EDITORIAL.

THEY are after General Miles, in Washington. The General was great in his day after the Indians, and during the rebellion after the Rebs, and as a soldier and fighter his fame is brilliant, and that is causing jealousy among some of the chaps at Washington who smelled little or no powder and never hunted an Indian.

THE republicans in congress are getting a little timid about passing the infamous ship subsidy robbery this season, fearing the bad effect it will have in the election of a president. Hence they will let it lie over until after the election as the senate passed it, and then put it through the house. The people are in a fair way to block that deception by electing a congress that will put its foot on the attempted robbery of millions of the public funds in order to add that many millions to the already enormous piles of the millionaires.

THE tariff and justice to poor Cuba is what is bothering the republicans just now. The trusts are for oppression by high tariff duties on sugar that will prevent the Cubans from having a market in our own country. With the trusts is a sympathizing element in the republican party. A large number of republicans are getting their eyes open to the fact that high tariff means highway robbery, as the democrats always contended. The millionaires in the sugar business are using their thousands to debauch congressmen, and have thereby secured a large number to stand by the sugar lords. This is the situation and it has caused a serious division among the G. O. P's.

"Since the Dingley tariff has been in operation the cost of living in the United States has increased all the way from twenty per cent. to six per cent." says the Philadelphia Ledger, "and in respect to wages there has been in some of the protected industries a decrease, and in none of them has the increase been proportionate or compensatory. The operation of the Dingley act and the extraordinary advance in cost of living may be a mere coincidence, but it is an indisputable fact that some of the prohibitory provisions of the new tariff have created and fostered a large proportion of those monopolistic trusts, which, crushing out competition and being thus in restraint of trade have been able to fix arbitrary prices on the necessities as well as on the luxuries of life.

NO DANGER AT EAGLEVILLE.

The smallpox scare at Eagleville seems to have subsided by this time. Last week we published an article in regard to the matter and on Monday we received a letter from a Mr. Stover, at Blanchard, saying that the report that had been circulated in that community was greatly exaggerated. O. J. Stover and wife did come to that place from Falls Creek, Pa., where there was some suspicion as to a case of smallpox, but up to this time there were no traces developed of the disease and they therefore were not exposed to the contagion as was alleged. At Eagleville the school authorities were vigilant in regard to the matter and required some children to remain at home until they were satisfied that there was no danger. In regard to this matter and the article published we received a very "sassy" letter from Blanchard that was entirely uncalculated for and the comment therein was not justified or becoming the writer. While there may have been no one exposed to this contagious and loathsome disease, we certainly approve the course of the school authorities in taking all possible precaution in time, when there is any occasion for alarm or uncertainty prevails. We also think that a community is entirely right in steering clear and quarantining anybody and everybody when any such a disease is in the least suspected of coming into the community. That is only a common duty for safety of a community and a course that is approved by the State Board of Health. It is just by these extreme and precautionary measures, along with timely vaccination, that the disease was prevented in recent years from causing great devastation in communities. We have no sympathy or time to hear the railings and ill temper of persons who have been exposed to the disease and then want to have the privilege of scattering it through the community. We believe in extreme and precautionary measures in all such cases and, where there is a suspect, treating it until there is a satisfactory assurance that such a disease does not exist. People who become quarantined should submit gracefully and be decent. The fact that they have been unfortunate does not justify an abuse of the authorities or imposing on the fears of a community.

SPREAD IT BROADCAST.

What one of the leading merchants of Bloomsburg says about MOYER'S WHITE LINIMENT:

On Wednesday morning, the 23d inst., I found that one of my valuable mated bay horses had been kicked on the hock by the other one, some time during the previous night. I found him in a most deplorable condition. His hock was swollen as tight as the skin would hold. The joint was three or four times its normal size. The horse could not bear a single pound of weight on it. I applied MOYER'S WHITE LINIMENT freely to the affected part at once. By evening the swelling was reduced more than one-half. I bathed it again and on Thursday morning the swelling had entirely disappeared. He could now stand firmly on the injured leg. I used it again and by Thursday night no sign of lameness could be seen.

This Friday morning he is working in the team as well as ever. The value of such a liniment on the farm and in the stable is incalculable. I think the knowledge of its merits should be spread broadcast as rapidly and as thoroughly as printer's ink can make it known.

F. P. PURSELL. Moyer's White Camphor Liniment, put up in $1.00 sized bottles, for 25 cents. For sale by all dealers.

GENERAL Miles' case is like that of Schley—the people stand by the hero Miles, as they do by the gallant Schley. Both these distinguished men have the ill will of the home guardsmen about Washington, who are actuated by motives of jealousy the most sordid. The country never produced more noble and gallant leaders in any of its wars than Miles and Schley.

"WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER"

The Great Historical Novel to be a North American Serial.

The most remarkable historical novel in recent years, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," is to appear in the Sunday North American in the form of a serial story. The opening chapters will be out on April 5.

