EDITORIAL.

THE State College Times editorial department in last issue reminded one of a milk soup.

JUST twenty years ago Garfield was shot, and sixteen years before then Lincoln met his fate.

THERE is no doubt about it but that Dan. Hastings is worrying the life out of some of the local politicians.

Cattle are dying in the Clearfield mountains from some unknown cause, same as in the Seven mountains in our county.

AFTER numerous test races the New York Yacht Club have selected the "Columbia" to sail the races again this year against Lord Lipton's "Shanrock." The Columbia should remain the gem of the ocean.

OF course the drought was hard on the farmers who will make only half a corn crop, but possibly it was even harder on the consumers who will have to get through the winter on that half crop at double prices.

The Court of Inquiry convenes on Thursday, when the men who have been backbiting Schley for two years and more will have a chance to show what foundation there was for their assaults. May the Lord help them if they fail to give reasonable justification.

GOV. PATTON continues on his round organizing and strengthening the democratic lines in Philadelphia. Many doubt the practical side of his labors, owing to the doubtful character of the men from the former organization serving with him. November will tell the tale.

JUDGE LOVE, as the report goes, is much encouraged over the result of the last Republican County Convention. Some years ago the stalwart element only got a few scattering delegates. This year they made no canvass, while for weeks, they claim, the insurgents overrun the county to make sure of a majority and then only stood 65 to 53. This they claim indicates a positive growth of stalwart sentiment in this county, and with a little active work could carry it. That is what they say—and they feel good too. Some people claim sunshine can be extracted from cucumbers.

CURE FOR ANARCHISTS.

The attempt to murder President McKinley is shocking to every American and the righteous indignation over the dastardly shooting knows no bounds. This foul deed calls for measures that will rid the country of every and all anarchists. These long-haired, lantern jawed, spider faced fiends have no right to an abiding place on the free and happy soil of United States. Foreign governments have it too hot for them to pester them any longer, hence they abuse the freedom that is vouchsafed to all men in this land. The freedom of speech and to assemble, proclaimed by our constitution, is not intended to cover the kind of freedom these anarchists desire to have—freedom to murder and sow the seeds of anarchy. If this country, or any other land where law reigns, is not to their liking, let them leave it and assemble themselves as anarchists upon some uninhabited island to murder and do such other heinous things as they advocate, entirely among themselves.

It is time now to rid the country of every anarchist upon the soil of the United States. Let it be enacted that every known wretch of that school shall be arrested; brand him on each side of his face, place him on board of a vessel and transport him to the authorities of the nationality to which he belongs with orders to do with him as they wish. If any such branded scoundrel thereafter is found on American soil, let him be taken five leagues from our shores, and with a stone tied to his neck, anchored at the bottom of the sea until Gabriel sounds his last trump when Satan will appear from his pit to claim his own. No anarchist should be allowed burial upon the sacred soil of America—he has no claim to six feet by three for his carcass—dump him as garbage in the waters of the deep.

These fellows do need a trial for their conviction—they are opposed to all law and for a rule of anarchy. Give them their own medicine, and at once.

HEINLE RECOGNIZED.

State Senator Wm. C. Heinle, of Bellefonte, who represented that district in the last session of the legislature, and one of the foremost leaders of the democratic party in the state, was a prominent visitor in Lewisburg last Saturday between trains. During his career in the legislature he served his people faithfully and was one of the seven state senators who returned the desk and chair he occupied in the state senate chamber. He has been endorsed for reelection, and will be returned by his constituents to represent them as faithfully as he has for the past four years.—Lewisburg Journal.

THE republican Ripper fuss in Pittsburg proves that Quay is the U. S. Senator; and that

Quay is the governor of Pennsylvania; and that

Quay is the Senate and House—the entire legislature of Pennsylvania; and that

Quay is the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania; and that

Quay is the mayor, or recorder of Pittsburg; and that

Quay is boss of Philadelphia and its election frauds; and that

Quay has dragged the freedom of the Commonwealth down to worse than Southern slavery.

