Kennedy Johnson, Esq., was master of ceremonies. —HEAVY RAIN FALL. Friday afternoon and evening, last, brought another downpour of rain—the gauge showing two inches, doing harm to fields, fences and crops. At Milesburg there was a cloudburst. In a very short time after the water descended the whole valley was covered from a point a short distance east of the town to a point east of Curtin. The rain continued for about three hours. The lowlands were flooded and the Bald Eagle Valley railroad was submerged in over two feet of water. The evening train from Tyrone plunged into the water, but as the water kept getting higher and higher the train was run back. A haystack was also seen on the track near the bridge at Curtin. Small buildings and pieces of timbers were floating in all directions. The wreck train from Tyrone was brought to the scene. An examination revealed that the track for a distance of about sixty feet was torn up. Bellefonte seemed to get the full fury of the storm. Streets and gutters were washed out and many cellars in the lower parts of the town were flooded. Buffalo Run was changed into a raging torrent and the evening passenger train on the Bellefonte Central due here at 6:30 only got as far as Steven quarries and there it was delayed by a washout, not reaching Bellefonte until 10:30. A number of colored people held a picnic at Hunter's Park in the afternoon and were unable to get back to town until the next day, being compelled to stay in the park buildings during the night. —TOO MUCH RAIN. August beats the record for rain. Double the average has fallen, and there are a few days to go on yet. Farmers from all parts of the county inform us that the excessive rains have caused the potatoes to rot in the ground, in many fields. Then in the low places the potato patches have been flooded and some washed out. Outside of these troubles the potato crop at best would not have been an average one, hence the tubers will be scarce and high in price. The owners of peach orchards inform us that the fruit is rotting on the trees and give as the cause the too frequent rains during this month. In the down east peach belt the rot is also complained of. The fruit is said to ripen too suddenly and the rot overtakes the peaches before they reach their destination in market, hence it is not advisable to make shipments as the market becomes glutted with the spoiled fruit, and from 30 to 60 cents per crate is the best they will bring. About all the oats that has been out in the fields the past two weeks has rotted from too much rain, which hindered farmers from threshing it. The oats crop at best would have been only fair but so many fields have been damaged by grasshoppers and by the rains, that the yield of marketable oats will not be over half a crop. —Central Pennsylvania Grangers. The twenty-eighth annual encampment and exhibition of the Patrons of Husbandry of Central Pennsylvania will be held September 16 to 20, at Grange park, Centre Hall, Centre county, on the L. and T. R. R. The exhibition promises many new features this year, and will be a delightful place for camping parties to spend a week, as tents can be secured Saturday 14th ready for occupancy. Exhibitors find this gathering a profitable place to show their wares, the expense being nominal. Excursion rates will be issued to Centre Hall and equipage carried free on all railroads in Central Pennsylvania. Unsold exhibits may be returned by rail free of charge. For further information apply to Leonard Rhone, chairman, Centre Hall, Pa. —People who pine for a family tree would better branch out and spruce up.

Three clubs were in the shoot representing Clarence, Snow Shoe, and Bellefonte with six members in each club, and twenty-five shots were given each man. The result of the score was a close victory for the Clarence boys and Bellefonte was left somewhat in the rear. The score stood as follows, showing the number broken by each man: CLARENCE TEAM. A few days ago Squire Michael Shaffer, while plowing on the "Foster" farm a mile east of Old Fort, found an old Spanish coin, that no doubt was lost by an old settler in the days when the Indians were yet around that historic ground. The coin was plowed up about ten rods from the spring near the house, it is well preserved and bears the following inscription on the one side: "Carolus III. Dei Gratia 1785." On the back is the Spanish coat of arms, around it this inscription: "Hispania Et. Ind. Rex. M. 28. F. M." Mr. Shaffer tells us that many Indian arrows are found in the vicinity of the spring, turned up when plowing. It Rained String Beans. Lock Haven has had its showers of toads, but it remains for Allentown, Pa., to have a shower of string beans. A funnel shaped cloud apparently 20 feet in diameter at the top, swept over the place and did considerable damage. After the storm, which lasted only a few moments, was over, there was a shower of string beans. A Reunion. Former Centre county residents, now living in Blair county, have a movement on foot to hold a reunion. A number of them met at Altoona, from Juniata, Bellewood, Tyrone, Duncansville and Roaring Spring. The committees met at Bellewood Saturday evening to fix a date and name a place at which to hold a reunion. Band Festival.
