The convention was then organized with the following officers: Chairman—John Gowland, Philipsburg; Secretaries—Clyde Smith, Milesburg; W. Laird Holmes, State College. Reading Clerk—Geo. W. Reese, Bellefonte.

Committee on Resolutions—John M. Dale, Bellefonte; D. G. Stewart, Burnside; W. S. Miller, Miles; H. P. Chaney, Worth; George Keller, College. Ell Townsend, of Philipsburg, then made his debut, (and seized every opportunity during the remainder of the proceedings to be seen and heard) offered the order of business which was adopted.

The following nominations were made by acclamation; there being no contest before the convention, except for register: Sheriff—Henry Lowry, of Bellefonte. Treasurer—Philip D. Foster, of State College.

County Commissioners—Abraham V. Miller, of Spring; and John O. Bailey, Ferguson.

Recorder—H. H. Hewitt, of Philipsburg.

For Register there were three nominations, and one ballot, as follows: Earl C. Tuten, Bellefonte..... 60 C. B. Hess, Ferguson..... 40 H. C. Woodring, Worth..... 19

Mr. Tuten received the majority on first ballot and was declared the nominee.

Assembly—J. N. Schoonover, Philipsburg; J. B. Strohm, Potter.

Coroner—Dr. S. M. Huff, Milesburg. County Chairman—Col. W. F. Reeder, of Bellefonte, was re-elected.

By resolution Dr. J. M. Locke, of Bellefonte, was endorsed for Congress; and Hon. A. E. Patton, of Clearfield, for State Senate. Each candidate was empowered to select his own conferees to the district conferences.

W. T. Miller, of Miles, read a resolution to provide substitutions on the ticket, should any vacancy occur from any cause whatever. He followed this by reading the Report of the Committee on Resolutions which was adopted as follows:

Resolved, By the Republicans of Centre county, in convention assembled:

FIRST. That we congratulate the people of the Union upon the state of prosperity that pervades the whole land, stimulating every industry to the highest degree of activity, creating an unprecedented demand for labor and opening up every avenue to those desiring profitable employment. This condition, brought about by the wise and patriotic policy of the Republican party during the past five years, has rapidly and permanently advanced this nation to a more commanding position in the commerce of the world and affords a complete answer to the theories and predictions of those who opposed the Republican policy in 1896 and again in 1900, and affords a conclusive and unanswerable argument in favor of a continuance of the policy of the lamented McKinley, so ably seconded and carried on by his successor, President Roosevelt.

SECOND. That we pledge anew our fealty and allegiance to the party that has brought about such an improved condition in the business world, that by its policy has advanced so materially our every interest among the nations of the world, that has secured peace at home and honor abroad and that has for its aim and purpose the advancement and elevation of all classes of people under its protection.

THIRD. That we again promise to the entire Republican ticket, to be voted in November next, both state and local, the full, earnest and united support of every Republican of Centre county and we assure the candidates of this party that by a united effort we can and will return Centre county to the Republican column, where she so rightfully belongs.

Edmund Blanchard offered a set of rules for the regulation of the party affairs. This was referred to a committee on rules that had been appointed at a previous meeting. The committee was continued and instructed to make a final report next year.

The Chairman then announced that short speeches would be in order. Dr. Locke modestly arose amid uproarious applause and said that anticipating such an event, he had jotted down a few ideas which he read, fearing that he might not express himself properly on such occasion extemporaneously. His remarks were favorably received, being frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. Some of the other candidates also responded. Finally Tom Harter was called, who evidently remembered how he "got his foot in it" at the convention a year previous by talking too much, avoided the issue by telling an anecdote of an old blind horse he knew that, when the dinner bell rang, would stop, turn around in the furrow and start for home. It being just past 12 noon, and remembering the experiences of past republican conventions, all approved that idea and convention adjourned.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The above is a brief report of the proceedings giving the events of importance. The convention, to an ordinary, unsuspecting individual, would have appeared as one of remarkable unanimity with harmony of the purest type. Everything moved along without jolt or jar, from start to finish. There was a fair attendance, but no remarkable display of enthusiasm. There was no semblance of dissatisfaction—no attempt of a contest on any point. Everything was done by unanimous acclamation except the ballot for register.

The Chairman, John Gowland, for years has been the Hastings leader in Philipsburg. His selection was notice that there should and would be no monkeying with the programme, and there was not.

It was just a year ago that the famous Bellefonte reformers organized the local Union Party with the big banner strung across High street. Hard P. Harris, in the political service of Hastings, was secretary of the Union Party. On Tuesday he was a delegate to the Quay-Hastings convention, occupying a chair in the front row which he seldom filled, as he was on his feet most of the time, doing valiant service, seconding motions. Hard you know is aspiring to be appointed Deputy Revenue Collector to succeed Dr. Harter, and was trying to outshine Wash Reese the reading clerk, who is after the same thing. For a prodigal, he was "a cuttin' er" loose rather strong.

