Downfall of the Palmetto Cock Robin.

END OF SENATOR M'LAURIN.

South Carolina Democrats Read Him Out of Party.

ANOTHER GOOD MAN GONE WRONG

Deluded Himself That He Could Advocate Republican Principles and Still Be Regarded a Democrat. Fools Not All Dead-G. O. P. Editors Still Engaged In Selecting a Democratic Presidential Candidate. Strong Man From Texas-Some Nonsensical Prophecy-A Hipt to Mark Hanna-Statesmanship in Hawaii. Concerning the Canteen.

[Special Washington Letter.] The inevitable has bappened once more. Senator John L. McLaurin has been read out of the Democratic party by the Democratic executive committee of South Carolina. His downfall was brought about largely through the instrumentality of such Republican papers as the New York Sun, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the Kansas City Journal. They killed the Palmetto cock robin deader than a smelt, deader than a doornail, deader than the men who lived before the flood. McLaurin never started out to make the south Republican. When he entered upon the path which has led to his undoing, he had no more idea of leading a Republican crusade than he had of flying. He deluded himself with the idea that a man can advocate all the cardinal Republican principles and still be regarded as a Democrat by honest, sensible people. The thing was preposterous, but he might have been permitted to silently and gently lapse into that oblivion which is awaiting him and might have escaped being summarily dealt with had not the New York Sun et id genus omne shouted their approval from the bousetops and kept stating in season and out that Mc-Laurin was Republicanizing the south. Praise from the New York Sun is a withering curse when bestowed upon a Democrat. So poor McLaurin has discovered to his sorrow. It is a pity that he entered upon such a course, for had he remained true to the faith he had a bright future.

An Astounding Argument.

The following amazingly witty parathe farmers are:

Perhaps it was the tobacco juice upon his whiskers, perhaps it was his wearing a silk hat with a Tuxedo coat; anyway a subtle something told us that he was a farmer.

"Young man." said he, accosting the feweler in the purest agrarian English, "I want eight diamond pins for favors at my wife's

It is reported that the extreme prosperity of the agricultural classes has, in many sections, led to the use of such large tracts of land for golf links as seriously to curtail the visible supply of wheat.

That paragraph proves two things-(1) the fools are not all dead yet; (2) the fool killer is remiss in attending to his duties. He owes it to a suffering public to wake up and to redeem his reputation by doing double his usual stunt upon the writers of such rot as the foregoing quoted paragraph.

Unwarranted. The Washington Post remarks, "The Missourian who wanted Governor Dockery to set a day for praying for rain has evidently lost faith in the unwarranted reflection on the strength of his excellency and upon the faith of the Missourian in search of an appointment, but the Missourian in search of a gubernatorial appointment, or, as one of my friends once accidentally denominated it, a "gubernational appointment," understands his excellency's limitations. His jurisdiction is of this world-of the earth earthy-extending from Iowa to Arkansas and from the Father of Waters to the mouth of the raging Kaw. Within that bailiwick his pull is a regular stump puller-on appointive places-and appointment hunters have implicit faith in it till they get left. Then? They are of little faith.

Catching at Straws.

Republican newspapers will never get over the idiotic habit of trying to run the Democratic party. Like the Bourbons, they never learn anything. Just now they are busy in the vain endeavor to select a presidential candidate for the Democracy. They trump up all sorts of preposterous canards, all of which are in due time exploded as regularly and as certainly as the seasons come and go. Their latest fable-to call it by no harsher name-was to the effect that ex-Senator Charles A. Towne had declared for ex-Senator and ex-Governor David Bennett Hill for president. It had a great run. Many editorials were written about it, much philosophizing was done touching it and many predictions were based upon it. Even the cartoonists took a whack at it. Now comes Mr. Towne and telegraphs Mr. Bryan that the tale is a lie-made of whole cloth-which is the end of it.

A Remarkable Fling. There is no paper in America more ably or more brilliantly edited than the Washington Post. Therefore it is surprising to read in it such a paragraph as this: "He may not be able to do much in the rainmaking line, but Governor Dockery is to be commended for the effort to introduce prayer into Missouri." Why, bless your simple heart, Missourians are a law abiding, God fearing people. Among the many things in which Missouri leads is the Sunday school. Governor Dockery introduce prayer into Missouri, indeed! The people in Missouri who believe in the efficacy of prayer induced his excellency to issue his proclamation appointing a day of prayer for rain. They remembered that in 1875 that great statesman, philanthropist and Christian Governor Charles H. Hardin drove the grasshoppers out of the state by prayer-a people's prayer. For some reason-presumably because she is reliably Democratic-the eastern press has fallen into the bad habit of sneering at Missouri, the most richly endowed state ever fashioned by the hand of God; but, notwithstanding and nevertheless, she flourishes like a bay tree planted by the rivers of water Among her other sources of pride is the fact that she has the largest available per capita school fund in the Union and the lowest rate of taxation. And when all her people could vote she never elected any man governor except a Democrat! Whatever Governor Dockery's virtues, whatever his sins of omis sion or commission, he did not lutroduce prayer into Missourt.

