EDITORIAL.

JUST now Bryan is fishing; taking a rest for the fall campaign.

It is whispered that Al Dale is again being groomed for a legislative turn. Go in Bro. Dale.

A CAREFUL survey of the election returns of Oregon show a decided victory for the Democrats. The Republicans lost ground out there and they know it mightly well.

DEWEY says he will not be candidate for the vice Presidency on the democratic ticket this trip. Since he can't get the nomination for the first place he is satisfied better with what he has got. He is sensible.

THE Republican National Convention at Philadelphia, from the accounts in the papers, seems to be strictly a one-man affair and Hanna is the chap who is the hero of the gathering. What he says goes. Quay and Platt can't even grapple with him.

THE situation in China has grown decidedly alarming in the past week. The assembling of the foreign fleets seems to have aroused the ire of the empress and she ordered her forts to open fire. The result was that in a short time the fort was knocked to pieces and many were killed. Rioting and anarchy continues to prevail throughout the kingdom. Many towns have been burned by the "Boxers" and many foreigners have been killed, among whom are representatives of various European countries. It is China defying the world. The result is that all the powers are sending reinforcements there and China will be given a severe lambasting and the present ruling empress deposed. What the future of China will be is uncertain. She may be cut up in strips, dismembered, or a neutral government established. That paves the way for more contentions and international strifes.

CLEARFIELD TICKET.

The Democratic County Convention was held at Clearfield on Tuesday. The following ticket was nominated:

- Congress, J. K. P. Hall, Elk county; Assembly, Cyrus A. Woods, Bloom township, and C. C. Howe, Cooper; Sheriff Henry S. Knarr, Dubois; District Attorney, James A. Gleason, Houtdale; Jury Commissioner, E. K. Shirey, Clearfield; Coroner, W. B. Beamer, Decatur.

The contest for chairman resulted in the election of the present secretary of the county committee, John C. Barclay, over E. C. Shields, of DuBois. Barclay was also elected unanimously to fill out the unexpired term of the present chairman, George M. Dimeling, who resigned.

John A. Stock, Clearfield; Dennis Dempsey, DuBois, and George E. Merritt, Cooper, were chosen Congressional conferees.

The convention was harmonious.

LATE CONVENTION NOTES.

McKinley and Roosevelt will likely be named to-day, by acclamation. All candidates have practically withdrawn for harmony. Roosevelt will not refuse.

McKinley's platform has been unveiled and means:—expansion, protection, gentle treatment of trusts, gold standard, Isthmus canal to be built, etc.

Quay and Hanna have become reconciled—hatchet is buried. Nominations will be made to-day, Thursday.

A Kingdom Built on Love.

Napoleon I, in his famous "Memoirs," writes: "Alexander, Cesar, Charlemagne, and myself founded empires. Christ also established a kingdom. While the former are to-day destroyed, the latter is more powerful now than it was at the beginning. The reason is, that our empires were founded on brute force, while Christ's is built on love. In consequence of this difference there are to-day millions ready to die for Jesus, while I am almost without one sincere friend."

Karthaus Mining Company.

A charter was granted Monday at Harrisburg to the Karthaus Coal Mining company. The capital stock is $3,000.

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW.

Sometimes it is well to study political questions from an independent point of view. The Williamsport Grid, a non-political paper of prominence, makes the following editorial comment on the position of the two parties on the great issues:

REPUBLICAN PROMISES.

The Republican party enters this presidential campaign on its record. The party's record consists in the fulfillment, complete or attempted, of its promises made in 1896. The first and foremost promise related to the re-establishment of a protective tariff which was promptly fulfilled by the Dingley law. Reciprocity came next and several treaties were negotiated with European and West Indian countries only to be denied ratification by the Senate, there being several Republican members not in harmony with the party on this policy. The merchant marine followed and a bill to foster and encourage the same met with almost solid Democratic opposition to which was added a considerable number of republican votes from the interior. The important question of sound money was answered by the gold standard law; and the suppression of Trusts was attempted by the Littlefield bill. The navy received a substantial enlargement and the army was increased to meet extraordinary conditions arising from the Spanish war. Cuba was freed from Spanish oppression and is being advanced in self-government. The Hawaiian and Alaskan civil government bills were promoted. Porto Rico was given a temporary government. Free homesteads were secured by new laws, and all the expenses of the Government were liberally provided for. The Treasury will close the fiscal year with a big surplus.

On the other hand, domestic sugar production failed to get the protection promised, although competition with the new colonies was prevented. While pension appropriations were most generous, the administration of the Pension bureau did not receive attention. The projected Nicaragua canal ran up against the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which the Senate declined to ratify in response to the general protest of the people. Although present immigration laws were well enforced no legislation was enacted shutting out persons who can neither read nor write. A free ballot still exists only in name in some States, and lynchings have not been stopped, some of the most brutal occurring during the past two weeks. A National Board of Labor Arbitration is yet to be established. Woman's rights remain the same. No Territory has been given statehood. The Civil service instead of being extended has been abrogated in certain cases. Temperance has secured only individual attention. And this makes up the negative side of the Republican record, based upon the party's promises made in 1896. Whether it is such as to warrant the charge that Republicans have failed to justify their retention of power, remains for the people to say at the polls next November.

WASHINGTON COMMENT.

A peculiarly outrageous attempt to assess Government clerks for the benefit of the Republican campaign fund has just come to light in this city. It was designed to compel the clerks and other employees of Congress to pay over to the fund one-half of the extra month's salaries voted to them just before adjournment. The voting of this money, which this year amounted to some $80,000, is a national scandal at the best. It is a gift pure and simple without any excuse and is always fought by the more conscientious members, but is always carried over their heads. Never before, however, has the party which voted it, turned around and demanded that half of it should be turned over for political uses. A few days ago the Republican employees of Congress received letters inviting them to call on Mr. Schrader, who was assistant secretary of the Congressional Committee in the last campaign. When the employees called they were asked for campaign contributions and any inquiries as to amounts, were answered with the suggestion that half of their extra month's pay would be acceptable, but that contributions would be voluntary and the giver could fix any other amount. The amounts given ran all the way from $5 to $10 up—in one instance, to a whole month's salary.

Washington is laughing over a statement given out by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics which innocently but flatly gives the lie to a recent statement of the War Department. Sometime ago R. P. Porter was employed to revise the Cuban tariff and among other changes reduced the duty on railway materials, 75 per cent. At the moment when he was preparing this reduction, Mr. Porter was making arrangements to resign from the Government service and enter the employ of the Van Horn syndicate, which had obtained control of all the railways in Cuba. Soon after, he did so. At the same time, the War Department made a statement excusing the reduction for the following reasons: "It has been apparent to all acquainted with the working of the Cuban tariff that the rate of duty upon the schedule for machinery and railway materials and supplies, namely, 40 per cent ad valorem, is too high. The effect of this has been to stop all importation of such articles, and the revenue from these schedules has been extremely small." Now the Bureau of Statistics issues a statement of Cuban imports for the past ten months, which shows that in that time there were imported into Cuba $727,052 worth of specified railway articles and $4,168,000 of machinery, about one fourth of which was for use on the railways. The duty on the total railway supplies was about $500,000. Next year, it will be only $200,000 on the same quantity. Meanwhile Mr. Porter is receiving a fancy salary from the syndicate which he served so well.

Some grocers are so short sighted as to decline to keep the Ivory Soap, claiming it does not pay as much profit as inferior qualities do, so if your regular grocer refuses to get it for you, there are undoubtedly others who recognize the fact that the increased volume of business done by reason of keeping the best articles more than compensates for the smaller profit, and will take pleasure in getting it for you.
