Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Zeigler.

A CRITICISM.

I wish to take the part of parents and pupils against a speaker at the District Institute held in Unionville recently. This young man has been attending institutes all winter and on every occasion has "begged leave to differ" with every other speaker, has criticised a great many teachers for committing thoughts to paper to use on the subjects they were expecting to discuss, and has found fault with teachers' methods that are considered the best we have in the county, unmercifully; criticised the patrons and finally, at the Unionville Institute he said "all children are liars," and pointing to that part of his anatomy that should have contained his brains he tragically exclaimed "and as for the parents, they have rooms to rent." am a patron of the public schools, also an ex-teacher, and the parent of teachers, and I am puzzled to know what he meant by the room renting business. I don't know who would want to rent rooms from out that portion of him, they might be "bug-gy" and who would want to live in a flat anyway? As for all children being liars, it is but a very short time since he was a school boy. We will suppose he belonged to that class, in fact be one yet. But all children are not liars, a very small per cent of them under the right kind of a teacher will tell untruths. It seems so strange that that young man never finds intelligent parents or truthful children. If we did not know that he is teaching in the upper end of Patton twp., among a very ligent and good people, we might think that he was teaching in the Philippines, to hear him talk. In conclusion, will say, if this boy would commit his thoughts to paper before an Institute and then bortory man, and bag up his bigotry and then read over his paper, taking out all insulting remarks, there would not be much left. row a wool sack of Mr. Keller, our fac-

On Sunday evening at 5 o'clock John M. Barker, eldest son of Dr. F. P. Barker, and Miss Anna M. Barker, only daughter of merchant G. B. Shaffer, were united in marriage by Rev. I. N. Bair at the home of the bride's parents. Only the family and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride is a leader in the circles of society and the groom is an intelligent and industrious young man and we wish them a happy journey on the road of wedded bliss

On Monday afternoon Joseph Linn and wife of Bellefonte, who were married one day last week at McElhattan, arrived to own the largest tree in this part of the here and are the guests of Mrs. Linn's state. It is a wildeherry tree measuring parents Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kerstet. on Monday evening and gave the above mentioned couples a serenading.

After living in quiet and obscurity for almost two years, famous old Georgetown was again heard from and held first place in the Democrat's interesting correspondence page. But if the scribe of that place had not, Quaylike, secured the renomination for assessor and won at the election we would not have heard from him until the last roll call at judgment day.

A. M. Harter started for Harter, W. Va, on Monday; Mrs. Harter and Miss Ada Keen left on Tuesday and will join Mr. Harter in Washington, D. C., whence they will cross the Alleghanies to their home on the West slope.

> The Georgetown scribe wants a certain man near that town to love his neighbor, but under existing circumstances another part of scripture would be more appropriate which says that you should love your enemies.

Some one said if you want to find pretty pint flasks you should follow Buck's creamery wagon.

The Georgetown scribe puts it "poor Tommy." Yes, Tommy is poor but he is young yet and has the world before him. He is also energetic and ambitious and we believe if he lives till he has as many gray hairs as the Georgetown scribe, he will have more than a wife's inherited home. He is also poor in another respect, that is, he is a very poor customer at Eckerts. We notice that a certain huckster of Aaronsburg dumps his refuse into Pine creek near this town. He should have a dumping place near his own town and not intrude so much on his neighbors.

Many of our children are having measels.

A certain gentleman of Spring Mills went to Aaronsburg on Saturday evening to call on his supposedly best girl.

He called at her home three times. was told every time that the girl was not at home. When he called the last time short time, when death came. She is he handed the old gentleman a dime to survived by her parents and one brother | tell the girl he had called. His frequent calling aroused the suspicion of the boys of town, and fearing capture he left the town without seeing his best. Some of our school directors who have so much respect for the law and agreemeuts should turn to page 169 Sec. 167 of Pa School Laws of 1901 and see whether they comply with that section. Why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye and considereth not the beam that is in thine own eye."
