Will Manage Somehow.

Do not worry about the editor. He has a charter from the State to act as doorman for the community. He will get the paper out somehow and stand up for the town and whoop it up for you when you run for office, and lie about your big-footed son when he gets a $4 a week job, and weep over your shriveled soul when it is released from its grasping body, and smile at your wife's second marriage. Do not worry about the editor; he will get along. The Lord only knows how—but somehow.—Ex.

THE CHESTER DEVONDE COMPANY.

Chester DeVonde and company have been giving a number of excellent plays, carefully costumed and acted. Mr. DeVonde is not a stranger to the people of Bellefonte, and we are pleased to state that his company is A. No. 1, being composed of clean and capable people. Monday night the peculiar and pleasing play, "The Devil's Advocate," held the audience to a marked degree. Tuesday "The Queen's Defender," a most remarkable play, of which the costuming was beautiful. These plays were well handled. Mr. DeVonde has improved to a noticeable degree and gains favor as seen in his many different roles, which proves his title of artist. He is versatile and pleasing always. Special credit should be given Mr. DeVonde for the abundance of beautiful scenery with which he stages his plays. Mr. Roche is a comedian who is really funny. Miss Gear is sweet and pleasing. Miss Aiken is clever; Mr. DeVernon, Mr. Guderian, Mr. Charters and Anna Whitng are deserving of special mention. Last night Mr. DeVonde excelled himself with a wonderful conception of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." To-night the great scenic production, "Ten-Ten Door."

Will Not Enlarge the District.

By a vote taken in the eighth annual convention of the Central Pennsylvania District Firemen's association at Philipsburg last week, it was decided not to enlarge the district so as to take in the counties of Clinton, Jefferson, Huntingdon and Blair. DuBois was chosen as the place of meeting next year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. E. Irvin, DuBois; first vice president, Arthur Baird, Osceola Mills; second vice president, Thomas Simcox, Houtzdale; treasurer, E. W. Gray, DuBois; secretary, John Barclay, Clearfield; delegate to state convention, Charles Musser, Philipsburg; alternate, James Whitehill, DuBois.

The Bellefonte firemen, both the Logan and Undine company, with the Coleville, Zion and Pleasant Gap, bands, made a splendid showing at the convention and were paid some very flattering compliments, by the thousands of visitors in Philipsburg as well as from the press of that town. In the matter of prizes given DuBois companies took about everything.

Pastor Chosen.

At a congregational meeting, Tuesday evening, of the Milesburg Presbyterian church, it was voted to present to Presbytery at its next meeting a call for the services of Rev. W. F. Carson, of Philadelphia, as pastor. There was a good turnout of the congregation at the meeting over which Rev. Dr. Laurie, of Bellefonte, presided as moderator. Rev. Carson is a graduate of Princeton seminary, a young man of fine ability and will no doubt prove to be the right man in the right place.

Horse Racing Next Monday.

For some time past the enthusiastic horse sports of Bellefonte have been at work endeavoring to arrange a race for the ordinary roadster. In this they have finally succeeded and on next Monday the racing will be seen on the track in the new driving path. Up to the time of going to press we have not been able to secure a complete list of entries, but they are such as will make it worth anyone's while to go down and see the races.

—Governor Stone Monday commissioned Judge J. Brewster McCulloch, of Montrose, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge Henry Green. the second count as to John Walker, whereupon Walker plead guilty and was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $25 fine and imprisonment in the county jail for six months.

At this point a civil case was taken up, viz.: Joseph A. Emerick vs. Central Railroad Company of Pennsylvania, appeal; plea, non assumpsit. This suit is brought to recover for the value of a cow killed by defendant company in Walker township on the 17th day of April last, the defendant alleging that the cow was struck on the crossing in the lane, which the plaintiff denied. Verdict on Tuesday forenoon in favor of the defendant company.

