

PATTERSON JURY FAILED TO AGREE

Were Discharged by Recorder Goff When Agreement Was Hopeless.

NAN FAINTED DEAD AWAY

New York, May 4.—At 1.30 o'clock this morning the jury in the case of Nan Patterson, tried for the third time on the charge of murdering Caesar Young, was called into the court room by Recorder Goff. When the 12 men were in their places and the court officials had all arrived, the recorder asked why the defendant had not been brought into court. A deputy sheriff replied that she had been feeling ill and had retired, but was then being dressed. After a wait of 15 minutes Miss Patterson appeared, looking pale and in a highly nervous state. "Gentlemen, have you been able to reach an agreement?" asked the recorder of the jury. "No, sir," replied the foreman. "Is there any question of law or of evidence in which I can instruct you? Is there any way in which the court can help you?" The foreman looked for an instant at his fellow members of the jury, then turned to the recorder and said: "No, sir; I don't believe you can help us." "Then you will retire to reconsider the matter." The jury fled out and the court room was cleared. The jury was given the case at 1 o'clock yesterday, and after deliberating 12 hours came into court at 1.30 o'clock this morning and informed Recorder Goff that they had failed to reach a verdict. The jury declined the recorder's offer to aid them by advice on any point of law regarding whatever they might be in doubt, and were sent back to continue their deliberations. At 2.20 o'clock the jury again entered the court room, where the recorder and other court officials were in waiting, and the foreman announced that they had failed to agree on a verdict. He added that their disagreement seemed hopeless of adjustment. Upon this announcement Recorder Goff formally discharged the 12 men composing the third jury that has considered this celebrated case. It is understood that a majority of the jury was for acquittal, but in what proportion they stood cannot be ascertained. Miss Patterson collapsed on the jury's announcement and fainted dead away. She was assisted from the court by one of her counsel and several court attendants and revived in an anteroom. Recorder Goff before dismissing the jury cautioned them not to tell how they stood. Vote of Jury to Determine Action. Albany, N. Y., May 5.—District Attorney Jerome, who has been here since Wednesday looking after certain legislation, said that the vote of the jury in the case of Nan Patterson would determine to a large degree his decision whether to put her on trial again for the murder of Caesar Young. If the jury was preponderantly against her, he might try her again; if the majority was in her favor, he might consent to her release. He said he was not yet reliably informed as to how the jury stood. He would not comment on the jury's disagreement, though it evidently did not greatly surprise him. [The jury stood 8 to 4 for acquittal.] Coal Mine On Fire. Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 5.—A fire broke out in the east section of No. 5 slope of the Ross vein of the Lanco colliery at Plymouth. The officials run down many pipes and have several streams of water playing on the burning coal. The mine is a gaseous one, and the superintendents and mine inspector are putting forth herculean efforts to keep the flames from communicating with his danger. Considerable damage has already been done, but the loss cannot be estimated as yet. The mine is operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company. Want the Liberty Bell. Philadelphia, May 5.—A letter from Henry E. Reed, secretary of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, was received by common council, requesting that the Liberty Bell be sent to the exposition at Portland, Ore. The letter was referred to the committee on city property. Hay to Sell For Home In June. Vienna, May 6.—Secretary of State May will sail for the United States early in June. Mr. Hay has found it impossible to accept the invitation of Ambassador Storer to visit him here.

