Spring Mills.

The Penn Hall band made a visit to our village on Saturday evening last and discoursed some very excellent music. This band is very handsomely uniformed, the members are gentlemen of character and intelligence and under the able conductorship of Mr. Meyer have obtained proficiency in music not surpassed by any band in the county. They first visit-ed the "hill" and delighted the folks of that locality with a "concord of sweet sounds" not often equalled. Then they serenaded merchant O. T. Corman by playing several lively and very choice pieces of music. After which Mr. Corman with his usual hospitality invited the company into his parlors and regaled them with his celebrated ice cream and cake. The band finally visited the postoffice and there where "merchants most do congregate" again delighted the assemblage with some of their charming pieces of music. Of course at each place they were applauded to the very echo. Penn Hall may well be proud of their band.

The Spring Mills cemetery has been put in a beautiful condition for Memorial Day. All the weeds have been removed and quite a number of tomb stones which had been frosted out of place were reset and the graves sodded. Charles Miller has just erected a very handsome monument over the grave of Mrs. Miller, who died in January last. H. B. Miller has also placed tomb stones at the head and foot of the sod under which lies sleeping his little daughter Erma, an infant whose age had scarcely reached a single summer. Very massive granite head and foot stones have also been placed at the grave of David Ruhl. The cemetery now presents a very beautiful appear-

One of the great needs of this town is a church, as the only place for Sunday school and meeting is the Oak Grove Miss Alma Pletcher and school house, which is too small to accommodate the people; we have a large Sunday school made up mostly of people that have moved in here this spring; we are mostly all strangers to one and other, but we all try to make a success of it. The denomination that erects the first church will get the lead; three congregations bought lots: the Christian church, M. E. church and Baptist church.

What has become of the Romola cor-respondent? We think the same as the people did in Unionville some time ago. The round house and coal shutes will be complete this week.

What one of the leading merchants of Bloomsburg says about MOYER'S WHITE

On Wednesday morning, the 23d inst , found that one of my valuable mated bay horses had been kicked on the hock by the other one, some time during the previous night. I found him in a most deplorable condition. His hock was swollen as tight as the skin would hold. The joint was three or four times its al size. The horse could not bear a single pound of weight on it.

I applied Mover's WHITE LINIMENT freely to the affected part at once. By evening the swelling was reduced more than one-half. I bathed it again and on Thursday morning the swelling had entirely disappeared. He could now stand firmly on the injured leg. I used it again and her Thursday morning the swelling had be the same of leave of le and by Thursday night no sign of lameness could be seen.
