Lake Strike Declared Off.

District Captain Howell of the Masters and Pilots' association in a statement issued June 14 at Cleveland advised the members of the association "to go to work and make the most of a bad situation" in view of conditions over which they had no control. The tie-up on the great lakes had lasted six weeks, involving directly 2,000 men and indirectly more than 100,000. The Lake Carriers' association had held out for last year's scale, which was not acceptable to the masters and pilots. Millionaire Corrigan of Cleveland, who helped to break the strike by working on his steamboat Urania as deck hand, declared that the carriers would never again hire a mate or pilot who belongs to the union.

Colorado's Labor Conflict.

The military authorities acting under martial law in Teller county, Colo., continued to arrest large numbers not only of striking miners, but of persons known to sympathize with the miners' union. Some of these were confined in the bull pen at Victor, and eighty-seven were sent to the county jail, charged with complicity in the independence dynamiting outrage. Several train loads of men deemed to be objectionable to the new regime were carried out of the county, and one lot was set down beyond the Kansas border on the barren prairie without means of subsistence, only to be driven back into Colorado by the Kansas authorities a few hours later. These and others deported to New Mexico were warned not to return to the mining region on peril of their lives, but nevertheless many at once started back, declaring death preferable to loss of liberty.

Warrants were issued June 16 against President Moyer and Secretary Hayward of the Western Federation of Miners on the charge of murder in the dynamite outrage at Independence. The day before this Judge Thayer of the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Louis granted a writ of habeas corpus calling on Governor Peabody to surrender Moyer to the sheriff of San Miguel county and withdraw the proclamation of insurrection. This will enable the governor to answer the habeas corpus writ by saying that he no longer holds Moyer in custody.

On the other hand, attorneys for President Moyer have begun suit for $50,000 damages against Governor Peabody, Adjutant General Bell and the state of Colorado for false and illegal imprisonment; also a damage suit for $100,000 against the state and its executive has been begun by the Portland mine, which was closed arbitrarily by the militia. Writs of habeas corpus have also been requested in behalf of all the miners arrested or deported.

Elevator Strike Spreads.
Officers of the Elevator International Construction union last week ordered a strike on the contracts of the Otis Elevator company throughout this country and Canada. This was expected to call out 7,000 workers, and was sure to handicap building operations in more than twenty cities. The order was made to support local strikes of the elevator men at Boston and Philadelphia.

Atlantic City Celebrates.
Twenty thousand visitors from all sections of the country participated in the celebration June 15 of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of Atlantic City, New Jersey's great seaside resort. A monument erected to the memory of the founders was dedicated, and a great banquet was held at night.

Another Railroad Merged.
The Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal Railway company has acquired a majority of the $42,000,000 of stock of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad company, which now becomes part of the Wabash system. The company operates 472 miles of road between Toledo and Martin's Ferry, Cleveland, Zanesville, Canton and Sherrodsville, besides the Toledo Belt line, the Cleveland Belt line and other small branches.

Southern Pacific's Issue.
It was announced June 15 that the directors of the Southern Pacific company had approved the issue of $100,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock. This is the largest stock issue proposed by any corporation in many months. The purpose is said to be to pay off the floating debt and make improvements.

Great Loss From Floods.
As a result of cloudbursts at Little Rock, Ark., June 11, which caused the rise of the Arkansas river, thousands of acres of growing cotton crops were under water and in some places entirely washed out. The damage is the greatest experienced, and the agricultural department has recommended the planting of corn, sweet potatoes or peas instead of cotton.

SOCILOGICAL

Women of All Nations Meet.

Representative women of all the civilized nations were assembled at Berlin last week to attend the international woman's congress. The empress of Germany gave her official sanction to the movement by receiving the members of the congress at her palace and paid especial attention to Susan B. Anthony, the venerable American advocate of woman suffrage. Detailed reports of the doings of this congress may be expected later.

EDUCATIONAL

College For Old Folks.

Since student years are commonly associated with youth, and old age is sometimes referred to as second childhood, there is at least an appropriateness in the novel educational venture of the Home School company, which has been incorporated at Chicago as a college in which men and women over sixty years of age are admitted to life membership on payment of a $200 cash fee for the purchase of a scholarship. From the time of their admission they will be freed from all financial cares and have the privilege of electing studies, with provision for medical attendance and funeral expenses. Young men and women are to be invited to purchase scholarships for $15, to be availed of at their full value at the age of sixty.

Miscellaneous

Accidents.

Forty persons were believed to have been drowned by the flooding of the copper mines in Santiago, Cuba, caused by a severe storm that swept over the southern part of the island June 15.

Deaths.

Laurence Hutton, author, essayist, critic and lecturer, died at Princeton, N. J., June 10, aged sixty-one. Abner McKinley, brother of the late president, died at Somerset, Pa., June 11, aged sixty.

First Turbine Liner to Cross.

The British steamer Turnline has arrived at North Sydney, N. S., from the Tyne on her maiden voyage. She is the first turbine merchant vessel to cross the Atlantic and made the voyage in ten days from Glasgow. She is of 1,000 tons burden and fitted with the patent turbine engines, and has three propellers, two forward and one reverse.

The Crop Outlook.

The official crop report of the department of agriculture shows a decrease of nearly 1 per cent in the spring wheat crop. Smaller reductions in area are reported also for oats, barley and rye, while the outlook for winter wheat is still uncertain. The cotton area has been increased by nearly 3,000,000 acres, bringing the total under cultivation up to nearly 32,000,000 acres. This is a steady factor in the speculative markets. A big fruit crop is predicted.

Gould Inspects New Line.

The first engine to enter Pittsburg over the new Wabash line arrived there June 15, with George J. Gould and President H. Ramsay in the cab. They made the entire trip from Mingo Junction, O., with the engineer. The formal opening of the road occurs June 26.

Ocean Daily a Success.

Passengers who arrived at New York, June 12, on the Cunard liner Campania expressed much satisfaction over the initial appearance of the Cunard Daily Bulletin during their voyage. This small eight page paper was printed on board the ship each day with the gist of the world's news bulletin.

Awful Steamboat Disaster at New York

A chapter of horrors exceeding those of the Iroquois theater fire was added to the account of corporate greed and faithless official inspection by the burning of the big wooden excursion steamer General Slocum just as she had started up the East river, at New York, June 16, with about 2,000 persons, mostly women and children, on board. They were connected with the Sunday school of St. Mark's Lutheran church, at 323 East Sixth street, and were out for a picnic.

The fire started in the forward part of the boat as she passed through what is known as Hell Gate, and Captain Van Schaick, instead of benching the vessel at once, decided to run her aground on North Brother island, one and a half miles ahead. The forward motion fanned the flames rapidly toward the stern, where the people were packed to the rail. Many were pushed and many jumped into the river's swift tide, while the captain and pilot stuck to their posts till the burning boat reached shallow water and the pilot house was burning around them. Before touching the shore an explosion occurred, and the upper decks fell, carrying hundreds of the terrified picnickers into the fiery furnace of the hold. Hundreds of rescuers on tugboats, floats and rowboats flocked about the fire stricken vessel, and many heroic rescues were made. Police and hospital reserves were rushed to the scene to care for the injured and to recover the dead.

The recovery of bodies was necessarily slow, but at this writing it appears certain that the list of dead will exceed 800. Both city and federal authorities took steps promptly to investigate the cause of the accident and the charges that the Slocum had inadequate fire apparatus and ancient life preservers covered with rotten canvas. The officers of the boat were arrested. Flags hung at half mast throughout the city, and messages of condolence were received by Mayor McClellan from the president and officials in all parts of the country and the world.
