SIMPLY BREATHE IT.

A Few Minutes, Use of Hyomel Four Times a Day Cures Catarrh.

The pleasantest, most convenient and the only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh is Hyomel. Simply put twenty drops of Hyomel in the inhaler that comes with every package and then breathe it for a few minutes four times a day.

It seems remarkable that so simple a way of treating catarrh will effect a cure, but the most important discoveries of science have always been the simplest. By breathing Hyomel in this way every particle of air that enters the air passages of the throat and head and goes into the lungs is charged with a healing balsam that kills the germs and bacilli of catarrh and soothes and allays all irritation.

The first day's use of Hyomel will show a decided improvement and in a short time there will be no further trouble from catarrh. Its action is rapid and lasting.

You take no risk in buying Hyomel. A complete outfit costs $1.00, and if after using you can say that it has not helped you Sidney Kromline will return your money. What other treatment for catarrh is sold under a guarantee like this?

HOME REMEDIES.

After severe exposure bathe the face in very warm water, after which cold cream is in order.

To cure a wart scrape a carrot finely and apply a poultice of it for seven or eight nights to the affected part.

A drop of castor oil in the eye to remove a foreign body is as useful and much more manageable than the better known flaxseed.

Salt and chopped ice in the proportions of one to one-half, tied in a cotton cloth bag and applied to the head, will often give relief in cases of nervous headache.

The pain resulting from a severe pinch or blow can be relieved by immersing the injured part alternately in hot and cold water, massaging it steadily the while.

Blistered and sore feet may be greatly relieved by rubbing each night with methylated spirit. Before putting the stockings on in the morning rub the soles of the feet with soap.

An old German remedy for hicough is to make a tea of sunflower seed, about a tablespoonful to a cup of hot water, allow to cool and sip slowly, taking about ten swallows, holding your breath the while. This seldom fails to cure the most obstinate cases.

Smile More and Frown Less.

If women only smiled more and frowned less, how much happier would the world be! If we only could persuade ourselves to believe that gladness is our rightful heritage and that happy hearts are the most acceptable to God and the most conducive of good, then we would find it easy to cultivate a sunny disposition. "Oh," you say, "it is impossible for me to be happy with such circumstances as mine!" That is the very reason why you should cultivate happiness in order that you may overcome your circumstances and not let them overcome you. It is surprising what a different aspect things will assume when one endeavors to better oneself. Selfishness and unhappiness go hand in hand, while thoughtfulness and kindly consideration for others prepare the way for joy. We are often the cause of our own unhappiness, although we may not be willing to put the blame on ourselves. Where there is the desire to be happy the means are always within reach.

Economical Salads.

A well prepared salad makes the simplest meal inviting. Here are three appetizers within the reach of even the housewife who is limited in her funds and her knowledge of fancy cookery:

From Potatoes.—Boil in their jackets and peel six large potatoes. While hot, slice (not too thin) into the following dressing, already prepared in a salad bowl: A large cup of white vinegar, a teaspoonful of olive oil, half a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper. Add a shredded onion and a quarter cupful of chopped celery. If necessary, more vinegar can be added. Garnish with parsley and quartered hard boiled eggs.

From Celery.—Boil six good sized celery roots until tender; slice hot into the dressing described above, omitting the chopped celery, of course.

From Beets.—After removing the tops, boil and peel a bunch of beets; slice them (not too thin) into a dressing made of a pint of white vinegar, a half teaspoonful each of salt and sugar, with a little pepper added.

House-keeping.

Miss Jane Addams has called housework one of the belated industries. Little has been done to systematize and beautify the routine of daily home life, at least in the kitchen. To college women this task belongs—of uplifting household drudgery into the region of applied science. Cooking can be made fascinating by the introduction of dainty tastes, efficient appliances and individual discrimination into the everyday work of preparing food for the household. The same new life can be infused into every branch of house-keeping. The furnishing and care of rooms are an art in themselves. The stuffy parlors, bedrooms and dining rooms of our grandmothers would not pass muster under the eye of a modern home maker who understands her business.—Woman's Home Companion.

