Fillmore.

Well, brothers and sisters, I want to tell you that the flood is over and we are saved so far. It was one of the largest we have had for many years, but very little damage was done except to fences and public roads. The ground was frozen too solid to wash. The trains did not reach our town Friday or Saturday forenoon.

Rev. Runyan started a protracted meeting here on Monday evening. We hope that good work will be done.

Isabel Stiner, our vet., is on the sick list at present, but is improving slowly. William Tibbens transacted business in Bellefonte on Monday; also John Meckly.

Miss Ethel Runyan, of Stormstown, has been visiting at the home of C. H. Kephart the week.

George L. Rockey is at present visiting among friends at Spring Mills, and expects to return to Iowa this month where he has lived the past three years.

We are sorry to say William Gross has been in very poor health during the past two weeks.

Daniel Tressler has come home to visit his parents in this place. He has been in Pittsburg the past four months.

Frank Rockey left our quiet little town on Saturday for Wilmerding where he expects to work.

Harry Myer, formerly of this place but now of Lebanon, returned home on Monday with a fine looking bride. The calthumpians all turned out and gave them a serenade, as is the custom of our town when a newly married couple come in. The bride is a New York lady, did not learn her maiden name. They have the best wishes of the people of our town.

George Taylor has bought the Mrs. Bell property where he will move on the 13th. S. C. Huey will move where Mr. Taylor vacates; Samuel Bowermaster will move where S. C. Huey vacates. And so the fitting goes.

Benore.

Here we are again after a few weeks absence. Quite a number of removals and changes will be made here in the spring.

Thos. Ducey, wife and son John, spent Wednesday of last week with their daughter, Mrs. Clyde Shuey, at State College.

Samuel is all smiles now—it's a girl. Mrs. Thos. Roop, of Birmingham, was a pleasant guest of Rev. D. L. Kapp, a few days last week.

Quite a number of our people attended the public sale of W. F. Biddle, on Wednesday of last week.

Prof. H. M. Miles, of Port Matilda, makes a visit to our town every week now.

Miss Katie Reed has returned home after spending several weeks with her aunt, Mrs. George Kelly, of Phillipsburg.

J. W. Baisor, our general merchant, had the misfortune of losing a horse a few days ago; while driving along the road the horse fell dead.

Mesach Williams is making preparations for moving to his farm located near Martha Furnace; may say we are sorry to loose such a good neighbor.

Aaronsburg.

Julia Bower has returned home from a few weeks' visit with her aged sister at Loganton.

Paul Kreamer and Charlie Keister have gone to Smithville, Ohio, to spend the summer.

Mrs. Margaret Glenn, of State College is paying her parents (Albert Kenner's) a visit.

William Krape, of Johnstown, is the guest of his uncle, Aaron Weaver.

On Saturday evening Prof. Wise's class was treated to some very choice instrumental music. Miss Agnes Spangler of Rebersburg, as pianist and Prof. Jrd as violinists, Mr. Wise, Jr., also favored the class, and all others who were there, with a comic solo. We would be glad to have them come again to help entertain the class.

On Monday evening a party of young folks assembled at the home of Wm. Guisewite, where they were pleasantly entertained. The party was in honor of Mrs. Guisewite's brother Will Mayes, of Chicago.

Geo. Bright, who has been working at Altoona, came home sick; at this writing he is getting along very well.

—Pat. Colt and Pat. Kid in our $3 Bilt Well shoes. Yeager & Davis.

Hannah.

Miss Ella Beckwith has been quite ill with the grip, but is better.

Mrs. Elizabeth McMonigal returned from Blandburg where she had gone to see her son, Samuel, who was seriously injured in an explosion of powder, while working in a coal mine; we are glad to state he is on the mend and will recover.

George Walk's smile seems to be broad as a sunbeam for the past 3 or 4 weeks—ever since that tiny bit of a girl came to his house to stay.

D. O. Downing spent couple of days visiting his parents in Sinking valley, this week.

Thomas Beckwith expects to move to Olivia in the near future; he has bought the property which has been occupied by Mrs. Merrymann for a number of years, and will engage in the mercantile business.

