-Chas. the 8 month old son of D. W and Annie Gordon died Monday morning of cholera infantum at its parents home in Brick Row. Funeral Tuesday, interment in Union cemetery.

-Last week James Kellerman and family left Bellefonte for Philadelphia where they will make their future home at No. 1616 Vine street. They have lived in Bellefonte a great many years.

-Thomas Bechdel, of Winburn, Clearfield county, is in town this week mak. ing arrangements to move his family here. He has accepted the position as night watchman at the Pennsylvania Match factory.

-George L. Potter 3rd Vice President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and Joseph Rhoads Supervisor of the New York Division of Pennsylvania Railroad Company were in Bellefonte the past week to visit friends.

-The Bellefonte barbers, excepting R. A. Beck, are closing at 8 p. m. and have their new schedule of prices in force. Beck belongs to a union of his own, and is exceedingly independent since he brought the new partner home.

-Harris Sourbeck left last week for Brooklyn to resume his studies in St. Francis College. He was accompanied as far as New York city by his mother, Mrs. John Sourbeck who will visit her daughter, Mary who is employed there.

-A household necessity endorsed by the Burgess, and all leading citizens of Bellefonte, also the editor, as being an article that is indispensable in the household-a fruit jar holder and opener. Suitable men will be employed on a salary. Madison & Bain Mfg. Co. The General Ag't can be seen at the Garman hotel, with sample.

time, and as a result fines from $5 on up were imposed, with a warning not to come before the burgess again. That is business.

-The grange picnic is about winding up; next week the county fair will make its biggest blow-out, after which there will be a brief "rest for the wicked" when the President will infuse life by issuing a Thanksgiving Proclamation and the American Bulgarians will be ready to declare war against Turkey-and the Centre Democrat is ready to enlist soon as any feller brings along our "turk." -The engagement of H. S. Ray, the proprietor of the Brockerhoff House, to Miss Grace Armor, has been announced in a quiet way and congratulations are pouring in. We could say an awful lot of kind things about these young folks, and then not exhaust the subject. Rumor has it that the wedding will take place early in November. Mr. Ray certainly has taken a liking to Bellefonte and has improved his opportunities. -Col. Wilbur F. Reeder left on Monday for Beaver, Pa., where he has been summoned as a witness in the libel suit against John Wanamaker. Wilbur Harris, now of Harrisburg, is also a witness on the same case. Mr. Wanamaker is on trial before Judge J. Sharp Thomas Robinson, of Butler, former superintendent of public printing and binding. The alleged offense was committed by the former postmaster general in a speech he delivered at Williamstown, Dauphin county, Saturday, October 1. 1898, during his memorable eleventh-hour stumping tour in the Jenks-Stone gubernatorial campaign.

-Some of the Democrat's correspondents mention the fact that some farmers only finished this week getting their oats crop from the fields into the barns. This, we venture to say, beats the record-but it is solely attributable to the frequent rains when the oats should have been harvested and causing the delay. A number of years the controlling spirit in small per centage of farmers were fathe State College Times, passed through vored with an early ripening of their oat Bellefonte, on his way to Johnstown crop and gathered it into their barns all the mechanical department is under the is poisonous to animals as feed. There are some cases of typhoid fever in Haines township. Near Wolf's chapel on Monday evening, Mary, a daughter of David Musser, died of the fever, aged about 21 years. In the same vicinity a will occupy the farm of J. W. Conley, son of Fred Limbert is also quite ill of typhoid fever.

There will be a re-union of the Hazel-Sheffer families at Penn Cave, Sept. 23. It will be a basket picnic and the families and all their friends are invited. There are many relatives scattered over the county and the gathering should prove interesting.

Joe Peters the jovial landlord, of Philipsburg, left last Thursday for a trip to Wales and England. He goes by request of his children to see their grandma. We wish him a safe journey. Robt. Harr will have charge of the Eagle hotel during his visit.

The Centre Hall evaporating company will not open the evaporating plants at Centre Hall and Coburn on account of the scarcity of apples and the low price offered for the evaporated stock in New York. The apple crop in Penns Valley is much below the average.

Jerome Spigelmyer bought 150 acres of timberland from Jared Kreamer located.north of Emanuel Harter's in Miles township. Mr. Spigelmyer will put the Daniel Engle saw mill, lately purchased Wilson again, charged with slandering by him, on the tract and begin to convert the timber into lumber.

> The state bridge at Spring Mills, across Sinking Creek, was inspected during the past week and pronounced satisfactory. The structure is a more substantial one than the average, but cost about three times too much. The reason is that too many fellows get a nibble at such work.

> The Rev. Daniel Gress of the Reformed church of Centre Hall was married to Miss Emma Black of Adamsburg, Westmoreland county, on Wednesday of last week. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cullen and was the first nuptial event in that church in 87 years.
