PROCEEDINGS IN COURT

List of Cases Tried and Verdicts Rendered

Usual Grist of Commonwealth Cases—Sentences Imposed on Offenders—Report of the Grand Jury—Reported by S. D. Gettig, Esq.

Regular November term of court convened on Monday morning at 9 o'clock with Honorable John G. Love, president judge, on the bench.

A large portion of the morning session was consumed in hearing motions and petitions as presented by the several members of the Bar.

On motion of C. M. Bower, Esq., chairman of the Examining Committee, J. V. Royer was admitted to practice law in the several courts of Centre county. Mr. Royer is a bright young man and diligently applied himself to master the law, and passed a good examination, the committee being well pleased with his work. He read in the office of Finney & Walker.

Constables of the several townships and boroughs made their quarterly reports to the Court; list of grand jurors called and sworn, and S. B. Kowe, gentleman, from the borough of Philipsburg, was chosen foreman, and after being properly instructed by the Court, retired to the grand jury room where they will pass on the several bills of indictment that will be submitted to them by the district attorney. List of traverser jurors was called and absentees noted, and list of civil cases for trial called over and the following cases disposed of:

H. M. Dunning vs. Ann W. Biddle, appeal from justice of the peace. Settled.

Mary S. Thomas vs. Thomas Butler and Burdine Butler, fined issue to try title to lot of personal property. The appeal taken to the Superior Court and reversed, and now here for second trial. Case continued on account of a material witness for the defendants being sick with typhoid fever.

O. Perry Jones use of Kate A. Miller vs. Jane Gowland, judgment opened and defendant let into defence. Terms of settlement agreed upon and will be settled.

In case of Com. vs. George L. Spangler, charged with selling liquor without a license and to minor, prosecutor Joseph W. Rightmire. This case is from Liberty township and the defendant waived the finding of the grand jury and plead guilty. Sentence was suspended by the Court on payment of costs on a very strong petition signed by citizens of the township.

Court adjourned at 11:30 and reconvened at 2 o'clock, when more petitions and motions were heard.

The first case called was Com. vs. Harry J. Shney, prosecutor J. Kusser, charge forgery and obtaining goods on false pretense. Two cases. This is the forgery case from Ferguson township, where the defendant uttered forged checks, one on F. L. Black and one on W. E. Meek, and passed one on the prosecutor, getting in return some goods and money, and the other to Mr. Foster, getting the money on it. The defendant waived the finding of the grand jury and plead guilty. The father having made restitution and the young man not being of a very strong mind, and a petition being presented signed by some of the best citizens of that community, counsel for the defendant asked that sentence be suspended, which the Court is holding under advisement.

Com. vs. Harry Bottorf, indicted on three counts—first count, assault and battery; second count, aggravated assault and battery; third count, assault and battery with intent to kill, prosecutor Clara Bottorf. This case is from Boggs township and the defendant and prosecutor are husband and wife and live above Runville, near the main road leading to Snow Shoe, and the facts are about as follows: On Saturday evening, November 16, the defendant came home from Snow Shoe with a load of coal, being somewhat under the influence of liquor, and after being taken into the house, charged his wife with unfaithfulness to him, became abusive, struck her and caught her by the hair, pulling out quite a bunch. He was forced to resist by a neighbor, and sometime afterwards he procured his revolver and informed his wife and step-daughter to tell him where a certain person was or he would kill them both, whereupon they started down stairs when the defendant fired two shots. The prosecutrix and her daughter got out of the house, when the prosecutrix procured a warrant and the defendant was arrested about midnight and afterwards lodged in jail. The defendant alleges that he was so drunk that he does not know what he did. Verdict of guilty on the first count and not guilty on the second and third.

Com. vs. Andrew C. Glenn, Jr., indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Orpha Spears. This case is from Boggs township and the defendant plead guilty. The usual sentence in such cases was imposed by the Court.