A Re-enforcement.

It is given out by those who ought to know that Mr. Wooten, who was recently elected to succeed Judge Burke in congress from the Dailas (Tex.) district, is a young man of extraordinary talent and promise. He will be a valu able re-enforcement to the thin lines of the Democracy in the house. This estimate of him is not to be wondered at, as the Lone Star State has a confirmed good babit of sending strong men to congress or to any other place where strong men are needed. No delegation in the bouse stands higher than the Texan. Intellectually and physically they constitute a splendid body of

A Vile Slander.

It may be that viler slander has at some time appeared in the editorial columns of some paper claiming to be a respectable journal than the following from the St. Louis Globe Democrat, but it is hardly possible. The G.D. says:

The rains which are coming in large sections of the parched regions are very unwelcome to the Democratic and Populist leaders, but the people Crop damage would, as those parties imagine, make votes for them in the election this year and next. Happily the general prospert ty of the country and the fact that the crop losses likely to be less than were feared a week ago stand an excellent chance to drive the recolle the drought out of the heads of most of the farmers before the voting takes place in Novembe he few states which have elections this year, It will probably be entirely forgotten by Novem ber, 1902, for two years of drought seldom follow each other in direct succession. Republican away in the country at large is not menaced.

Now, be it remembered that The personally he is a lovable man, and G.-D arrogates to itself the title of "the great religious daily." As a matter of fact, it is a great newspaper, but editorially it grows more radical and more bitterly partisan as the moons graph was evolved from the inner con- wax and wane. Certainly the foresclousness of the Detroit Journal and is going extract is not intended for huapprovingly quoted by The Economist | mor. That idea would be preposter-New York to show how prosperous ous. It cannot be charged up to ignorance, for it is a thing incredible that there should be an editorial writer on The G.-D. who does not know that it is absolutely false. Consequently it must be a result of malice. It is absolutely safe to say that there is not anywhere within the broad confines of the republic even one Democratic or Populistic leader to whom the rain has been unwelcome. If The G.-D. knows of such a wretch, it should name him and not print a wholesale slander.

A Sweet Prophecy. General Charles Henry Grosvenor is not the only pebble on the beach when it comes to playing the roles of Elijah and Isaiah. There are others-for instance, the Chicago Record-Herald. It dips into the future and boldly predicts that in 25 years we will be the greatest exporting sugar nation in the world, which would be something in the nature of a miracle, as we now import annually sugar to the amount of $100,governor's personal pull." That is an | 000,000. If we only made enough sugar to supply our own wants, it would run the balance of trade in our favor up to $800,000,000 annually, it now being $600,000,000, to say nothing of exporting sugar. That would be a wonderful change. There is enough sugar beet land in the United States to produce all the sugar we consume and more, but Judge John C. Bell, representative from Colorado, who lives in the heart of the sugar beet district and who is a close and intelligent observer, predicts that we will never be a great beet sugar producing country until the American farmers are willing to work with a boe, as beet raising needs much boeing. The Iron Fist. Mark Hanna as a boss is a timid, feeble and inconsequential creature beside General Diaz, president of the Mexican republic, who is the real thing. The best Mark can do for the trusts when a strike comes on is to have his subservient federal judges issue injunctions, but General Diaz is made of sterper stuff. He has just issued an order to the effect that there shall be no more strikes in his bailiwick and has notified the railroads that be will furnish them all the soldiers necessary to put down strikes. J. Pierpont Morgan, Schwab & Co. are evidently out of their element north of the Rio Grande. Clearly they ought to migrate to Mexico and, instead of wasting day and night negotiating with pestiferous strikers, have Diaz order out the army.

