Cassatt in New Haven's Board.

President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad, after completing negotiations for 10,000 shares of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, otherwise known as the Consolidated system, has accepted the offer of a place on the board of directors of the New England road. This is said to be the first instance of the Pennsylvania railroad holding an interest in any line which it did not actually control.

A. J. Cassatt.

The move is thought to be due to the recent aggressive policy of President Mellen in securing the Ontario and Western, tapping the coal region.

Stock Washing Disclosures.

Testimony taken in the bankruptcy proceedings against Munroe & Munroe, the New York stockbrokerage concern, last week shocked Wall street by showing that the rich and conservative National City bank, which is controlled by the Standard Oil interests, had loaned the firm $600,000 every morning for eighty-eight consecutive days on unindorsed and unsecured demand notes, which in turn were canceled each afternoon before the closing of the bank.

Fall River Mill Falls.

Receivers were appointed Jan. 4 for the Davis Mill corporation of Fall River, Mass., after Treasurer Richards and three directors had resigned on application of large creditors. This is the newest mill in the city and was capitalized at $600,000.

More Stock For Steel Men.

The finance committee of the United States Steel corporation has decided to repeat the offer made in 1903 to enable the officers and employees of the company to secure 29,000 shares of the preferred stock, the price being fixed at $87.50.

Labor.

Federation Diner Assailed.

Charles Oberwager, a delegate from Typographical No. 7 to the New York Central Federated union, has been withdrawn by his associates, most of whom are Germans, because of his attendance at the recent annual dinner of the Civic federation.

Fall River Strike Goes On.

The owners of the cotton mills at Fall River, Mass., having declined to consider the proposition made by the workers to submit the matters at issue to arbitration, the unions have voted 1,401 to 420 in favor of continuing the strike, which has been in operation nearly a year.

Cut in Steel Workers' Pay.

At the Howard Axle works of the Carnegie Steel company of Pittsburgh a general reduction of wages went into effect Jan. 2. The cut varies from 12 to 23 per cent in the case of the higher paid employees to 5 per cent in the case of the laborers.

Industrial.

Motor Cars For Union Pacific.

A type of gasoline motor cars for use on its Nebraska and Kansas branch lines has been adopted by the Union Pacific railroad, and a number of them will be installed immediately. The new car is about the ordinary size, one end being finished up for passengers, the other end as a baggage and freight car, and the motor being between the two. These cars are expected to develop sixty miles an hour. Only a motorman and conductor being necessary.

Niagara Turbines Tested.

Two of the 10,000 horsepower turbines constructed at Niagara Falls by the Canadian Niagara Falls Power company in connection with the Niagara Falls Power company on the American side were set in motion Jan. 2, thus marking a new era in electrical development. These turbines and dynamos are the largest in the world. Each machine developed 12,000 volts without a hitch.

Highest New York Building.

In taking possession of its new home at Forty-second street and Broadway, Jan. 2, the New York Times had the distinction of occupying the highest as well as one of the most interesting structures in New York city. Because of the building's location next to the subway, into which the basement stories open, it was possible for the first time to utilize the subway system in the early morning distribution of papers. The lofty tower of the building, looming far above its neighbors, has become one of the city's most prominent landmarks. The building is 476 feet from base to top of flag pole and 362.7 feet from curb to rail. It has thirty-one stories.

The First Forestry Congress.

The American forest congress, the first of its kind to be held in this country, was called to order Jan. 2 at Washington by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, president of the body. About 500 delegates were present from all parts of the United States. President Roosevelt called attention to the fact that all of the great industries of agriculture, transportation, mining and grazing are dependent on the preservation of the woods. He also recommended the concentration of all the forest work in the department of agriculture.

RELIGIOUS

Talbot Case Withdrawn.

Those persons interested in pressing charges against Bishop Talbot of Pennsylvania decided last week to withdraw the presentment in view of the fact that two of the signers who live at Huntingdon, Pa., had repudiated their signatures. Permission was asked of the presiding bishop to substitute a new presentment.

Edmunds on Polygamy.

Former United States Senator Edmunds of Vermont in an article for the Christian Herald asserts that Mormon polygamy and the political influence of the Mormon church have now extended into Idaho, Wyoming, California, Oregon and Oklahoma. He recommends the amendment of the federal constitution so as to prohibit polygamous marriages and plural cohabitation and requiring all public officers to take oath that they are not and will not be a member of any organization whose rules are at variance with the constitution.

Foreign Mission in 1904.

The report of the American board of foreign missions for 1904 shows a total of 25,672 stations in operation under the direction of 5,814 men and 6,586 women, assisted by 64,347 native laborers. The addition to the total of communicants during the year was 129,494. The income of all the societies was $16,118,280. Of this the United States raised $6,642,890, and 3,942 American missionaries directed 10,222 stations.

SCIENTIFIC

To Dig Up Herculaneum.

Professor Charles Waldstein of Cambridge university, England, has received the approval of the Italian government of his announced purpose to excavate the buried city of Herculaneum in Italy for the purpose of recovering lost works of art and other objects of interest.

