Movements of Our People—Personal Mention, Society Events—What Has Transpired Worthy of Mention—Short Paragraphs

Entertainment in the Court House tomorrow evening. Mrs. A. Katz, of this place has been seriously ill the past week. Miss Edith Brown, of Hagerstown Md., is visiting in Bellefonte. Mrs. Elizabeth B. Calloway left Saturday afternoon for an extended visit in New York. Miss Jennie Fauble, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday at the home of her parents, at this place. License court will be in session next Tuesday, the 4th. Very few remonstrances will be presented. Thomas Brew, of Hazleton, is a guest of his sister, Mrs. Harry Fenlon at the Bush House. Daniel Hosterman, Penn township's well known assessor, had business at the county seat several days this week. Samuel Gettig and wife have been busy the past few days moving to one of the Steele residences on Pine street. Jacob Bottorf, one of Lemont's representative citizens, was transacting business at the county seat Monday. The County Commissioners' and the Treasurer's offices have been repapered and repainted and are now in first class order. There are still a few echoes over the boro election. How the various deals were made is an interesting topic for speculation. John Todd, of Philipsburg, circulated among friends in Bellefonte the past week. He is a clever young man and a sterling democrat. Correspondents should guard against having slurs, or stings, to annoy. Fresh, crisp, news happenings, and the like, are always in order. D. K. Geiss, one of Centre Hall's prominent citizens, spent Sunday and Monday in Bellefonte, visiting the family of his son, Wagner Geiss. The work of printing sale bills for our patrons has kept our job department going the past week. We are doing good work at reasonable prices. Jas. P. Aikens, who had been stationed at Bloomsburg, Pa., for the past year with the United Telephone & Telegraph Company, visited friends in Bellefonte over Sunday. Organ and piano recital, under the direction of Mrs. Boubright, assisted by the choir, in the Presbyterian church, Bellefonte, Thursday evening, April 3. Admission 50 cents. The Merchants Rebate Stamp Association has been established in our town and will soon be flourishing. As to the merits of the scheme we can not speak as we know very little about it. Samuel Loper, one of the obliging clerks in Montgomery & Company's clothing store, left Sunday for a two week's visit with friends in Philadelphia, Cape May and New York City. The Bellefonte liverymen have had a harvest the past three weeks on account of the good sleighing. At times it has been difficult to get a sleigh, despite the number of stables in the town. During the past week there have been no new developments in the Beckwith murder case at Sandy Ridge. Our report last week completely covered the case and very little is to be said in addition. Will Wagner, of Lock Haven, who for over a year has been clerk at the Brockerhoff House, gave up the position on Friday. Frank Graham has taken his place and is handling the trade nicely. John Winegardner has removed to Bellefonte with his family where he will reside. He is a locomotive fireman at the L. & T. R. R., and living at Bellefonte is far more convenient for his run over the road. The Methodist conference will meet in Bellefonte March 26th. As there will be a large attendance of visitors, and the hotels will be overtaxed, all persons who can take boarders should notify Dr. Shrinier giving the number and terms per day. During the coming month of March there will be from four to five public sales each day over the county, and some will run into April. That will make things lively in the county and a good place for people to meet and talk over events of the community. Politicians will also be in attendance shaking hands with their friends. The visit of the famous Seneca Indians, from the Cornplanter Reservation, Pa., under the direction of Mr. Crittenden, attracted attention last Saturday by their appearance in the Court House and also their singing at some of the churches on Sunday. While they did not reap a great financial benefit, the public showed appreciation for their efforts.