A Homemade Bath Room.

A resourceful woman who lives in a town where there are no public water-works devised a satisfactory bath room after the following fashion: A small lower floor bedroom was given over for this purpose. A copperized steel tub five feet long was put in one corner. A pipe under the floor and through the foundation carried off the waste water. A board platform eight inches high and two feet square at one end of the tub held a two burner gasoline stove. A galvanized iron tank with a capacity of forty-four gallons was placed on the stove so that the faucet was directly over the tub, and a hose from the iron tank led directly to the pump at the windmill. The bath room was complete and had cost only $21—tub, $13; pipe, $2; stove, $3; tank, $3.

It Pays to Dress Well.

The dainty young woman has learned that it not only adds to her own self respect and pleases her friends for her to dress tastefully and becomingly, but that it actually pays from a financial point of view, as clothes that are well cared for will last twice as long as those that are carelessly treated. By being careful with her clothes the woman who is dainty and neat is enabled to buy many little extras to replenish her wardrobe, and she manages always to be nicely dressed, though she may have but a small dress allowance. Neglected clothing is always unattractive and repulsive, and hats and dresses cannot long be thrown around carelessly without giving strong evidence of such lack of care.

OUR HISTORICAL

REVIEW

The election took place on the 9th of October. For Assembly, William Smythe received 1067; Moses Boggs, 541 votes. The result in the State was a Democratic victory; from being a minority in the House the Democrats secured a majority of about 47, and in the Senate a majority of 3.

September 10th, the Democratic County Convention assembled, James Duncan, chairman, and Walter Longwell, secretary, Thomas Burnside was recommended for Congress, John Mitchell and Jacob Herring nominated for Assembly, John Hays for commissioner. At the election in October, John Mitchell and Martin Hoover were elected to the Assembly over Jacob Herring and Francis McEwen. John Mitchell's vote in Centre and Clearfield was 1256; Martin Hoover, 975; J. Herring, 890; F. McEwen, 355. For commissioner, John Hays had 1338 votes; no opposition.

The Marion Infantry, a Penn's valley volunteer company was organized in 1822 under Capt. Michael. The successive captains were John Miller, John Rishel, J. B. Fisher, and John S. Houtz.

THE MUSSER (MOSER) LEGACY.

The Musser (Moser) heirs are not content with a pushing aside of their claim to several million dollars worth of coal lands in Schuylkill, on the ground that Burkhardt Moser was a myth. In a recent issue the Democrat printed a note from a Sugar valley lady stating that Burkhardt Moser is not a myth and that she met him at the home of Philip Musser at Millheim, father of ex-sheriff Musser and of former County Treasurer Daniel Musser. Upon noting this lady relative of the Moser connection, Miss Kate L. Moser, of Altoona, (daughter of Rev. Daniel Moser, of Pine Grove Mills, dec'd) wrote us a note from which we copy the following:

"Rev. Daniel Moser, left only a brief record of his family, the mere statement that he was born in Berks county in 1795, and removed to Mifflin county with his parents—where they are buried, is all we know.

"Who is this Philip Moser? Why did these Centre county Mossers all corrupt their names changing them to Musser, Mosser, Mosier, and Mosher? Father and all his family stood by the old original name, and we always expect to do so.

"Certainly there are some Centre county Mossers who remember my father. All the Mossers claimed a distant relationship to us."

Philip B. Musser was an old settler in Millheim, owned a large grist mill at the east end of that town, was a justice many years, and died Nov. 20, 1874. The old records give the names of Musser as having been changed from the original, "Moser." The following names of Mossers we find in the periods named:

Philip Musser, in Potter, east of Spring Mills, 1789.

Philip Musser, in Haines, 1791.
Musser Daniel and Sebastian, in Haines, 1793.
