CZOLGOSZ PUT TO DEATH

Paid Penalty of His Crime at Auburn Tuesday Morning.

UNREPENTANT TO THE LAST

The Body Destroyed By Pouring Acid Over It When In the Grave, Which Is to Be Guarded For the Present. Clothing and Effects Burned.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29 .- Leon F. Czolgosz, President McKinley's assassin, paid the penalty of his crime in the state prison here this morning.

Czolgosz was dressed in a very simple manner for the execution, a pair of black trousers, a loose gray shirt and a pair of gray socks completing the outfit. He wore no undergarments and no shoes. The left leg of the trousers was split at the bottom to permit the free adjustment of the electrode, and the shirt was open at the neck so that the doctor could take the heart count.

Farewell From Father. Czolgosz's father was asked what his final message to his son was.

The old man's eyes filled with tears as he replied deliberately: "Tell Leon that I hope that he may rest in peace, that he will become reconciled to God and will meet his end bravely. Tell him that as much as I and all of our family regret his most unhappy plight that we can do nothing to interfere, that he alone is responsible for his unfortunate position, and that he must meet his punishment as a consequence."

CZOLGOSZ IN THE DEATH CHAIR.

The surgeons' autopsy related entirely to the brain, and was of a hightail the brain of the dead murderer, the report concludes as follows:

"No anomalies found. The brain in general is well developed, sufficiently marked with fissures, and the lobes are in normal proportion."

The surgeons have not yet drawn a report on what the autopsy disclosed as to the other organs.

Body and Effects Destroyed. The body was placed in a black- Lea. stained pine coffin, every part of it being replaced under the supervision of Dr. Gerin and Warden Mead. Soon afterwards it was talen to the prison cemetery, and great precaution taken ty had been accomplished. The origin to destroy it completely. Sympathizers Blacklisted. Superintendent Collins made the following statement:

"The execution was one of the most successful ever conducted in the state. ested in the movement are engineers, Extraordinary care had to be taken i firemen, trainmen, conductors and telin the case because both the warden and I received hundreds of threatening letters, many of them asserting in violent and intemperate language that the prisoner would never be put in the chair. I have decided for the present that we will not destroy any of the hundreds of letters written to Czolgosz, the warden and myself as to the case. Eventually, they will be destroyed, but it has struck me that perhaps we should make a list of them, especially those letters signed with full and proper names, in which condolence was offered to the prisoner, or threats against us were made. My plan is to get the addresses of these people and keep the list for police reference. I believe that there may come a time when such a list would be valuable in running down Anarchists. I have decided to bury the body of Czolgosz in the regular prison plot in the local cemetery. The funeral will take place some time within the next 48 hours. We will instantly. The murderers escaped.

keep the grave guarded day and night until such time as the body shall have been entirely destroyed."

Hanged In Effigy. New York, Oct. 30.-Czolgosz was hanged in effigy at Hempstead, L. I., last night with elaborate ceremonial, amid hisses, cat calls and groans.

Assassin's Last Day. Aside from the break at nightfall, Czolgosz spent his last day of life much as he did all the others since he passed into the hands of the law. He remained sullen and silent, and passed his time either lying on his bunk or pacing up and down in his cell. He suffered no loss of appetite during the day and ate the usual allowance of food given to prisoners. He weighed about 155 pounds, which is a slight gain since his arrest.

At 8 o'clock the brother and brother-Collins took them down into the condemned cell. There was no demonstration when they met. Czolgosz merely stepped to the front of his cage and said: "Hello." The brother ventured the remark, "I wish you would tell us, Leon, who got you into this scrape?"

The assassin answered in a slow, hesitating manner, "No one; nobody had anything to do with it but me."

"That is not how you were brought up," said the brother, "and you ought to tell us everything now."

"I haven't got anything to tell," he answered, in a surly manner. "Do you want to see the priests again?" asked his brother, and he answered, with more vehemence than he had previously shown: "No; - damn them; don't send them here again; I cont want them." The brother-in-law interjected here:

"That's right; Leon." The brother looked rather disturbed by the answer. Then, stepping up close to the bars, the condemned man "And don't you have any praying over me when I'm dead. I don't want it. I don't want any of their damned religion."