We are glad to have our pastor, Rev. E. S. Latashaw, with us again; he filled his regular appointments at this end of the charge last Sabbath, having been unable for some time past on account of sickness, to meet his appointments; he will preach his last sermon for this conference year, on Sunday, March 16, at half past seven. Let all come out to service.

HANNAH NO. 2

March came in like a lamb, look out for the latter part of it. The old proverb about the lion you know.

William Knapp, of Wallaceton, paid a visit recently to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jerry Sharer of this place.

Jacob Moore removed to Tyrone, from near this place, where he expects to go to work for the Tyrone paper mill.

All prospects of having good fall crops as the grain all looks fine.

Edward Orwick is seriously ill at his home near here.

We are sorry to learn of the bad accident that happened to one of our neighbors. Samuel McMonigal, recently, while employed in the coal bank at Blandburg, a 5 pound can of powder exploded in his face, causing a terrible mutilation; he will likely recover; he is a young man about 26 years of age; his home is near this place.

—Bilt Well shoes for men, prices $2.50 and $3.00 at Yeager & Davis.

Millheim.

The heavy rains during last week swelled the streams into raging torrents. Elk creek overflowed its banks but did very little damage, with the exception of tearing down fences and washing out the roads, but on Pine creek some of the bridges were swept away and considerable damage done. February throughout has been the worst month for years, rain, snow and storms. Travel was almost impossible, some times; the railroad service has been stopped since last Thursday; the mails delayed and business greatly delayed.

John Stoner went to Tusseyville on Saturday to visit his sons Henry and David; he is still very active for a man of his age.

Simon Springer, of York, is visiting his mother, Emma Springer, on North street.

The personal property of J. F. Glass, dec'd, was appraised and set apart for sale of the widow Glass, on Saturday.

Boone's sale on Wednesday was the largest of the season. Samuel Weiser was the auctioneer, and after he got over the buck fever, he did right well; the sale amounted to seventeen hundred dollars.

W. F. Smith, one of J. P. Condo's assignees, was to Bellefonte, on Tuesday.

J. W. O. Housman moved from Penn st. to Main st. in the Weiser property.

Mrs. Rote, of Aaronsburg, visited at A. P. Maize's, Monday.

The members of the United Evangelical church gave a donation for their pastor, Monday evening.

Dr. T. C. Hosterman, of Rebersburg, had professional business in town, Tuesday.

Lot Walizer, of Lewisburg, visited his mother over Sunday.

Charles Mensch, of Lewisburg, visited his father, Geo. E. Mensch, several days.

Mrs. L. E. Stover is visiting her parents at Madisonburg.

—Bilt Well shoes and Oxfords at $2.50 Yeager & Davis.

Pine Creek Mills.

The high water caused great damage along the creek, taking along some bridges.

Lewis Stover is hauling some goods already to where he will move in the spring.

Nora says she likes to read jokes about others, but not about herself. Sel is so, Nor.

Lute Stover and family went to Brush valley to see their sick father, who is not improving very fast.

Pat Stover purchased a horse from Wm. Bressler; it will make him a match team.

Bill Bown had a large sale and things brought good prices.

Bill Harter is firing his cook stove; he says hogs are too dear to buy.

H. G. Miller is hauling and shipping flour.

Wm. Bressler says he is going to take a rest. The high water swept the bridge away; he cannot get across with his team.

Merly is going to school every day.

Pine Creek had quite a flood last week, it tore away the bridge at H. G. Miller's residence and has not yet been replaced.

W. H. Harter is running the ferry across the Pine Creek dam; he says it is an easy work but no pay.

Jacob Raymond is moving to the home of Fred Stover.

Wm. Bressler made a business trip to Aaronsburg on Monday.

M. A. Miller enjoyed himself with his friends at Millheim last Sunday.

Quite a number of fish had been caught along Pine Creek during the flood.

We are sorry to state that Samuel Everett, a well known citizen of Penn twp., died at his home near Coburn on Tuesday morning.

—$3 Value in our $2.50 Bilt Well shoe for men. Yeager & Davis.

Linden Hall.

Samuel Bloyer, of Boalsburg, spent a short time with his brother France, of this place.