FITZHUGH LEE LAID TO REST

Distinguished Confederate Buried With Military Honors. Richmond, Va., May 5.—Not in all its eventful history has Richmond witnessed a more imposing demonstration than that which marked the funeral of General Fitzhugh Lee. The military contingent taking part in the procession consisted of two full regiments of infantry, the 70th and 71st, the Richmond Light Infantry Blues, battalion of artillery and seven detached infantry companies, making in all about 2000 men. Added to this were the veteran organizations and practically every carriage in the city had been engaged for the occasion. The church was densely crowded. The services were conducted by Right Rev. A. M. Randolph, bishop of the Southern Virginia diocese, assisted by Rev. Beverly Tucker, rector of St. Paul's church, Norfolk; Rev. Landon R. Mason, rector of Grace church, this city, and Rev. E. E. Barnwell, acting rector of St. Paul's. The floral tributes banked about the casket were profuse and came from all over the country. At the outside of the casket, nearest the audience and at the terminatio of the main aisle, the Confederate battle flag in flowers gleamed in its field of red, with the cross bars of blue bearing the stars of white. The casket containing the body of General Lee rested on a handsome catafalque, and was covered with flowers and emblems of the United States and the Confederacy. Behind the caisson was led General Lee's own riding horse, a thoroughbred black stallion, with empty saddle and with the upturned boots and the sheathed sword of a military funeral.

FIENDISH ROBBERS

Shot a Farmer to Death and Inhumanly Tortured His Wife. Parkersburg, W. Va., May 5.—A posse of officers, accompanied by a large number of infuriated residents, are searching Calhoun county for three masked robbers, who shot to death Charles Berkshire, a farmer living near Brookdale, after inhumanly torturing his wife. The family was aroused shortly after midnight by the robbers, who, after binding the wife, led the husband to the center of the room, turned up the lights and ordered Mrs. Berkshire to count 10, stating that if her husband did not tell them where his money was they would kill him on the tenth count. The couple insisted that they had no money, and the outlaws pinched and beat the woman and applied burning matches to the soles of her feet. Screaming in agony, Mrs. Berkshire finally consented to count 10, and on the tenth count a shot rang out and her husband fell dead. The fiends, becoming frightened, fled, and it was hours afterwards when neighbors found the woman in such a pitiable state of collapse that it is feared she will die.

MRS. ROGERS GETS NEW TRIAL

Woman Under Sentence of Death to Have Another Chance. Montpelier, Vt., May 6.—Chief Justice J. W. Rowell and Judge Loveland Munson, of the state supreme court, announced that the application for a hearing by the full bench on the petition for a new trial of Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers had been granted. The hearing will be on May 17. Mrs. Rogers is under sentence of death for the murder of her husband. She was to have been hanged February 3, but was reprieved until June 2. What is claimed to be newly discovered evidence indicating that the prisoner was mentally deranged at the time of the crime will be laid before the court. Freshmen to Stand By Gingrich. Lancaster, Pa., May 6.—The freshman class of Franklin and Marshall College held an inquiry into the case of Oscar Gingrich, of Lebanon, the freshman who recently shot a sophomore while being hazed, and whose expulsion from college was requested by the student body. As a result of the inquiry a resolution was adopted condemning Gingrich for carrying a revolver, but declaring that the class would stand by him and protect him from further insult. The freshmen heretofore have been particularly active in persecuting Gingrich.

BRIBERY CHARGES IN PHILADELPHIA

Sensation in Quaker City Over Proposition to Lease Gas Works. BUSINESS MAN'S AFFIDAVIT

Philadelphia, May 4.—One of the sensations of the day in the proposition to lease the Philadelphia gas works to the United Gas Improvement company was the reading at a mass meeting held at the Academy of Music of an affidavit made by Robert Dornan, a carpet manufacturer, that bribery was resorted to when the United Gas Improvement company secured its present 30-year lease of the gas works in 1897. Mr. Dornan's affidavit was read by William T. Hilden, secretary of the meeting.

The affidavit says that through the instrumentality of Israel W. Durham, the Republican leader of this city, a syndicate known as the "Ridgway Syndicate" was formed to bid on the lease in 1897 in opposition to the United Gas Improvement company, and that he (Mr. Dornan) and a friend were requested to become members of the syndicate. Mr. Dornan and his friend joined the syndicate, and a bid, better than the U. G. I. Co.'s was made. Continuing, the affidavit says: "Almost immediately after the bid was made the syndicate was requested to send a representative to confer with Thomas Dolan, representing the U. G. I. Co. Thereupon a member of the syndicate was delegated to represent the 'Ridgway Syndicate,' and after several conferences an agreement was entered into by which, in return for a withdrawal of the 'Ridgway Syndicate' bid a sum of money amounting to $10,000 was to be paid each member of that syndicate, together with further valuable consideration in the privilege to subscribe to a large quantity of bonds to be sold at a price much below their value.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS THE FLYING CONE.

