EDITORIAL.

THE clerk of the house at Harrisburg, who passed bills by voting absent members, should get what Cassie Chadwick got—ten years.

IT is now announced that the legislature will be ready to adjourn by April 13th. This session was no better than previous gatherings.

COMMISSIONER ABRAHAM MILLER is hustling around these days to make sure of his nomination, while a number are trying hard to get his scalp.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is off for a month's vacation, and will hunt in the Rocky mountains. The President is one of the busiest men in the country and if he can take a vacation why should not others do so.

MRS. MARY ANN MILLER, who had rocked former President Grover Cleveland in the cradle, died Thursday at the home of her son, at Orange, N. J., at the age of eighty-nine years.

THE republican bosses are putting some special legislation through at Harrisburg that will give them a stronger grip on the affairs of Philadelphia. That is right, Philadelphia votes that way and has no kick coming; her people deserved to be looted and skinned.

THE perniciousness of colored candies—so often warned against as injurious to the health of children, as well as adult persons, has again shown itself in Shamokin, a few nights ago, when twenty children of the Polish parochial schools were taken deathly ill, having partaken of a lot of candy, thought to contain poisonous coloring.

WHEN half a dozen members of the legislature, who were absent or did not vote on machine bills in the House week before last, and one member who was absent in Michigan were put down on the roll as voting twenty-seven times in those two weeks in order to get machine bills fraudulently passed at the dictation of bosses Penrose and Durham, both of Philadelphia, it is time the people rise up against the iniquity, under the spirit of the buckshot war days, when elections were treated as if they had never been held.

HISTORICAL REVIEW OF CENTRE COUNTY

the goods carried across an orchard in the rear of the building, a wagon being placed there to receive them. The wagon was traced to Stone valley, but it could not be discovered where the goods were deposited. The arrest of Lewis Sherman induced Mr. Hahn to make an effort for the recovery of his goods. On the Tuesday subsequent to the arrest of Sherman, Mr. Hahn, accompanied by Mr. Ross, of Pine Grove, visited the premises of Sherman for the purpose of searching for the stolen property. After examining the house from the garret to the cellar they began to despair, when the scrutinizing eye of Mr. Ross discovered an aperture in the ceiling, near the stovepipe, and he proceeded to examine it. Silk, hose, hair cloth, handkerchiefs, and every variety of small articles that could be admitted between the ceiling and upper floor were extracted from this hole. Remnants of goods were found that had been untouched webs when taken from the store. The property stolen amounted to between three and four hundred dollars, while the goods recovered did not amount to more than ten or twelve dollars.

Eminger Rudy and Lewis Sherman were convicted at November term, but their sentence was deferred, and on Tuesday morning, December 11th, a stampede of the prisoners in the jail occurred. An old pick and an axe had been secured, no doubt from accomplices on the outside, with which they reopened the wall precisely where Kauterman made the breach in April last. In the evening previous the prisoners had been safely secured in their respective cells, and every precaution taken to guard against their escape, as Sheriff Alexander had received little assurance from opinion that he would be able to keep them. Sherman and one or two others were confined in a back cell, while two or three others were taken below and confined in a cell on the first floor. Sherman divested himself of his manacles by the aid of a steel pen. He then opened the first lock with a wooden key, but the padlock being too low to be reached from the inside, he heated the poker (having a fire in his cell) and burnt the staple out of the door. The door opening into the front cell he opened with wooden keys, after which they immediately went to work on the outer wall, not, however, until they had spread a quilt upon the floor to prevent the falling plaster and stones from making a noise. With the aid of their pick and axe the work of opening a wall that was ready to tumble down under its own weight was doubtless soon effected. The cork was taken from the bed and attached to the iron bars of the window above, and by this they descended to the ground, four prisoners escaping.—Sherman, Rudy, "Corn Doctor," and Kuhn. The other prisoners, refusing to go with them, were threatened with personal violence if they gave the least alarm. The "Corn Doctor" was serving out a sentence for stealing fifteen dollars from Miss Kate Gherrert. He stuck fast in the wall a short time before he extricated himself. They left caricatures of the district attorney, Stover, Cyrus Strickland, and Sheriff McCoy upon the wall.

THE BABY'S EARS.

They Really Require Attention From the Moment of Birth.

The ears are quite as important little members to be cared for as the eyes, and when they stand out from the head they are anything but ornamental. From earliest infancy be careful to see that the ears are always kept back in place. When the child is lying on his side be sure that the ear is lying flat against the head, not folded over toward the face. Be careful that the child lies on one side as much as on the other. If he lies always on one side the ear on the opposite side is apt to stand out a little more than the one on which he lies. Nurses when putting children's caps on are often careless in not seeing that the ears are pressed flat against the head. Time and again when a baby's cap has been removed have I seen the little ears red and creased by being bound forward by the snug cap, and if baby has thick hair or curls which are gathered in a little mass behind the ear they, too, will prevent the ears from lying back close to the head, especially where there is the slightest tendency of the ears to stand out. The mother or nurse should be very careful of these little things, for if neglected until the child is a few months old it is not easy then to commence to remedy this defect. It must be looked after while the child is very young.—Mariana Wheeler in Harper's Bazar.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Granulated sugar makes a better meringue than powdered sugar. Save rice water when you have boiled rice for curry, as it makes a very good foundation for stock or sauce. In cooking tough fowls or meat one tablespoonful of vinegar in the water will save nearly two hours' boiling. One cook always puts a crust of bread into the water in which greens are boiled. She says that the bread absorbs an objectionable rankness of flavor.