Com. vs. Calvin Stiles, indicted for aggravated assault and battery, prosecutor Jeremiah B. Roan. This case is from Philipsburg and the facts are about as follows: The prosecutor, who is a farmer from Benner township, went to Chester Hill on the 3d of October last to visit his daughter, and on the next day, being October 4th, crossed over to Philipsburg to sell some hay and some other farm commodities, and sometime afterwards made up with a young man calling himself Behres, who told him that he was "broke," and the two were together the rest of the day, getting their meals and drinking some, for all of which the prosecutor paid. Sometime after 7 o'clock they started for the depot where the prosecutor was going to buy the defendant a ticket to Tyrone, but the prosecutor not being acquainted with the town, they started and got to the railroad, passed the engine house, walked down the track towards Clearfield and when they got some distance down the track the defendant took the prosecutor alongside of the head of the train and commenced to go through his pockets when the prosecutor grappled with him, whereupon the defendant began to pummel him over the head and face. The prosecutor feigned unconsciousness and the defendant took from him all his money and while doing so used some vile epithets toward him. After he had rifled his pockets he threw him on the railroad track, saying, "Let the engine finish you," and disappeared. Mr. Roan heard a train coming and succeeded in rolling himself off the track and heard the train pass him but did not see it. When he got up he was bleeding. He walked toward the engine house, made an alarm and was met by a young man and taken to the Continental Hotel and washed. It was discovered that the defendant had pawned his watch to a Mr. Moore that morning and redeemed it after this assault, whereupon the defendant was arrested and searched and some money taken from him, and the poke in which it was identified by Mr. Roan as his, and he also identified the defendant as his assailant. After the close of the Commonwealth's testimony the defendant changed his plea from not guilty to that of guilty. Sentence deferred until later in the week.

Commonwealth vs. Jacob Lutz, indicted for assault and battery, prosecutrix Susan Gingerich. This case is from Benner township and the prosecutrix, who is a township charge, had been placed with the defendant, together with some personal property, for care and attention by the authorities, where she left in July, and the poor authorities notified Mr. Lutz not to allow her to remove more than her clothing and bed clothing, and on the 5th of September she came there with her daughter and demanded the property from Mrs. Lutz, who told her that she could have the trunk providing she laid the clock. She became riled, and Mrs. Lutz called her husband who was working in the garden near by. Mrs. Lutz told her she would have to leave and finally took hold of her arm and led her out on the road, not using any more force than was necessary to put her off the premises, but the prosecutrix claims that he caught her by both arms and rushed her out backwards and that he hurt so that her arms became black and blue. Verdict of not guilty and the county to pay the costs.

Com. Thomas Holt, charged with assault and battery, prosecutrices Clara Holt and Sarah Spicer. The defendant, waived the finding of the grand jury and plead guilty. Sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Com. vs. Walter Cathart, charged with assault and battery, prosecutor Henry Casper. This case is from Spring township and grows out of some trouble between school children. The defendant waived the finding of the grand jury and plead guilty. Sentence was suspended upon payment of costs.

Com. vs. Harry Brown, colored, indicted for open lewdness, prosecutor Edmund Blanchard, chief Burgess. This case is from Belleville and is for an indecent exposure on the night of November 2d. Defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to pay the costs, twenty dollars fine and three months in the county jail.

Com. vs. Harry Miller, indicted for malicious mischief to railroad track, prosecutor J. W. Gephart, superintendent. This case is from Belleville, and the defendant was prosecuted for opening two switches on the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania near the depot on the night of August 1st, the one switch being about one thousand feet from the station where also a spike was placed and wrecked the night train from Mill Hill, it being the night of the day on which the Reformed picnic was held at Hecla park, thus endangering a good many lives. The defendant admitted opening the switches to the officers of the railroad and to other people but claimed that he was but thirteen years old. Verdict not guilty.

This ended the criminal list for jury trials and the civil cases were taken up on Tuesday afternoon.

W. H. Garbrick vs. A. J. Garbrick, an appeal from the judgment of a justice of the peace. The plaintiff suffered a voluntary non suit.

A. Hanson vs. Jacob Quiggle, an appeal from a justice of the peace. This case is brought to recover for manual labor done by the plaintiff for the defendant in Kesh township in 1899 and 1900 less a store bill. There was no defence and verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $54.00.