Hawalian Statesmen. What a wonderful bargain we made when our jingoes annexed the leprous Hawalian Islands may be realized by reading the following rich and racy article from the Chicago Record-Herald: That the Hawalian legislature should have got to the end of its regular session without passing any appropriation bills at all and then devoted an extra session to approving bills far in excess of the government's estimated income is not surprising in view of the character of that remarkable majority, are now fellow citizens of our own have their little peculiarities, among which is an inability to conform their mental apparatus to the exigencies of our boasted Anglo-Saxon laws and government and incidentally, we might add, to the exigencies of our language. Evidences of this troublesome but venial fault were abundant in the time before the revolution and they have been present in pleasing variation One solon proved his erudition in mat ters constitutional by proposing that the legislaterritory was established, as if this were a Kana ka affair pure and simple. But this daring "secesh" was hardly as funny as a colleague when he wanted to forestall the practice of cremation, twisted himself in a knot by suggesting

The meetings of the legislature were over ter, which were turned to effective use by a carconist on the Dole side of the local fight when he drew a picture of Kipling's bander log or monkey folk in council and printed below several of the Ripling verses on that people, of which the following is a stanza:

All the talk we ever heard Uttered by bat or beast or bird-Hide or fin or scale or feather-Jabber it quickly and all together! Excellent! Wonderful! Once again! Now we are talking just like men. Brother, thy tail bangs down behind; This is the way of the monkey kind.

Though we should be loath to classify our Kana-ka fellow citizens as monkeys, the point of this satire does not demand a labored explanation Now, those are the people who were described by jingoes in 1898 as being the very salt of the earth. Selah!

The Canteen Problem. The canteen problem seems to be a goes on forever. Intense heat affects it if not a soul saver-a great aid to discipline. Au contraire, the antis represent it as the source of woes unnumbered, a riot producer, a decoy duck for the devil. Congress, in deference to the moral sentiment of the people, twice abolished the canteen. Attorney General Griggs and President McKinley re-established it once in spite of congress. The last time the law is so plain that the administration dare not evade it. In the meantime, however, the war goes merrily on-likewise the guzzling. Both parties are accumulating evidence to lay before congress-the capteepers to prove that the army is traveling to the deuce at double quick by reason of having no canteen, and the antis to prove that there is a vast improvement in the army as to sobriety since the canteen was abolished. When congress meets and Captain Hull brings up his army appropriation bill, all the old straw will be thrashed over again and every one will be of the same opinion still.

A Monkey and Parrot Time,

They are having in Illinois in the Republican camp a monkey and parrot Robert met bis Waterloo. It is a far ery from Sir Robert Walpole to Senator William E. Mason of Suckerdom, but the cry now ringing through IIII- PUBLIC SALE. nois is, "Down with Mason!" All the Republican factions can agree on that from the followers of Uncle Shelby M. Cullom to the rooters for young Dick Yates, but there the unity ends, and there the coalition falls to pieces. When Walpole fell, those who pulled him down were at each other's throat in a few days, and so it will be in Mason's case. They will pull him down. That's dead easy. He could have been a great man, whether in the senate or out, had he remained with the friends of human liberty, but the smell of the fleshpots was too strong for William, and, having put his hands to the plow, be looked back and turned back and meekly crawled into the McKinley band wagon. And his Republican enemies will do Billie to a turn. But after they dispose of him, what then? Just there their real trouble will begin. There's the Dawes gang, the Yates gang, the Uncle Joe Cannonites, the es Hillites and others too tedious to men-

A New Cabinet Officer.

A press dispatch from Cripple Creek at the time the transmississippi congress was in session there runs in this

Ex-Secretary Noble expressed himself as opposed to a department of mines in the government on the ground that laws regulating mining are made by the states and not by the general government. He favored a bureau of mines to test and disseminate information regarding methods of mining and treatment of cres. A department of cowhose head should be a member of the president's cabinet, he declared to be a necessity.

General John W. Noble, once secretary of the interior, referred to therein, is a most excellent gentleman, a successful lawyer. But it may be suggested without running the risk of being prosecuted for leze majesty that the government has about as much use for a ninth cabinet officer as a wagon has for five wheels. If a secretary of mining, why not a secretary of commerce, or a secretary of education, or a secretary of fine arts? Truth to tell, public officials are so plentiful in Washington now that they fall over each other and are in each other's way. The multiplication of superfluous officials is one of the crying evils of the day, and there would be far more wisdom in diminishing than in increasing the number. It is as easy as failing off a log. and a slippery log at that, to create a new office or to raise the salary attaching to an old one, but any attempt to abolish an old one or to reduce a salary is seeking the unattainable. No doubt the intention of General Noble and others who are advocating the creation of new cabinet positions is good; but, then, it is said that the place which is hotter than this is paved with good intentions.

Went to Visit His Sister.

A. J. Cottingham went to Washington Co, Ark., to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off. He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarthosa Remedy and was so much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected, that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine. Mr. Cottingham resides at Lockland, Ark. For sale by Green's Pharmacy.
