The Piney Company was born in the early days of the oil excitment, and while no gushers were struck the real estate of the company is of some value, especially the timber. This meetaffairs of the concern. The stockholders were mainly from Potter township and Bellefonte.

-The chain works at this place closed down this week for an indefinite period. The reason given by the men is that the proprietors are opposed to the workmen forming a chainworkers union. Several men came up from Howard and induced the men at this plant to form a local organization, convincing them that it was to their interests to do so, in common opposed the idea, on the ground that he show a fine II inch trout that he was caught late Friday afternoon, near the port; and Mrs. Nannie Gates, of Elliotsprefered not to have the annoyances of agoing to have for his supper. -Mr. and Mrs. William J. Rooney Jr., of Philadelphia, were guests at the home of former Governor Hastings. Mr. Rooney is a son of ex-Receiver of Taxes, W. J. Rooney, of Philadelphia, and a nephew of Senator David Martin.

-You can see "The Man in the Moon," even if the sky is cloudy, providing you go to the opera house on Friday or Saturday evenings, 17 18. There is a good programme in store that will be sure to entertain and please all who attend.

-It may be an item of news that the Curtin Monument model at the postoffice got a good scrubbing this week. It was a good idea, as that is the only evidence -Jasper Stover is home from Philadelof a monument thus far. Postmaster Montgomery ought to get after the monument committee and clean them up too.

-It is a notable fact that this spring all vegetation is as far advanced in Centre county as in the counties farther south where all vegetation is usually from ten to twenty days earlier than up here. This is true as to the grain fields, gardens, and all fruits. Some of the ower counties do not even present as favorable an advance.

-The big rise and fall in the stock markets seems to be the absorbing topic among our speculators and schemers here in town and elsewhere. All of them know just how it was done, but it is sad to relate that we do not hear of any who were smart enough to profit by the opportunity. All have the same trouble; there is an "if" in the road.

-Does it not seem a sad reflection on the average Bellefonte girl when a "handsome American young man," a advertisement in the city papers for a ed. wife? We are told there are scores of desirable young ladies in this town who are pining for some one to love, and yet here is a lonely man similarly afflicted. Some one certainly must be at fault, that such a state of affairs can exist.

These gencratic Board of Commissioners of this county and made a good record at that time, that seems to have been a guide for succeeding democratic boards to follow. When this board went into that office they found the county finances in in dilapidated condition and soon got scales to tip the opposite direction. Both gentlemen appear to be enjoying good health and are good for many more years of usefulness.

CLEVER DOG STORY.

It is a little early for the usual snake story and fish tales are a little rare this from a cough to consumption. season. To supply something in that Don't neglect a cough-take line we take the following from the Reporter which no one should question being correct:

"The canine is despised by many, and it would no doubt be better for mankind if their number would be decimated by fifty per cent., but D. W. Bradford, south of Centre Hall, has a dog that is very valuable on account of the many chores he is able to perform and which he does so easily and correctly. This particular "ounce of prevention" is dog, a year and one-half old, and of the shepherd variety, brings the cows from W. E. Burchfield, admr., to J. I. Reed, the field and stables them as nicely as any boy could do. The cattle have learned to be obedient to him, but have no fear of him except when he whines and barks in a particular way, which means business and the cattle know it.

Another feat is to carry water to his master. If the dog happens to be in the field he is told by his owner that he is dry. That is all that is necessary, the dog goes home scratches about the pump until Mrs. Bradford loads him with a Frank A. Kaup to Sam'l J. Wagner, lid on it, and away he goes. If the dog April 13, 1901; 10496 sq. ft. in Harris. happens to be running along the road on an errand and a wagon or buggy comes L. E. Kidder, et ux to Wm. Goheen, along, that he thinks is making better time than he is making, he politely wags his tail, because barking would interfere with the bucket or basket in his mouth, and if the driver makes the least demonstration, he mounts the seat of the vehicle, but always manages to get off unassisted at the proper place.

Another chore the dog does is to hunt the eggs. He makes his rounds reguof C. W. Conser, Loganton, Tuesday of larly twice a day, collects the eggs into dropsy, aged 78 years. He had been an a basket and delivers them at the house. When a hen has been "set," the dog knows it, because he has been told so and probably helped to do it. If the hen is off the nest "Fred," for that is the dog's name, will carefully examine the eggs, and if there is an egg in the nest without the proper mark on it, the egg is taken out. Fred knows the difference between a good and bad egg without breaking it, which he possibly distinguishes by the difference in weight. The eggs, and if there is an egg in the nest bad eggs are placed in a fence corner a safe distance from the barn, where Mr. and Mrs. Bradford examine them, but Owen Herr:—a Pennsylvania railroad so far the dog has not made a mistake.
