.

MRS. McCLELLAND STOVER:—Mrs. McClelland Stover died at her home in Porter township, Clinton county, Friday evening. She was 40 years old. Her husband and six children survive. Deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walker and a sister of W. Harrison Walker, Esq., of this place. She was ill about four weeks from a complication of diseases. Mrs. Stover was an earnest christian lady and a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Porter township. The funeral took place Monday afternoon from the church.

MRS. MARY E. HOOVER:—After a short illness from infirmities due to old age, Mrs. Mary E. Hoover, one of Bellefonte's oldest ladies, passed away Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at her home on North Spring street. Deceased was born in Nittany Valley; was aged 83 years 3 months and 23 days. Early in life she married John T. Hoover, a prominent democratic politician of the county, and ever afterward made her home in Bellefonte. Her husband was interested in coal and timber land owned by the Bellefonte & Snow Shoe railroad company and was a surveyor and engineer. He also served twelve years as prothonotary of Centre county. Three children survive, Orris L., of Philadelphia; Augustus M., of Bellefonte; and Bella J., at home. She also leaves one sister, Miss Nancy Jameson, of Milesburg. Interment in the Union cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

MRS. PETER KEICHLINE:—Who died at her home at Pine Grove Mills, on Tuesday, May 8th, 1900, at 5 o'clock p. m., was born in Buffalo valley, Union county, December 19th, 1818, and was a daughter of Peter and Sarah Long, who lived and died in Buffalo valley. Samuel Long, of Catawissa, a brother, and Hetta Metzger, of Chicago, a sister, survive her. She was married to Peter Keichline, August 15th, 1838, at Aaronsburg, Pa. From Aaronsburg they moved to Boalsburg, from Boalsburg they moved to Pine Grove Mills, from Pine Grove Mills they moved to Rock Springs, and from Rock Springs they moved back to Pine Grove Mills. Seven children survive her: Mary McWilliams, Maggie Meek, Sara Gardner, Susan Goss, G. W. Keichline, L. M. Keichline and Peter Keichline. Her seven children tenderly cared for her during her last illness and were at her bedside when she peacefully passed away. She was a member of the Reformed church which she joined in early childhood. Her husband, with the assistance of others, built a Reformed church at Pine Grove Mills, opposite their home, where they worshipped together until they died. She died with a full assurance of the resurrection and her last words and prayer expressed the hope of soon reaching the eternal home. She died as though she were sleeping in the arms of Jesus, who died for us all. She was a kind and affectionate wife, a loving mother to her children, who enjoyed their presence and company, and always was solicitous for their welfare. She was known as a good and kindly neighbor who enjoyed the love and esteem of all. Rev. A. A. Black, of Boalsburg, officiated at the funeral. In his sermon he referred to her loving kindness to her children and neighbors, and her great devotion to her church. Her grandsons acted as pall bearers: John and Samuel McWilliams, Samuel and William Goss, and William and Edward Keichline. She was buried at the Pine Hall cemetery, by the side of her husband, who died five years ago, where a monument marks their resting place.

EX GOVERNOR HASTINGS WINS.

Supreme Court Decides the Jackson Suit in His Favor.

Justice Dean delivered an opinion for the defendants in the Supreme Court Monday in the case of the administrator of George W. Jackson, deceased, against former Governor Daniel H. Hastings, J. Henry Cochran and Henry C. McCormick, surviving partners of Jackson, Hastings & Co. bankers. By a written agreement the deceased and the defendants on September 1, 1897, formed a co-partnership in the banking business at Bellefonte, Pa. On October 22, 1897, Jackson died, and on August 10, 1898, his administrator filed in the Common Pleas Court of Centre county a bill in equity praying for a dissolution of the firm, for an accounting and for a receiver. Judge Love granted this prayer, but the Supreme Court reversed the ruling.

SIX O'CLOCK MOVEMENT.

