Industrial.

Oil Barge's Long Trip.

The Standard Oil company's steamer Atlas, towing the big barge No. 93, both laden with oil, arrived safely at San Francisco from New York, after a journey of seventy-two days, thus making the longest tow on record. The distance traversed was 13,000 miles.

Work of the Simplon Tunnel.

The journey from Calais, France, to Milan, Italy, has been shortened to 585 miles by the completion of the tunnel under the Simplon as compared with 680 miles by the Mount Cenis tunnel and 665 miles by the St. Gothard. Throughout the process of tunneling dust was avoided by turning the drillings into mud with the exhaust water from the drills. The main difficulty encountered was the treacherous rock, combined with secret springs of great volume and the high temperature. The tunnel is really two parallel passages connected with cross galleries at frequent intervals to aid in ventilation. The grade ascends from each entrance toward the middle.

More New York Subways.

The New York rapid transit commission has authorized the construction of a vast network of subways extending to all sections of Greater New York, some to be built by the city and some by private capital, but altogether aggregating a cost of $250,000,000. A part of the plan is a moving platform across town at Thirty-fourth street and three other cross town tunnels.

Labor.

Frick Company to Raise Wages.

In view of the indications of a great boom in the iron trade it was reported that the Frick Coke company of Pittsburgh had decided to increase the salaries of its employees 10 per cent. The Iron Age says the castings for the Pennsylvania tunnel at New York have been awarded to the Bethlehem Steel company.

Panama Employees Discontented.

General Davis, governor of the Panama canal zone, in a communication to the canal commission enumerates the causes of discontent among American laborers as fear of yellow fever, dissatisfaction with accommodation, absence of amusements and diversions, high prices of necessary commodities and homesickness. Nevertheless out of 400 or 500 employees and their families from the United States only four have been sick from yellow fever, and of these one case was fatal.

Bricklayers' Record Pay.

By agreement with the Mason Builders' Association of New York the 9,000 bricklayers of that city had their wages raised from 65 cents to 75 cents an hour March 1, the highest price ever paid in the history of the trade. Counting the maximum number of hours which a bricklayer may work, with double pay for four hours overtime each day, a man in this trade can now earn $67.20 a week. The men say they are employed only six months in the year, but employers say the average is nine months. This agreement is in direct conflict with the order made by the international union, which allowed contractors with union labor to install freeproofing brick. The unions have been voting on the question of living up to their agreement.

Commercial.

Earnings of the P. R. R.

The annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad company shows gross earnings of $238,242,462 and gross income of $87,458,517. This income is $1,524,861 more than last year's. The net earnings were $1,737,578 less. Operating expenses were curtailed $2,248,975.

Oil Independents Organize.

Most of the independent oil producers and refiners in the states of Kansas, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana have met at Chicago to form an organization in opposition to the Standard Oil company. It is to be known as the National Crude Oil Producers' association. A resolution of sympathy for the Kansas oil producers was adopted, and co-operation with them was then pledged. The Kansas state refinery law will be put into operation immediately, the first step being the sale of $200,000 bonds. The refinery at Palolia is expected to be ready to market oil by May 1.

Big Order For the B. and O.

A part of the Schenley estate, amounting to 103 acres, near Pittsburgh, has been sold to New York capitalists for $3,000,000, making a record price for unimproved lands. The purchasers expect to spend $10,000,000 in improving it.

Farm Sold For $3,000,000.

A part of the Schenley estate, amounting to 103 acres, near Pittsburgh, has been sold to New York capitalists for $3,000,000, making a record price for unimproved lands. The purchasers expect to spend $10,000,000 in improving it.

EDUCATIONAL

Harper Again In Harness.

President Harper of the University of Chicago was reported to be recovering rapidly from the operation which disclosed his affliction with cancer and has already resumed his active connection with university administration before leaving the hospital. Advance sheets have just been issued of his new book, "The Trend of Higher Education," which, he says, "points toward the democratization of higher educational work."

Half a Million For Brown.

The estate of George L. Littlefield, a manufacturer of Pawtucket, R. I., by the death of his widow is left to Brown university. It is estimated at $500,000, of which $100,000 is specified for a professorship of American history.

Would Train Lawmakers.

Andrew D. White, ex-United States ambassador to Germany and first president of Cornell university, speaking at the annual dinner of the Cornell alumni at New York outlined a programme of university work for all the larger institutions of the country. It was to establish a great many professorships and fellowships in comparative law and legislation. By this he meant not the work of the existing law schools, which instruct as to what the law is, but instruction in answer to the question what our law ought to be. The result of such courses, he thought, would be to cause a larger number of trained men to enter executive and legislative positions and an improvement in the laws of the various states with a tendency toward homogeneity. In the same way he would establish professorships and fellowships for institutional work, for the study of international law, for the history of civilization and for the history of the United States.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Would Moralize the Trusts.

The comparatively new conception of the corporation with a conscience has been emphasized by President Wilson of Princeton in his address at New Rochelle, N. Y. He favored the plan of compulsory publicity of the affairs of trusts and corporations so that boards of directors would have to disclose their consciences. "We can't abolish the trusts," he added. "We must moralize them."

Forty Years of Emancipation.

The declarations adopted by the annual negro conference held at Tuskegee, Ala., last week assert that the negro race has saved more than $400,

000,000 worth of property, has organized 28,000 churches, has helped to support schools and has bought 173,352 farms. The almost total disappearance of lynching in the past four months is credited to the co-operation of the races in creating public sentiment. United effort is urged to reduce the number of idlers and vagrants and to make negro labor more reliable.

