

FILIPINOS SURRENDER

23 Insurgent Officers and 245 Men Give in at Taal.

SURRENDER IS UNCONDITIONAL

Filipino Colonel Says He Can Prevail Upon Many More Insurgents to Surrender Within the Next Few Days.

Chaffee Adopts Stern Measures.

Manila, Jan. 15.—The full surrender of the forces of Colonel Marisigan, who, with Major Cabrera and a renegade priest named Castillo, gave themselves up unconditionally January 10 to General Bell, who is conducting the campaign against the insurgents in Batangas province, occurred yesterday at Taal. The insurgents created a surprise by bringing in 60 more rifles than the authorities thought Marisigan could command in the district of Taal, which he controlled. The Filipinos who surrendered included three colonels, one major, five captains and 12 lieutenants and 245 men. They gave up 219 rifles and one cannon. All the insurgents who surrendered did so unconditionally. General Bell ordered the men to be released.

Colonel Marisigan says he can prevail on many more men to surrender during the next few days and also obtain possession of a number of additional rifles. General Bell says the surrender pacifies for the time being all the eastern part of Batangas.

Chaffee's Stern Measures. Washington, Jan. 15.—The following copy of a special order, issued by General Chaffee in the Philippines, on account of recent disturbances in Southern Luzon, was received at the war department yesterday:

"Whereas a large and influential number of the inhabitants of the provinces of Batangas, Laguna and Tayabas prefer to give assistance in money and supplies to disturbers of public order rather than aid the military authorities with information which may cause attacks to be made on insurrectionists, or the arrests of such as live in the barrios as spies, it is ordered that all ports in the provinces of Batangas and Laguna be closed to trade and remain closed until further notice; that payments of all rents by army administration in the provinces of Batangas and Laguna be suspended until further orders. In the provinces of Batangas and Laguna the oath of allegiance will be taken at once by all municipal officials and all municipal police, who have not hitherto subscribed to the oath, on pain of instant removal."

3 NEGROES BLOWN TO PIECES

They Were Thawing Dynamite at a Stove When Explosion Occurred.

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 15.—A dispatch from Karthaus, Clearfield county, says: Three negroes were blown to pieces and seven others hurt in a dynamite explosion yesterday morning. The explosion occurred in one of the shanties occupied by negro laborers employed on the New West Branch railroad.

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday morning several of the negroes, who were to work in the new tunnel at Karthaus on an early shift, arose and began thawing dynamite at a wood stove. About a dozen other negroes were still asleep in the shanty. Soon afterward the dynamite at the stove exploded, and three negroes who were about the stove were literally blown to pieces. The sleeping negroes were thrown from their beds, and seven of the number are reported to have sustained injuries that in several instances will prove fatal. The shanty was blown to pieces, and the torn bodies of the men who stood about the stove were gathered up about the scene of the explosion in a radius of 30 feet.

$15,500 For Husband's Life.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—After deliberating for less than three hours, the jury in common pleas court No. 5 awarded Mrs. Kate R. Boulden $15,500 damages in her suit against the Pennsylvania railroad for the death of her husband in the "Nellie Bly" wreck, near Bordentown, N. J., last February. The amount asked was $25,000, and in his charge Judge Davis left the amount to the discretion of the jury. The jury retired at noon yesterday and reached a verdict just before 3 o'clock. The suit was the first growing out of the disaster to be placed on trial in any court, and for that reason attracted great interest. Judge Davis, the new member of court of common pleas No. 5, presided at the trial, which was begun last Friday.

FATAL FIRE IN BUFFALO

Family of Seven Lose Their Lives in Mysterious Fire.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Henry Pearlstein, his wife and five children, ranging in age from 1 1/2 to 12 years, were burned to death at an early hour yesterday morning in a fire that destroyed a two-story frame building, Joseph Supowski, who owned the building, and Karl Brackl, his brother-in-law, have been arrested pending an investigation. Supowski carried an insurance of $9,000 on the building and its contents.

