Notice to fishermen—Make bean poles of your rods; make plow shares of your fishing hooks; dig no more bait; don't go fishing any more. Because why? Harry Lindemuth the blacksmith has caught the largest fish that was ever taken out of Bald Eagle creek. It was a German carp and was 29 1/2 in. in length and weighed 11 1/2 pounds. A number of persons were present when he landed the prize. "Lindy" exclaimed, "Great Scott a baby whale, sure as I'm born." Geo. Shipley thought it must be a shark, Harold Fisher was so excited that he jumped into the creek with Sunday suit on and came near getting a spanking for it. Paul Shipley wanted somebody to go for a wheel barrow. But they got it home some way. This happened on Saturday night and the boys talked of nothing else the next day.

WEDDING BELLS.—A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, on Main street, on last Tuesday the 20th, when their accomplished daughter, Miss Clara and Geo. W. Bullock, of Julian, were declared man and wife. Promptly at 11 o'clock the interested parties filed into the parlor which was profusely decorated with ferns and palms, to the soft music of the wedding march, rendered by Mrs. Sarah C. Brown; Miss Nellie Geary, of Harrisburg, cousin of the bride acted as bridesmaid and J. W. Bailey, also of Harrisburg, was best man. The bride was handsomely gowned in white Paris Mouseline and carried a bouquet consisting entirely of lilies of the valley. Immediately after the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Mr. Bardens of the 1st Baptist church of Clearfield, all repaired to the dining room where they found the tables beautifully decorated and loaded down with everything procurable, to tickle the palates of the most fastidious. There were about forty guests present. The happy couple left on the 1:28 p. m. train for Buffalo and Niagara Falls, taking with them the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends. The presents were numerous and many of them very valuable. May their journey through life be a happy one.

AT ODD FELLOW'S CONVENTION.

Say, Charley, since my last effusion, I traveled; not on my cheek, like the drummer, but on my muscle and rail road ticket. I visited the grand old historic city of Erie and, with your approval, I will briefly tell about it and hope your readers will beg my pardon if I mix a little humor with facts, being of a facetious nature I can't help it. I was sent to represent our lodge, No. 539 I. O. O. F., at the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Penna., which convened in the aforesaid city on the 19th ultimo. I went by way of Julian and Philipsburg. At the latter place I met a number of her prominent citizens, they were dentist P. K. White, carpenter A. Lukens, banker Bob Scott, electrician A. E. Davis, wholesaler Orin Vall, checker-player J. B. Long, candidate Rowe and many others. J. B. Long has planted ten acres in Walnut trees. He said the street car company wanted walnut lumber with which to build their trolley cars. "But John," I remarked, "it will take those trees many years to grow large enough for saw logs." "Oh, yes," he said, "it will be many years before the street cars will be running here but we'll have them on the move before the Curtin monument will be built in Bellefonte, there now."

I left DuBois Monday 8:20 a. m., for Erie; went via Johnsbury, Kane, Ridgeway and Warren, arrived in the "city by the lake," at 4:45 p. m. I found the city dressed in gala attire. Flags and bunting floating in the breeze from every dwelling and business place. Store and shop windows were decorated with colored tissue paper and evergreen sprigs, in many of which the emblematic three links and the motto, "Welcome Odd Fellows" were prominently portrayed. After searching for two hours for a lodging place I was arrested by a resident O. F. whose name I think was Benson, who took me before the alderman of the city, C. Swalley, Esq.; after confessing my crime he sentenced me to make my home with him during my stay in the city. The alderman and his good wife did everything in their power to make it pleasant for me. At the close of our session I paid my fine which was comparatively light and left with many regrets at leaving so pleasant a home.