Port Arthur's Fall Hastens Russia's Crisis

It's a long lane that has no turning. After eleven months, crowded with terrific bombardments and assaults, supplemented by laborious sapping and tunneling, the Japanese forces under General Nogai, aided by the blockading fleet under Admiral Togo, so far overcame the almost impregnable natural and military defenses of the Russian fortress of Port Arthur that its commander, General Stoessel, was constrained to capitulate Jan. 2. The garrison, depleted to 5,000 active men and without ammunition, was so exhausted from the long strain that they could not respond to the orders of their superiors. In a telegram to the czar the defeated Russian general told of the futility of further resistance and asked for mercy. Russian survivors who reached Chifu said that Port Arthur had been a veritable hell for the last few days prior to the surrender and that the defenders had reached the limit of human endurance. Everywhere were faces black with starvation, exhaustion and nerve strain. Prior to the signing of the capitulation all the Russian ships and other property were destroyed. About 48,000 surrendered.

The terms of surrender were that the Russian officers should be released on parole with side arms and that the privates should become prisoners of war and all Russian rights and property in Port Arthur be transferred to Japan.

This, Japan's day of triumph, was the signal for a fresh outburst of revolutionary sentiment throughout Russia. Everywhere the cry was for peace and governmental reforms.

interest. Incidentally he corrects a widespread impression that Herculaneum was buried under lava; on the contrary, he says, it lies under a bed of mud and ashes and that from the archaeological point of view the city was not destroyed by the eruption, but was actually preserved. President Roosevelt has consented to serve with the German emperor and other rulers on the international committee which Professor Waldstein is organizing for the purpose of carrying on the excavation of this ancient city.

Life a Chemical Process.

Professor Albert P. Mathews of the University of Chicago has announced to the students of physiological chemistry that life is now known to be the result of purely physical and chemical forces. "Certain chemical substances," he said, "coming together under certain conditions, do and are bound to produce life. There is no getting away from facts, and the results of laboratory experiments in regard to the production of certain phenomena of life are convincing."

Scientist Chosen Leader.

William Gilson Farlow, who has been elected president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, is a botanist who studied under Asa Gray. He was graduated at Harvard in 1866 and studied in Germany and France, after which he filled the chair of cryptogamic botany at Harvard. He has conducted investigations of great practical value to agricultural industry.

EDUCATIONAL

Andrews Attacks Fraternities.

Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the Nebraska State university in his biennial report to the regents charges that the Greek letter fraternities, which have become a part of the United States university system, tend to increase the expenses of students, to create a detrimental atmosphere and to propagate false ideas of scholarship. Chancellor Andrews also calls attention to the decreasing proportion of men as compared with women taking academic and general courses. At the Nebraska university some of the most important culture courses have scarcely a male member.

Gifts to Harvard.

The Harvard class of 1880, of which President Roosevelt was a member, is to celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary next June by presenting the university with $100,000 in cash absolutely without restriction. A gift of $250,000 to Harvard has just been announced under the will of E. W. Codman of the class of '54.

Miscellaneous

Fires in 1904.

Even without counting the Baltimore fire the fire losses in this country last year are estimated to be greater than in any recent year save 1900. The total destruction figures up to about $230,000,000.

A Blizzard Week.

The first week of the new year was marked by a storm of great severity, extending over the entire north and east, with temperature ranging to zero and lower and a drifting snowfall, combining to greatly impede transportation of all kinds.

Accidents.

Ten persons were killed when the boilers of the Pittsburgh steamer Defender blew up Jan. 4 near Huntingdon, W. Va. The steamer Preston, which arrived at New Orleans from Puerto Limon, Costa Rica, brings the news that nearly forty miles of the Costa Rica railroad had been so seriously damaged by a succession of twenty-five earthquakes in the latter part of December as to greatly interfere with business. Fire destroyed a large department store building at Long Branch, N. J., Jan. 2; loss, $200,000. Four firemen were killed and two others were injured under a falling wall in a fire which destroyed the repair shops of the Chicago Union Traction company at Chicago, Dec. 31; loss, $600,000. The Danish steamship Gallia arrived at Hamilton, Bermuda, bringing seven survivors of the crew of the iron Norwegian bark Marpesa, which was blown up at sea by the explosion of her cargo of naphtha, killing eleven of the crew.

Deaths.

William H. Baldwin, Jr., president of the Long Island railroad, died at his home in Locust Valley, N. Y., Jan. 3, aged forty-two. Theodore Thomas, the noted orchestra leader, died at Chicago Jan. 4, aged seventy.

ABOUT RAFTING.

The Lock Haven Express remarks that the number of rafts that will come down the river next season will not reach that of many previous years, but the timber will be of fine quality and more valuable than heretofore. It is anticipated that the rafts will fully equal the number of last year. In all there will be about fifty rafts of fine timber and twenty-five prop timber rafts to come down from the upper timber regions, which will be sent through the spring floods. Alfred Graham of Clearfield has the most extensive timber and his rafts will number twenty-four. Most of the timber will be sent to Northumberland, Marietta, Port Deposit and other points along the river.

Robert Myers of Lock Haven has contracts for sending the rafts from Lock Haven down the river. Raftsmen anticipate that they will have considerable trouble this year in rafting on account of the river and the various breaks in the chute walls. The days are over when the Susquehanna will be filled from shore to shore with saw logs and at times causing a jam for logs.

The following is a singular accident and affords an argument why some young ladies should not learn to bake bread: "A glass jar of yeast exploding at Sunbury, in the hands of Mrs. Samuel Glace, that lady nearly bled to death, an artery having been severed in her left arm."

It is easier for a woman to love a man than to let some other woman love him.
