-The County Commissione's started out on Tuesday morning for Snow Shoe to hold the appeals, and from there they continue their trip over the county. From the tone of the Philipsburg Ledger there are some people in that town who will give the board a warm reception, claiming that their properties have been overrated. In the meantime the officials will have a few things to say in that direction that are not thought of by those who complain the most. Before leaving they bid farewell, but still were confident of getting back with their hides intact.

-Detective Joe Rightnour went to Altoona on Tuesday to arrest George Green, his son Blaine and John Kline, all of Boggs township. He secured young Green and Kline, but the elder Green could not be found. The young man was brought to jail in this place. Kline gave bail in Altoona. The trio were wanted for having sneaked away goods that had been levied on by the sheriff as property of George Green, in Boggs Twp. They hauled them to Milesburg and shipped under an assumed name, then one night they drove off to Altoona with a horse and wagon and cow; leaving only enough goods to partially satisfy the sheriff's claim.

-Trout fishing was attended to in a lively manner on Monday. About one hundred whipped the Bellefonte streams, some with fair luck, others with slim catches. Some fine trout were pulled out of Spring creek both within and without the boro limits. There being many fishermen on the banks of the stream many trout were taken but the number divided among the legion of rods will average from three to five to a fisherman. Detective Rightnour is said to have caught a trout measuring seventeen and one half inches in length-that is what is counted a whopper, but Rightnour does of Company B will take place at the Arsome sharp "catching" at times. One little boy was seen with a fifteen inch speckled beauty. We have reports of the 2nd Brigade. Other military dignifine trout having been caught in other taries will be in attendance.