The Pearlsteins and another family lived in rooms above the shoe store and were asleep when the fire started. Supowski told the police yesterday that he accidentally dropped a lamp. A few minutes after the fire began there was a loud explosion that blew out the front of the store and hurled some of the contents of the windows into the middle of the street. Plate-glass windows on the opposite side of Broadway were shattered and the sound of the explosion was heard two blocks away. The flames enveloped the building in a short time. The family living in the rear flat barely escaped with their lives.

The Pearlsteins were awakened, but before they could reach the only stairway leading from their rooms the fire had undermined the floor in the hallway, and it collapsed, carrying them down into a mass of flames. Their charred bodies were found at 8 o'clock, four hours after the fire had extinguished the flames. The body of the mother and baby were found together, the little one tightly clasped in its mother's arms. Pearlstein's body was found close to that of his wife. He also held one of the children in his arms. The bodies of the other three children were found huddled together close to the father's body.

SWINDLERS COME TO GRIEF

They Attempted to Defraud the Scranton Correspondence School.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 14.—Attorney Charles P. R. McCauley, of Chicago, and Fred C. Elmes, of Harrisburg, were held in $2,500 bail by Alderman Kasson on a charge of conspiracy, preferred by the International Text Book company. McCauley, who was in the correspondence schools business, conceived the idea, so it is alleged, of securing charters for the International Text Book company, and the Colliery Engineer company, the two big Scranton correspondence concerns, which had neglected to become incorporated, and then use the charters as a means of squeezing the wealthy Scranton companies. The latter employed S. E. Marsh, of the Barrington detective agency, to frustrate the scheme, and according to the testimony adduced at the hearing he performed his work well. Going to Chicago and gaining the confidence of McCauley, by representing himself as a wealthy but unscrupulous speculator, had the latter commit himself and his alleged squeezing scheme to writing. Elmes furnished bail, but McCauley, the alleged arch conspirator, went to jail.

Mugwump Christians Wanted.

Philadelphia, Jan. 14.—"We need mugwumps in the church as well as in politics," said the Rev. F. W. Farr, pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist Church, at the meeting of the Baptist ministers yesterday. Mr. Farr read a paper on "The Conflict Between Mysticism and Rationalism." "The mugwump in politics is one who loves his country better than his party," said Mr. Farr. "The mugwump will leave his party when it does wrong. There should be mugwumps in the church to protest and resist the church's becoming fanatical or extravagantly emotional." The paper was highly commended by the ministers, and many expressed themselves as in favor of the Christian mugwump.

General Sewell's Will Probated.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 14.—The will of the late Gen. William Joyce Sewell, United States senator from New Jersey, who died at his home in Camden, December 27, was yesterday admitted to probate in the office of the surrogate of Camden county by Surrogate West. The document makes no public bequests, but divides the entire estate, real and personal, share and share alike, among the members of the deceased senator's family. Under the law the executors have three months in which to file an inventory, and until this action is taken the value of the estate will not be known. General Sewell's wealth is estimated at not more than $5,000.

GERMANY TO RETALIATE

Proposed Amendment to Tariff Bill Aimed at United States.

FASHIONED AFTER OUR LAW

It Authorizes Government to Apply Tariff to Imports From Foreign Country As May Be Enforced Against German Exports.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—Baron Heyl Zu Herrnsheim, national Liberal, proposed an amendment to the tariff bill in committee yesterday. It was aimed at the United States. The amendment authorizes the government to apply to imports from any foreign state such regulations respecting the consular authentication of invoices of such imports, the declaration of their market value and the costs of their production, as may be enforced against German exports.

The language of the amendment is fashioned after the American law and is regarded by the committee as undoubtedly designed to offset the customs requirements of the United States and to satisfy the long standing complaints of German manufacturers. This amendment has not yet been discussed, but inquiry of some members of the committee has elicited statements which indicated that it is more than likely to be adopted.

