

HAPPENINGS ABOUT TOWN

The Local News Compiled During the Week

BRIEFLY TOLD IN A FEW LINES

Movements of Our People—Personal Mention, Society Events—What Has Transpired Worthy of Mention—Short Paragraphs.

—Harry Larimer is on the sick list with an attack of typhoid fever. —"The Air Ship" at Garmans Opera House, on next Tuesday evening, 8th. —John Halderman, of Fairbrook, was taken to the Danville Insane Asylum last week by Sheriff Brungart. —George Frick and his son, of Julian, killed three deer the past season. That family had plenty of venison, you bet. —The next annual convention of the Penna State Grange will be held at Bellefonte, in November, 1901. When they come here our people will give them a proper reception. —Ex-sheriff-farmer Wharton Cronister was in town on Monday and appears to be much interested in the forthcoming farmers institute, to be held at Port Matilda next week. —For want of time and space, we were compelled to cut down many of our correspondent's letters and other articles this week. We had to condense the happenings of two weeks in one issue. —The fracture of Clyde Smith's jaw, discovered some ten days ago, is giving the unfortunate young man serious trouble. The one side of his face is swollen and painful with indications of healing. —L. B. McEntire has sold his store in Bush Addition to David Miller who will conduct the same in the future. Mr. McEntire expects to visit friends in the western part of the state during the coming winter. —Don't you think it would be a good idea to send the Centre Democrat to some friend or relative living at a distance for the ensuing year? It would be a clever idea and something that would be appreciated too. —Tyronne people ushered in the new century with a big demonstration in which the borough officials participated along with other organizations of the place. They made enough noise to be heard for miles around. —The coming of that rattling farce comedy, "The Air Ship," to Garmans Tuesday Jan. 8th, will reveal an entirely new entertainment prepared upon original lines and filled to the brim with attractive features and novel ideas. —The Daily News is doing a commendable thing by giving away a scholarship to the International Correspondence School of Scranton, Pa. This is a very desirable offer and will be appreciated by the young person who will be fortunate to secure the prize. —The famously funny farce comedy, "The Air Ship," will be seen at the Opera House next Tuesday evening, 8th. This organization has toured the country for the last three years, playing in all the large cities, and is a company that returns each year meeting with renewed favor. —Earl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira From, who lives close to the Phoenix flour mill, attempted to climb on Thal's grocery wagon last Thursday when it passed his home. One of his legs became entangled in the wheel, breaking it in four places. His head was also cut and his body badly bruised. —Thursday December 20th, while we were printing our last issue, Abe Baum, the liveryman, lost a valuable horse by falling over an embankment at the rear of Lyon & Co's store. Two of his horses, while harnessed to haul out a horse that had died, took fright and fell over the wall. One had its back broken and another was badly injured. In this case trouble came double. —Mrs. John Moore and her daughter Bernice opened their new photograph studio in the Crider Exchange building the past week. It is completed in every respect and is equipped with all the modern conveniences for doing the very finest grades of work. The apartments are tastefully furnished and everything is apparently in the best of shape for conducting a modern studio. —Senator W. C. Heinle, of this district, left on Sunday for Harrisburg to take part in the preliminaries attending the organization of the two houses. The senator is an important factor there among the politicians and is a leader among them, whose counsel is often sought in party affairs and other important measures. In the last session Mr. Heinle made a good record, and took good care of the interests of this district. —The county commissioners and other officers in the court house are busy at this season of the year, closing up the accounts of the various departments. The commissioners have the most work along this line and the forthcoming annual statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county is being prepared by them for publication. This year they will present a very creditable report, as they have made a number of innovations in that office that will be sure to receive the approval of the taxpayers.