An Odd Chinese Toy and How to Make and Work It. This interesting and in many respects remarkable toy had its origin in China, where the peddlers use it to announce their coming by the humming sound that it produces. Of course it was made of heavier material and of a larger size in its original form, but when it was introduced into Europe it became so popular that men, women and children played with it and an eminent scientist, a professor in the University of Cambridge, spent much time in studying its movements and finally succeeded in explaining it mathematically.

To make the toy fit together two cones at their points. Then get two small, light sticks about two feet long each and fasten a string a yard long to an end of each. The player holds the other ends of the sticks, one in each hand, allowing the string to rest on a table. He then places the double cone near the right hand stick at the middle joint, where the cones are joined. The illustration will show you how they are joined. The cone having been placed near the stick on the right, the player lifts that stick steadily, and the cone begins to revolve and run down the string. Now toss the cone up a little way and bring the string back to its original position, and the cone will continue to revolve. Repeat this slight movement until the cone is revolving rapidly.

Tuning Church Bells.

The bellmakers were finishing a huge bell for a magnificent church. Beside them stood a piano. One struck a note of music from the instrument; the other struck the bell a blow with a hammer. "Clang!" sounded the mellow metal, and the man beside the bell took up his tools and chipped a small piece from its edge. "Still too high," he said. "Now, once more, George."

An Elephant and a Lion.

In the jungles of India there lived an elephant who showed a wonderful sagacity and mother love for its offspring. One day the baby elephant wandered away from its mother, who showed her uneasiness at its absence. Reaching the top of a hill, she saw her darling quietly browsing at the foot. The gentleman. The question "What constitutes a true lady?" is discussed by Mrs. R. Neish in a contemporary. "No woman is a true lady," she writes, "who is a snob—neither one who spies her betters nor she who despises those beneath her and boasts of her rich or titled friends or keeps her humbler acquaintance in the background or from your knowledge altogether. No woman who does these things, be she great or small in society's eyes, is really and truly a lady at heart. A true lady should be a 'gentlewoman'—gentle and womanly, pure and fearless. I can pick her out from among the best of the women I love—a woman before whom men of all and every class instinctively removed their headgear and to whom they speak with deference and courtesy."

Conviction Follows Trial. When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out. Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use Lion Coffee, the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity? This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than contained and increasing popularity. If the verdict of MILLIONS OF HOUSEKEEPERS does not convince you of the merits of LION COFFEE, it costs you but a trifle to buy a package. It is the easiest way to convince yourself, and to make you a PERMANENT PURCHASER. LION COFFEE is sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages, and reaches you as pure and clean as when it left our factory. Lion-head on every package. Here these Lion-heads for valuable premiums. SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE. WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

REXALL Medical News. Dyspepsia. Post-mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that many cases of consumption are due to the uninterrupted progress of dyspepsia. Especially is this true in cases where the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis. Therefore the person who allows dyspeptic conditions to progress unchecked is contributing toward the development of the most fatal disease known to mankind. Dyspepsia wears out the body and the brain—makes the victim thin, haggard and sorrow. The stomach, unable to digest food, cannot supply nourishment. When other diseases come they enter unresisted. L. P. Turner, 269 Howard Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "I have suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for several years and it reached such a stage that I could hold nothing on my stomach, and immediately after eating the lightest foods, would be taken with a violent fit of vomiting. I tried a great many remedies, but nothing helped me until I procured a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, when I obtained instant relief. I am now able to eat heavy foods and I gladly recommend the Rexall Tablets to anyone suffering as I did." Don't take any chances. Cure your dyspepsia at once. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will do it. I know what they are and guarantee them to restore health, strength and a good digestion. Twenty-five cents will buy a box big enough for a fifteen day trial. Money back if you are anyone dissatisfied. Green's Pharmacy Co., Rexall Agency.