John G. Dubbs vs. John Herman, an appeal from judgment of J. M. Keichline, justice of the peace. This suit is brought to recover one-half the value of thirty hundred of phosphate, and the facts are about as follows: The defendant was for some years a tenant on the farm of Adam Wagner in Benner township and was using phosphate for crops, tenant paying one-half and the landlord the other half, having bought the same from the plaintiff, but in 1898 the landlord notified both the tenant and the plaintiff that he would pay for no more phosphate, and in August, 1898, as the plaintiff alleges, he sold Mr. Herman thirty hundred weight of phosphate for thirty dollars and that the defendant paid him half of the amount afterwards, but never paid the balance, while on the other hand the defendant alleges that the plaintiff solicited him to buy the phosphate and that he informed him that he could not buy unless the landlord agreed to pay half of it and that the plaintiff told him he would collect half from the landlord, and on these terms he took the phosphate, and that the landlord refused to pay half and also produced notices addressed to Mr. Wagner to pay his half of the bill and also notices from a justice that the claim had been left for suit, which notices were abandoned and suit brought against the defendant to recover the balance due. Verdict Wednesday forenoon in favor of the plaintiff for $17.11.

D. Z. Frain vs. Central Railroad Company of Pennsylvania, an appeal from judgment of Justice J. M. Keichline. This case is brought to recover as the plaintiff alleges for one hundred first class ties and sixty second class delivered along the right of way of defendant company for which he was to receive forty cents apiece for first class and twenty-five cents for the second class making in all fifty-five dollars for which he contracted with the defendant in November last and delivered in January and February of the present year and taken up in May. The defendant alleges that the ties were

TEACHERS INSTITUTE

55th Annual Session at Belleville. Dec. 9th to 13

OUTLINE OF THE PROGRAMME

List of Instructors Who Will be in Attendance; Names of Officers and Important Committees—Evening Entertainments.

The Annual Teachers' Institute in this county is an event that not only is of interest to teachers, schools and directors but a large number of others, and is attended by many from all sections of the county. For that reason we make some liberal extracts from the institute manual just issued by County Superintendent C. L. Gramley.

Institute will commence Monday, December 9th, and continue to Friday, 13th.

The enrollment will begin at 9:30 a. m., on Monday, opening session at 1:30 p. m. The fee is one dollar which includes cost of singing book, and general admission to all evening entertainments.

EXCURSION ORDERS.

Excursion orders securing for the holders reduced railroad rates will be sent to all teachers and directors. Others may secure these orders for themselves or their friends by writing to County Superintendent for them. Written application for orders must be accompanied by self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ATTENDANCE.

The law provides that teachers shall be paid for their time while attending institute. Compensation can be claimed only for the time actually attended. A Superintendent can excuse a teacher for a session or a part of a session, but must deduct the time thus lost from the teacher's total attendance for the week.

2. Questions and answers.

The afternoon session will be held either separately or in connection with the institute as shall be determined by the association.

Questions for this session to be announced in circular.

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

President—S. W. Smith, Centre Hall. Vice presidents—C. W. Atherton, Philipsburg; F. L. Black, Ferguson. Secretary and treasurer—H. C. Quigley, Belleville.

Executive committee—Joseph L. Neff, Boggs; R. M. Kaup, Spring; W. S. Shaffer, Miles; Jacob Dankle, Walker; H. C. Rice, Rush.

Tannery Destroyed by Fire.

Friday a destructive fire in the Wagner tannery at Lock Haven did much damage. The flames were discovered at 8 o'clock and made rapid headway in spite of the excellent work of the fire department. The leech house was soon marked for destruction. The fire was confined to the building in which it started.

The loss will be heavy, for in addition to a large quantity of hides and leather destroyed work will be delayed and orders forfeited because of inability to make the liquors and do the tanning. It will take at least six weeks to repair and get in working shape and 28 men will be thrown out of employment.

The Boys Improving.

Linn Blackford, of this place, who was seriously injured by having a rusty nail penetrate his knee joint on Halloween night, the nail being in the end of a palging with which he was playfully struck, and from which he suffered greatly, is improving, and the physician thinks his leg will be all right again.