—Re-issue of pension to Mary E. Houtz, Philipsburg, Pa. —In 1901 Ash Wednesday comes Feb. 1, and Easter on April 7. —Louis Lewis spent the holidays with friends in Baltimore. —Hebert Bartley, an employe of the Gazette office, visited friends in Pittsburg the past week. —Muslin underwear at cost of material at "The Globe's" annual white sale, starts today. —Capt. C. T. Fryberger, of Philipsburg, on Wednesday evening, attended the installation of the officers of the Masonic lodge of this place. —Entirely unsolicited came the appointment the other day of G. S. Barrows, of Sunbury, to the position of official court stenographer for Centre county. —Editor Harris, of the Republican, spent the past week in Harrisburg. He claims to be interested in the senatorial struggle, but there are other considerations. —Major Richter, of Selingsgrove, the civil engineer who planned many of the railroad improvements in this section, spent several days of the past week in town and swapped new stories with his numerous friends. —Lyon Shay, who had been injured by a wire striking him in the eye at the Standard Scale Works, has gone to Philadelphia where he will undergo an operation in one of the hospitals. It is a question as to whether he will regain the sight of the injured eye. —Ex-treasurer John Q. Miles, of Martha, was in town on Monday to inform his friends that the time was here for them to make new resolutions instead of keeping on in the old rut. He incidentally remarked that elephants are growing scarcer up in his part of the Bald Eagle. —One of the most useful calendars received this season was the reference tablet issued by Grant Hoover, the hustling insurance man who got it up according to his own ideas and it is just the proper thing. Mr. Hoover always has a unique way of doing things and is making a success of the insurance business. —Don't make too many big resolutions for the next year, as it is well to make only those that you are determined to keep. You know there is a famous turnpike paved with good resolutions and there is much travel along that route. One real good resolution, faithfully kept, is enough for a man at a time. —During the holiday season a great many young couples about the county came to the conclusion that it was time to put an end to parlor negotiations, prolonged hesitations and midnight deliberations and went and got married. Register Archer reports the number of licenses issued this season as above the average. —The play, "Human Hearts," in the opera house on last Thursday evening, was a rare treat for all who were present. A fair house greeted them, and should they return it would be larger, as many are sorry that they missed this event. Manager Garman claims to have some other excellent attractions on the boards later in the season. —E. M. Krug, one of the publishers of the State College Times, while in town last week, paid us a short call. They are making the Times brighter and newer than ever, and report a liberal share of the public patronage. He also reports that Mr. Burns, the former proprietor, is gradually improving in health and that his complete recovery from a serious illness is quite probable. —Editor Fred Dunham showed a bit of commendable enterprise in furnishing his readers, in the last issue of the Hustler, a twelve-page edition containing much that was of local interest. The leading industries of Howard were given a creditable review, while many interesting biographies of prominent citizens also made the edition attractive. Dunham is a "Hustler" in the full sense of the word. —The members of the Undine and Logan Fire Companies of this place were more than delighted on xmas when they opened their mail and found checks of $25 for each organization which was sent as a voluntary contribution. They appreciated this kindness of A. G. Morris and hope that they will never be called upon to put out a fire in his operations about this place. But in the event, will be on hand in full force. —All persons who remitted on subscription to the Centre Democrat during the past month of December, 1900, are requested to look at the date after the name on their label where the proper credit is given. That will tell you whether we received your money and gave the proper credit. These dates are changed on the first issue of each month. Many persons ask us when their subscription expires, evidently not thinking that the same is printed on the label each week. —During the holiday festivities the young people of the town held two delightful dances, one in the armory and another in the Arcade. Both were well attended. It is in place to remark that the Coalville band furnished the music for both of these events and they did it in a manner to win much applause. Hereafter the young people around town, who want good assembly music, will not go to the extra expense of sending to Williamsport for a crack orchestra, when they can get satisfactory music at home. The boys deserve patronage.