Bruce Garman is slowly improving. Frank Adams' condition is still very serious, but there is hope for his recovery. Run your eye along the prices in Mingle's Ad. Dr. Geo. B. Klump has purchased the Hoy property on High street. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Martin, of Pittsburg, are visiting Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. Gingham. Ex-Senator S. P. Wolverton, of Sunbury, was a prominent visitor in Bellefonte yesterday. There are a number of new announcements for office in this issue, and more will follow. To some of our patrons we would say, "Remember April 1st; don't forget that little matter." Mrs. N. J. Strickland, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. M. I. Gardner, returned to Milroy. Miss Katie Armbruster, of Bellefonte, spent a few weeks under the parental roof at Farmers Mills. Rev. D. L. Hughes, D. D., a brother of Rev. Jas. P. Hughes of Bellefonte, died last Friday at Lake Charles, Louisiana. A. T. Morris' cigars can be found at Jas. McClure's, the brand is represented by E. Fisher. Also find the same cigars at Jones Bros., Milesburg. E. R. Chambers, Esq., was engaged last Friday by the County Commissioners to assist District Attorney N. B. Spangler in the Beckwith murder trial. Last Friday morning many people woke up to find from 3 to 4 inches of snow on the ground, to which were added 10 inches more Friday night—total 14 inches. The Bellefonte Ministerial Association met Monday afternoon in the parlor of the Y. M. C. A. building. A brief general discussion of special charity cases was held. On Tuesday evening one of Beezer's livery horses took sick and died on the street in front of Col. Readers' home. The animal was being driven by Herb Shaffer at the time. Miles township was more largely represented at the reunion of the 148th last week, in this place, than perhaps any other township. That township had an entire company in the war. Miss Mary B. Struble, superintendent and head nurse of the maternity hospital of Hahnemann hospital in Philadelphia, is now at State College on account of the serious illness of her mother Mrs. C. H. Struble. Harry Pontius, a former hardware man and book-keeper, is now in business in John Olewine's hardware store. This establishment is building up an extensive trade and people find that Olewine can supply them with goods at prices that are right. Leopold Bronoel, of Plano, Ill., after a short visit among friends at his former home at Milesburg, returned home on Monday. He has been living at Plano for the past six years and has a good business as a carpenter and contractor. While here there was a sort of a family reunion at the home of Jacob Follmer, near Milesburg, which was attended by a number of the family from other sections. At this time of the year farmers are on the hunt for farm hands during the summer. Some will spend several days driving around the country inquiring. If they would place a "want" in the free ad column of this paper it would bring them results, in a lot of applicants. Same in regard to those seeking employment, or of farmers who have some stock to sell or want to buy. Try our free want department and see how quickly it will bring the desired result. All the veterans who attended the reunion on 19 and 20, in Bellefonte, went from here to their homes feeling that they were given royal treatment by our citizens. The veterans, on the other hand, bore themselves like true men during their stay here, their behaviour was the best, and they were as good looking a set of men as any that went through the war. The official record also contains this praise for the famous 148th, and well did they deserve it. They are, and were, as good citizens as soldiers. Last Thursday and Friday night's snow, is reported three feet in depth at Philadelphia, two feet at Harrisburg, and 22 inches at Lock Haven. In this vicinity the depth was 15 inches. In the mountain districts of the state it must have been greater, as usual. The assertion that we are not getting the "old fashioned" snows in this downfall of the "beautiful" above noted, and longers for an old fashioned snow have their prayers answered. The coming Methodist conference is attracting attention and will bring a great many people to our town. One of the leading features of the conference will be the trial of the famous Dr. Swallow who has been charged with wilfully falsifying another minister. As the Dr. is quite a fighter and a politician who has torn up some of our public men the trial is looked upon as something that will be filled with skyrockets and other explosives. We are told that all those who will come here for the purpose of seeing the poor Dr. put on the rack and tortured will be disappointed as the proceedings are to take place behind closed doors, and that the Arbitration room at the court house has been secured for that purpose.

