BRIEFLY TOLD IN A FEW LINES

Movements of Our People—Personal Mention, Society Events—What Has Transpired Worthy of Mention—Short Paragraphs.

—Ira Snyder, juror, reports all O. K. about Coburn.

—Minstrels at the opera house next Monday evening.

—Flashes of lightning were observed here Sunday night.

—April, up to yesterday, had 16 cloudy and damp days—beats its record, back many years.

—No damage done in Centre county by the late heavy rains. Other sections were not so fortunate.

—Rev. Dr. Holloway has gone to Fairbank, Ohio, on a four weeks' vacation, to visit his mother, now 91 years of age.

—Culhane, Chace & Weston's Minstrels at the opera house on next Monday evening. They have a fine lot of musicians and rare specialties.

—Capt. J. A. Hunter, the veteran democrat, of Halfmoon, was in town looking in on court, aged 81 years, but still able to give a fellow a vigorous handshake.

—A goodly number of people were attending court Monday and Tuesday. It was too wet for farm work or any outdoor jobs, hence there was a fair attendance.

—Joseph Bros. & Co. have a very nicely arranged display of millinery in their front window, in which the latest styles are exhibited and attracts much attention.

—A big surprise will be sprung by the Undine Fire Company this year when they hold their annual picnic at Hecla Park, July 4th. You will hear all about it later.

—Dr. J. K. Stites and wife left Bellefonte Sunday afternoon for Philadelphia, where he has a large and better position. He was a specialist and had a large practice while in Bellefonte.

—Miss Carrie E. Hoffman, of Pleasantville, Venango county, during the past week was the guest of Mrs. Boyd Musser, and attended the Knights Templar installation last Friday evening.

—Hugh Wagner, a son of John Wagner, caught a trout Friday evening out of Spring Creek, that measured 17 1/2 inches in length, and was 3 inches in width, and weighed 2 and 3/4 pounds. This is the largest this season.

—Miss Lillian Crittenden will graduate from the Kindergarten training school in the city of Buffalo, N. Y. She will spend at least the first year after her graduation in Bellefonte, providing she can secure a desirable class.

—Last Sabbath Rev. George I. Brown rector of St. John's church, Bellefonte, officiated in Trinity church, Tyrone, 10:30 and 9:30. Rev. Edgar E. Brooks, pastor of Trinity church, filled Rev. Mr. Brown's place at Bellefonte, same day.

—On Tuesday noon George Gross was fortunate enough to catch a salmon trout on a bait in Spring creek, within our borough limits, that measured 18 inches in length, and he carried the speckled critter in triumph up town, proud as a daddy with his first born.

—Wm. Alexander, the man who donated the land to the Methodist Episcopal church of Bellefonte, upon which that beautiful edifice now stands, died Sunday noon April 14, 1901, at the ripe old age of nearly 91 years, at his home in Chariton, Iowa. He was born in Clinton county and lived two years at this place.

—Mrs. George Hoffer, whose home is with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Mingle, of this place, is not improving rather growing weaker in her illness, her confinement having extended over many months. Hon. J. P. Gephart is also in a slowly declining condition, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Munson. Ex-sheriff Kline, is still in his previously reported feeble condition at his home in this place.

—Thursday evening, April 17, Roscoe Collins Hall, of Montoursville, and Miss Mame E. Jamison, of Williamsport, were happily joined in holy wedlock at Williamsport. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of their new home. Mr. Hall is one of Montoursville's most respected young men and his bride is an estimable young lady and several years ago with her parents removed from this place to Williamsport.

—On Monday a peculiar accident happened at Kurtz's book store. Trude Bidwell, the clerk, was cleaning one of the large plate windows in the front of the store. He was standing on a box in the inside, when he lost his balance and the box tipped forward. The result was that his foot struck the large plate glass with all the weight of his body back of it and broke through near the bottom of the window, shattering the remainder. Some boys came along and began picking at the loose pieces and the balance came down with a crash. Young Bidwell was fortunate in not being cut by the broken glass and escaped with a good case of window freight. The glass that was broken will cost about $75 to replace.

—The new street crossings about town are substantial and durable.

—Major Harry Foster is still lingering and lying low at his home in Harrisburg.

—Mr. Wentzel, Bellefonte's baritone singer, has few, if any, superiors in the state.

—Major Fairlamb is able to leave his room and move about the office of the Bush house.

—J. C. A. Heckman, of Gregg, informs us that the wheat fields in that section look promising.

—Business was a little slower in court this week than usual. The grand jury at times kept the court waiting.

—The big rain has stopped fishing for a spell; trout may say, it's an ill flood that don't flow to some one's good.

