Leader of Salvation Army Gets Remarkable Reception in London.

WELL PLEASED WITH AMERICA

Says the Army Has Made Real Progress Here, and Spoke Touchingly of the Reception Accorded Him Throughout America.

London, March 31 .- London accorded General William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, a great welcome home at the Albert Hall last night. The immense auditorium was packed from the floor to the roof. There was not a vacant seat in the building, which has a capacity of 9600 persons, and in spite of the rainy night hundreds were turned away from the door. The organizers of the demonstration, with a keen eye to effect, decked hundreds of officers of the Salvation Army with broad scarfs, shawls and head dresses of brilliant colors, thus forming great blocks of color against the background of soberly-clad spectators. Four hundred uniformed musicians, drawn from the Salvation bands in London. were massed around the massive organ at the end of the hall.

General Booth's appearance on the platform was the signal for a remarkable demonstration. The audience rose as one man fluttering handkerchiefs and programmes, and cheering for several minutes, while the bands and the organ added a harmonious note to this thunderous welcome. The white-bearded veteran, accompanied by Mrs. Booth and the international headquarters staff, stood bowing his acknowledgments until the uproar

A spectacular feature of the meeting followed in the form of a review of the various departments of the Salvation Army. These marched in and crossed the stage, saluting the general as they passed, each department bearing a distinctive banner and wearing costumes according to the various branches of work in which the members were engaged.

In this review were included the editorial and printing house staff, the foreign converts, Hindoos, Zulus, Soudanese, Japanese, Chinese, all in their native costumes; cadets, field officers, slum workers, men, women and children from the slums, before and after their rescue; soldiers, sailors, representatives of the various trades taught in the army homes, colonists who are training for foreign settlement and many others.

General Booth's speech was fre quently interrupted by applause.

"Fellow workers," he said in part, "I can report well of the army, both in the United States and Canada. The Salvation Army has made great and real progress in America since my last visit, and I see strong promise of the creation on that continent of the most powerfu! sections of the army."

The general spoke touchingly on the reception accorded him throughout America, and the reference he made to the kindliness of his reception by President Roosevelt and the distinction shown him as the representative of the Salvation Army by the United States congress evoked repeated applause.

"I like the American," said General Booth, "and I believe he likes me. He is willing to risk something to gain his end, and does not let prejudice or tradition stand in his way." The meeting concluded with an exhibition of moving pictures of incidents in General Booth's American Result of Promise by President Roosevelt to Call Extra Session.

TIME LIMIT DISPENSED WITH

The Treaty Was Saved From Almost Certain Defeat By Message From Secretary Hay-Opposition Fear Absorption by United States.

Havana, March 30 .- The treaty of reciprocity between Cuban and the United States was approved at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Cuban senate by a vote of 12 to 9. This approval is absolute, and is not hampered by any conditions, the questionable time limit amendment having been dispensed with after the receipt of a message from Secretary Hay, in which it was positively declared that President Roosevelt would call a special session of congress prior to December 1.

The purport of this assurance was transmitted to the senate by President Palma and read at the beginning of the session, an understanding having been reached previously with Senators Bustamente, Capote and Dolz, composing the majority of the foreign relations committee, that the objectionable condition in the report be eliminated.

Final action was delayed for a long time by the discussion of an amendment offered by Senators Sanguilly, Tamayo and Recio, requiring the house to pass upon the treaty. Senator Sanguilly argued that while the constitution was not explicit upon this point, that the representtives in congress of the people ought to be consulted as well as the commercial interests, whose opinions the committee had sought eagerly. He cited the actions of the United States, and said Cuba was afraid that the treaty would be defeated if submitted to the house, Senator Dolz admitted that this was a good reason, and quoted the constitution to show that reference to the house was not required.

Senator Sanguilly, in a long and impassioned speech against the ratification of the treaty, impressively pictured the gradual absorption of Cuba by the United States, in which he said the present action was one step. He argued that it was practically disgraceful for Cuba to be a party to such a scheme. The speaker's wit and eloquence caused occasional bursts of approving applause from the spectators, and when he concluded he was greeted with a roar of applause, in which all the senators joined.

The amendment requiring the house to pass on the treaty was defeated by a vote of 5 to 15.

The vote was taken separately on each section of the substitute report. The vote on the unconditional ratification of the treaty was 12 to 9; on the recommendation to the executive it was 11 to 9.

The present session of the senate then adjourned. The ratifications will be exchanged by cable

United States Minister Squiers said "The ratification of the treaty with out amendment is due almost entirely to the assurances given by President Roosevelt that he will call an extra session of congress before December This action of the president will be appreciated and accepted by the Cuban government and people as an additional evidence of the most sincere friendship and interest on the part of a man in whom they have ever had unbounded faith and confidence."

PANIC IN A THEATRE

Actors in "McFadden's Row of Flats" Mobbed in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 31. - A panic was precipitated in the People's Theatre here last night, when the actors in the farce "McFadden's Row of Flats," were mobbed by a throng of Irish-Americans. Eighteen men were arrested and held without bail, charged with inciting to riot. The disturb ance occurred in the first act. While Arthur Whitelaw was singing "Mr. Dooley" he was greeted with a shower of eggs and some person in the audience discharged a pistol. Immediate ly there was a rush for the exits, and in the excitement a number of women and children were trampled upon. None was seriously injured, however,

The police authorities were notified. and three patrol wagons, filled with policemen, were dispatched to the scene. The disturbers were inclined to resist arrest and there was a lively encounter, but the riotous element was quickly subdued. The magistrate before whom the prisoners were arraigned refused to accept bail for them.

Roosevelt's Family Storm-Bound. Washington, March 31.-Mrs. Rooseveit and her children, who are aboard the president's yacht, Mayflower, en route to the Atlantic ocean, are stormbound at Riverside, about fifty miles down the Potomac river, where the vessel will remain until the weather clears. News to this effect was brought to Washington by a steamer which arrived here last night. The weather is quite heavy, and considerable rain is falling, so the captain of the Mayflower decided that it would be more comfortable for those aboard to remain at. Riverside than to venture at present into the wider waters of the river and Captain Sewell Resigns. ### An Inexpensive Dinner.

Get a shank bone of beef with plenty of meat on it, put over the fire in enough water to cover it, and let it simmer until tender. Take out half the broth and meat, and to the remainder add any kind of vegetables you like. When cooked, season bighly, cut the meat in small pieces, thicken a little, and serve. Simmer the meat and broth that are left until the broth just covers the meat, season highly, turn out in a bowl, and the next day slice down cold.

and eat with tomato catchup. Another way is to stew the meat like a pot roast with a little water; keep adding hot water, and let the meat brown in the kettle until tender. Season, make a brown gravy, and serve. The meat and gravy that are left will make a nice pie for the next day. I always add a little beef extract in warming over beef. It gives a good flavor.-Woman's Home Companion.

Table Spread or Rug.

Cut from heavy paper a simple design of flowers and leaves and baste it upon heavy flannel or broadcloth. Thread a darning needle with worsted yarn and, beginning at the center of each leaf or flower, put it up through the center, down on the opposite side. as close as possible to the first stitch, etc. Continue this until the pattern is closely covered twice-three times if large-then with a sharp pair of scissors cut down the center of each petal and remove the pattern. Fill in the small space left in the center by drawing yarn through and back and then clipping. A variety of carefully chosen colors gives the effect of chenille, and two may be used in one flower, the darker as a second covering.
