Colyer.

No doubt everybody celebrated the 4th at G. R. Meiss's on Friday evening, as an immense crowd was present to witness the grand display of fireworks along with the balloon ascension; the festival proved a grand success, how else could it be when Colyer Mills band was present to render the most select music and G. R. Meiss, was proprietor.

John Moyer, on Saturday, fell from a load of hay, and was seriously hurt. Dr. Alexander, from Potters Mills, was summoned and is doing his utmost for the speedy recovery of our aged and honorable friend.

One evening last week, Mrs. Reuben Colyer was astonished to find one of her bedroom doors up stairs locked; she tried to enter but in vain, then she concluded that a tramp had entered the house during her absence and secreted himself in the room; she at once hastened to secure help, and met our able-bodied squire to whom she revealed her distress, and he at once offered assistance. The squire by use of a ladder entered the window, Mrs. Colyer took a lamp and went to the door and met the squire; as he opened it, they searched the room; instead of finding a robber, it was only a rubber, rubber, rubber.

Wm. C. Farmer's adventure came out victorious; last Thursday morning, after the heavy shower, he concluded to call on his friend the Squire; coming down the road he found he could not cross by J. H. Ishler's water being too high on both sides of the bridge; crossing the road, impossible to wade at any rate, thus he had to cross the wire fence and came up along the creek. It takes a wise man to get through a wire fence, and you may think Mr. Farmer is not a little man to get through a wire fence, but he got there just the same; then he came up along the creek through the meadow grass, what he called a "cow patch," but when he came to the foot log he found the water there too wild and deep, but with presence of mind, a wise plan struck Mr. Farmer, and away went the Squire's bar-rails which answered the purpose for a bridge across to the footlog, then he was safe; Mr. Farmer went on his way rejoicing and reaching his destination in safety dined with his friend and family that day, waiting until in the afternoon when the water had fallen and he could replace the bar-rails. You see "where there's a will, there's always a way."

On Saturday evening, on his way home from lodge at Boalsburg, George Jordan with his fractious and high spirited horse, had quite an accident; a trace broke, and that started the horse to kicking which he kept up until the buggy was entirely smashed up, and George had to come home on horse-back. Miss Moyer, who was with him came home with Greely Jordan.

Howard Lingie is proud over the horse he recently bought; it's a dandy.

It is rumored that Colyer Mills band will furnish the music for the Egg Hill festival on Saturday evening.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SHORT TALKS

Brief Comment On Political and Other Matters of Public Interest.

(ANDREW J. PALM.)

Four years ago Quay expressed himself as anxious to know how it would feel to own a governor. Since his curiosity was gratified there is no reason why his right bower, the Hon. W. H. Andrews, should not have a similar ambition, and he is, no doubt, behind the boomlet of his brother, Wesley Reuben, whose friends insist is likely to surprise the Republican state convention. It isn't at all likely that Mr. Andrews, Mr. Quay or anybody else will own the next governor of Pennsylvania, for he is certain to be a man who will acknowledge no master but the sovereign people, whose wishes he will respect and whose interests he will serve. He will not have his open hand ready at all times to take corruption funds from $250,000 down, to sign ripper bills and franchise steals. He will have no political machine to build up at the expense of the state. He will not belong to the Durham, Stone, Elkin, Quay crowd, nor will he have been graduated in their infamous political school. He will be nominated by the next Democratic state convention, and be elected by all good citizens, irrespective of party, who are ashamed, disgusted, indignant at the high handed corruption that has disgraced the government of the state for many years past.

The fact that Mr. Terrence Powderly will be retired from the important office of commissioner of immigration, President Roosevelt, and that Frank Sargent will be appointed to succeed him, appears to be received with much satisfaction by the element. Powderly, notwithstanding his prominence in labor organizations some years ago, by his influential position in the Knights of Labor, of late has been regarded as the enemy rather than the friend of organized labor. In politics he was formerly a Democrat, but for consideration in the way of office he became an active worker for the Republican party. His administration of the immigration bureau has been much criticised, and some of his recommendations have had a good deal of the spirit of old-time nativism. Mr. Sargent, on the other hand, is an accepted representative of the labor organizations and stands high in their ranks. His selection to take Powderly's place indicates pretty clearly that the president has his eyes fixed on the labor vote, and is casting anchors to the windward. Mr. Sargent is of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and was a Republican stump, we believe, in the canvass of 1900. One of the best ways to office in this country is for the professional labor agitator or reformer to become prominent in political or partisan work.—Pittsburg Post.

WRINKLE DON'TS.

Don't frown, don't scowl. Don't sit facing a strong light. Don't stoop or bend over while writing or reading. Don't worry, but if worry you must keep the forehead smooth—don't wrinkle it. Don't wear tight shoes. They make a young face look old, drawn and wrinkled in a few hours. Don't neglect the ten minutes' rest during the day, with the feet raised. It gives the whole body a great sense of repose and works wonders in smoothing out the lines of the face.