The numerous clerks about town are interested in a movement to have the stores all close at 6 o'clock in the evening during the months of July and August. To this they have made the exception of Saturday evening, and on those nights when there is pay day at any of the large works about the town. We don't wonder that the clerks would like to have a bit of spare time, during the warm summer evenings, to get out of the stores a bit earlier than usual. It is but natural, and seems very reasonable too. Most clerks must report early in the morning and have very long hours to serve. At this season of the year business is not very brisk and all could be done in half the time. If ALL the stores agree to close it will not prove any loss to any of the merchants, as the same amount of goods will be sold in the end, as formerly, only the customer will have to accommodate himself to the hours of doing business. There should be no inconvenience to the plan as there would be due notice given to the public of the closing, at least it is supposed that the clerks would cheerfully see to it that it was well advertised.

There are a great many towns in this state that are not any larger than Bellefonte that observe this custom and find it satisfactory, after giving it a fair trial. We believe the citizens of this community would heartily endorse a movement of this kind, and would not begrudge the time the clerks would have for enjoyment. While traveling in Canada last summer the writer was impressed with the custom in vogue in that country of closing all places of business on Wednesday afternoons to give a full half holiday to the proprietors and employees during the summer months. Those people believe that recreation is as necessary as food, to insure healthy minds and bodies. In the warm climates of Mexico and Cuba at midday, for several hours, all business is suspended. In this country the prevailing sentiment seems to be that of crowding every minute of the day and hours of night into drudgery and moneymaking. It is no wonder that foreigners term Americans as "hogs" who are continually chasing dollars. For the sake of reflection along this line let us call the readers' attention to an appropriate poem, in this issue, at the top of the sixth column on the first page. Don't fail to read it to your employer if he wants to grind the life out of you from early morn until late at night, for the sake of grasping a few stray pennies. We believe that the clerks will succeed in their move, and that no merchant will be so inconsiderate as to refuse this request to join in the early closing movement.

CHANGE OF SERMON.

For a number of years we have regularly each week supplied our readers with a sermon by that eminent divine, T. DeWitt Talmage. It has been one of the strong features of this paper and most of readers appreciated the same. Of course there are some who do not care for that kind of literature, but it is impossible to print a paper that will suit all the various tastes. Beginning with this week the Talmage sermon will be discontinued, as we want to give our readers something new along the same line, and it will be sermons by the distinguished Brooklyn divine, Rev. A. C. Dixon.

Our reason for making this change is given. A person makes a mistake to confine his reading to one author. Same can be said in regard to our religious instruction. Following the teachings and writings of one minister causes contraction. You need a change; a variety of food is as necessary for the body as the mind. The sermons of the Rev. Dixon are published far and wide over the country and highly appreciated. In them you will find a change of language and thought. It is our intention to run these sermons as long as they are appreciated, and if the readers of the paper wish to have Talmage discourses again they will be furnished.

The New Fair Ground.

There is nothing new in the county fair project of which extended mention was made last week. Nothing has been done on the ground since, except to stake out the race course. It is expected that Thos Shoemaker, accompanied by his surveyors and foremen, will be here tomorrow to overlook the grounds and that actual work will be commenced the beginning of next week. They are advertising for teams and will need considerable help when they commence to excavate and fill up the race course. The construction of a ten foot board fence a round the property will consume a good bit of lumber and give employment to carpenters.

After these improvements have been made, the next will be the erection of suitable buildings for the various exhibits. The fair ground will be a sure thing.

PATENT LEATHER PEACHES.

NOT to eat! No, indeed—to wear. But they are peaches just the same—we'll stand for that, if it does sound a bit slangy.

You know patent leather shoes are going to cut a big figure this season with fashionable folks, and we've a notion that they will be quite popular with many who are not so fashionable.

Anyhow, we have bought largely of patent leathers and are showing some handsome ones—men's and women's—high and low cut, and very liberally priced. Come in.