Centre County vs. Annie S. Riddle, administratrix of, &c, of M. F. Riddle, deceased, appeal; plea, non assumpsit. This is an appeal from the settlement of the county auditors last January for the year 1899, in which settlement the auditors surcharged the county commissioners with certain Commonwealth costs paid them in Commonwealth cases, with certain bills paid Boggs township and Milesburg borough poor districts for amounts expended for indigent poor persons whose settlement was unknown and for days when but one of the commissioners was present. From which settlement the three commissioners appealed and three separate suits were framed to try the question. At the close of the county's case defendant moved the Court for a compulsory non suit which the Court granted and at the same time granted a rule to show cause why the non suit should not be stricken off. The cases of Daniel Heckman and Thoma' W. Fisher were likewise disposed of.

On Tuesday afternoon Albert Banks, of Snow Shoe, a former subject of the Queen of England, was naturalized.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Opinions From Various Sources on Questions of Public Interest.

Senator Teller, of Colorado, one of the founders of the Republican party, stated the case succinctly on the floor of the senate, thus: "I want to say that if the crooked work of the Republican party in power could only be made known and shown up to the people we could upset this administration in an hour." There is a rank, unadorned statement of fact in this assertion.—Washington Times.

How much better off are the white people of Philadelphia, lorded over as they are by blackmailing officials, and buried as they are on election day under the weight of 80,000 fraudulent votes, than were the white people of South Carolina or Mississippi during the black dominance in carpet bagging days? This is a conundrum which some few solicitous citizens are now trying to solve.—Philadelphia Record.

As the result of war corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of war. God grant that my suspicion may prove groundless.—Abraham Lincoln.

Perhaps the Republican platform is the most impudent document ever issued for the perusal of an intelligent people. The idea of that trust ridden convention even pretending in a milk and elder resolution to condemn trusts was an exhibition of ga never equaled on this earth. The claim that Republicans have secured honest officials in Cuba is humor broad enough to excite the risibles of all the convicts in all the penitentiaries under the sun.—Hon. Champ Clark.

No president—no professor has been evicted from his chair for making Republican stump speeches, and such stump speeches are far more numerous than are the anti-imperialist addresses of Dr. Rodgers or the silver utterances of Dr. Andrews. It will therefore become a question not merely of rich men controlling the colleges, but of those rich men making every college a close Republican corporation. That question, particularly in the west, will receive the attention which its importance deserves.—Chicago Chronicle.

The platform declaration as to the foreign achievements is a lie. If we had an Englishman in John Hay's place he could not and would not have played more into the hands of England. I believe that his son was sent to Pretoria to act as a spy in England's behalf, and that Macrum lost his position because he would not serve as a spy. I hope that the ticket will be defeated. I will not vote for the ticket. McKinley is a civil fraud and Roosevelt is a military fraud, and the ticket deserves to be beaten. I don't know that I shall vote for the other fellow, for it does not strike me that I am compelled to choose even the less of two evils, but I must in fairness say that my opinion of Bryan grows more and more favorable. He is beyond doubt sincere and he is certainly near to the people. On the other hand, McKinley is a rich man's man, not a people's man.—Gen. John Beatty, Ohio Rep.

The American people like to have their own way, but they like still better to see a man who is not afraid of them. They can follow a leader, however much they may disagree from him, who, when he sees "a plain duty" or lays down a "code of morality," will hold to either even against a world of arms. It is certain, therefore, that at least some of the influences which have swayed the caucuses and conventions of the Democratic party will be felt in the campaign and at the polls. No one can doubt that Mr. Bryan has an opportunity to make a more favorable campaign, here in these eastern states at any rate, than in 1896, when his personality was unknown and grossly misconceived, and when even his patriotism was challenged. Moreover, the people of this section understand now that he embodies more than one issue and is the foremost champion of certain principles which lie at the foundation of our republican democracy and which appeal to all Americans alike, regardless of geographical lines.—Boston Globe.