Young Packer, in Greens valley, beyond Pleasant Gap, who was accidentally shot through the stomach and intestines in the mountains some six weeks ago, was operated upon on Monday, by Dr. Fisher, of Zion, and is improving with hopes for his recovery. The medical profession should profit by the Drs. treatment of this case.

Lookout for Him.

Several residents of Middleburg, who are of a speculative turn, are on the hunt for a fake insurance agent, who sold accident policies at $3 each on the spot, and $1 per month thereafter. The policies were to carry sick and accident benefits of $10 a week. Twenty one persons took policies as the agent did not require medical examination, and the terms of the contract were most liberal. None of the policies have been received. The man posed as the representative of New York and Philadelphia insurance companies. He is wanted by the police, of Sunbury, it is said.

Oak Grove Lots.

Most of our people are aware that a large town is going to grow rapidly at Oak Grove, between Lock Haven and Jersey Shore, where the new car shops are being erected. In another part of this paper will be found an advertisement for the sale of lots in the new town. This no doubt will be a splendid opportunity for persons to make good investments as real estate will rapidly increase in value. As the shops may be as extensive in a few years as the Penn. R. R. has at Altoona, persons who have money for investment should give this consideration.

Fell Through the Bridge.

Jack Wetzler, of Milesburg, boarded the Bald Eagle Valley local freight Friday afternoon with the intention of going to Belleville. After getting on the train he changed his mind and decided to alight. In getting off, he fell through the ties of the bridge near that place, and fell ten or twelve feet to the creek below. He was seriously injured and was unconscious for some time.

VARIETY OF COUNTY NEWS

Items of Interest Gathered From All Sections

SHORT AND TO THE POINT

What Transpired Worthy of Brief Mention, the Past Week—News From Over the County—For Hasty Readers—A New Department.

Michael Fetzer, Runville, had his pension increased to $10.

A pension of $8 a month has been granted to William H. Adams, of Port Matilda.

W. R. Noll, of Pleasant Gap, has moved to Jeannette, Pa., where he has a good position.

James D. Tanyer, of Ferguson, came home from the mountains with two fine deer and a gobbler.

Among the patents granted during the week, was one to D. F. Bowersox, of Aaronsburg, for a forceps.

Theodore Hosterman, of Coburn, is packing up his household goods, preparatory to moving them to Collins, W. Va., next Monday.

Mrs. J. Lauth, who has been at the Lauth homestead at Howard for some time past, has returned to her home at Cripple Creek, Colorado.

The venerable George Rimestine, of Penn. twp., who had been sick for a long time with heart disease, is improving a little. He is 76 years of age.

The contract for furnishing ballast for the N. Y. C. railroad roadbed has been filed by the Bellefonte Line Co., from their Salona quarries.

Michael Decker, of near Centre Hall, is reported to have had a crop of corn which averaged one hundred and forty bushels per acre of corn.

Veterinary surgeons, W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove, and A. N. Schreiber, of Philadelphia, inspected the Shook Brod herd of cattle at Spring Mills, and found them sound.

Good farmer Peter Breon, of Penn., is said to have raised such big corn that it will require three days to butcher his hogs, as Mr. Bressler, one of his helps thinks. That beats the record on corn and hogs.

Receiver R. M. Foster of the S. L. Coedo store at State College has sold the stock of that establishment to Holmes & Co., of State College. The new firm will move the goods to the Snyder store, the grocery stock of which has also been bought by Holmes & Co.

The Alpha fire company at State College have purchased a building and now have comfortable quarters for themselves and their apparatus. It is the building formerly occupied by Raup & Brown's meat market. Council will buy them 500 ft. of new hose.

Mr. and Mrs. David Neese, of Penn. township, arrived home from Bowling Green, Va. They had been on a three months' visit to their daughter, Mrs. Wash. Tharp. They report having had a very nice time. They surprised their daughter, Ella, who kept house for them while away, with the present of a very fine sewing machine.

While two young women living in Beech Creek, were walking to Eagleville Sunday afternoon, a deer came down the hill on a jump and passed the women with less fear than they had for it, for they made a rush for the fence and climbed as high as they could. The animal had been chased down the creek by dogs and was wounded slightly.