The committee had a tempestuous session yesterday. The supporters of the bill put in practice a new set of rules which enable the majority to close the debate and so defeat the tactics of and delay their opponents. The latter, however, when they found violent vocal protests unavailing began to introduce slightly varied wordings and amendments, which were rejected. Among other resolutions proposed was one appointing a government commission to study the effects of the tariff in promoting syndicates and trusts. Another resolution empowered the government to suspend duties when any protected article which was produced in Germany was sold lower abroad than at home.

$500,000 FIRE AT MANCHESTER

Granite Business Block Burned and Other Property Damaged.

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 15.—The destruction last night of the Kennard, a granite structure considered to be the finest business office block in New England north of Boston, proved to be the worst fire here in many years, the total loss being $500,000. Besides the Kennard, the Smyth block on the opposite side of the street, was practically ruined, and considerable damage was done to the home of the Derryfield Club, in the rear of the Kennard. In the Smyth block were two banks and the Park Theatre, occupied by J. Z. Little's dramatic company presenting "The World." The Kennard was totally burned. At the time the board of trade was in session and immediately a rush for the exits was made. Every one got out safely.

The cause of the fire is believed to have been due to electrical connections.

GORMAN ELECTED U.S. SENATOR

Will Succeed Willington in March, 1903—Vandiver State Treasurer.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 15.—Former United States Senator Arthur Pue Gorman was yesterday re-elected to occupy the place in the senate which he lost in the general elections four years ago and regained in November last. He received every Democratic vote in both branches of the general assembly. Congressman William H. Jackson was the Republican senatorial nominee. The vote stood: In the senate, Gorman, 17; Jackson, 9. In the house, Gorman, 51; Jackson, 43. A joint session was held at noon today, but it was merely for the purpose of announcing the results as required by law. Mr. Gorman will take his seat in March, 1903, when Senator George L. Willington will retire.

The house and senate proceeded to vote for state treasurer. The nominee of the Democrats was Murray Vandiver, the present incumbent. The Republican nominee was General Thomas J. Shryock, who preceded General Vandiver as state treasurer. The vote was as follows: Vandiver (Dem.), 69; Shryock (Rep.), 50; D. H. Thomas (Dem.), 1.

A committee was appointed to draw up the petition and to draft resolutions endorsing the Lexington chapter's action.

IMPORTED A PALACE

HOW MRS. JACK GARDNER HAS STARTLED BOSTON SOCIETY.

Now She Is to Open Her Venetian Made Residence With a Grand Housewarming Party—Another Boston Woman Strives to Outdo Her.

That Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston never does things by halves in a social way has been shown time after time, and society is on the tiptoe of expectancy for the new surprise she has in store for it. Some time ago Mrs. Gardner decided there was nothing quaint or novel enough for her in American architecture, and so she went abroad and purchased a Venetian palace. This was brought to America and rebuilt on spacious grounds in the Hub and will be thrown open to her friends on Jan. 6. Her enterprise has been kept as secret as possible, and it is only recently that a description of the palace was secured.

It was about a year ago that Mrs. Gardner decided upon the building of her Italian gardens. She found a palace in Venice which was for sale, with furnishings from the roof down. She bought it, had it dismantled and each separate piece packed for shipment to Boston. There, in Back Bay Pews, she had old world artisans put every stone and plaster into place again.

One of the two main entrances to the palace is near Huntington avenue, and this leads into a narrow corridor, from which opens a long and spacious music hall. At the farther end of this hall is a stage, which is said to be large enough to seat the entire Symphony orchestra. On either side of the second entrance are reception rooms, and beyond them is a corridor with arches of red brick and a red tiled floor. Beyond this arched passage is the courtyard, which occupies the center of the palace. It is 50 by 75 feet in dimensions and is covered with a roof of glass. Around it on the lower floor is an arcade, with beautiful Corinthian columns of white marble, and opening on its four sides are large square windows on the three upper stories.