Dr. Osler Meant It Too.

In response to the very widespread criticism of his dictum regarding the uselessness of men after they are forty, Dr. Osler of Johns Hopkins university has taken occasion to reiterate his statement in earnest, while charging that many critics have misquoted him. He says he has been accumulating data for years for a work on this subject, which he will bring out soon. He cites Darwin as one example of what is meant on the ground that his greatest work was done while he was a young man exploring South America. Dr. Osler admits that Darwin made more money in later years, but infers that this had less to do with advancing the world. He says further that the exceptions to the rule, the men who have done great things after forty, only illustrate the truth of what he says. As to himself, while he wrote most of his books after the fortieth year, he contends that he gathered the materials for them before that. He says, however, that he did not mean to be taken seriously in his reference to the idea of chloroforming men over sixty suggested by Anthony Trollope's novel.

RELIGIOUS

Protestant Mecca at Berlin.

The consecration of the great evangelical cathedral at Berlin Feb. 27 was made the occasion of a brilliant assemblage in which the emperor and empress, the court and foreign diplomats took part. Delegates from the various Protestant churches of the United States and other countries took part in the ceremonies. This was in recognition of the Kaiser's purpose to build at the German capital a cathedral for the Protestants of the whole world. This great church may be to Germany what Westminster abbey is to Great Britain. In its crypts the German rulers will lie, and already members of the Hohenzollern family are buried there. The style of architecture as worked out by Professor J. C. Raschdorf is early Italian renaissance. The organ, which is the largest in the world except that at Riga, Russia, has 113 voices and 7,000 tubes and was constructed at a cost of $37,500. The chancel is of marble and bronze. The great domed structure, which has required fourteen years to build, is 341 feet long and 325 feet high from pavement to cupola. The two bell towers are 211 feet high. Yellow sandstone is the material of construction, with various kinds of marble for the pillars.

Miscellaneous

Accidents.

During the funeral service of a negro musician in the African Methodist Episcopal church of Brooklyn Feb. 27 eleven negroes were killed and forty injured when the floor of the chapel, crowded with mourners, gave way.

An explosion in a shaft of the United States Coal and Coke company's mines near Bluefield, W. Va., Feb. 26, killed twenty-three miners. Most of the bodies were recovered. A disastrous fire swept over the residential section of Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 25, causing the death of five persons and rendering 2,000 homeless; loss, $2,000,000. New Orleans' water front was swept by a fire Feb. 26 which destroyed many valuable piers, entailing a loss of $5,000,000. The second section of an inauguration excursion train from Cleveland ran into the first on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, near Clifton, Pa., March 3, causing the instant death of seven persons and the injury of sixty or more, fire adding to the tortures of the injured.

Deaths. George S. Boutwell, ex-governor of Massachusetts, 77, Groton, Mass., Feb. 27, aged eighty seven. Sir Wemyss Reid, the English author and journalist, at London, Feb. 26, aged sixty-three. Guy Newell Boothby, the English novelist, at London, Feb. 27, aged thirty-eight. Edward O. Wolcott, ex-United States senator from Colorado, at Monte Carlo, March 1, aged fifty-seven. Edward Cooper, ex-mayor of New York, only son of Peter Cooper, at his home in that city, Feb. 25, aged eighty-one.

Wild run of Locomotive.

N. Y. C. engine 1855 made a wild but short run last Thursday afternoon without either engineer or fireman and landed in turn table pit at the Avis shops. The engine, which had just come out of the shops after undergoing heavy repairs, was standing outside of the shops, being fired for a trial trip. The throttle had been left open by some careless hostler and when enough steam had been generated the engine started and soon landed in a pit, which was about 75 feet away. The pony truck and one pair of driving wheels were in the pit when a hostler jumped into the cab, shut off the throttle and put on the brakes. The engine was badly damaged and had to be put in the shops again for repairs.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will spend $1,000,000 building new stone bridges over the Juniata river, near Lewistown, Pa., completing the four-tracking and minimizing the curve in the line at that point. Chief Engineer Brown, Thursday let the contracts for the work. The scene of this improvement is at the point near Lewistown where the road twice crosses the river within one and half miles. President of the People In Office

With a surer claim on this rarely attained title—the president of the whole people—than any president since Monroe, Theodore Roosevelt took the oath on the steps of the capitol March 4 in the presence of a vast throng of cheering people, including all officialdom. During the years of his chance given power, in which he had sought to be guided or limited by the known tendencies of President McKinley, Mr. Roosevelt, by sheer force of character and picturesque appeal as the man who does things, had become supreme master of that superb machine the Republican party. Division in the ranks of the opposition had given him an enormous electoral vote, and finally his bold attack on the trust dragon had actually won the approval of the Bryan Democrats, though displeasing some of his own party benches. The splendor of the inaugural parade and the size of the inaugural crowd exceeded all former public functions of the kind. Pennsylvania avenue from Capitol hill to the White House was a river of bright colors and moving mass of humanity. At night it was ablaze with electric designs, and the big pension office was the scene of the grand ball. The Fifty-eighth congress died a peaceful death at noon, and Vice President Fairbanks being sworn in, the senate of the Fifty-ninth congress began its session immediately to act on the executive nominations. With the exception of Postmaster General Wynne, succeeded by Cortelyou, the president's official family is unchanged.
