CHINESE MINISTER WU

Criticizes Racial Prejudice and Religious Intolerance.

ARE "MONSTERS OF BARBARISM."

He Cannot Recall War Between China and Any of Her Neighbors Waged For the Propagation of Any Religion or the Enslavement of a People.

New York, March 27.—A public meeting under the auspices of the Baron and Baroness de Hirsch association was held last night in Calvary Baptist church, this city. The attendance was very large. Gen. Thomas L. James presided.

The object of the association is to erect a monument to the Hirsches and eliminate racial prejudice and religious intolerance. Many Hebrews as well as Chinese were present.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, appeared on the platform accompanied by Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, and the other speakers.

After the singing and the reading of a scripture lesson by Dr. MacArthur and prayer by Rabbi Silverman, Gen. James made an address. Letters of regret were read from President McKinley and Vice President Roosevelt. Wu Ting Fangathen spoke. He said it was needless for him to say that he was heartily in sympathy with a movement to eradicate racial prejudice. "But when the secretary of this association went on to tell me," he said, "that the meeting was to be held in this house, the temple of God, and that eminent divines were also to speak, I felt a little nervous, and I remembered that I had a previous engagement which would prevent my coming. So I was obliged to decline. But the secretary wrote me that the meeting, which was originally set for M. Bogoliepoff, the minister of public last month, had been postponed. He instruction, who was recently assassaid it had been postponed until I would come, and that I must come." The minister then produced a manuscript and read his address. He said in substance: 'Racial prejudice and religious intolerance are two monsters of barbarism. In former days they seemed to stalk abroad hand in hand, setting nation against nation, people against The world was in constant turmoil, although the west suffered the What did the crusades accomplish but to inflict untold sufferings Christians and Mohammedans alike? Among the most destructive instances of such persecution was that of the Huguenots in France and the expulsion of the Moors from Spain.

"Such things, I am happy to say, are no longer tolerated, although in many countries the laws still discriminate against the Jews or other classes on account of race or religion. It is remarkable, however, how little there has been of these two evils among the eastern peoples. I cannot recall war between China and any of her neighbors waged for the propogation of any religion or the enslavement of a people.

he way to remove these evils is to remove the cause. Most men fear and hate what they do not know. Some men don't like snakes, but when a naturalist studies them closely he finds that most of them are harmless, and that even those that are venomous are comparatively harmless if handled right.'

The minister said that the progress of civilization continually broadens the minds of men, and the most highly civilized men sympathize with the aspirations of all races. As examples he named Lincoln, Wilberforce, Gladstone, Alexander II of Russia and Baron and Baroness de Hirsch.

Other speakers were Rev. Heber Newton, Rev. Joseph Silverman, Rev. Charles T. Walker (colored), Rev. Dr. McArthus, Rev. C. H. Eaton and Rev. Samuel Schulman. Edwin Markham read an original poem.

Milner Contemplates Resigning. London, March 27 .- The Daily Express prints a rumor that Sir Alfred Milner is dissatisfied with his qualified authority and has asked the government to give him "either a free hand or no hand." Mr. Chamberlain is said to have replied that it would not be advisable to dissociate the authority of Sir Alfred Milner from that of Lord Kitchener, and the rumor goes that Sir Alfred contemplates resigning. "It is an open secret," says The Daily Express, "that Sir Alfred Milner has long chafed at having Lord Kitchener at his elbow to check or modify his pro-

Berlin, March 27 .- The reports that the United States government will protest against the dismissal of Mr. Mc-Leavy Brown, director general of Korean customs, are not regarded here as of special importance. "Such a protest," says the Lokal Anzeiger, "Russia would scarcely mind, especially as America is withdrawing her few troops just at the time when Russia is preparing a strong demonstration for the benefit of Korea."

PRINCE AND CHANCELLOR. Russia's Finance Minister May Be-

come the Nation's Prime Minister. St. Petersburg, March 25 .- In diplomatic circles here it is regarded as probable that M. De Witte, the finance minister, will be made imperial chancellor within a few years. They also believe the czar will first bestow princely rank upon him. M. De Witte's worst enemies do not deny his energy, mental capabilities and progressive

In the meantime his influence is growing so rapidly and steadily that it is considered that but a short time will elapse before he will actually exercise the chancellor's functions, even without princely rank. M. W. Kovalevsky, one of the chief employes of the ministry of finance and director of commercial and industrial affairs, may be made assistant finance minister when M. De Witte becomes chancellor. Prince Boris Galitzine is mentioned as the successor of sinated by Peter Karpovitch.

McAllister, secretary of the local board of trade, left last night for New York with the object of endeavoring to bring about an amicable adjustment of the threatened troubles between the anthracite miners and operators.

It was expected here that Wilkesbarre and Scranton would also send committees from their boards of trade, to act jointly with the Hazleton com-It was announced here last night, however, that after considering the subject the trade boards of those cities had concluded that there was no pressing need at present for sending representatives to New York to discuss the differences between the miners and operators.

ever It Touched the Earth. Birmingham, Ala., March 26.-Shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon a fearful tornado swept over the southern section of this city, traveling in an easterly direction. The number of killed is 18, while 35 were more or less seriously injured. The property loss is $300,000.