Wm. Parker left the tenant house on the Potter estate last week and moved with his family to Lemont.

James Kimpfort, who has been sick for some time, is again able to be about.

On Sunday, Rev. Shultz, the U. Evangelical minister, preached his farewell sermon here. He has many warm friends who wish for his return.

Charlie Ishler, of Tusseyville, spent a few days at the Worrall residence.

Samuel Goss and family, of Bellefonte, were entertained a few days at the home of Hale Ross and family.

Bessie Sharp, a bright young lady of Bellefonte, spent a few days as the guest of her friend, Annie Cole, of this place.

John Weaver, of Centre Hall, was notified on our streets, on Saturday.

Henry Wolf, of Wolfs Store, spent a few days visiting among his friends and relatives through this section.

The stork flew over our town recently leaving two young ladies behind. One at the home of Frank McClintic and the other at the home of John McPherson.

Will Felding is located at Brookly, N. Y.

Last Monday evening Clair Stamm, left single blessedness and took unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Bessie Horner, of Colver, her uncle Andy Horner, officiating.

Despite the extremely inclement weather, the social on Thursday evening was not altogether a failure. About sixty some persons were present and seemed to enjoy themselves greatly.

The flood struck us on Thursday night and raged till Friday evening, leaving considerable damage in its path. Nearly all the cellars were full and several houses were surrounded by water. The water was higher than ever before. The school was closed for the day and the majority of the people remained indoors until it subsided.

The town was without mail from Thursday till Saturday afternoon and some of the county papers did not reach here until Monday. The damage is over five hundred dollars.

Houserville.

Wm. Scholl and wife, of Centre Hall, spent a few days at this place.

Mrs. Caroline Wagner accompanied her son Jonas on his bi-monthly trip to Pleasant Gap, last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Neff, of Hecla, spent Sunday at the home of her brother Charles Brown.

Samuel Hazel and John Wirtz transacted business in Bellefonte last week.

The personal property of the late Mrs. Sarah Herkheimer will be sold at public sale March 8th.

Irvin Wirtz, our efficient mail carrier, was unable to make his daily trip last Friday on account of the sudden rise of Spring creek, which was a foot higher than the highest water mark known by the oldest citizens.

Services in the U. B. church on Sunday eve were postponed on account of high water.

Wm. Hoy and daughter Mrs. Bohn, passed through our village last Saturday.

Water was so high last Thursday and Friday that it took some of the bridges away and some families were unable to get out for a few days.

G. S. Keller expects to start work in the wool factory as soon as the weather permits.

Miss Bertha Schaeffer transacted business at this place as knitter in the woolen factory.

Some of our farmers think of beginning their spring work.

John Stover expects to work in the wool factory this summer.

Colyer.

If you want your roads shoveled, call on B. and L., they are experts.

Misses Sallie Wright and Bessie Cooney and sister Mary were pleasant callers to their chum friend, Lydia Ishler.

The rain which fell on Thursday and Friday nights caused quite a flood; especially John and Williams foot logs very near took a short trip; next time chain them tighter.

Hurrah for another wedding in Colyer. Miss May Cooney is on the sick list; her friends wish for a speedy recovery.

Bruce Ishler, a young son of J. W. Ishler, attended the moving of John Royer.

Mrs. Charles Neff visited her parents on Saturday last.

A valuable heifer belonging to William Ishler died one day last week.

William Confer is all smiles and says the cook intends to stay.

Stuart Jordan says another hiring came to his place, he intends to keep him—a young son.

Colyer's Mills band is practicing some fine music for the coming festivals.

If any one needs any wood sawed call on our expert.

Runville.

A great deal of damage done in our little village by high waters.

Miss Maggie Lucas is visiting her sister at Wallacetown.

We would just say to the Yarnell scribe, be aware of the Runville new-bag. It travels in a sheep skin over-coat.

Rev. Kelley stopped in our town a few days; he will soon leave for his work in Middleburg.

Miss Ella Lucas is home from Pittsburg spending her vacation with her parents.

The superintendent of our Sabbath school, who held his office for 15 years, thought his usefulness had run out and refused to serve again, but was re-elected against his will, and to show appreciation of his work one individual set to work among the people of this community and presented him with a watch which he values at $100. Would that every one in our community would have such a good, faithful servant. Any one who would like to know who helped purchase this watch can learn at F. P. Blair's.