—Happy New Year to all. —Be sure and make it 1901. —Argument court was held this week. —The holiday trade this season, in our town, was as good as usual. —Teachers Institute, up to the last session, was pronounced a success. —See the programme of the Farmers' Institute in another part of this issue. —Matter on the nineteenth century has been crowded out until next issue. —A very successful revival is in progress at the United Brethren church in this place. —Being pressed for space, we are obliged to condense correspondence and other articles this week. —If some of the news in this issue may appear stale, you must remember that no paper was issued last week. —The sale of Runkle's hotel at Centre Hall has fallen through owing to a difference about the furniture. —Rev. Rhodes of Centre Hall, and Esq. M. L. Rishel of Gregg, were prominent visitors in town on Tuesday. —Don't miss the annual white sale at the Globe, starts today. Interesting news in their weekly announcement. —At the December meeting of the Centre Hall Fire Ins. Co., the risks taken amounted to $75,501; cash premium notes $278. —Attorney Walker has gotten over his sick spell, and his tall and handsome form is again a frisky figure on our streets. —New-year's night an Old Maids' Party was set up by the young maids of Boalsburg to twit the old ones. Some $35 were realized. —The adventures of Earl Tuten during the holiday week would make an interesting romance for either a good novel or a first class drama. —John W. Harter, of Rebersburg, sold his farm last week to David McCool, of Spring Mills. Mr. McCool expects to move on the farm himself in the spring. —Bellefonte merchants were well pleased with their holiday trade. Folks seem to have followed the advice of the local papers, and bought their goods at home. —J. Roll Keller is now doing the elegant at the Brockerhoff House handling liquid goods. He is thinking of moving his family from Mifflin county to this place. —On the 21st of March Joseph B. Miller, living on a farm near Pleasant Gap, will have sale and move to Bellefonte where he will occupy his own house in Bush's Addition. —One day last week Edward G. Parsons got in trouble at Altoona, on charge of larceny and false pretence. Dr. H. K. Hoy gave bail for his appearance at court. Parsons is Bellefonte's fish man. —The cold weather about the third week in December enabled Frank McFarlane, of Boalsburg, to house a full supply of six inch ice from the dam on his premises. In some other sections of the county ice houses were filled then. —The three-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowes died Monday afternoon at three o'clock from the residence of its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Meese, on Half Moon Hill. —We are rid of "Brack" Powell, the colored gentleman. Upon the invitation of Burgess Blanchard "Brack" skipped for the next town, and if he comes back will be put to work on the streets. He wanted to go to jail, but detested the idea of work. He skipped when he saw it was no joke. —George Gray Barnard (son of Rev. Joseph H. Barnard, of Madison Indiana, pastor of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church) the great sculptor and artist of New York city, with Mrs. Barnard, arrived Tuesday evening. Mr. Barnard is here by special invitation to meet the committee on design for the Soldier's monument and Curtin Memorial. —The winter season is already far advanced, and not yet have we heard of a single musical convention to be held. This is alarming. Is the musical business busted for the want of prosperity? Fa-so-la-me! this will never do. For forty years the notes have sounded through our valleys and over our hills during the winters, amid the jingle of the merry sleigh bells, and now we are not to have a single "fa," nor a doleful "sol," nor a gay "la me." That's what we get for electing Prof. Phil Meyer commissioner. —The opening of the twentieth century was appropriately honored in Bellefonte. Late in the evening of Monday the citizens assembled in the court house to participate in exercises of song service, speaking and a glorification of the great things that have made the nineteenth century historic as the greatest since the century that will ever be honored as the greatest for having started with the birth of the child Jesus. The ministers of the different denominations, and prominent citizens of the town were present to do honor to the occasion. At midnight all the church bells rang out the nineteenth and announced the birth of the twentieth century, assisted by stentorian blasts from the throats of all the steamwhistles in town. The Logan fire company danced out the old and danced in the new century in the armory, until the "wee sma' hours o' the morn'."