One's sympathies naturally go out to Governor Roosevelt's academic and social reforming friends who went to Philadelphia to explain to the wild men from the west how necessary it was to give the governor two years more in New York to take another whack at the corporations. They have even truculently (though rashly) said that if Platt, by any trick, succeeded in forcing Roosevelt to give up the governorship, that fact alone would make New York a doubtful or probably Democratic state. Could the boss reject a tried servant of the state simply because he was too independent or because corporations objected to him, without giving the electoral vote of New York to Bryan? This question of Roosevelt's closest friends, said to have been inspired by him, will now be explained as purely rhetorical, but it has its awkwardness. What they and he failed to see was the fact, in addition to Platt's treacherous "efficiency," that the Republicans of the country are asking for at least one candidate for whom they can yell. They dread an apathetic, dignified, hum-drum campaign. McKinley, they feel, in view of his verbal assaults and general ear-to-the-ground attitude, is not an inspiring figure-head. To link him with a plodding business man like Mr. Bliss would make campaigning time in the extreme. Fireworks and torchlights and thunderous cheers for "Teddy" are the things wanted, and there is now every prospect that we shall have a continuous performance of San Juan Hill all summer.—New York Evening Post.

Civil Service Examination.

On September 26 an examination will be held in Bellefonte for clerks and carriers in the postoffice service. It is the desire of the postoffice department to have at all times a substitute force at every office equal to about 25 per cent. of the number of regular employes. The nature of the examination is a test of practical, general intelligence, and of adaptability in postoffice work. The age limit for the examinations are as follows: Clerk, not less than 18 years; carrier, between 21 and 50 years. This examination offers an excellent opportunity for entering the Federal service to bright, energetic young persons who are not afraid of hard work. It may be stated that there is a wider field for advancement upon merit in the Federal service than in many private employments, not only by promotion in the same office, but by transfer to other parts of the service. This examination is open to all citizens of the United States who may desire to enter the service, and who comply with the requirements. Applications must be filed with Wm. H. Garman, secretary of the Board, not later than September 8th.

A Cemetery Feud.

According to reports from Pine Grove Mills, this county, a state of feud exists up there because a certain portion of the residents desire the old Union cemetery closed for good and against all interments, while some few others, with the influence of outside parties, desire that certain burials be made there from time to time. The cemetery was closed by the State Board of Health in 1896, but has been re-opened on various occasions since, by special permit. At the time it was closed it was declared a nuisance and a menace to the public health. A new cemetery has been established just outside the limits of the village.

Discovered an Old Lead Mine.

A strange story comes from Kelly Cross Roads. While burying on the White Deer mountain several men are credited with discovering an old lead mine. The opening extended from the surface sixty feet through solid rock, and the roof of the mine is supported with well preserved prop timber for the balance of the distance. A large collection of mining tools of ancient pattern was found, among which was a wheelbarrow of such proportions that it could only have been used by a giant.

APPALLING RISKS OF RAILROADS

Young men who contemplate the life of a railroad man should read the appalling statistics of accidents presented in the annual report of the interstate commerce commission. They show that out of every 420 employes on the railroads of the United States last year one was killed and out of twenty-seven one was injured. The trainmen and men working on the engines suffered a loss of one killed out of every 155 employed, and one injured out of every dozen in the service. Over 50,000 casualties occurred; and the long list of dead aggregate more than 7,000. The list of dead and wounded far exceeds that of the American army in the war with Spain, including our protracted campaign in the Philippines. It almost equals that of the British army in the South African war. It is fair to add that over half of the persons killed and a tenth of those injured are classed as "trespassers," who had no business to ride, and who were attempting to steal their transportation. In this awful list of casualties tramps figure for the most part, with an occasional unfortunate creature whose circumstances really compelled him to steal a ride. The traveling public will be glad to know that of the millions of passengers carried only 259 were killed, and 3,442 injured, as against a little less than 3,000 during the preceding 12 months. It would seem as if the constantly increasing use of automatic couplers, automatic safety signals, and other similar devices would largely reduce the casualties on American railroads, but until grade crossings are more generally abolished the list will continue most formidable.

All in the Family.

Joseph Miller, of Penfield, Clearfield county, owns a portable saw mill and the operating crew is unique in that it is composed entirely of the Miller family, consisting of Mr. Miller, his wife and their three children. Mr. Miller handles the lever. His wife feeds the fuel into the boiler furnace. Lane, the 12 year old girl, sits on the carriage. Maggie, the 10 year old daughter, and Joseph, Jr., the 6 year old son, "off-bear" as much as their strength will stand, the mother helping when necessary. The mill cuts 5,000 feet per day at two dollars per 1,000, and the family income is quite comfortable.