—When a fellow goes fishing with liquid bait in his pocket, if he don't have a trout at the end of his line there is sure to be a sucker at the rod end.

—The folks that wished for rain got all they wanted Friday night and Saturday. The precipitation was 3.95 inches and put the streams high enough to overflow banks.

—Very little trout fishing about the town the past week on account of the high water and its discolored condition. The heavy rains saturated the ground and will keep the streams high for some time.

—Jenkins & Lingle are going to rebuild on the site of their burned foundry and machine shops. Glad of it—Bellefonte would greatly miss this enterprising firm; it was one of the solid establishments of the town.

—Hon. J. H. Wetzel is now at Cadiz, Ohio, with the U. S. Geological Surveying Corps. In a letter from that place on Tuesday, he says they have ten inches of snow. We had about the same precipitation here, but it came in the shape of rain.

—We noted last week of detective Rightmour catching a 17 1/2 trout, but forgot to add he caught several large suckers a week previous, at Tyrone, and brought them alive, to the Bellefonte jail, where any one can see them still "alive and kicking."

—The Sabrbth school convention at Milesburg, Monday and Tuesday, was well attended by friends of the cause, and our sister town did its best to make it pleasant for those attending from a distance, and received due recognition for the hospitality dispensed.

—Architect Robert Cole has designed a plan for the proposed new city hospital at Lock Haven. It is a modern building and has all the conveniences for such an institution. The people of Lock Haven are ahead of our town in this respect, and have raised considerable money for the new building.

—LeRoy Delong, one of Curtin twp's bright young teachers, was a caller on Tuesday. He has completed his term and was on his way to Pittsburg, where he expects to secure a position this summer. His brother Charles is now in the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company, at that place, as a weighmaster.

—The mountains in different parts of the county were on fire last week. In Haines township the mountains were also fired. We observed that the mountains near Glen Iron, in Union county, were also burning fiercely, the middle of last week. What a blessing it would be could the fiends who start these fires be detected and sent to the penitentiary.

—Has anyone heard anything of the Soldiers' Monument Fund lately? Some one needs to stir up that committee. It looks as though they were going to take another five-year rest in the matter. The monument proposition should be put through promptly and not allowed to hang fire for a generation. Bellefonte is slow in this matter, which probably is due to the dilatory efforts of the committee in charge.

—Howard Gearhart, Adams Express company messenger on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad, has been transferred permanently to the Pennsylvania railroad. John Laurie, formerly of Bellefonte, but who recently had charge of the Adams Express office at Brownsville, Pa., has taken Mr. Gearhart's place on the Bald Eagle Valley route and will hereafter make his home in Tyrone.

—Another disgraceful row occurred on our streets last week in which the tough colored element of our town were the principal actors. About half of the gang were soaked with rum and got up a quarrel because they could not induce another, who had some money, to join them in a game of poker. In the midst of the row, policeman Miller arrived and when he attempted to arrest one of the bullies, Frank Miller, he defied the policeman as is his custom—but things were different this time. The new policeman pulled his mace and thumped the chap into submission, by hammering his head with the club until he saw stars and then as meek as a lamb he marched to the lock-up and remained there until he agreed to pay his fine of five dollars. Officer Miller is deserving all the praise he received for the new style he has adopted in handling all these notorious chaps who defy officers. Constable Montgomery also took a hand in the scrap and did some effective work. There should be no parrying with the roughs and toughs of this town, who have been having too many privileges on our streets. Prompt and effective work of this kind will soon put an end to the trouble.

SUCCESSFUL INSTALLATION.

The public installation and reception by members of Constans Commandery, Knights Templar, of this place, on last Friday evening, was exactly as expected, a most successful affair. The only unfavorable feature was the weather that prevented the parade and delayed some of the guests in getting to the armory in time for the exercises. The attendance from the adjoining towns was large, and the immense room was filled but not overcrowded. The handsome decorations and the beautifully gowned ladies and the uniformed Knights made a brilliant gathering. The installation exercises were interesting, after which the refreshments received further attention, while the music from the quartet and that of the orchestra entertained the large audience. After that came the dance in which the young people participated, and some of those whose crowns are tinged with gray also kept pace to the cadence on the polished floor, with the grace and ease of years gone by. It was a delightful affair, and truly enjoyed by all present, and in which the dignified formalities, which so often embarrass social gatherings, were forgotten.

Buried at Peale.

Annie Linberg, the Swedish girl who was murdered by her sweetheart Fred Fisher, at Elmira, Wednesday 17, formerly worked in the silk mill at Williamsport and had a married sister at Elmira with whom she lived there. Her parents reside at Peale, and the funeral was held there. Developments in the case go to show that Fisher was jealous of the young woman. She had lived in Rochester with a man named Smith, to whom she is said to have been married. Fisher met her in Rochester, and soon after her separation from Smith and return to Elmira, he also went to the latter city, and was much in her company. Fisher was out to Rorick park just the night before the tragedy and it is believed that he then selected the spot to which he took Miss Linberg and killed her.