HOLIDAY VISITORS. The following are some of the names of persons who spent the holidays with friends in Bellefonte. Most of them are former Bellefonters. The list is not complete as many escaped notice: George Runkle, of the schoolship "Saratoga," was home. Will Vintries, a student at Princeton College, was home. Charles McClure, student at Princeton College, visited his parents. Albert Hoy, of Providence, R. I., visited his mother's home. Albert E. Canfield of Wynote, Pa., came to spend Christmas with friends here. Mr. and Mrs. George B. Johnson and children, of Beaver Falls, Pa., came here to spend the holidays with parents and friends. Miss Elizabeth Blanchard came home from Philadelphia. Wallace Reeder was home from Haverford College. Cameron Burdette, of Philadelphia. Ed. B. Kittell, of Ebensburg. Edward U. Valentine, of Baltimore, Md. Will McCalmont, a medical student at the Medico-Chi. William Furst, one of Philadelphia's young attorneys. Miss Grace Mitchell, daughter of Isaac Mitchell, was home from Bryn Mawr College. Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hunt, of Williamsport, were guests of Mrs. Hunt's father, Ex-Sheriff Woodring. Mrs. Thomas K. Morris, of Tyrone, was here to spend Christmas with her parents, Hon. and Mrs. P. Gray Meek. John S. Furst and wife, of Williamsport. Jasper Stover, a medical student at the University of Pennsylvania. A. Fred Blair and wife, of Philadelphia. Charles E. Dorworth, now on the staff of the Pittsburg Times, spent Christmas with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Knepp, of Huntingdon, at the home of Mrs. Knepp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gault. John Keichline, Jr., and his sister Miss Daisy Keichline, arrived home Monday from Battle Creek, Michigan, where they have been attending the medical department of that institution. Miss Hattie Mann, of Lewistown. Mrs. Frank Cole, of Lewistown, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Gentzel, of Nigh bank. William Bollick, of New York city, visited his sister, Mrs. J. M. Seibert. Robert Lyons, now employed at Pittsburg, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lyons. Mrs. Wistar Morris, of Overbrook, and her two grandchildren, remained here with friends for one week. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crain and two children, of Altoona visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaughnessy, Sr. Earl Smith, who has been traveling for an installment firm in Ohio as a salesman, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith. Miss Annie McCoy, a student at Bryn Mawr College, spent Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy. Prof. Roy Mattern, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent the holiday season with his parents in Mifflinburg. Robert Eckman, of Pittsburg, visited his parents here. Walter Brown, of Pittsburg, visited friends in town. Miss Myra B. Williams, of Lock Haven, is spending the holiday season in Bellefonte. Misses May and Bessie Haupt, of Tyrone, spent their vacation with friends in this section. Pneumonia Prevented. Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and a gripe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thos. Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a gripe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of a gripe to result in pneumonia." For sale at Greens Pharmacy. House Burned. On Wednesday morning, about two miles from here up Buffalo Run, a tenant house belonging to A. A. Stevens (limestone quarries, was destroyed by fire which was caused by the housewife wanting to hurry up a fire by an application of coal oil. It was a success. In a short time the house was in ruins with all its contents and $500 in money. —There is very little news of importance in Centre county we do not catch. —Owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. Holloway, there will be no services in the Lutheran church Sunday. —Representative John Thompson is accused of dirty duplicity—committing himself in writing, for and against Quay. We did not expect much more of him. If that is correct every decent, self-respecting man will shun him. Centre County should have no room for men of that stamp. —Tuesday evening the Opera House was packed to overflowing to witness the performance by the Bellefonte Amateur Operatic Minstrels. The program was novel and interesting and entertained the large audience throughout. We do not have space to give a review of the production, but sufficient to say the audience was delighted with all the features presented. —The anniversary exercises of the Young Men's Christian Association of Bellefonte were held Sunday evening 24, in the Presbyterian church. There was a large audience present. Secretary J. Victor Røyer gave a report of the work of the association which was very encouraging. The treasurer, Thomas Moore, read his report which showed that the indebtedness of the Association would be reduced to a little over $5.00 by the 1st of January 1901.