Miss Marguerite Potter is visiting friends at Altoona. On Monday, March 3rd, the constables elected at the recent election will be sworn into office. Snyder Tate, of Coleville, was elected for a fifth consecutive term as overseer of the poor for Spring township. Company B will play their first game of Basket Ball on Saturday evening in the armory at 8 o'clock when the Academy team will buck up against the soldier boys; so the game promises to be a most interesting one. Game starts at 8 p. m. The next important event for Bellefonte will be the meeting of the M. E. Conference. The session will be largely attended from abroad by ministers, laymen and others. The proceedings will be of an interesting nature, among other subjects will be the Swallow controversy. The large steel tanks erected at the Phoenix Mills, this place, by Col. W. F. Reynolds, are being torn down and will be shipped to Benton, Columbia county, Pa. The tanks were purchased by Louis Rosenthal, of Bloomsburg, Pa., for $450 who sold them to Roy McHenry & Son, for $1000. The latter party will erect them at their distillery at Benton, Pa., for storing grain. By the election of Dr. Kirk, of the West Ward, to our town council there should be a democratic majority. We don't know that this fact will make any material difference in the workings of that body, but the democrats have so little opportunity of having a say in the boro affairs that they should take advantage of the opportunity when it happens to come to them. There are a few pickings that might be judiciously distributed among some of the democratic brethren who have gone hungry for a long time. Furnace News. During the past week a few men have been at work about the idle Valentine furnace plant, at this place. This has aroused comment and the report was current on the street that the plant would soon be put in operation. That is hardly correct. Some eastern parties have been interested in the project and have asked for an estimate of the amount of expense that would be entailed to make needed repairs so that it could be put in operation. Men have been sent out to examine the interior of the ovens, condition of machinery, etc., and make a report. That is sufficient to warrant the prediction that if repairs are not too expensive, it may be put in operation ere long. Jonathan H. Burley, one of Tyrone's most prominent and highly respected citizens died at his home in that place on Monday evening aged 79 years. Death was due to heart trouble and dropsy. A farmer near Urbana, N. Y., found 80 mice which had made nests in the fleece of his sheep. The sheep did not seem to mind the intruders.

Late Friday evening he took very sick, a physician was called in and he pronounced the case measles. He grew gradually worse and his death resulted at the above mentioned time. Remains were taken to the home of his parents at Johnstown on Sunday. MRS. EMMA M. ROBERTS:—died on February 19th, at Clifton Springs, N. Y., where she had been at the sanitarium since her husband's death two years ago. Mrs. Roberts was well known to the older residents of Bellefonte for she resided here for a number of years with her husband who was an instructor at the Bellefonte Academy. Funeral services on Wednesday conducted by Rev. Dr. Wilfred Shrinier, assisted by Rev. White, of Pleasant Gap and Rev. Lesher, of Boalsburg. Interment at Shiloh. W. W. ROYER:—Died on Saturday last at his home, at Centre Hill, of heart trouble. Mr. Royer had been in poor health a number of years, without any prospect of improvement. He was one of Potter township's most esteemed and upright citizens. He filled a number of local offices creditably and for a number of years past was assessor which place he filled with entire satisfaction having discharged his duties without favor or partiality, giving no cause for complaint. He was a member of the Methodist church, and a Christian in all his conduct. A widow, four daughters and one son survive the departure of a true husband and father. Funeral on Tuesday; the remains interred in the Sprucetown cemetery. His age was 60 years, 1 month, 27 days. CHRISTOPHER HOPFER MURRAY:—Died at Centre Hall, on Friday morning last, of tuberculosis. He was in feeble health for several years, and had been at Colorado Springs some two years hoping to improve his health but derived no benefit from his stay there. He was a son of J. D. Murray, of Centre Hall, where he remained with his parents until he left for F. & M. college at Lancaster, and after a two year's stay went to Princeton in which institution he graduated. He later entered the law office of Beaver & Dale in this place and was admitted to the Centre county bar. He was an exceptionally bright young young man, and a writer of elegance and force, and served about a year as a reporter for the New York Sun in that city. His health demanded a change of climate and physicians advised a removal to Colorado Springs, as above referred to. After leaving Bellefonte Mr. Murray became a partner in the Vanderslice law-office in Philadelphia, and after his connection with the same upwards of two years, he opened an office on his own account with the most encouraging prospects, until the condition of his health blasted a bright future. He is mourned by a wife, father and mother, and a sister, Miss Agnes, at Centre Hall, and another sister, Corrie, wife of Prof. Bitner of the