When Eli spoke of Republican harmony being "heart to heart, bosom to bosom, mind to mind in unison" do you think he was making any direct local personal allusions to his candidate? Probably.

The attendance of postmasters was noticeable. All speak kindly of Col. Reeder.

Flashlights Upon the Republican County Convention.

WHO MADE NOMINATIONS

Why Some Good Men Fell Under the Axe—Harmony Illustrated—Facts Republican Papers Will Strenuously Avoid.

Our republican papers will report Tuesday's convention in glowing terms. In many instances they will avoid salient points and the most interesting incidents. For that reason many republicans will look to the CENTRE DEMOCRAT to find out just what was doing, which will be avoided by their papers. Therefore we deem it a duty to give the following political side lights:

COLONEL REEDER'S VICTORY.

County Chairman W. F. Reeder, now the dispenser of federal patronage, and the leader for the Hastings element, completely controlled the party organization and the convention, the other factions graciously submitted, deeming a contest unwise and unprofitable at this time. Mr. Reeder's name had been printed on most all the ballots as a candidate for re-election, and was the only announced candidate for the office. In Bellefonte and especially in his home the North Ward where Love, Chambers, Gray, Dale and others reside, this faction showed their resentment to Mr. Reeder by a secret concerted action. Out of 173 votes polled only 65 were voted for Reeder for Chairman. In other sections the same thing was done. Mr. Reeder announced that he had some sixty instructed delegates over the county, but the opposition claimed that he had not thirty and on Monday were figuring on springing a new man, but finally this was given up.

The purpose of this was to show to the public that Mr. Reeder was not in favor with his party as well as to resent the idea of delegating to him all patronage. The move failed, and Reeder still is the big dog in the manger.

THE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT.

Clement Dale, Esq., did not allow his name to go before the convention as it was useless and would have added to his humiliation. Dr. Locke had about 56 instructions and Dale about 30. Locke swept Bellefonte like a cyclone by a vote of three to one, and other sections of the county as well. This was a great surprise as he is comparatively a new man in Bellefonte and absolutely a stranger to the country voters. Never was recognized as a party worker of any consequence and had little or no claim for preferment. On the other hand the Dale family were settlers of the county in the early century, and at this time are largely represented; they are known as a thrifty, industrious, honest, law-abiding people—good citizens in every respect, and all of them have been voting for republican candidates these many years. Clement Dale has been an active republican all his life and there is scarcely a school house in Centre county where his voice has not been heard for the last thirty years upholding republican men and measures. Not a detrimental word can be said of his character, and as a lawyer he is known as one of the foremost at this bar. These are the cold facts; they can not be disputed, nor avoided. This is plain truth and the community will admit it.

Why then was Dale thrown down? Simply for the reason that the Bellefonte leaders sent word last week, from headquarters, to henchmen all along the line: "Support Locke for Congress." The organization was dead against Dale. Why? They feared that Dale might get the nomination, which others are hoping to secure in the future; or to prevent Dale from gaining any advantage in the district by assisting in naming some other man. The organization was against him; they did it, not Dr. Locke. How was it done? Well, if stories are half true, boodie and booze were lavishly used. To such methods Mr. Dale will not resort for any office.

These are not fairy tales of our invention. Mr. Dale says that the prevalence of boodie and booze in his ward against him was so open and shamelessly used that he left the polls in disgust. At Eagleville, Springtownship, and numerous other primaries the same thing happened. Clem. Dale was licked, but his honor and integrity did not suffer nor has his character been besmirched. He conducted a decent, manly campaign and has won the respect of good citizens, even if he lost votes.

WM. ALLISON DROPPED.

J. L. Schoonover was the only nominee who had been announced for Assembly. The nomination of James B. Strohm, therefore, was somewhat of a surprise. The Hastings people were for the renomination of Mr. Allison, of Gregg, and although he had not announced, instructions were voted for him in numerous places. This made the Love-Gray-Chambers faction hot. They swore that it was not fair to renominate Allison and slight their famous boodie, John K. Thompson, and threatened vengeance. Allison had few instructions and there was some uncertainty as to forcing him through. The Hastings element had won almost every other point thus far and they felt it a matter of diplomacy to drop Allison, since they now endorse Quayism, rather than have a defeat, and agreed to a compromise. John Knisely, manager of the Bellefonte Glass works, was tendered the nomination on Monday and he asked until the morning to consider. At once Knisely's friends sent several men out that night over the county in private conveyances to round up delegates, and he had decided to accept. Imagine his surprise Tuesday morning when informed that he was off. A gentleman from Potter—who never held an office (?) never sought an office (?)—came to town with a political lightning arrester over his dome, James B. Strohm, and got what he wanted, a nomination, the endorsement of the organization for Assembly, and Knisely as well as Allison dropped by the wayside.

MCKINLEY LAID OUT.