Shame, oh shame! that a single citizen should follow the lead of this boss!

JOHN HAMILTON has not yet answered the Gazette's questions of two weeks ago in regard to his political somersaults and former intrigues to defeat local republican tickets—he is afraid, he can't. When he jumped Harter he got an unexpected solar plexus and the public are anxiously waiting to see if Oleo-John can recover. A Christian gentleman should not be afraid or ashamed to manfully meet such grave charges, especially if he is innocent.

ALL the traitorous "democrats" who sold themselves last winter to fuse with the corruptionists of the machine, are vigorously opposing a fusion of democrats and independents to wipe out the gang of thieves.

Too Much Wife.

A young man giving his name as Milton Dinges is in jail at Aurora, Ill., charged with bigamy and wife desertion. He is a native of this county and was married to Miss Agnes Royer, of Millheim, several years ago. Shortly afterwards he went west and located at Aurora, where he married a Miss Dane, of Batavia. They lived happily until a short time ago, when Dinges suddenly disappeared, and Mrs. Dane—Dinges learned that he had another wife living in Millheim, Pa., when she sent the police after him and he was captured in Chicago. Miss Agnes Royer, his first wife, is living with her parents in Millheim and has made an application for a divorce, a commissioner to take testimony having been already appointed in the matter.

To Merge Church Colleges.

There is a project on foot among the leaders of the Evangelical church to consolidate their two colleges. The one is the Central Pennsylvania College, located at New Berlin, Pa. It is under the jurisdiction of the Central Pennsylvania Conference and the Pittsburg Conference, and has an endowment of $100,000. The other is Albright College, located at Myerstown, Pa., and is under the domain of the East Pennsylvania Conference. It has a like endowment.

It is proposed to unite these two institutions and erect buildings at a cost of $150; Harrisburg, Reading and York are looked upon for the location.

Shoot Red Squirrels.

Red squirrels are outlawed and may be shot at any time. They should all be destroyed as they prey on their more worthy cousins, the black and gray squirrels. They also rob bird nests and are undesirable in many other ways. But it is questionable whether they are more destructive to the gray and black squirrels than is the average hunter who goes under the pretense of killing red squirrels and meets the grey. But information about violations sent to the proper authorities will soon put a stop to this and our game will get proper protection.

Will Spend a Million Dollars.

The Philadelphia Record, in referring to the contracts that have been awarded for grading and buildings at Oak Grove, says the whole work will involve an expenditure approximating $1,000,000, and two years will be required to complete it. The shops will be thoroughly modern and the New York Central will concentrate much work there. When the shops are completed they will furnish employment for sixteen hundred mechanics, which is more than twice the number employed in the Renovo shops.

The Fate of a Church.

The destruction of the big German Lutheran church at Accident, Md., Tuesday by lightning is called by many a judgement of the Lord. The members were full of discord, and, after services had closed, the contention was renewed with considerable bitterness by members who remained. During great uproar, lightning struck the building, which rapidly burned to the foundation. There was but one flash from a cloudless sky. If lightning struck all such churches few would be left.

When he reached town Mrs. Kohlbecker became ill and they stopped in front of the Exchange. She was in great distress, apparently unable to breathe. At the time her husband thought it was but a severe case of asthma. She was taken to Zellers' drug store and medical aid was summoned but she grew weaker and died in a few minutes. Heart failure was the cause. Mrs. Kohlbecker, whose maiden name was Anna Mary Siegworth, was born in Pittsburg, July 25th, 1852, and was 49 years of age. She was married to Alois Kohlbecker, of Milesburg, in 1870. ESAU BUCK AND THE BUCKSAW.

The Bucksaw, the Seesaw and the Buck That Saw Esau Saw.

An old farmer of Arkansas whose sons had all grown up and left him hired a young man by the name of Esau Buck to help him on his farm. On the evening of the first day they hauled up a small load of poles for wood and unloaded them between the garden and the barnyard.

