A Rare Bird.

A remarkable man has been found in Chicago who has created a sensation. It members, visited State College, and with law to grant the use of school houses for is Professor A. R. Crook, of the North- the committee spent the evening here in lyceum and other literary purposes, the western University faculty, Chicago, who town. His sad death occurred on Monclaims to have "never uttered a profane day. word, never have smoked, chewed tobacco, drank intoxicants, nor hugged nor kissed a woman." Since this announcement has been made the professor has attracted a great deal of notoriety and attention from a certain class of maidens the country over who are just waiting for an ideal man and the result is that he as the stage driver from Bellefonte to around, as indicated by the smokyness of has been deluged with a lot of earnest Pine Grove Mills over which route he proposals for marriage, to all of which drove for many years. He is survived he has turned a deaf ear and if he ever has been tempted to swear this is the time of his life that he is liable to break Beaver was born and raised near Wood-If these reports are true about the professor, we will pronounce him a rare bird of the human family, whom many a maiden would want to capture. If the professor lived in this county we would nominate and elect him to the legislature. There he would be more of a curiosity than in Chicago.

Remarkable Case.

Miss Kate Baldridge, of Milesburg. since 6 years old both cheeks have been -Miss Stella McGee, of McGee's Mills, grown fast to her jaw bones, making it impossible for her to open her mouth and Sunday of her brothers John and George she has lived on liquid nourishment McGee, students of the Academy. She passed through the lips, ever since. Rehas a remarkably fine voice and sang in cently a tooth fell out of her jaws and the Presbyterian and Methodist churches she could not get her mouth open far enough to get it out. Dr. Hayes last week cut her mouth open from ear to car, separated the inside of the cheek from the jaws and inserted plates to keep them from growing fast again.

We have just heard from Dr. Hayes that the deformity is very much improved and the girl has been greatly benefitted, though a subsequent operation will be for this interesting lecture, the subject of necessary for further good, yet entire relief from the deformity is barely possible. As yet the girl is doing very nicely.

Whipped Robbers.

David Dunbaugh, an aged carpenter, of Sellinsgrove, had a thrilling encounter with robbers Thursday night. Mr. Dunbaugh, who lives alone, was mending his clothes when two masked men thrust revolvers against his head and demanded money.

Mr. Dunbaugh seized a wooden mallet and dealt one of the robbers a blow which felled him. Then he hit the other. Both robbers ran after scrambling to their feet.

A Fine Effort.

We don't admire Ed. Chambers' politics ; never did and don't hesitate in saying so, either. Politics, though, does not prevent us from giving credit when duly merited. It was our pleasure to hear the close of the Irvin trial, last Friday, and were more than pleased with Mr. Chamber's closing address to the jury for the prosecution. In it he displayed good judgment in marshalling together the main points of the testimony and ignoring the mass of confusing, conflicting testimony of medical experts. At times his manner was exceedinly dramatic, as well as pathetic, and for over an hour he held the jury spellbound by his logic and eloquence. It was a splendid effort and is entitled to all the compliments he is receiving.

Announces His Own Death,

BENJAMIN BEAVER :- of State College. died at his home in that place Friday night last after an illness of 5 days with pneumonia. For the past 25 years he was employed at the Penn'a State College as chief janitor of the college buildings. Mr. Beaver was well known in Bellefonte by a widow. The remains were laid to rest in the Pine Hall cemetery. Mr.

ward, and spent the rest of his life at State College.

THREE STABLES BURNED.

Tuesday afternoon, about half past four o'clock, fire broke out in the stables on the property of Benjamin Smith on the north east side of Cherry alley between East Bishop and East High streets. How the fire started is a mystery. It was discovered by a little son of William Wolf who lives next door who reported the fact to Mrs. Smith. The stable was destroyed with its contents of hay, grain, tools and spring wagon. From the Ben Smith stable the flames spread to the pig pen and coal house on Wm. Wolf's property which it destroyed and from there to a building on Geo. W. Smith's place which was used as a stable, chicken house and tool house combined. This was totally destroyed with some hay, grain and garden tools.

The fire then leaped across the alley to a stable on the property occupied by a man named Dunkle and owned by the Samuel Walkey estate, but this was only partially destroyed. A high wind prevailed at the time and only the prompt and effective work of the Logan and Undine Fire companies prevented a much more serious conflagra-