On Monday evening 400 Past Grands took the Grand lodge degree. Tuesday at 9:30 a. m., the first session of the 79th annual session of the Grand lodge was called to order by R. T. Walker, of the city, who also delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the city, followed by Judge Walling and Mayor Wm. Hardwick. The address of his Honor Judge Walling was exceptionally fine. Before he closed he said "Odd Fellows, we welcome you here. The town is yours. Go where you please and when you please, do what you like, take what you wish (we all took lemonade except a few. One fellow took lemonade with a piece of wood in it, and one other fellow had a fly in his.) "All we ask is that you leave the foundations of the buildings stand when you leave the city." I never felt so rich in my life. Tuesday 2 p. m. a steam boat excursion on the lake was arranged for visiting O. F.'s, by the resident lodges. It was estimated that 2000 Odd Fellows and Rebecca's took advantage of this free pleasure trip all of whom enjoyed the ride to the fullest extent. Music and dancing were indulged in. On our return we cast anchor near an island where an exhibition of a life-saving crew was given by a number of jolly tars, showing how they "throw out the life line" and rescue passengers from a sinking ship.

In the evening a theatrical company of New York played to a full house of Odd Fellows and Rebecca's—none others admitted. On Wednesday we held two business sessions. At 11:30 a. m. the Grand Master declared a recess till 3 o'clock p. m., at this juncture it was announced that the children from the Odd Fellows home at Meadville would be presented to the Grand Lodge. This was the most imposing and impressive scene I witnessed during my stay here. Sixty sweet faced little tots ranging in age from 3 years to 17 years filed in on the stage two and two to the music of the piano, formed themselves into a double arch and sang a number of exercises songs all of which were loudly applauded. They were uniformly dressed in white, the girls wearing white tamoshanter and the boys wore white caps, each wore a badge with a red ribbon pendant. The sight was a grand one. At 2 o'clock they were all placed in a float and took part in the parade. I interviewed two of the largest young ladies who told me that they have been at the Orphans, home seven years, that they had but one year more to stay, that they were well treated, well cared for and educated and expressed deep regret at the thoughts of having to leave so pleasant and happy a home.

And as I gazed upon the faces of those happy young people and thought of the great good that is being accomplished in caring for, training and educating the orphan children of deceased Odd Fellows until they become 18 years of age, my heart was touched, and involuntarily exclaimed "Who wouldn't be an Odd Fellow?" Truly "the greatest of these is Charity." At the close of their exercises a voluntary collection for their benefit was taken at the door and $27 realized. The parade was a grand success and must have been two miles in length, escorted by four or five brass bands. Thursday a. m. session it was decided to hold the next Annual Session of the Grand Lodge at Lebanon. The following representatives from Centre county were present: Robt. Smith, Centre Hall Lodge; Wm. Raymond, Boalsburg Lodge; D. F. Smith, Lemont; Jas. M. Williams, State College; W. M. Cronister, Fort Matilda; J. C. Meyer, Esq. Bellefonte; Stine Walker, Pine Grove Mills; I. G. Burket, Half Moon Lodge and the writer of Unionville. Some unprincipled biped borrowed Ex-sheriff Cronister's overcoat and—has it yet.

To tell all about the places of interest in this beautiful city would require columns of space. I will therefore conclude this brief sketch with a few items of statistics taken from the report of the Grand Secretary, which I believe will prove interesting, especially to Odd Fellows: The number of Odd Fellows at present in good standing is 112,947. 8942 members were admitted during the year. 1654 died, 35 were expelled and 5247 were suspended. There are 1130 lodges, nearly all of which were represented at the Grand Lodge. 17648 brothers drew benefits on account of sickness or accidents, $435,743.70 was paid for the education of orphans. Receipts from subordinate lodges amounting to nearly $1,200,000. The relief amounted to $1,805,226 per day during the entire year. What other Fraternal order can exhibit such a grand showing of dollars expended for the benefit and relief of suffering humanity?

Steam Power on the Farm.

The Howard Hustler states that steam is being used as the motive power for plowing instead of horses in some parts of Centre county. "Mr. Henry Kessinger and two sons of Eagleville station, were busy on Wednesday plowing with their new horse. They had a traction engine hitched to two plows and one did the firing and kept the machine in motion while the other two held the plow handles. You would be surprised to see how nice it worked. It was in heavy sod and turned it over in good shape. This is a good way to plow when horses are scarce but it makes those who work it sweat."