The next morning the old man said to the hired man: "Esau, I am going to town to-day and while I am gone you may saw up that wood and keep the old ram out of the garden."

When the old man had gone Esau went out to saw the wood, but when he saw the saw he wouldn't saw it. When Esau saw the saw he saw that he couldn't saw it with that saw. Esau looked around for another saw, but that was the only saw he saw, so he didn't saw it. When the old man came home he says to Esau: "Esau, did you saw the wood?" Esau said: "I saw the wood but I wouldn't saw it; for when I saw the saw I saw that I couldn't saw with that saw so I didn't saw it." The old man went out to see the saw and when he saw the saw he saw that Esau couldn't saw with that saw. When Esau saw that the old man saw that he couldn't saw with the saw Esau picked up the axe and chopped up the wood and made a seesaw. The next day the old man went to town and bought a new bucksaw for Esau Buck and when he came home he hung the bucksaw for Esau Buck on the sawbuck by the seesaw.

Just at this time Esau Buck saw the old buck in the garden eating cabbage, and when driving him from the garden to the barnyard Esau Buck saw the bucksaw on the sawbuck by the seesaw, and Esau stopped to examine the new bucksaw. Now, when the old buck saw Esau Buck looking at the new bucksaw on the sawbuck by the seesaw, he made a dive for Esau, missed Esau, hit the seesaw, knocked the seesaw against Esau Buck, who fell on the bucksaw on the sawbuck by the seesaw. Now, when the old man saw the old buck dive at Esau Buck and miss Esau and hit the seesaw and knock the seesaw against Esau and Esau Buck fall on the bucksaw on the sawbuck by the seesaw, he picked up the axe to kill the old buck, but the buck saw him coming, and dodged the blow and countered on the old man's stomach, knocked the old man over the seesaw onto Esau Buck, who was getting up with the bucksaw off the sawbuck by the seesaw, crippled Esau Buck, broke the bucksaw and the sawbuck and the seesaw.

Now, when the old buck saw the completeness of his victory over the old man and Esau Buck and the bucksaw and the sawbuck and the seesaw, he quietly turned around, went back and jumped into the garden again and ate up what was left of the old man's cabbages.

A COMMON SENSE CURE-ALL.

Apparently the patent nostrums that are sure cures for rheumatism will be relegated to a rear seat since a Chicago man has cured himself of that annoying distemper by the simple process of abstaining from food. His fasting season included 31 days, during which he took nothing but distilled water. Fasting may be the cure-all; at least it is worth looking into. This man says he suffered for years from this agonizing affliction, and neither drugs nor mineral waters gave him the least relief. As a last resort he tried total abstinence from food, and the result was wholly satisfactory.

For three days he had a marked craving for food, and then his appetite left. On the fifth day all rheumatic pains disappeared, and he has had none since. He says the cure is complete. He lost thirty-seven pounds, but experienced no discomfort. He tells his experience briefly thus:

Every day I have taken a walk of a mile or more, and have paid close attention to bathing. I have written from twenty to thirty letters a day, and have read much of the balance of the time. Before my fast I could not read half an hour at a time. I had that "tired feeling" always with me. I would go to sleep at the least provocation, when my rheumatism was absent, and when it was present I could not sleep. Now I sleep like a child all night. Even after my month's fast I have no feeling of faintness, and my brain is perfectly clear. Of course I have not a great amount of strength. I shall resume a normal diet gradually, perhaps taking ten days for it, and then I shall resume business.

Physicians are agreed that rheumatism is but a symptom of indigestion, and rationally abstinence from food will remove the cause and allow nature to resume her sway and recuperative powers. The stomach fatigued with too much food is permitted to rest and then is enabled to take up its duties again with renewed energy. By the resting process improved nutrition is secured and healthy blood is manufactured in sufficient quantities to banish disease and keep the tissues healthy.

This man's story reads like the plainest common sense, and his plan is worth trying by the rheumatic sufferers to save doctor bills, if nothing else.
