A HANDSOME EDIFICE

The Dedication of the Remodeled Methodist Church.

DEBT WAS EASILY CANCELED

Bishop Fowler, the Eminent Divine, delivered an able Discourse—Some of the Improvements made—Short Sketch of the Church.

This is an eventful week for the Methodist congregation of Bellefonte, and every day there is some special service or exercise. The re-opening of the edifice took place last Sunday morning and a large attendance more than filled the building to hear Bishop Fowler. The expense of remodeling the edifice was $15,000 and that amount was subscribed with little effort. The programme, as issued, is being observed. This Thursday the organ recital takes place when the new pipe organ, secured through the efforts of Mrs. D. H. Hastings, will be formally presented to the congregation. The edifice was first built in 1875, at a cost of $25,000. The building is of brick, two stories in height, with well-equipped rooms. The front end of the church was torn out and an addition added, built into columns and arched alcoves for the pulpit and organ. A new roof was put on, the exterior painted and pointed and the surroundings vastly improved.

Inside, however, is where the greatest changes were made. The old gallery was torn out, the floor inclined, the walls wainscoted and frescoed, new opalescent stained glass windows, new platform and pulpit, pipe organ, electric lighting and entirely newly furnished throughout. The new pews are of solid quartered oak, as is also all the interior woodwork, and the effect is singularly harmonious. The entire cost of the remodeling was about $15,000.

THE CHURCH AND THE PASTORS

When the present church was built the pastor was Dr. George Miller. In the quarter of a century since that time the church has been under the charge of Pastors Dr. George D. Pennepecker, Dr. A. D. Vocum, Rev. M. K. Foster, Dr. D. S. Monroe, Dr. W. A. Houck, Dr. J. H. McGarrah, Rev. J. W. Rue, Dr. W. A. Stevens and now Rev. W. P. Shriner. Rev. Shriner is yet a young man. He is a Baltimorean by birth and formerly belonged to the Holston Conference. Tennessee, being transferred to the Central Pennsylvania in 1889. He has been in the ministry seventeen years. In addition to the remodeling of the church the parsonage has been entirely remodeled and refurbished throughout in the past year. At present the Bellefonte congregation numbers about 600 members, with a Sunday school of over 500.

A Fortunate Spill.

The friends of Miss Ethelyn Fisher, who was dining room girl at the City hotel, Williamsport, and who has married Earl W. Henning, the wealthy farming implement manufacturer of Masillon, Ohio, last week, are greatly pleased at her good fortune. The match was the result of "love at first sight" upon the young woman and the Ohio gentleman. Their acquaintance dated from a mishap in the dining room, when Miss Fisher upset a glass of milk over Mr. Henning, while he was at the hotel. Although confused over the accident, the pretty waitress apologized so gracefully that the heart of the stranger was touched and he decided then and there to lay siege to the young woman's heart. That he has succeeded is evinced by the wedding which was solemnized at Christ Episcopal church. Mrs. Henning is 22 years old and is very pretty. She is an orphan.

Street Cars for Jersey Shore.

A charter was granted recently at the state department to the Jersey Shore street railway company. The capital is $25,000.

SHUGERT-MALIN.

Tuesday morning at 11:30 Miss Helen Beaver Malin, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer L. Malin, and Frank McCoy Shugert, the youngest son of the late cashier J. Danlop Shugert, of the Centre County bank, were married at the home of the bride's parents, on East Howard street.

The pretty home was beautifully decorated for the occasion and about one hundred guests were in attendance, from a distance. The music of the wedding march was played by the Bellefonte orchestra. First came Ogden Bailey Malin, the little brother of the bride, and little Lucretia Williams as garland bearers. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Ceader, and lastly the bride leaning on the arm of the groom. Rev. William Laurie, D. D. L. L. D., pastor of the Presbyterian church pronounced the wedding ceremony.

The bride was attired in an imported white lace robe and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Ceader, the maid of honor, wore a costume of imported mull and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. At 2:15 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Shugert took the train for a tour to Washington, D. C., and Old Point Comfort. They expect to be at home to their friends after May 1st, at their own residence, the Shugert homestead on West Linn street. The groom belongs to one of our oldest and most respected families and can trace his lineage back to John Dunlop, one of the founders of Bellefonte. He is junior partner in the McCoy iron works, chain and wire mill of this place.

THE HORSE SALE.

Monday Bellefonte had a lot of horsemen on hand to see the car load of Kentucky and Indiana stock, shipped here for sale by Joe Kendig, of York, Pa., who makes a specialty of handling riding and driving animals. The attendance was good but the bidding was not as lively as was expected and the proprietor of the stock concluded the sale after eight had been knocked down by auctioneer Wm. Smith. They were purchased by the following:

John Cupper, Lock Haven, nicely matched team of brown geldings, $270. John Cupper, Lock Haven, bay horse, $135. Wm. Foster, State College, saddle horse, $150. Thos. Beaver, Bellefonte, saddle horse, $730. I. C. Holmes, State College, bay horse, $140. W. T. Rimmer, Pleasant Gap, chestnut mare, $127. A. Thompson, Snow Shoe, brown mare, $112. Mr. Burket, Stormstown, bay horse 16hd., $150. Dr. Huston, Clintondale, bay horse, $130. Dr. Huff, Milesburg, chestnut mare, $150. The last three were sold at private sale. This was a fine lot of animals and were well broken, but the buyers were scarce. Mr. Kendig shipped the balance back to his stables at York, the following day.

A BIG FISH.

We do not think there is another town in the state, besides Bellefonte, where big fish, trout, suckers, etc., can be caught right in the heart of it, and in no small numbers or as large in sizes. Trout of 12 to 16 inches and over, are hauled out of their native element in the business part of town every season, and suckers up to 20 inches in length are caught all the year round. While this may make the mouths of distant knights of the rod and fly water, it is not what we want to get at. There is one fish of monstrous size, observed for years by many, no less than 25 inches from tip to tip, which no angler can reach unless he has the skill to cast his line at least 75 feet straight from him. This whopper's movements have been observed by many, and his travels are confined to a narrow limit, with haunt high inaccessible. His movements are cautious, and during a calm he remains perfectly composed, but a breeze will start him every time, only he does not leave his "home." Any bright sunny day this great fish can be seen, with his golden sides, by looking to the top of the court house steeple—mouth open, greedy to take in any thing coming his way. Practice on him with your fly.

Lewisburg Journal Sold.

J. Fred Kurtz last week purchased the Journal office, at Lewisburg, Pa., from the administrators of his brother's estate, W. L. Kurtz, who died at Centre Hall last August. The new publisher was identified with the Centre Hall Reporter until last summer when that office was sold. The Journal is the leading democratic paper in Union county and the office is well equipped.