Following is a full list of the white victims of the tornado in this city: Dr. Chapman, Mrs. Robert G. Lowe, infant son of Robert G. Lowe, 3-yearold daughter of B. B. Hudson, and J. C. Chlumpe, a German. The colored victims are: John Myro, 8-year-old Carrie Henry, Carrie E. Hudson, Maggie F. Stedmeyer (schoolgirl), Lizzie Goodlow, Lizzie Glenn and B. B. Hudson's cook.

Dead at Irondale: John Gardner, white; Mamie and Clarence Hunter, colored, and two negro women miss-

The storm struck the city in the extreme southwestern corner and plowed its way eastward, leaving a path 150 feet wide through the entire southern section, and continued its course on until its fury was spent in the mountains beyond Irondale, a small town six miles east of the city.

The altitude of the cyclone was not more than 75 feet. The negro shanties and cottages in the lowlands in the path of the storm were the principal sufferers. The larger residences on the higher ground suffered only slightly. The large trees on the hillside of the St. Vincent's hospital were torn up by the roots, and large masses of stone were twisted out of the ground and broken and scattered all over the driveways of the entrance to the insti-

From Eighth to Tenth street the wind bounded like a rubber ball and when it again descended it struck a two-story house occupied by Joseph Busenhelner and almost razed it to the ground. The 11-year-old daughter of John Krunzey, a rolling mill man, was caught under the debris and severely injured. A house occupied by Taylor Hinson, near by, was unroofed and three small negro houses demolished. Onward the wind sped in its fury, demolishing trees and fences, until it reached Eleventh street, where a house occupied by John Hayes was levelled to the ground. Skimming close to the earth it swept through a small pine grove, tearing the trees up by the roots and hurling them through the air like arrows.

Beyond the grove the storm cloud swooped down on a negro settlement and the frail cabins were crushed likeeggshells, not one being left in the pathway of the storm. Carrie Elma, a negro, was buried beneath the debris, but most of the negroes escaped with slight injuries. Eastward the storm swept, cutting its way through another strip of woods, striking the Second Presbyterian church at the corner of Avenue H and Fifteenth street, demolishing the structure. The pews were piled on top of the debris. A small oak table, which was used on the rostrum, was deposited on the topmost point of the wreckage.

The storm then struck the more thickly settled residence portion of the city and its work of destruction increased. Almost a clean sweep was made of the district lying between Eighteenth and Twentieth streets and Avenues H and I, two blocks. Here the scene is one of complete demolition. The frame cottages were reduced to flattened piles of debris; every tree, large or small, was either crushed down or uprooted, and fallen telephone poles and their tangle of wires made a mass of destruction.

Onward the cyclone swept, and at Irondale again repeated its work of Besemer, Pratt City, Ensley, North Birmingham and other suburban towns were visited by the storm, and in each of these places much destruction was wrought, but no loss of life is reported. Many houses were demolished at Pratt City, including a number of churches. At Powderly there was also much damage and destruction, and at Cleveland Mrs. George Hatt was struck by lightning and will probably die.

The storm seems to have lifted after leaving Birmingham, and beyond giving Huntsville, Ala., a slight touch did not make itself felt until it passed over into Georgia.

At Chambers, Ga., near Rome, a railroad depot was blown into a creek and washed away. At Rounsaville a big flouring mill was destroyed, together with many bushels of wheat. The handsome residence of the Rounsaville family was wrecked, but no one

The cyclone struck Buena Vista, Ga. at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. young child of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harrell was killed, as was also a negro girl. The home of the Misses Woodall was wrecked and the occupants seriously injured.

At Cartersville lightning struck a school house, killing two children. Owing to the tremendous rains the rivers in northern and northwestern Georgia are out of their banks.

A Robber's Note of Apology. Paterson, N. J., March 7 .- A robber who entered the residence of the late Vice President Hobart Sunday night, and who departed without any books on finding the silverware marked, left the following note in a loving cup which had been given to Mrs. Hobart by the Old Ladies' Home society for charitable work: "I humbly beg your pardon. I do not want to rob good people.

counter is smiling and obliging, though her back hurts, her side pains, or her head throbs distractingly. The wonder is, not that a clerk is sometimes irritable, but that she so rarely shows irritation, when every nerve is quivering and she hardly knows how to hold her head up.

The cause of this suffering is not far to seek. It grows out of some derangement of the feminine functions or disease of the delicate womanly organs. Until this deranged or diseased condition is cured there will be no relief from pain.

The nervous condition, headache and weakness which are the results of irregularity or a diseased condition of the womanly organs, can be entirely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the functions, stops enfeebling drains, strengthens the nervous system and promotes the general health of the entire body.

There is no alcohol contained in "Favorite Prescription," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a temperance medicine, prepared of vegetable ingredients, especially for woman's needs, and cannot narm the most delicate constitution. Do not be deceived by the claim "just as good," which is sometimes made by dealers who seek to make an excessive profit by selling less reputable wares. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured hundreds of thousands of sick and suffering women. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
