The Hannah Furnace M. E. picnic, which came off on Saturday, August 23, was an interesting gathering, not so much for the attendance which was not a throng of disinteresed enjoyment seekers who often congregate at such places for personal enjoyment alone, but the obect for which it was convened to try to secure the means to liquidate the debt on the neat little M. E. chapel near completion at the above place. It was a Godly as well as noble undertaking of the few to plant a place of worship where | Homan at this place. the membership was so small with a pure motive in view. The picnic was conducted in accordance, and every effort to make it a success was carried out. In absence of the invited speaker Miss Rose Hoover, daughter of Alex Hoover, of Fillmore, delivered a very touching as well as instructive address. The corner stone of the Black Oak U. B. church will be laid next Sabbath, Aug. 31, at 10 a. m. There will be a picnic held in Kelley grove in Reese Hollow, Aug. 30, under the auspices of ladies aid society, of Black Oak.

High Valley.

The East end farmer took in the last oad of oats on Saturday. Daniel Eisenhuth visited this place on Saturday. Gerty Eisenbuth was in the valley a few days visiting her parents.

The High valley scribe used all honscribe, but failed; will try again and if he is in the dark and has no way to get a light, I will take my whipperwill snitz to market and buy him a large coal oil lamp, and will nail it to the nearest spruce tree with face right toward his office. I believe that will let the bull to pasture.

The chestnut crop will be a full one charm. the way it looks but Jess will not have any on account of him cutting the limbs off his tree last year.

I have not seen Jack Elmer since he read the Centre Democrat so cannot give any news from Rankletown.

Miss Florence, daughter of Geo. W Dunkle, of our village, having been on a visit to her parents for the last few weeks, left a day or two since for Elmira, N. Y .. to take a course of typewriting and stenography in Warners Business College of that city.

There seems to be no end to berries, O F. Corman continues to handle large quantities of them, and ships heavily from this station.

Major Huss, the well known boot and shoe maker of our village, has added a saddling department to his business for repairing and the redemption of old harness. The Major is very reliable, and when he states that any work will be done on Tuesday, he does not mean the following Friday a week.

John Smith & Bro. have just received a line of very beautiful quarter oak furniture, polished like a mirror and elegant, if not regal in design and style.

A day or since I strolled into the peach orchard of Henry Mark, located about a mile and a half east of Penn Hall, and soon discovered that I was surrounded by over five hundred trees fairly loaded with luscious white peaches, and there were trees containing bushels of the large vellow variety. The orchard is in a splendid condition. Not a twig nor scarcely a leaf could be discovered anywhere. Mr. Mark informed me that all the fruit were free stones, and that his crop would prove a large one, and would be marketable by September 1st. What has become of bicycle riding is it in the wane? Formerly a dozed could be seen most any pleasant afternoon, now its only one or two.

By what right do steam thrashers stop in the middle of a road bridge to fill the water tank thereby obstructing travel, why are they not obliged to stop at one side to allow travelers to pass? Blocking the highway for an hour or more, is simply a nuisance, if not worse, and should not be tolerated under any circumstances.

The weather continues unusually cool and fall like, overcoats are quite comfortable during the evening.

Roland Gentzel and family, of Altoona, formerly of this place, are here visiting relatives and friends, guests of Mrs. Gentzel's parents, Mr. and Mrs Andrew Corman. Miss Anna Corman who had been visiting her sister for several weeks returned with them.

On last Thursday Misses Orpha Butler. Virginia Confer, Frances Confer and May Walker walked across the Divide to Holts Hollow and spent the afternoon very pleasantly with Mrs. Edward Burd, after which they were invited to partake of a superior supper after which they departed for their home. While there they where told that Mr. Barret who is about or years old was in ill health. Mrs. Hezekiah Walker departed this life for a better world on 13th. She was aged 36 years, 4 months and 19 days; is survived by a husband and two children namely: Mrs. Thomas Miller and

Thomas who remains at home. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heaton visited at Charles Heaton Sunday. We would just say to the Prosserville scribe to beware of the newsbag that travels between that place and Yarnell. As I passed Prosserville recently I tried to see where the scribe of that place lived but could'nt see anything but a big black cow; after I inquired I found him pulling onions and he told me that he had onions that would'nt go in a bu. basket. This is no joke and if you think it is inquire of the I rosserville scribe and you will be sure to find him sitting under the trees smoking, and his wife fanning him so he will be able to pull onions in the cool of the evening.