A report comes from Beech Creek to the effect that a man named Setter Hevly is training two deer to pull a small truck. The man captured the animals alive and is employed at the city mines of the Pennsylvania Fire Brick company. He now has them tied to a truck which is used to transport the clay, and hopes to train them so that he will be able to drive them.

The dwelling house and store room of C. J. Finkle, of Spring Mills, narrowly escaped being consumed by fire, last week. The fire was caused by a reflector which lay on the sofa in the sitting room upon which the sun shone. The fire was burning briskly when first discovered and smoke had filled the house. There are numerous instances of this kind on record, peculiar as it may appear.

Brag porkers seem to be scarcer this fall than usual, owing, perhaps, to corn being up in price. Thus far none have been slaughtered of a brag weight. We are told that Mr. Sechrist, of Millheim, has two hogs which are likely to weigh 1400 or over. Next to Sechrist would come Dan Geary, Penn. township's constable for 30 years, who has two fattening hogs that are estimated to weigh close on to 1000 the two.

Saturday 16th, a monument was erected over the grave of Rev. James Martin, on the Heckman cemetery in Gregg Twp., and an iron fence put around the grave. Rev. Martin, of whom we have made mention heretofore as one of the early ministers among the pioneers of the county, was pastor of the Presbyterian church the charge then taking in all of Pennsylvally east to west, running back to 1784, or earlier and the first church erected 1785, close to the cemetery where the remains of the first pastor lie buried, and in this church the presbytery of Huntingdon was organized in April 1795. This Presbytery, a few years ago, very fittingly authorized the monument to be erected and the inclosure put around the tomb of Rev. Martin, who died June 30th, 1795, aged 65 years. He had a large field to travel as will be observed, and the same was the lot all the ministers of other denominations of the earlier days. Rev. W. H. Schuyler, of Center Hall, Judge Jas. A. Beaver, and C. P. Long, was the committee having charge of the ceremony, by order of the Huntingdon Presbytery.

State Officer After Dairymen.

Warrants were issued in Williamsport for the arrest of fourteen milkmen, all charged with adulterating milk. Samples of the milk sold by 48 dealers were taken and sent to State College, where they were analyzed. Of the whole number of samples 14 were found to be adulterated. The adulteration consisted in skimming, watering, coloring and preserving. To accomplish the latter formaldehyde was used by a majority of the offenders. Formaldehyde is used extensively for embalming purposes. It is likely that all the alleged offenders will be placed under bail for their appearance at the next term of criminal court.

A Snow Shoe Bear Story.

The latest bear story comes from Snow Shoe and has been verified from reliable source. Here it is: Thomas Joseph and Roland McCartney of the mountain city were hunting in the woods in that vicinity this week when they apprehended bruin and gave the animal chase. Mr. Bruin sought safety in a cave and the hunters built a fire nearby and concluded to remain on the ground until the bear came out. On the morning of the second day bruin ventured forth and a hard fight ensued which resulted in the bear's death. When taken home he was found to weigh 500 pounds.

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

Bright Sparkling Paragraphs—Selected and Original.

Behold the little busy bee; Note well and ponder on it. He's not so busy when he's free As when he's in a bonnet.

The saddest words of tongue or pen, Likewise the saddest words, we know, The saddest are "I might have been," The gladdest are "I told you so."

"HULLO."

When you see a man in woe, Walk right up and say, "Hullo!" Say, "Hullo!" "How d'ye do!" "How's the world a-usin' you?" Slap the fellow on the back. Bring your hand down with a whack! Walk right up an' say "Hullo!" Bags is but a cotton roll Jest for wrappin' up a soul; An' a soul is worth a true, Hale, an' hearty "How d'ye do!" Don't wait for the crowd to go, Walk right up an' say "Hullo!" We'n big vessels meet, they say, They saloot an' sail away, Just the same as you an' me—Lonesome ships upon a sea; Each one sailin' his own jag For a port beyond the fog. Let your speakin'-trumpet blow Lift yer horn an' cry, "Hullo!" Say "Hullo!" an' "How d'ye da." Other folks are as good as you, We'n yer leave yer house of clay, Wanderin' in the far-away, When you travel through the strange Country 'tother side the range, Then the souls you've cheered will know Who you be, an' say "Hullo!"