There are some wide corridors on the lower floor, in which many rare art treasures have been placed.

Leading to the floor above are staircases of marble, and here, across the front of the building, stands a large room which will be used as a picture gallery. There is also on this floor a Dutch room, with an old fashioned fireplace and a ceiling of black oak and with its beams so arranged as to form fifteen square panels. Set in these panels are paintings by the old Flemish masters. A companion room to the picture gallery is on the third floor, and here will be kept Mrs. Gardner's great collection of rare old books. Near here is a Gothic room, with one large rose window and others, smaller, of stained glass. This room is fitted up with carved settles and a space left for an altar and will no doubt be used as a chapel.

Mrs. Gardner's apartments are in the upper story of the palace. Her suit extends across the front of the building and consists of a boudoir, sleeping and bath rooms. The walls of the boudoir are hung with red tapestry, the bathroom is tiled in white, and four inscriptions in Latin are on the walls. In the sleeping room is a carved marble fireplace, which was formerly in Mrs. Gardner's Beacon street home. The servants' quarters are also in the upper story and are comfortable and spacious, and there is no lack of closets and pantries. Across the rear of the building extends a large dining hall.

The palace contains all the modern improvements and conveniences, but these have been so concealed as to in no way mar the beauty of the architecture or to seem incongruous with the Venice of the middle ages. The building will be lighted by electricity and heated by hot air coming through openings in the walls. All the larger rooms have fireplaces, with hoods of various designs. The ballroom in the palace is said to be the largest private room of its kind in this city.

Mrs. Gardner's Venetian palace will not be the only one in Boston, however. Her social rival, Mrs. Charles F. Sprague, the wife of a former representative in congress, now in an asylum, is preparing to outdo her in the mad importing them. She has bought an older and much larger Venetian palace, and it is now being razed and the parts prepared for shipment. The materials will be sent to Boston and used in transforming Mrs. Sprague's country home at Brookline into an Italian palace that will, so Mrs. Sprague's set declares, far surpass Mrs. Gardner's.

Insane Man Made Sane by Blow.

A blow on the head has cured George Brummer, of Indianapolis, of what was supposed to be an incurable mental affliction. He was recently paroled from the Central Insane hospital, but a week ago, on application of his wife, papers were made out for his return. Suffering from insomnia, Brummer wandered from home. A few hours later two boys led him home. He had a wound on the back of his head where some one whose name he could not tell had struck him with the butt of a whip. The physician called to dress the wound found him perfectly sane.

CRUEL

Heartrending Story of Nervous Wreck. How Dr. Greene's Nervura Came to the Rescue.

Mrs. P. HOBAN, 1879 Third Avenue, New York City, says:

"I had a constant bearing down pain that made me feel dreadfully nervous, and the pain in my neck and head was something awful. I suffered terribly every morning. I also suffered from inflammation and had an unusual discharge that kept me tired all the time. My kidneys and stomach were affected and I was always constipated. Every little thing excited me, and I was so nervous I didn't feel like seeing or talking to anyone. I was really in a dreadful condition. No one knows what I suffered. Every morning I would feel so that I could hardly get up, and during the day I would get faint and feel as though I should fall. I doctored continually, trying first one thing, then another, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was so discouraged I didn't care much what happened, or if I ever got well. Finally, some one told me to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and said so much about the good it did women who suffered from female weakness that I decided to try it. I cannot say enough for this medicine. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the best medicine on earth for nervousness and female weakness, and every woman who suffers from these troubles ought to get Dr. Greene's Nervura. I took four bottles of Nervura and my pains are all gone. My periods are regular every month, without the slightest pain, my head aches is all gone, and there isn't the slightest discharge any more. The folks who see me now, who see how contented and happy and strong I am, think it is a miracle." Get Dr. Greene's Nervura to-day for your trouble, and write to Dr. Greene for address. Address 101 Fifth Avenue, New York City.