It seems that McKinley are only a thing of the past. Ed McKinley just about a year ago did a clever act when he licked Phil D. Foster, of State College, for nomination of Prothonotary, it also was a starter for Hastings and his organization as they never took McKinley into serious consideration. During that campaign the Gazette printed a picture of Edward's humble domicile at Milesburg and narrated in detail the extent of his numerous progeny; Harter shed crocodile tears as large as horse-chestnuts for poor Ed McKinley and his large family. The tale of woe was heartrending—even stone walls wept in silence at the pathetic scene as pictured in the Gazette. At the same time we doubted their sincerity and knew they felt like kicking his pants for knocking out Foster. This time the organization took time by the forelock and sent out orders to support Miller and Bailey for Commissioner. There is no doubt of this, yet McKinley managed to get near 30 delegates, Bailey had 59 and Miller over 90. McKinley saw his fate and never went before the convention.

When King Edward took ill they cut off his appendix. When Poor Edward, of Milesburg, got the political lever they lopped off his head.

Now they want Poor Edward to be good. He says he will be an independent candidate and is highly indignant. He has learned to recognize the importance of consulting certain persons in local politics.

Further, Stone and his administration were silently ignored in the Resolutions. Not a word was permitted in behalf of the Stone-Elkinites, notwithstanding the eloquent plea of Eli, the oracle, of Philipsburg, who pleaded so earnestly. The only political fireworks during the convention were set off by Eli, but our friend J. S. McCargar, of the South Ward, came near making as many speeches.

Ned Chambers was conspicuous by his absence, while Billy Gray lingered around the edges by permission.

Two Men Drowned.

Two men were drowned in the river at Sunbury on Friday night, within twenty minutes of each other. George Ringman was knocked off the upper deck of a steamer by the jar from a collision with another boat. Twenty minutes later when the same steamer was going up the river, it ran down a row boat containing two young men. Harry Rodgers clung to the boat until he was rescued, but Harry Dirk, his companion, sank immediately and his body had not been recovered up to Saturday noon.

Crop Notes.

"August makes the corn," is an old saying among farmers. This year July played a march on August and made the corn boom so as to leave little for August to do.

Wheat was hauled into the barns from the field as late as last Saturday, August 2nd. This was later than any such record for many years, caused by the continued rains in July. With fair weather all grain would have been in the barns two weeks earlier. Considerable wheat on shock was sprouted, exposed as it was to alternate rains and sunshine from day to day the last two weeks in July.

Bucktails' Annual Reunion.

The sixteenth annual reunion of the Bucktail regiment will be held at DuBois on September 16, 17 and 18. Only 294 men survive of the total enlistment of 1,198, who came down the Susquehanna river on rafts at the breaking out of the rebellion. These survivors now live in twenty-one states of the Union.

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

Bright Sparkling Paragraphs—Selected and Original.

TELL HIM SO.

If you have a word of cheer That may light the pathway drear Of a brother pilgrim here, Let him know.

Show him you appreciate What he does; and do not wait Till the heavy hand of Fate Lays him low.

If your heart contains a thought That will brighter make his lot, Then, in mercy, hide it not; Tell him so.

Wait not till your friend is dead Ere your compliments are said; For the spirit that has fled, If it know,

Does not need to speed it on Our poor praise; where it has gone Love's eternal, golden dawn Is glow.

But unto our brother here That poor praise is very dear; If you've any word of cheer Tell him so.

A MISNOMER.

He came at half-past seven To pay an evening call, She feared about eleven That he'd never go at all.

His style of conversation Was innocently insane, Showing lack of cogitation, But his manner was urbane.

He smiled and kept on talking In a cheerful, babbling flow, While she spoke about the walking And wished that he would go!

In vain her hints and yawning: He stayed, and stayed and stayed; It was really almost morning Ere he left that weary maid.

She said she thought she really Would have to take a nap, And she wondered why they called him "Such an easy-going chap."

EBENEZER GRAY.

He thought he was a Christian— Did old Ebenezer Gray: He never missed church meetings And was always glad to pray.

He did not let religion Hurt his business through the week, But on a Sunday morning He was righteous like and meek.

He used to have a manner That would make a clown feel "blue;" He used to chill his neighbors, And his home was chilly, too.

But in the church on Sunday You could never find him late, And when it came to rooting In religion, he was great.

He used to skin all owners Through the week, and like the game; Yet claimed to run the business in the Master's holy name.

He never let the doctrine Used on Sunday, understand, Affect upon a week day, Any deal he has on hand.

Some people called him "brother," And great number called him names, The latter people being Those who fathomed all his aims.

He died in proper season— Crossed unto another shore— And this is what St. Peter Told the fellow at the door:

"While you were good on Sundays, Through the week, Eh, you were tough; Hence when I speak your sentence, Do not think that I am rough, Now you can spend your Sunday's Here in heaven very well, But week days, Ebenezer, We're going to give you—"