Wm. Walker visited friends in Lock Haven.

BELLEFONTE WAS FLOODED.

breaking down fences and porches and outhouses causing much damage. Some of the buildings down there had from one to three feet of water in them and enough ice in the yards to make ice cream until next July.

R. B. Taylor, the ice man, recently purchased the Garbrick ice house at Coleville, filled with ice, and the business. The flood on Friday destroyed part of the building and contents and ripped out the front of the ice dam. That was considerable loss for him.

The damage at Linn & McCoy's iron works, near Milesburg, was about as heavy as at any point along Spring creek. The flood poured right through the rolling mill department doing much damage to buildings and machinery.

The Daily News made its appearance on Monday at the usual time, that being the first since the flood.

The bridge across the race at the P. R. K. station was weakened by the flood and sank several inches, making it unsafe.

The County Commissioners, on Monday, reported that the county had lost but one bridge as far as they had heard. That was the large iron structure across Sinking creek, at Spring Mills, leading over to the railroad station.

A great many bridges over the county were carried away, but in every case, except the one at Spring Mills, they were the property of the townships and not of the county. Some of them were substantial iron structures and will be expensive to the various districts to replace. The damage to the roads will be an enormous item if it were totaled. More damage was done last week to the roads in the county than from a whole year's wear. In some places they are still impassable.

Asbury Rhodes, an employe of the worktrain, while at work clearing away flood debris near Bellefonte was caught between a car and tank rope and badly squeezed. He was taken to his home at Tyrone. He is inwardly hurt but how severely is not yet determined.

The train from Lock Haven was stopped Friday forenoon on the other side of Snow Shoe Intersection and arrived at Tyrone on Saturday, but no train attempted to make a run from Tyrone on the Bald Eagle valley road except a special train that was run to Unionville. The ice was piled up on the road for considerable distance near Snow Shoe Intersection, and the destruction of a bridge was threatened but the latter was weighted down by cars and saved, while the ice was all cleared away soon as the water subsided early Saturday morning.

At Snow Shoe Intersection the ice from Bald Eagle creek was piled on the track and it was deeply submerged in water also, making it impossible for trains to pass.

LOWER BALD EAGLE.

The amount of damage done along the Beech creek, Marsh creek and Bald Eagle is great, considered as a whole. Fields are washed, fences gone, public roads torn out and small bridges swept away. Beech Creek and Liberty townships suffered the most in this respect. The wooden bridge across the Beech Creek at Loomis was taken out and rests against Mills Linn's house. This bridge had been condemned some time ago and must be replaced by Clinton and Centre counties. Mills Linn suffered greatly by the loss of everything but his house and barn. The building in which he had all his farming implements was demolished by the ice and swept away. The ice tore a hole in his barn and 200 bushels of corn and much oats were lost and a considerable amount of wheat damaged by water. His smoke house and contents, hog pen and several swine, wagons and sleds were swept away. Several feet of water in his house damaged the household goods.

The damage by the flood at Lock Haven was comparatively light. They had high water and in some sections of the town the first floor of buildings were inundated. The high water from the Bald Eagle was responsible for the most of that trouble. The ice passed off the river easier than was expected. At some points there were heavy gorges. Williamsport had a spell of high water but the damage was light compared with some of the former floods that have inflicted that river town. The greatest damage along the river country was in the east and southern sections of the state. Some large bridges at Harrisburg, Easton and other places were carried away, mills were submerged and great damage was done to property. Among the towns on the smaller inland streams Bellefonte seems to have had about as severe a visitation as any.

Loganton.

There are a number of families at the east end afflicted with measles.

William Schrack expects to start on a western trip to Illinois in a few days, to make the west his home.

Wm. Mover the new miller has taken charge of the grist mill.

The Lutheran Sunday school has decided to hold an Easter service on the first Sunday in April.

Prof. I. Gresh is this week continuing his course in vocal music in the United Evangelical church and will close on Saturday evening with a concert.

The high water did but little damage; the creek was not as high as it was in December.