There was a painful pause of a few minutes. Then the brother-in-law, much to Superintendent Collins' surprise, asked that he and the brother be permitted to witness the execution. Before Superintendent Collins could reply, Leon Czolgosz said:

"Yes, Mr. Superintendent, let them see me killed."

Superintendent Collins told the trio could be allowed, and ordered them to say good-bye.

The building destroyed was the eight-story structure, 1219 and 1221 Market street, occupied by Hunt, Wilkinson & Co., upholsterers and furniture dealers, and three three-story buildings occupied by small merchantmen. The big furniture building extended back a half block to Commerce street, and was owned by Henry C.

At 10.20 o'clock in the morning the blaze broke forth, and one hour later the horrible sacrifice of life had been made and the immense loss of properunknown. It is said that an explosion of naptha or gasoline in the basement was the cause, but this is denied by Mr. Wilkinson, who says there never was a sufficient quantity of either explosive about the building to be responsible for yesterday's terri-

ELEVEN DEAD; MANY WOUNDED

Many of the Wounded Negroes Escaped to the Woods and Swamps. The Conflict Raged For Over Half

New Orleans, La., Oct. 30 .- A special to The Picayune from Balltown, La., says that the race war between the blacks and whites, which started at a negro camp meeting at Duncan's in-law arrived, and Superintendent | Chapel on Sunday, forms a story of blood unequaled in the history of the Pearl river valley.

> One white man is dead, another is now dying with a bullet hole through his stomach, and a third white man is badly wounded. Nine negroes were killed in the bloody affray-five men. three women and one small child. A dozen or perhaps more negroes escaped to the woods and swamps with wounds that are believed to be certain death in the brush, away from medical care.

> No one is able to estimate the number of wounded negroes who escaped the carnage behind the church. They scattered in all directions. Some are known to have been shot, but they have not been found. The conflict raged for half an hour. Those at a distance say the firing sounded like a battle between troops.

On last Thursday the meeting opened, with several hundred negroes encamped around the church, in tents and rudely constructed shantles. One day previous to the camp meeting. when the negro Bill Morris had been burned at the stake near Balltown for an assault upon Mrs. J. J. Ball, public feeling was at a high pitch. Under these conditions the negroes gathered at Live Oak. There was trouble over a license, and Crear Lott's tent became the centre of contention. Some trouble occurred on Saturday evening, but there was no bloodshed. It came up again on Sunday afternoon, when Constable Boon and a posse rode up to Lott's tent with a warrant. Lott came out, and is reported to have shouted, with an in emphatic terms that no such thing oath; "One nigger has been burned, but a --- white man will be next."

Wade Walker, one of the constable's posse, was struck over the head with a Winchester, and then the slaughter began. The blacks fled from the frail wooden church, for it was no shelter from the rain of bullets. Lott retired into his tent, shooting and fighting. A torrent of lead was sent whizzing through the tent and through the church, while the negroes fied. For 24 hours it looked as if a general uprising would wipe out the black race in Washington parish. The news spread like wildfire, and by Monday over 1,000 armed men had reached the scene of the battle.

On Monday afternoon the nine negroes, who had been left in a heap where they had died, were piled into three unmarked graves, dug near the charred remains of Lott's tent house. There was no ceremony. At the same time prominent citizens held a conference, which was attended by Sheriff Simmons, and a message was sent to the negroes.

"Do you want any more?" was the query.

"No," came the reply. This had a quieting effect, peace

"Wild West" In a Wreck. Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 30 .- One hundred and ten of the ring horses of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show were crushed to death in a railroad wreck near Lexington, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Among the horses that were killed was "Old Pap," Colonel Cody's favorite saddle horse. Eagle," the star ring horse, was killed and his mangled body fell on top of one of the wrecked engines. The mules that drew the Deadwood coach were also killed. Colonel Cody spent yesterday at the scene of the wreck, and is heart-broken over the slaughter. He says his loss is $60,000.

The accident was the result of a head-end collision between a fast southbound freight train and the second section of the show train, and was due to a misunderstanding of orders. Several train hands were injured, but no one was killed.

Charged With Manslaughter. New Haven, Conn., Oct. 30.-Henry McDonald Sedley, of New York, the Sheffield Scientific School freshman accused of causing the death of Edward Corrigan, of Willimantic, a Yale Law School student, was charged with manslaughter in the city court yesterday, after the former charge of breach of the peace had been dismissed.
