Laura Kumberger returned to the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music on last Monday, where she will continue her course in vocal culture.

Wm. Wolsiagle, who for several years has been a faithful and trusted employe on the farm of Wm. P. Fisher, dropped the plow handles and is now drawing coal oil, etc., for a grocery firm in Tyrone.

'Cooney' Brugger brought a great big red tomato into the store the other day that measured about 15 inches in circumference and weighed 22 ounces. He says it's a Pattison tomato.

Mrs. Chas. Griest, of Robertsdale, is quite ill at the home of her father-in-law, A. J. Griest.

Say, Charley, do you know Longer Wan? Well, ain't he a case? He can make more noise with his chin than two graphophones. He came up from Bellefonte the other day with a load of condensed light, looking for the man who had a claim of $2.50 damages against three or four Bellefonte ladies, for trespassing on his premises in search of elderberries, but he talked so much he forgot what he was after.

There was a fine game of base ball played between two picked nines of our town on the school grounds on last Monday. It was a closely contested game. The score stood 7 to 8 in favor of the nine that won. Johnnie Wagner caught a sky scraper—in his cap; Penny Harel knocked a ball "over the fence is out." Tid Holtzworth struck a foul and killed it. It was one of Milt Peter's Plymouththrocks. Don McEwen made a base hit—so did the ball—it hit Raymon Comley on the knicker. Joe Stere, because the umpire decided against him, kicked like a stere. Willie Buck struck the ball with a paddle and the ball struck Blair Holtzworth on the sneller; Charley Griest had a slight touch of exclamationary rheumatism and got Alfred Houston to run corners for him and got left; Roy Comley emptied the game and now he wears one eye in a sling; Mott Musser, catcher for the in's and out's, let a ball pass through his hands and he caught it with his teeth—two out; Harry Musser, pitcher for both nines, couldn't hold the ball—verdict—N.G. in the first degree. The game lasted fifty fifteen minutes and about eleven spectators witnessed the exciting game.

The farmers through here have their seed wheat thrashed and are just waiting for rain before they put it in the ground.

Mr. Honeymoon was seen traveling that grassy road quite late on Sunday morning. But then you know he had to stay and feed the stock in the morning.

Quite a number of our young folks took in the festival at Penn Hall, Saturday eve.

H. E. Shreckengast intended to put up a chicken house at Geo. Ream's last week, but on account of a sprained back was unable to continue his work.

Rock View.

Miss Irene Walters, of Houserville, spent a few days here.

Jacob Hoy and wife spent Sunday at the home of the latter's sister at Zion.

Miss Julia Watson, after a short visit here, returned to Snow Shoe.

Quite a number of our young folks attended the festival at Axe Mann. Next on program will be Granger picnic and the Centre county fair.

Misses Lucina and Poella Swartz spent Sunday at Spring Creek.

There was quite an excitement on Sunday morning as two of our young sports were getting ready to go away; three young ladies took possession of their horse and buggy and took a drive and when they came back they were met by the young men, who claimed they were the owners of the horse and buggy, but lo, and behold, the young ladies were not slow in vacating their possessions; the young men started to unbitch and before they were through hitching up again the poor blindy was on the stone fence.

GOOD, PRACTICAL LAW.

A Daniel came to judgment in New Orleans, the other day, after Pen Walker, "a prominent young man about town," had one I. C. Gilham arrested for threatening to kill him. When the case came before Judge Aucoin of the Criminal court, it developed that Gilham had a young and pretty wife who had been seen in the company of Walker enough to cause gossip.

"Why," asked the Judge, "did Gilham threaten to shoot you?"

"He told me," answered Walker, "that he would kill me if I did not leave his wife alone."

"Then leave his wife alone and keep from getting killed," said the Judge.

"Mr. Gilham is discharged."

The "prominent young man about town" really hadn't seen it in that light before, and professed to be surprised that such an easy solution of the question had not presented it to him. He said he reckoned he'd have to follow the suggestion.

There are a good many "prominent young men about town" everywhere who might easily profit by the words of this wise Judge. By making them one of the rules of life, they may avoid much future trouble, not only for themselves, but for the "young and pretty wives" who have husbands with good eyes and 44-calibre gun.

EDITOR JOHN C. MILLER, in this week's Republics, questions the authorship of our communications from Pennsvalley on legislative nominees, pronouncing them as a fake, within this office. Mr. Miller is a smart man and has the perception to know everything. In fact, as an editor he is wasting his efforts before an unappreciative public. But let's say, upon our word, that the letters published by us are genuine communications, every word.

IN ADJOINING COUNTIES.

John R. Lawyers, of Earlstown, Wednesday a week ago, was stricken with paralysis. He is much improved since.