Never before has any newspaper secured for publication in its columns a novel so recent and yet so successful as this one. Julia Marlowe, now appearing as the Princess Mary Tudor, in a play written from the book, is scoring the greatest hit in her brilliant career upon the stage.

In writing "When Knighthood Was in Flower," Mr. Charles Major fixed upon the most romantic spot in the most romantic period of English history, the time of Henry VIII, as a setting for his book. The story thrills with the tender, pure love of a King's sister for an untitled but heroic young Englishman. The hero loves the heroine in spite of his fight against his passion. Their pitiful struggles to avoid one another, their noble sacrifices the one for the other, touch the most hidden string of human sympathy.

Brandon and Mary, knowing consent to their marriage could never be obtained from her brother, the King, eloped, with the intent of evading to America. Although she is attired in men's clothes, the Princess' sex is discovered, and Brandon, holding an entire ship's party at bay, defends her from the sailors' attack until their captain rushes to his aid. The elopers are captured by the King's soldiers, and to save Brandon from being beheaded Mary marries King Louis of France.

Queen Mary's rescue by Brandon from a palace in which after Louis' death she has been imprisoned by his successor, who loves her, but has been rejected, is among the most thrilling incidents in the narrative. This culminates in their marriage. There is a secondary, but none the less charming, love story running through the book.

"The Fast Mail."

Lincoln J. Carter has won fame and fortune by the above production which is one of the most realistic railroad effects ever produced on the stage. In the play there are some thrilling scenes interspersed with comedy and fine specialties. Will be at the opera house on Tuesday, the 8th.

The Tongue and the Home.

The habit of "answering back" is as reprehensible in grown people as in children and should be suppressed by every person anxious to lead a peaceable and harmonious life. The "scrappy" household, in which each member strives for the last word in the argument, is most anxious to maintain an independent course of action, is afraid lest he shall be imposed upon, is not a happy household, nor can it ever become such a one. It is an odious place to visit, and the separate individuals that compose it can always have a pleasanter atmosphere and time somewhere else, yet it is but seldom that any one will give up the habit or as a whole reform and institute a new order of things.

There is but one way to produce a lasting result, and that is to "withhold your tongue" on each and every occasion when bitter or sharp words arise to the surface. The old adage, "It takes two to make a quarrel," is invariably true, and while silence is an aggravating response to an irritating remark its effect is inevitable. The temptation to repudiate an unjust accusation is strong, but if it is unjust it will be regretted more than if a quarrel resulted in which both parties lost their temper.

She who will inwardly determine to "withhold her tongue" from ill natured remarks, from unkind suggestion, from bitter retort, from nagging, will begin a revolution in her own home. Do not wait for some one else to start the movement; have the joy in your own soul that you have planted the seeds of happiness yourself.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Well Dressed Woman.

There is an exquisite charm about a neatly dressed woman. She does not wear her hair loose, as if it is just about to fall on her shoulders. Her gloves are not ripped at the seams, nor are any buttons missing from her boots. Her veil does not reveal a hole over her chin, nor does the binding of her skirt show ragged in places. Not many women show their tidiness in these details, but the well groomed woman considers that neglect in these little things is full of shame to woman-kind. Note the well dressed, tailor made woman. Her cloth gown fits her without a crease, and there is neither speck nor spot on it. Her linen collar and cuffs are snowy white and remain properly fixed in their places. Her gloves do not wrinkle, but button smoothly over her wrists. Her shoes are dainty and polished. Her bonnet or hat is pinned on straight, and her hair is neatness itself. She is the picture of delicate finish and wholesome order. Would that we could come across her somewhere oftener.

Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of the grip and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This fact has been fully proven in many thousands of cases. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

WE ARE GOING TO GIVE AWAY A $300 PIANO A PIANO SCARF and STOOL Which we have just purchased from M. C. Gephart, of Bellefonte. Upon his recommendation we have selected one of his Handsomest and Best Instruments (but the person who obtains the gift may differ with us so we've arranged that it is exchangeable for any style or make piano that Mr. Gephart sells for $300.00.) It is a Hobart M. Cable Piano. A fitting proof of the goodness of it is shown in the five years' guarantee that goes with it from both Mr. Gephart and the manufacturers. It will be on exhibition at our store until it is given away, Saturday, July 12th. On Saturday, April 5th, we will have it in our window. Some one will be playing on it all day. Come, hear the rich, mellow tones of the Hobart M. Cable Piano. This entire gift will not cost the person who obtains it one cent. Its to be GIVEN AWAY ABSOLUTELY FREE, delivered to any part of Centre county. It has been bought by a little economy on our part. We saved this amount by not sending out circular letters or samples, by using only few and scanty ads. this season. We think you, and not the newspaper men and postal authorities, are entitled to the largest part of our advertising money. We've decided upon this novel way of giving it to you. Its the only store in Central Penn'a that is giving so much of its advertising money back to its customers; but we are always trying to give you more for your dollar than anyone else. This is worthy of consideration. SIM, THE CLOTHIER, Temple Court, Allegheny street, BELLEFONTE, PENN'A.