Hymn Didn't Suit.

G. W. Genzler, pastor of the First Lutheran church, at Sellingsgrove, does not mind words when, aroused to a profound sense of duty, he has occasion to administer a rebuke in line with that duty. Sunday, after the plate was passed, the congregation sang the hymn, "We Give Thee, Lord, Thine Own." Upon inspection the preacher found that penicils constituted the main contribution, whereupon he told his people that such contributions were not consistent with the words they had sung. He stated that many would spend fifty cents or a dollar to be entertained in the opera house during the week, and on Sunday give a cent or two to enlighten in the Word of God.

To Reimburse Condo.

On Tuesday the following bill passed finally in the legislature and remains only for Gov. Stone to sign to become effective:

"Directing the Commissioners of Centre county to reimburse ex-Sheriff John P. Condo in the amount of the judgment, costs and expenses obtained against him by the estate of Emma R. Goodman, for damages arising out of the arrest of Wm. R. Ettlinger."

This means that possibly $1800 will be necessary to pay this bill, for the destruction of the Goodman property at Woodward.

All Dead but One.

A strange fate seems to have pursued the Leonard family in Williamsport. Peter J. fell dead Monday after riding the highest geared bicycle in the world. Mrs. Leonard dropped dead while tying the string of her shoe. Peter's father died while engaged in offering prayer at the church of the Annunciation. Michael, a brother, burned to death in a lumber camp fire, and John died of consumption, James is the only survivor.

Anti-Saloon League Organized.

Pursuant to a call Rev. Dr. Page, Supt. Altoona District, met with a number of our citizens in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, on Friday p. m., and organized an Anti-Saloon League, with the following officers: President, Rev. T. W. Perks; Vice President, James Harris; Secy., Rev. Dr. H. C. Holloway; Treas., C. C. Shuey. Executive Committee: Rev. Geo. I. Brown, Rev. Levan Bickel, and Rev. R. H. Wharton.

—The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold a "sock" social in the lecture room of the church this evening.

—Rev. Rearick, Lutheran pastor, and Rev. Dr. Schyler, Presbyterian pastor, both of Centre Hall, were pleasant callers upon the Democrat.

—J. S. Emerick, many years the popular merchant at Wolfs Store, was a caller. He has quit business for a short rest and now resides at Rebersburg. He informs us that the grain fields all through Miles township bespeak a good harvest.

—Geo. Keeler, a young man employed at Crider's planing mill, made a narrow escape from having one of his hands cut off by coming in contact with a buzz saw, on Wednesday afternoon. A serious gash was cut across the entire hand an inch back of the fingers. One leader and a large artery were severed. The wound was stitched and dressed by Dr. Dornworth, and the hand is likely to heal and be of service again.

James Cornely Pardoned.

Last week after this paper had gone to press a telegram was received here that James Cornely, serving a five year six months term in the Western Penitentiary, had been granted a pardon. The case was ably argued before the Board of Pardons by C. M. Bower, Esq., and at the time it was expected that, from the testimony submitted, the remaining portion of the sentence would be released, and so it was. Sunday morning he returned to his home, this place, looking thin and pale, as he had been on the sick list for several months. On Nov. 1, 1897, Cornely was sentenced; he was convicted, principally, on the testimony of Detective Gillespie, of attempting to burn the armory at this place. Since then there have been sufficient developments to discredit the detective who convicted Cornely.

Cow Overturns Vehicle.

Friday Harry Crissman, the Lockport butcher, was leading a cow to Flemington. The cow was tied to a buckboard. After going a short distance, the cow became either obstreperous or playful, and running her head under the vehicle, she gave a quick toss with her horns, and overturned the wagon. Mr. Crissman was thrown out with the vehicle on top of him. The cow rushed at him a couple of times, and gorged him with her horns. His clothing was torn, his leg was bruised and lacerated and his hand was badly bruised. He succeeded in righting the vehicle and in quieting the cow, and then proceeded on his journey.

Blooming Town.

A $40,000 electric light plant, $40,000 water works, $10,000 ice plant, $18,000 hotels, paved streets, electric lights, street cars, and free mail delivery is not bad for Windber when you consider that it, as a town is not a year old.—Windber Journal.

Saw Mill Burned.

The saw mill owned by M. H. Kulp & Company at Trevorton was completely destroyed by fire early Thursday morning 19. Fifty thousand feet of timber was burned and much machinery damaged. The loss is estimated at nearly $5,000.