down by our commentaries does not cover this case. (See, Gladstone, vol. 3, page 57. Tallhelm vs Campbell O. I. C.) You heard the evidence, if you believe the witnesses for the commonwealth then it is your duty to convict. If you believe the witnesses for the defendant then you must acquit the prisoner. If you acquit him you say nothing about the cost. If you find him guilty, then you must dispose of the costs you can put the cost on the commonwealth or on the defendant, or you can divide the costs between them, or you can put the costs on Hile Griffin, S. R. Pringle, Galor Morrison or John A. Daley because there was no evidence adduced to show that either of the above gentlemen made any effort to prevent D. Fault from taking the C. D. without paying for it; neither did either of them attempt to pay for said paper. Swear a constable.

The jury retired; after 5 minutes returned when clerk Barton said, "Gentlemen of the jury, hearken to your verdict, you say you find the defendant 'not guilty,' so you all say?" Judge McDonnell then imposed the following sentences:

"D. Fault stand up! Mr. D. Fault you have been tried fairly by a jury of 12 men, true and tried, and have been acquitted of the charge of larceny. The evidence however was strong against you and none but a dishonest man will take advantage of a poor editor and rob him of his just dues. The sentence of the court is that you pay a fine of 15 cts. and costs of prosecution and that you be committed to the county jail for two days. You stand committed 'till the sentence is complied with."

"Editor Jim Stier, stand up; it has been shown by the evidence in this case that you have acted very imprudently in sending out your paper to a subscriber without receiving so much as a penny for same. You are robbing your wife (to be) of many comforts of life and you will eventually become a bankrupt if you persist in doing such a reckless business. In order to teach you a lesson, the sentence of the court is that you pay a fine of $25 for the use of the county, and that you at once stop sending the paper to D. Fault and all similar subscribers that are more than three years in arrears. You stand committed 'till the sentence is complied with. Adjourn court."

NEEDS OF THE HAIR.

The Greatest Are Cleanliness, Ventilation and Friction.

The first and greatest needs of the hair are cleanliness, friction and ventilation. Give your hair a sun bath once in awhile, and the silky strands will fairly laugh with happiness. For some crazy reason there are many individuals who will not wash their heads often enough to keep the hair decently clean. We are not water animals and do not need to soak our topknots every day, but it is a pretty plain fact that once every week or two the hair should be carefully washed. If there is an inclination to dandruff or if the hair is subjected to an unusual amount of dust, a weekly shampoo is an absolute necessity. By using eggs instead of soap there is no danger whatever of causing the hair to become harsh and brittle. Eggs are as cleansing as soap, and the sulphur contained in them acts as a tonic to the growth. When eggs are used the water should be very hot and the hair rubbed vigorously so that the eggs will make good live suds. No soap is necessary.

When the hair persistently suffers from loss of vitality it is usually from one or more of the following causes: Uncleanliness, lack of care, anxiety, worry, late hours, overstudy, want of exercise or disease. Dyspepsia is responsible for many thinned out halos. The hair, being the most delicate of the body's formation, is the first to show that the body is not receiving sufficient nourishment. The use of harmful restoratives or dyes will frequently cause the hair to become gray and broken. One cannot be too careful what one rubs into one's thought dome.

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC.

Pull a hair from your head—if it is plump and rosy it is healthy, but if it is white and shrunken it is certainly diseased—and a bald head is the short road to a bald head. Few people can afford a bald head, for a bald head is a serious handicap. In these days when youth is a moving factor, when a man has to make his mark at thirty-five or be dubbed a "has been"—when business houses pension the men we used to call "middle aged," rather than allow their lagging influence to intrude upon the modern rush—you will certainly believe me in saying a bald head is a serious handicap. Few people can afford a bald head. Even those who can. Those who are "fixed" socially, financially and matrimonially have no desire for bald heads. But whether we can afford it or not thousands of us are bald, either partially or wholly. What caused the baldness, whether an inherited tendency, undue mental effort, sickness, dandruff or other scalp disease, makes no difference. What we want is to grow new hair. Millions of dollars have been spent in vain efforts to grow hair on bald heads. Other millions have been spent in an effort to restore faded hair to its natural shade, and still others to banish dandruff. Still hair refused to grow; lost tints of brown, blond and auburn failed to return, and dandruff declined to disappear. All this, however, is of the past. Failures have given place to success. A real hair restorative has at last been found. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is a positive cure for all hair and scalp troubles. It is not sticky nor gummy, will not thicken on the hair, does not become rancid, has no disagreeable odor. It is clean, agreeable and pleasant to use. It is a hairdressing of the highest order, and when a purchaser considers that I take all the risk in making such strong statements, is there any risk in giving it a trial? I want you to try on my personal recommendation one bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. I will sell it to you on the broad and liberal Rexall guarantee of "Your money back if you are in any way dissatisfied." I do this of a desire to sell my customers just the remedies that give them value for their money. All I ask is the return of the empty bottle. Price, fifty cents a bottle.

Rexall "93" Shampoo

A fragrantly perfumed toilet preparation that will make the scalp cleaner than any other shampoo—and keep it clean—is put up in large capped jars, twenty-five cents each. Guaranteed too.
